STEAMERS MAKE WAY THRU MACKINAC STRAITS

Lighthouse Crews Transferred to Stations; South Fox and Ile Aux Gelets Are Isoleted

Despite the fact thnt navigation was officially opened Frldny by freighters making passage through the Straits of Mackinac, lighthouse service in this nrea has not been fully resumed as ice conditions have so far preventeil transfer of keepers from Charlevoix to South Fox island and Ile aux Galets lights.

Lansing Shoals, Grays Reef and White Shoals light keepers were transferred to their stations Friday from Manistique by the tug John Roen III, which had helped to open harbors at Escanaba and Port Inland to lake trnffic. Seul Choix point light near Port Inland has nlso been placed in operation.

Little Traverse light at Harbor Springs and Grand Traverse point light, both under jurisdiction of the Charlevoix coast gunrd, were opened by keepers Friday and are now in operation, as is the Petoskey breakwater light, where no keeper is stationed. Old Mission point light will be opened this week. Beaver Island Head lighthouse, in charge of the coast guard unit on the island, is believed to be in commission.

Crews of South Fox and Ile aux Galets lights will be transferred from this port as soon as large ice fields now blocking Charlevoix harbor are cleared away.

Opening of navigation on the lakes is fally a month later this year than last, when almost all crews were at light stations by Mnrch 15. While the lower lakes nre open, the vital St. Mary's channel into Lnke Superior was reported Monday to remain closed by ice in spite of efforts to break s passage through for freighters.

TB ASSOCIATION URGES EARLY DIAGNOSIS TEST

Periodic Medical Examination Is Aid in Fighting Disease

were six persons from Charlevoix

On the first day of 1943 there county in tuberculosis sanatoriums, according to the records of the Michigan department of health. Because tuberculosis is a germ disease, it is likely that these persons had spread the seeds of their disease to others in this county.

The Michigan Tuberculosis Association, which is observing its early diagnosis campaign during April, urges every one who has been in contact with a tuberculous person, to have a tuberculin test or chest X-ray.

The early stage of tuberculosis gives no warning symptoms. A person may feel fine although the germs have attacked his lungs. For this reason periodic medical examinations are good policy for even healthy persons.

Uncle Sam demands a chest X-ray of every recruit. And he turns down one in each 100 for tuberculosis.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Merry Christmas, folks.

It has been my honest intention to follow all good gardening practices and plant my early peas on April 15 as we're supposed to do, but if last night's snowfall don't melt before tomorrow and the ground thaw out sufficiently to allow working, I'm afraid I'll have to pass up this generally approved date. Well, anyway, the calendar says it's spring, whether conditions verify the fact or not.

Fifteen thousand paid admissions in Detroit recently to see two men fight makes you wonder why, if they enjoy fighting so much, they don't join the army. No admission charge there.

Charlevoix county, I read in a metropolitan newspaper, is holding up determination of winners in the April 5 election, particularly the Supreme Court contest, because this county hasn't been able to make a complete canvass due to ice floes preventing transportation of Beaver Island election records to the mainland. Some good comes out of this backward spring, at that! Charlevoix county makes nowspaper headlines.

"I was talking to my wife instead of listening to her," moaned a local husband as he tried to explain a black eye the other day.

In these times a dollar doesn't go very far, but it goes awfully fast.

The conservntion department predicts that this year, due to wartime rationing, and defense production requirements upon labor, there will be only half as many fishermen as in previous normal years. Now if that trend of reasoning is true, with half as many fishermen there should be twice as many fish for those lucky enough to get out on the streams. That should be one bright spot in an otherwise gloomy picture, anyway.

Dear Ken,

Sorry I haven't written sooner. One excuse sounds as bad as another, so I just won't make any at all.

I used to get two or three of the papers at a time, but haven't received any at all the last two months. The paper sure makes good reading, even at the age of five or six months. Mother sends most of the paper to me in clippings along with her letters, so I get most of it while it's still news at the age of one or two months.

Saw a picture of Orin Sutton on the back of a Yank, also one was in the China, Burma and India Roundup, which is our weekly paper.

Suppose you don't get much news from this part of the world. But I can tell you we're doing the best we can with what we have.

They say seeing is believing, but it's hard to believe some of the things you see in this country. My idea of this country has changed a lot since I've seen some of it for myself. If I didn't look at things too good, at times I'd think I was on Mackinaw Island. Outside of the large cities, most of the traveling is by ox cart, camel or donkey. These donkeys are so small that people have to bend their knees to keep their feet off the ground. Most of the roads are very poor.

Indians like Yanks well enough, but think they're all rich and suckers. One fellow got a dog he didn't want because he offered one rupee when the guy wanted 15 for it. Another offered 15 rupees for a knife worth 10 or 12, which the guy wanted 30 for. They tossed, he paid 30.

Thanks again for the paper. Would appreciate the A. P. O. of anyone from home in this country. Wouldn't mind a little of the snow you had this winter, either. Say hello to the rest of the boys for me.

Pfc. Richard Bergmann,
India.

Dear Sir,

I am writing in regard to your paper. I am down here in Texas and would like to know what is going on up home in Charlevoix. It's pretty lonesome down here. I

Betty Grable, John Payne and Victor Mature are starred in 20th Century-Fox's new musical "Footlight Serenade," coming to the Palace Theatre next Wednesday and Thursday, which is hailed as the "perfect tonic for the times." Featuring love, laughs and lyrics, it is indeed a merry musical treat. Rated by previewers as a worthy successor of "My Gal Sal," the picture is studded with topflight talent, such as June Wyman, Jas. Gleason, Phil Silvers and Cobina Wright, Jr.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

Dairy and Potato Meetings Set for April 16th

The third series of meetings to be held in Charlevoix county on the food production program will take place on Friday, April 16th, when specialists from Michigan State College will discuss dairy and potatoes. In order to reach as many farmers as possible, there will be four meetings held, two on the subject of dairy and two on potatoes.

The two meetings on dairying will be held in the Barnard grange hall of 10 Friday forenoon, April 16, and in the American Legion hall at 10 Friday forenoon, April two meetings on potatoes will be held in the Boyne River grange at 10 a. m., Friday, April 16, and in the Horton Bay town hall at 2 p. m.

We are fortunate to have Jim Hays present to handle the two dairy discussions. "How to obtain maximum results without unbalancing the farming" will be the big theme for consideration. We are asked to produce more milk products than ever before and this means that every dairyman should carefully study his dairy program away production and profit, and prevent any leaks that take

H. C. Moore has been scheduled to lead the discussion on potatoes and farm crops. No man in Michigan has had more experience with potatoes than Mr. Moore. For many years he has been in charge of the certified seed program. Charlevoix county this year has been asked to increase its potato acreage around 60 per cent. To meet this quota means a huge job.

Supply of Farm Labor Still the Number One Problem

Farmers in many localities in this community are still badly in need of farm helpers. During the last week several placements have been made, but we still have need of seven or eight farm hands for full time employment. Now is the time to get located if you are interested in working on a farm. A list is being kept in the county agent's office of both those needing hired help and those desiring employment.

Indications point to families with farm backgrounds coming back from the cities to the rural communities. It is expected that the recent order placing industrial plants on a 48-hour week basis will make more labor available for farm use. Certainly with the crowded conditions, poor living quarters, shortage of food supplies and costs of living, many families are coming to the conclusion that perhaps being located on a good farm unit is not such a bad idea.

The supply of farm boys that are being deferred for agricultural purposes does not seem to take care of many farmers who need year around help. In the majority of cases these boys will be living at home and helping their neighbors for a few days at a time off their home farm. But this does not release many boys for steady employment on farms. In any case it is strongly urged that you drop a line to your extension agent at Boyne City and let us know your needs. Every effort will be made with the help of all agricultural agencies in the county to assist in the placement of labor. A partial analysis of farmers' intentions show increases in crop acreages and in general farm activity. Certainly no farmer should curtail his farming intentions. Let's get the crops in and somehow or other I am quite sure that the necessary labor can be made available.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Sure been a great year for crops, Judge... beat we've had in quite a spell."

"That's true, Henry... all over the country. As a matter of fact, there's been quite a surplus supply of grain according to some figures I saw in one of your farm papers the other day. But that surplus is being used to mighty good advantage and is making the contribution of you farmers to the war effort more important than ever.

"Here's just one example of what I mean. The beverage distilling industry alone will use 100,000,000 bushels of this surplus to make alcohol seriously needed by the government for gunpowder, synthetic rubber, chemicals and medical supplies.

"So, keep it growin' Henry... you're doing a great job."

LANSING LETTER

This is an interview story about Dr. Eugene C. Keyes, Michigan's lieutenant governor.

He is nobody's fool. He is a resolute fighter. As a central figure in the state legislature's 1943 futile tug-of-war over the highway department, Keyes demonstrated to friend and foe that he is competent and sincere. He has displayed a crusader's zeal for rights of the minority and thus proved to politicians that he is a sentimentalist at heart.

Not in many years has one individual zoomed in such a short time from comparative obscurity in Michigan politics to the second highest state office to the governorship itself. In the 1940 primary he defeated a field of well known and able Republican leaders including a past state chairman of the Republican party, a presiding chairman of the State Senate and an outstanding legislator-country editor. With a new face and a clever slogan, "Keyes to Good Government," he captured the voters' favor and the politicians' respect.

By virtue of his independence, he became one of the most talked about men at Lansing during the 1943 legislative session. Some senators will swear by him; others will swear at him.

Almost single-handed, by firm parliamentary action, he forestalled attempts of Republican legislators to remove the office of highway commissioner from the April 5 ballot. (Incidentally, friends of Charles M. Ziegler, the victorious Republican nominee for highway commissioner, were also opposed to the legislature's moves. Governor Kelly favored the bills.) Keyes was denounced by a metropolitan newspaper for perpetrating a "cheap parliamentary trick." The senate snubbed him when it refused to grant him the right of committee appointments. He continued to smile.

Dr. Keyes is ambitious. He hopes to be governor some day.

He is a licensed practicing physician, a licensed dentist and a licensed attorney—a combination that is unorthodox among the professions and certainly the apex of extraordinary abilities.

Here is his own story of why he did as he did—and what he hopes to do in the future.

"For fourteen years I lived at my maternal grandfather's farm in Perth county, Ontario. I came to respect the farmer's individualism and to understand his problems. When the question of war time arose following the November election, I found myself sympathetic to the needs of the farmer, and at a session of members of the state administrative board I made a suggestion that war time be limited to six months during the summer season. I still believe that this would have been the best solution.

"You are interested in why I opposed the bills to deprive the people of the right to elect their own state highway commissioner. There are several reasons, and here they are.

"First, it did not seem logical to me that the people should be trusted with the choice of the state superintendent of public instruction, the regents of the University and members of the Michigan State College board but they shouldn't be trusted with choice of a state highway commissioner.

"Highways are one of our greatest common denominators. Every citizen is affected by highways, just as he is by schools.

"A second reason was my conviction that Governor Kelly and the Republican party would be blamed by the public if the state roads were not maintained and developed as adequately as they had been under Democratic administration.

"Take a look at these figures. During the 1942 fiscal year, the state collected around $33,000,000 in gasoline taxes. However, a legislative act set aside $6,000,000 annually for distribution back to the counties. This would leave around $12,000,000 for our roads, compared with $27,000,000, (Last week Secretary of State Herman Dignan estimated 1943 gas tax receipts at $26,200,000.)

"As I see it, Democrats could point to a decline in highway maintenance and put the blame right on the governor at the 1944 election.

"Another reason: Why did such Michigan automobile leaders as Ford, Fisher, Kettering, Algers and others take an active part in legislation to have the highway commissioner elected by the people and not appointed by the governor?

"A commision set-up would have brought provincial log-rolling among members of the commission. It would have encouraged provincial highways rather than a state-wide system of good roads.

"Finally, when Governor Groesbeck created the state administrative board, he contributed the greatest single progressive step in the history of Michigan government. This act vested elected state officials with responsibility and voting authority in matters of state policy. The state board became, in reality, the governor's cabinet.

When the lieutenant governor was added later on, he became the agent of the legislature, a liaison man between the governor and the legislature.

"The administrative board shared the governor's responsibilities, while the highway bills would have increased them. A road commission would have become another form of bureaucracy, government by delegated authority without elective process, with provincial or district interests in constant conflict with state interests. Each new governor would have to meet criticism about state roads although he would have had only limited control over the commission.

"Removing the state highway commissioner from the April ballot was not good government. That is why I opposed it."

About the publicized parliamentary move which thwarted efforts to save the highway bill, Dr. Keyes said:

"The day before the Republican convention, the senate, after striking out the $25,000 appropriation which would have forestalled a referendum and was the real joker in the bill, voted down House Bill No. 30 which would have created a state highway commission. Upon motion to reconsider, the senate placed the bill on the table for possible revival later on. About a week later the bill was amended whereby the commissioner became an appointee of the governor. It was defeated and the bill under the rules was dead and could not be revived during the same session of the legislature.

"However, the chair was overruled again, and a few days later the same amendment was introduced, providing for the appointment of a highway commissioner, but reducing the salary $500, stipulating the date he was to commence work, and a 10 year Michigan residence as a prerequisite. This contravened the rules again which provided that an amendment once defeated cannot be reintroduced in the same substance, during the same session of the legislature. The chair was again overruled and the Senate passed the bill as amended.

"The house bill, thus changed, was sent back to the house. The house could not agree, and it asked for a conference committee. Senate members were named by the senate.

"When the conferees could not agree, a suggestion was made to have the lieutenant governor appoint a new one. I named a committee consisting of the majority and minority floor leaders and another member who was a strong proponent of the bill. The senate, in a rump session, moved to reconsider the bill. This was not the proper method of discharging a committee, and was contrary to parliamentary procedure.

"The substitute or third conference committee then revived the same house bill No. 30, previously defeated by the senate, with the $25,000 appropriation to forestall a referendum vote. The joint conference rules provide under the last sentence of rule 7, where the conference rules are silent, the house rules (where the bill is under consideration) govern. Senate rules 29 and 30 provide that appropriation bills must be referred by the President to the committee on finance and appropriation.

"The proponents of the bill sought to circumvent these rules, without a suspension, under the guise of a conference report. The constitution provides that a bill cannot be passed by its title only, but must proceed through proper and complete legislative channels.

"To suspend the rules for immediate passage of a bill, a motion must be supported by two-thirds of those present and voting, as a protection to minority rights. And so when Senator McCallum arose to move adoption of the conference report, he in effect moved to suspend the rules. I declined to put the motion to a vote.

"When another senator then moved to adjourn, I put the motion promptly to vote. The motion to adjourn takes precedence over all other motions except a point of order. The vote by voices was easily two to one. I did leave immediately."

Dr. Keyes concedes that he was obstinate and treated a few of the senators roughly, but he insists that his parliamentary decisions will stand up under test. In fact, he said he had consulted other lieutenant governors, including one in another state.

It is easy to predict a fairly tempestuous career at Lansing for the Dearborn doctor-dentist-attorney. At a meeting of the administrative board following the April 5 election, Keyes sided with Lloyd Reid, outgoing highway commissioner.

What is his interest in Michigan politics?

"I believe Governor Kelly is a cinch for re-election," he said. "I hope to be a candidate for governor some day, but never against Harry Kelly. However, if Kelly runs for United States senator in '46, that's something else."

The lieutenant governor, independent in his convictions, is inclined to champion the underdog. He is no conservative.

How far he will go in Michigan politics is a matter of discussion and some controversy.

Dr. Keyes has his dreams. Basically, he is a crusader for "good government" as he sees it, and, right or wrong, he is going to be heard when important decisions are to be made.

VICTORY GARDENS

Michigan Council of Defense

Chief, Victory Garden Section
Michigan Council of Defense

Plan Definitely for Quantities to Can or Store

Having enough vegetables in your garden to can or store for winter use cannot be left to chance. You really have to plan carefully and make a special planting for these supplies. Just canning the surplus from your fresh garden seldom works out, for your surpluses usually are not too well balanced and you might end up with too much of one kind and not enough of another. These figures taken from the Victory Garden folder published by the Michigan Council of Defense can serve as a guide:

Spinach or other green, can per person 6 pints, plant 18-ft. row; turnips, store 10 pounds per person, plant 10-ft. row; rutabagas, store 10 pounds per person, plant 10-ft. row; peas, can 6 pints per person, plant 80-ft. row; beets, store20 pounds per person, plant 20-25-ft. row; carrots, store 20 pounds per person, plant 25-30-ft. row; cabbage, store 20 pounds per person, plant 25-30-ft. row; parsnips, store 10 pounds per person, plant 20-ft. row; onions, store 20 pounds per person, plant 20-ft. row; beans(dry) store 3 to 6 pounds per person, plant 20-ft. row; beans, (green), can 10 pints per person, plant 45 to 50-ft. row; winter squash, store 20 pounds per person, plant 20 to 30-ft. row; beans, lima, can 6 pints per person, plant 60-ft. row; sweet corn, can 12 pints per person, plant 90-ft. row; tomatoes, can 30 to 35 quarts per person, plant 100-ft. row; potatoes, store 3 or 4 bushel, plant 100 to 150-ft. row.

The qualities of non-acid vegetables listed for canning are indicated in pints since good canning practice calls for using pint cans rather than quarts so that uniform temperature can be obtained throughout the can.

The prudent housewife will plan to can approximately 50 quarts of vegetables for every adult member of her family and 50 quarts of fruit. She will also plan her canning carefully to have a well balanced stock of all vegetables and fruits on hand. Of course, family preferences will enter into the plan but canning a tremendous quantity of one kind of vegetable just because you have it may be wasteful if the family gets tired of it before the winter is over. It also might cause you to run short of cans and other equipment as well as energy before the other crops are ready to can.

Again, at this time plan your garden to produce just the quantity you will use fresh and to can when the canning or storing season arrives.

Use Disease Resistant Varieties

Many garden troubles can be avoided easier than they can be cured. That is especially true of plant diseases and one of the best ways to avoid them is to select disease resistant varieties insofar as possible.

Some of the varieties that can be recommended include the following:

Midseason sweet corn, Golden Evergreen (yellow), Stowell's Evergreen (white); late sweet corn, Golden Cross Bantam (yellow), Country Gentleman (white); early cabbage, Golden Acre; midseason cabbage, Globe, Marion Market; late cabbage, Hollander No. 8, Wisconsin All Season; midseason tomatoes, Marglobe, Pritchard, Marhio; late tomatoes, Rutgers; early potatoes, Irish Cobbler, Chippewa; late potatoes, Russet Rural; early peas, Luxton's Progress, Alaska, Giant Stride; green beans, Tendergreen, Giant

THE 2nd WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

America....you've got to get tougher!

WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

AMERICA — Let's be frank about it . . . so far, many of us back home have been fighting this war from an easy chair. Many of us have bought War Bonds out of extra cash, out of money we didn't miss too much. We haven't been really tough with ourselves.

But this war is a hard, down-to-reality war. And many of our boys are dying in it.

We've got to buy MORE

So your government asks you to buy Bonds and more Bonds—to get really tough with yourself. We're asking you to give up the frills and "extras."

We know how human it is not to make sacrifices until the crisis drives us to it. In England they felt the same way until the bombs started falling.

Bombs are such persuasive things. But just as persuasive ought to be the spirit of our brothers, sons, husbands.

If you could see

Look at it this way—suppose you had a magic carpet that could take you to Africa and New Guinea. Suppose you could hear the groan of American boys wounded, and American boys dying. . . . Say now, how many Bonds would you buy?

That kind of war

THEY . . . are dying. And they will keep on dying until we drown the enemy in an overwhelming torrent of bombs, bullets, guns, tanks, planes, ships, and shells.

That's why we're asking you, in this one month of April alone, to lend Uncle Sam 13 billions of dollars—by buying War Bonds. 13 billions of extra dollars—over and above any buying that you'd be doing anyway!

A lot of money

Of course, 13 billion dollars is a lot of money. It'll take sweat and tears to raise it. It'll mean going without now. But also—it will mean savings now—to buy later. It'll mean giving up everything you can't square with your conscience, so that we, us, our children, can have a better, more decent place to live in when this war is won.

The drive is on

So during this month of April, if someone calls on you to ask you to buy War Bonds in this 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE, will you buy to the limit—and then buy more?

Better yet, will you go to your Bank, Postoffice, or wherever you're used to buying your Bonds—and buy NOW? Will you lend extra money this month? Money that can hasten the day of Victory? Money that can help to save American lives.

Money buys money

Remember, what you're really buying with your money is still more money. For after all, these Bonds are money! Money plus! Every dollar you put into War Bonds will bring you a dollar plus interest.

So the more Bonds you buy the better for you. Americans — Get Tough — with yourselves — for your country.

To Hasten Victory

No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on our far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. There is an investment to fit every purse. The most you can do is little enough compared with the sacrifice offered by our boys in service. They give their lives—you lend your money.

An enterprising New Orleans auto dealer uses the show window where he once displayed auto parts to exhibit his new line of Christmas toys.

Unnecessary spending in war times is sabotage—whether conscious or not. Your dollars are needed for war production. Help your state meet its War Bond quota.

At exactly 1:13 p. m. Saturday afternoon, the very hour the first anniversary of our declaration of war against Germany, the booming of the life saving station cannon heralded opening of the third Liberty Loan drive. The 65-foot Liberty pole erected on the lot next to See's coal office and lit by spotlights on the insurance office is a gift of Harry L. Oldham. On the pole is marked a 65-foot thermometer with a sliding statuette of Uncle Sam to indicate progress of subscriptions to the county's bond quota of $176,375.00. (This year the Second War Loan Drive asks $180,000 in this county.)

Regulations for shipping candy, books, clothing, etc., to troops abroad require written permit from your soldier boy's commanding officer.

Harry L. Oldham has offered to cede to the city his lot at the southeast corner of Bridge and Antrim streets, on which the mineral spring now stands, a plot 32 by 86 feet in all. Plans call for removal of the present building over the spring and erection of a memorial fountain to the woman workers of the Charlevoix county Red Cross, memorial to Civil War veterans and fallen heroes of the present struggle, a cannon for salutes, and flag poles for the national colors, city and county service flags.

The Courier moved that week from its old quarters in the building now occupied by Maxbauer's creamery to that in which the H. J. Heinz Co.'s office is now located. The Northern Auto Company took over the Courier's former location.

The old building formerly occupied by Ray Ashdon's barber shop, which was sold to John Fagan and moved to his lot on East Lincoln street, near Bridge, is one of the first houses built in this town. It was originally erected by Alden Chamberlain on the spot now occupied by the County Bank. Chief of Police W. J. Weikel remembers that in the fall of 1867, he and members of his family arrived here in "prairie schooners" from Chickasaw county, Iowa, and camped in front of this building on the greensward where now the pavement of Bridge street lies.

The steamer "Bruce" opened navigation in Round lake Saturday—that is—she moved from Sam Hamilton's dock to the Wilbur dock to get better coaling facilities.

King Saunders, one of the lucky ones who have been basking under California skies this past winter, has been reading in the Courier about what a winter we had here, and in a nine-stanza poem entitled "Michigan versus California," takes it upon himself to chortle over us poor sinners. How about it—shall we appoint a lynching party to meet him at the station next summer when he returns to this despised and much maligned region, as he surely will—they all do.

DETHMERS SEES VICTORY IN '44 FOR STATE GOP

John R. Dethmers, Chairman of the Republican State Central Committee of Michigan, is confident that Michigan voters will support the Republican party for the third successive time in 1944. Under Dethmer's leadership, Michigan Republicans have won two major elections within the last five months.

JOHN R. DETHMERS

"There are a number of reasons why I'm confident of a Republican victory in Michigan in 1944," declared Chairman Dethmers. "To begin with, our success in November, and again on April 5th, clearly indicates that the resentment of Michigan voters to bungling, wastefulness and political deceit in government is growing in equal measure with their opposition to the strong leanings toward centralization, and destruction of the rights of individual citizens and local governing units.

"Much as we are aware of this, we are not relying on this trend alone. A carefully planned and state-wide educational campaign, designed to acquaint Michigan voters with the facts on public issues, is already under way. Also, we are continuing to rebuild our party organization along the lines started a year ago.

"Last but not least, our new unified finance program will help the party's chances in 1944. All Republican funds are now collected by a Finance Committee which also controls disbursements. In the short time that this plan has been in operation, less than two months, the party's financial standing has improved very materially."

DANA MILTON was thinking of the future.

"Look here, Simon," he said, "I've been thinking this thing over and I've come to the conclusion that it won't be good policy for us to become equal partners."

"You mean you don't think we aught to buy the business?"

"It isn't that. I think the business is worth every cent its owners are asking. But you know, Simon, you and I have only known each other a couple of months. True, we worked fine together and were pretty successful on that last proposition. But—well, I just don't think it's a good policy for two ambitious young men to put an equal amount of money in a business."

"I get it," said Simon. "Maybe you're right." He looked at Dana craftily. "I'd like to be the one to put the money in, Dana. It was I who discovered the thing."

Dana nodded. "I thought you'd feel that way about it, Simon. And I'm willing to withdraw, provided, of course, that you give me a contract—assure me of a job during the next five years."

"Fair enough." Simon extended his hand. Secretly he was elated. He knew that Dana was a conscientious worker, a good salesman.

Simon and Dana took the insurance company over in May. Within a month's time they discovered it wasn't the profit-paying proposition both had anticipated. It was run

Simon was angered and not a little worried. Yet he had put too much money into the thing to let it go.

By fall a little business began to come in and then a little more. During October they broke even. November showed a profit, and December still a greater profit. During January and February the gross business increased in leaps and bounds. Simon, watching the weekly returns, began to lick his lips. In April he dug out the contract he had made with Dana and perused its contents. There was, he saw, a chance for complaint. The contract provided that Dana be paid a percentage of the gross business, that he should sell policies at the rate charged by previous owners. There, thought Simon, was the snag. Dana had cut the rate in order to start the ball rolling.

Simon summoned Dana. "Dana," he said, "I notice you've been selling at reduced rates. We can't make a profit that way."

"That was the only way to get things going."

Simon shook his head. "I'm sorry. Our contract provided that you sell at rates charged by the previous owners. You ignored the clause, thereby causing no little dissension among our clients. I'll have to let you go."

"Let me go! Why, you can't do that! We have a contract!"

Simon looked at him icily. "You broke the contract, mister."

It wasn't until Dana had reached home and broken the news to Hattie, his wife, that he realized what losing his job meant.

The next day Dana received a letter from the insurance company in which Simon stated he had turned the matter over to his lawyer. Dana considered various possibilities. He needed money at once. Remembering that Simon's greatest weakness was his own sense of importance, he decided on a plan.

He visited a local printer and ordered some important looking letterheads, with his name at the top.

Two days later another letter arrived from Simon. It stated that he would like to meet Dana in Attorney Harry Davis' office on Wednesday.

Dana called up his printer and asked for his letterheads, and was told they weren't ready. Perturbed, Dana waited two days longer and then, upon being advised that the copy for his letterheads had been mislaid, sat down to answer Simon's letter on plain white paper.

The letter was hardly completed when the front doorbell rang and Hattie admitted a small wizened man.

"My name," he explained, "is Davis. Attorney Davis. I'm representing Simon Douglas." He paused, coughed. "Mr. Douglas says you have neglected to answer his letters. Your silence has disturbed him. He seems to think you are preparing to bring suit. And whereas there is little on which you could base a suit, Mr. Douglas feels that court action would injure his business. He is—ah—prepared to make you a proposition."

Dana wet his lips. "What kind of a proposition?"

"You were to receive a percentage of the gross business. The sum total of things for a year would, in normal times, amount to about $3,000. Mr. Douglas is prepared to pay you $2,000, if you will destroy the contract."

Dana gulped. The amount was twice that for which he had intended to bring suit. And a suit, if successful, might have netted him $500.

After a moment he said, "Very well, I'll take the check and hand over the contract. The money will come in handy to pay for my letterheads."

And at the look of bewilderment on the attorney's face, Dana grinned.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

John Trumbull, our postmaster, looks up from his newspaper yesterday and says: "I see they caught another one o' them so-called 'gang-lords' of the Prohibition era.

"Wonder how long it's going to take us to wipe out the evil Prohibition left behind . . . not to mention the billions of dollars it cost the people?"

Well, John's right o' course. Hard to believe America could ever pass a law like Prohibition.

But from where I sit it's a big consolation—now that Prohibition is over—to see how moderation and tolerance have grown up in its place.

Nowadays, if a man enjoys a friendly glass of beer or two after a day's work, he not only can do it in clean, respectable surroundings—but he knows that no bootlegger or gangster is making a red cent on it.

THE 2nd WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

How to invest in "fighting dollars!"

WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

"Lend more money to help carry on the fight!" That's what our Government is asking you and all the rest of us . . . asking us to lend it 13 billion fighting dollars in the next few weeks! 13 billion extra dollars—over and above all regular War Bond buying!

We can do it . . . we must do it . . . we owe it to our boys who are fighting overseas. For their sake. . . .

We've got to build more ships! We broke all records last year when we built 8 million tons of shipping. This year, we're building 18 million tons . . . but still it is not enough!

We've got to do more fighting! More and more of our soldiers and sailors are going into actual combat . . . requiring more equipment, and more supplies. We cannot let them down!

We've got to buy more War Bonds! To help pay for the things our fighting men need . . . we've got to buy War Bonds as we never bought them before!

In the next few weeks you may be visited by one of the thousands of men and women who are giving their time and effort to the 2nd War Loan Drive. Welcome these patriotic workers if they call . . . buy from them all the War Bonds you can!

Better still, don't wait for them. Go to your nearest bank, post office, or War Bond booth, and invest more fighting dollars now! It's the least you can do to help those who are fighting and dying overseas!

Among the 7 different kinds of U. S. Government securities is one that exactly fits your own particular purse and requirements. These securities are the finest investment in the world . . . bar none! For your Country's sake . . . for your own sake . . . invest all you can!

THEY GIVE THEIR LIVES . . . YOU LEND YOUR MONEY!

FROM THE GARDEN CLUB

Veteran gardeners depend on signals from nature rather than calendar dates in choosing the time for planting vegetables. The Victory Garden section of the Michigan council of defense has collected four of the most useful for guidance of new gardeners.

1. "When daffodils bloom" is the time for plaoting leaf lettuce, spinach, radish, turnip, onion sets, peas and early cabbage.

2. "When maple trees leaf out" the sign for planting head lettuce, beets, carrots, parsnips, swiss chard, parsley, endive and onion seeds.

3. "When apple trees are in full bloom" is given as the signal for planting New Zealand spinach, green and wax beans and sweet corn.

4. "As soon as apple petals fall" is the sign for planting winter squash, lima beans, cucumbers and tomato plants.

It would be interesting to check the dates that these signs occur on our calendars for several years and then arrive at our own approximate dates for our locality.

Our government wishes to keep you working and if necessary you can can get new, recapped or used tires and tubes, also bicycles. Brown Motors, Inc.—Adv. 15t1.

COMMERCIAL VEHICLE REPORTS DUE MAY 1

Operators Three or More Trucks or Busses Must File

All operators of three or more commercial vehicles in the Cadillac area were reminded to day by Harold L. Frier, district manager of the office of defense transportation, motor transport division, that operation reports for the first calendar quarter of 1943 are due May 1.

If such an operator fails to file his report by that time, he may find it difficult to obtain gasoline rations for subsequent quarters under ODT regulations, Mr. Frier warned.

"Blank forms for the quarterly reports were sent to all operators of three or more trucks, taxicabs or buses at the time they were mailed their certificates of war necessity," he said.

"Each operator should mail his report to his ODT office, the address of which is stamped in the upper right-hand corner of the form."

He added that operators who do not comply with the ODT regulation requiring them to file the quarterly operation reports are subject to having their certificates of war necessity revoked.

ANNUAL REPORT IS GIVEN BY CSO

One major expense of the CSO is maintenance of the USO center in the Lewis building, first center to be chartered in northern Michigan. A total of $466.10 has been expended for furnishings, fixtures, cleaning, rewiring, insurance, heating and refreshments. With opening of navigation the center will again be placed in operation, which will use remainder of the funds earmarked for this purpose.

Other items of expense include: sending newspaper to Charlevoix men, $163.94; benefit party expenses, $106.21; draftee send-offs, $57.57; meals, lodging, transportation for draftees detained in Charlevoix, $55.59; service men's window display, $17.61; stamp booth, $18.71; telephone, telegrsph and miscellaneous expense, $11.06.

Books of the organization are open for public inspection at any time."

While a total of $344.93 remains in CSO funds, this does not mean that the organization requires no donations at this time. With more Charlevoix men entering service each month, and the national war effort requiring more and more cooperation from each individual, activities of the CSO will increase in proportion.

One particular CSO expense has not as yet been heavy but will certainly increase as the war is intensified, and that is their standing offer of aid to Charlevoix men hospitalized because of injuries or wounds received while in service. They stand ready also to aid the families of men in service whenever such aid is needed.

While other cities in this area have war service clubs, the CSO has outdistanced all of them in energetic efforts toward the unification of the city's share in the war, covering and directing more wartime activities in Charlevoix than any such group does in other communities. Future success of their work depends greatly on cooperation of every local citizen.

ARMY LETTERS

think it would be much easier for me and some of the other fellows to know about home. If you could send me the paper, I would appreciate it very much.

Pvt. James O'Brien Jr.
Co. D, 52nd Bn., M.R.T.C.
Camp Barkeley, Texas

Mr. and Mrs. Mont Withers have received the following letter from their son, Sgt. Bruce Withers, commander of a fleet of army air corps crash boats in New Guinea:

Dear Folks,

that I am well and continue to get along fine and continue to get along fine.

How is every little thing around home? Are the men still getting lots of fox? Sure do wish I was back there getting in on some of that hunting.

I am with the Aussies that are next to our Marine Sec. right now. They are a fine bunch of boys and we get along fine together.

Haven't done any fishing lately. The last time we went out we got about a hundred pounds of the tropical beauties and did we have a fish feed. I fried the fish. I rolled them in dehydrated eggs and flour and fried them in deep fat, um, talk about delicious, reminded me of the smelt feeds we boys used to have back home.

I was out on a trip all day and was it hot and did I get a good dose of the sun and do I ever feel it tonight. I am getting almost as dark as some of these natives over here.

The Aussie boys received a lot of packages from home tonight—fruit cake, short cake, biscuits, home-made jam, candy, and whatnot.

I guess they have put a stop to our getting any more packages. Oh, well, as long as the Aussies are around we'll get along.

Hope to hear from you soon.

Bruce.

Dear Ken,

A few lines to let you know things are o.k. with me. The Charlevoix Courier is still rated A-1 by us fellows here in the Pacific ocean areas.

Every now and then I run into one of the local fellows and our first questions are: "What's new in Charlevoix?"

Bill Edwards and James Brady, just back from a four months' cruise, dropped in and Bill's first words were: "Hime, you got any recent Couriers?"

The folks airmail my copy and I usually get it within 10 days.

We all want to keep up with the latest news of the old home town and hope that before many months pass we can get back on Bridge street and exchange a few sea stories.

My regards to the editor and Anne and staff—hope you remain in the lower left hand corner with your "Shot at Random."

Best Wishes,
Bob Pearl

Hi, Ken,

The army life is only beginning for me. Today I was put in college with the rank of private first class. We go to school and eat with the best of 'em. Would say more but am cramped for time.

WAR LOAN DRIVE NOW UNDER WAY

Before they reach you, you should consult one of them, your banker or your postmaster and determine which type of bond its your particular need. Or, study the following explanation of securities offered, with particular emphasis on the Series "E", 'the people'a bond', as efforts will be made to dispose of an unprecedented amount of these securities.

United States War Bonds, Series E—

Cost 75 per cent of maturity value; mature in 10 years; cumulative yield 2.9 per cent if held to maturity; redeemable at holder's option after 60 days at variable amounts shown on the face of the bond, depending on the length of time owned. Most attractive government bond available for any holder who does not need current income. Each purchaser limited to not more than $5,000 maturity value in one calendar year.

United States Savings Bonds, Series F—

Somewhat similar to the series E, but available for larger purchasers. Cost 74 per cent of maturity value; mature in 12 years, cumulative yield 2.53 per cent if held to maturity; redeemable at holder's option after six months at amounts specified on the face of the bond, such payment depending on the length of time owned.

United States Savings Bonds, Series G—

Cost price 100 per cent; mature in 12 years; bonds in registered form; interest mailed to the owner semi-annually at the annual rate of 2½ per cent, giving a yield, if held to maturity, of 2½ per cent; redeemable at holder's option after six months at amounts specified on the face of the bond, depending on the length of time owned. A medium maturity bond, giving a regular income each year, combined with stable value. Irrespective of the specified redemption value for that date, the bonds are redeemable to an estate at par, making them the equivalent of cash in an estate.

2 Per Cent Treasury Bonds Maturing Sept. 15, 1952, With Optional Payment Sept. 15, 1950—

These bonds are available in negotiable form with coupons attached, or in registered form. Cost price 100 per cent. They will have an active market, may be used as collateral, and are adaptable for medium term investment where reasonable stability is desired.

2½ Per Cent Treasury Bonds Maturing June 15, 1969, With Optional Payment June 15, 1964—

These bonds are available in negotiable form with coupons attached, or in registered form. Cost price 100 per cent. The bonds will have an active market, may be used as collateral, and are preferable for long term investment where regular current annual income is desired. In addition, irrespective of what may be the temporary market, these bonds may be presented at par for payment of federal estate taxes on death of the owner. This provision enables any individual, in effect, to prepay estimated estate taxes, enjoy 2½ per cent regular income in the meantime, and be protected, when used for this purpose, against any fluctuation in value.

Certificate of Indebtedness, Series B, Due 1944—

Cost price 100 per cent; mature April 1, 1944; yield 7-8th per cent. This series particularly appropriate for individuals having temporary funds and especially attractive for corporations having unused cash balances. This series makes it possible for such funds to be employed and yet available after the war for corporate purposes.

Tax Savings Notes, Series C—

Cost 100 per cent, maturity three years from issue date; yield varies, depending on length of time owned, but the yield is 1.07 per cent if held to maturity. Wherever individuals or corperations have taxes payable later this year, or where funds may be available to provide tax reserves for subsequent years, this series, in effect, permits prepayment of taxes with the owner receiving an income return on the funds in the meantime, depending on the length of time owned. This is a privilege that no taxpayer with funds available should overlook. Furthermore, the owner may redeem for cash prior to maturity, after six months, if, for any reason, they are not needed for taxes.

Anyone with funds will find in the above the selection particularly adapted to the needs in question. The series G and 2½ per cent treasury bonds are especially attractive to protect estates in the event of a buyer's death. From the standpoint of financing the war, the long terms are the most important.

So buy what you can, Charlevoix—but buy in April, and buy to the limit!

Stringless Greenpod, Refugee; yellow beans, Pencil Pod, Black Wax.

Most of these varieties are well adapted to all parts of Michigan except the tomato varieties, which will probably not produce too well in the northern part of the state or in the upper peninsula. The new Early Chatham developed at Michigan State College's upper peninsula development station at Chatham and which is being made available now through the county agents through commercial greenhouses and plant growers will produce very satisfactorily there.

It is quite probable too that the sweet corn variety, Golden Cross Bantam, will prove to be too late in the northern part of the state.

In addition to growing disease resistant varieties, other methods of prevention should be followed during the season. These additional precautions should be taken:

1. Rotate your garden or rotate the crops in your garden. Most diseases are quite specific. They prefer one host. Try not to plant the same crop in the same location twice in succession.

2. Don't sow too thickly and, in addition, thin to proper distances.

3. Use treated seed, or treat it yourself.

4. Be sure your soil is well drained.

5. A copper-lime dust, Bordeaux Mixture or some of the new low soluble copper dusts applied according to directions will prevent spreading of leaf diseases.

6. Water in the morning rather than at night so plants will dry off quickly.

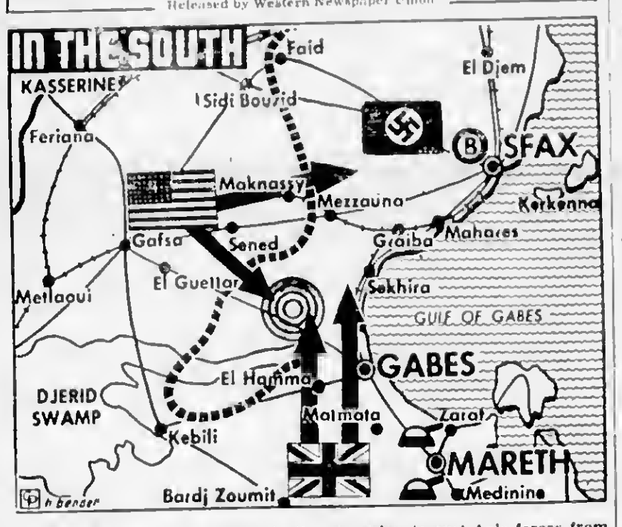
WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

U-Boat Warfare Takes Turn for Worse; New Wedge Driven Into Rommel Lines As Allies Continue Furious Air Attack; Outline International Currency Plan

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union



Map shows Allied progress in the campaign to oust Axis forces from North Africa. Hard on the heels of Marshal Rommel, "The Fox," was the British Eighth army, under Gen. Bernard L. Montgomery. After a week's pause, during which Montgomery brought up troops and supplies, the Eighth army stormed Rommel's improvised defenses at the Wadi el Akarit. The chief passes to the coast, where the Americans fought hot engagements, are in the areas of El Guettar, Makoassy and Fondouk.

TUNISIA:
Fight to Meet

Action in Tunisia continued with Lieut. Gen. George Patton's Second American Army corps fighting for a junction with British forces at Gabes.

Thousands of mines blocked the American advance. Sappers kept busy clearing the fields and later American tanks rumbled into action.

In their bid to prevent an American and British junction, the Axis tanks thrust at the American armored columns. Americans brought up artillery to heavily shell Axis troop and motor concentrations.

Slowly but surely Patton's men advanced along the Gafsa road. Awaiting them at Gabes were the British, who brought up their heavy guns to shell Marshal Rommel's entrenched Afrika Korps along a narrow line in the El Akarit gulch, 15 miles north of Gabes.

At Akarit, "The Fox" was expected to put up another short, stiff fight before falling back toward Sfax. His strategy calls for a series of delaying actions while the Axis completes coastal defenses in Italy.

In northern Tunisia, Nazi troops fell back toward the coastal bastion of Bizerte under the pressure of British troops. Native Arabian Ghouims, armed with knives, have been helping the British with guerrilla activity.

Fighting Before Talk

Gen. Charles DeGaulle's scheduled meeting with Gen. Henri Giraud in North Africa for the purpose of consolidating all anti-Axis French in the war has been postponed by request of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

General Eisenhower felt that political discussion in the midst of critical fighting in Tunisia could only have a disturbing effect. Prime Minister Churchill is supposed to have persuaded DeGaulle to await Anthony Eden's report of American reaction to the complicated North African problem.

U-BOAT WARFARE:
Turn for the Worse

Indications that the battle of the Atlantic has taken a turn for the worse were made evident when Secretary of the Navy Knox announced that Allied ship losses were considerably worse during the past month.

Although the secretary gave no estimate of the total number of U-boats the Nazis have used in their spring offensive, he said that "just as we expected and as I said it would be, there are more German subs out there."

The subs are concentrating in the middle Atlantic, along the shipping routes from the United States to England and the Mediterranean. It is predicted that the submarine campaign will become worse before it gets better. Navel experts estimate the Axis will have 700 submarines operating in packs along supply routes this spring.

To counter the U-boat offensive the United States is rushing construction of a fleet of destroyer-escort vessels, smaller than destroyers.

PROMISE:
More Farm Tools

Following a review of the legislative situation with Democratic congressional leaders, President Roosevelt has indicated that, in view of the improved war outlook, he will give more attention to domestic problems. Speaker Rayburn, following the conference said the "President is going to give his personal attention to the question of having more iron and steel allotted to the manufacture of farm machinery."

RUSSIA:
Sparring for Knockout

In Russia, the two giants continue to spar for positions.

Sloughing through marshy swampland, hardy Russ engaged German infantry in hand to hand grappling near Novorossisk, gaining ground. Here the Nazis are backed against the Black sea coast.

In the Smolensk region, Russian troops consolidated positions encircling this vital Nazi supply base.

The Germans remain active in the Kharkov district. Two hundred miles to the north, Nazis claimed advances at Orel. Seventy miles to the southeast, German attacks against Red lines on the western bank of the Donets river met stiff resistance, the Russ said.

BOLIVIA:
'Essential Move'

Even before the Bolivian congress had a chance to formally declare war on the Axis, the nation was told that such a move was essential to American solidarity and that the country's productive facilities must be immediately expanded.

When President Enrique Penaranda and his cabinet held a conference with United States Vice President Wallace to discuss a war decree, Brazil was the only South American country at war with Germany and Italy. Bolivia had broken off diplomatic relations with the Axis a year ago.

MONEY:
Stabilized Currency?

Secretary Morgenthau called it "tentative" and John Q. Public thought it looked complicated but everybody realized that it was mighty important "it" being a comprehensive plan to stabilize post-war world currencies and fix their values in terms of gold.

Actually involved in the program were these major points for working out a system to maintain the monetary solidarity of all the nations of the world at the end of the war:

1. Creation of an international stabilization fund (five billion dollars). This would be set up by the United Nations and associates.

2. Value of currency in each country would be "fixed" in terms of gold.

3. An agreement between all nations to the effect that none would devalue their currencies without consulting the others.

BURMA:
New Air Blows

Strengthened British and American air forces continued to demonstrate their superiority in Burma, raining bombs on Japanese supply lines with emphasis on the important railway from Rangoon to Mandalay.

The RAF dropped 1,000-pound bombs on the Rangoon railway station. Photographs showed destruction of an oil refinery, fires from which were visible for 60 miles. A power house, oil tanks and a distillation building were hit. American fliers scored hits at Mandalay.

NETHERLANDS:
Invasion Spadework?

Reports that "scores of British agents" have been landed on the Netherlands coast and are preparing the way for an Allied invasion have made their way to Dutch circles in London. The reports added that a wave of optimism, accompanied by new outbreaks of sabotage and anti-Nazi attacks was sweeping Holland. The British were said to have been landing parties of two and three bound for the interior.

BANKHEAD BILL:
And Parity

After President Roosevelt had vetoed the Bankhead farm bill because he believed it "inflationary" supporters of the measure attempted to override this action by a two-thirds vote in congress. First scene of action in this connection was the senate floor where a day-long lively debate resulted in farm bloc members realizing that they could not muster sufficient support to bring this to pass.

These senators then became content to force the bill back to the agricultural committee from whence it could be resurrected whenever the farm bloc felt it had enough votes handy to defeat the President's action.

White House opposition to the measure on the grounds of inflation presented itself because it would prohibit deductions of benefit payments from parity in setting farm price ceilings.

FLYING FORTRESSES:
New Offensive

The American air offensive in Europe has gotten under way.

Fleets of powerful Flying Fortresses have pounded the Renault motor works near Paris, with heavy hits causing great damage among the main buildings and auxiliary plants.

Coming right back, Flying Fortresses flew over Antwerp, bombing the Erla airplane works. These works have been repairing engines for the Nazi luftwaffe. Buildings were shattered and large fires started.

Swinging at Europe's underbelly, 100 Flying Fortresses dumped their bombs on Napics, splattering 24 ships in the harbor. RAF bombers followed up the attack with another heavy raid. Wharves and the industrial area were left flaming.

Eight bombers and eight fighter planes were lost in the operations.

RUBBER:
Self Sufficiency

Self sufficiency in rubber production for the United States was predicted by William M. Jeffers, rubber director, who expressed belief that the nation will develop a synthetic rubber industry that will free the country from dependency on outside sources in the future.

"There is one very definite forecast I want to make—we'll never again be caught the way we were at the outbreak of war," Jeffers said.

He added that he envisioned a postwar rubber economy independent of any sources outside the United States. He said he viewed the huge natural rubber development in South America as "insurance" against possible shortcomings of synthetic rubber plants in this country.

LOADED DICE:
In Axis' Favor?

In the opinion of Adm. William James, British chief of naval information, the "dice are loaded heavily" in favor of the Axis in any Allied attempt to land on the continent of Europe. But, said Admiral James, ways and means could be found "when the time comes."

"We saw at Dieppe, which was a most carefully planned enterprise, how a few well-situated guns on shore can wreck an amphibious operation."

Predicting that there will be no new startling invention to deal with the U-boat problem, he said the submarine menace eventually would be beaten "by the hard unremitting work of all those engaged in protecting our trade."

NATIONAL APATHY:
General Speaks

Army day this year was passed over with little official celebration for the nation's fighting men were too hard at work in slop for festivities. However, one commanding general—Ben Lear of the Second army—took the occasion to score national apathy and lack of aggressiveness in many phases of American life. He called for the end of internal bickering and urged that Americans apply themselves to crushing the enemy. Speaking of the popular dislike of "absenteeism" General Lear declared that this situation is not confined to industry. By this he meant that unless every citizen did his or her part, whatever the job, they were defeating the war effort and were therefore—absentees.

BRIEFS

CUBAN DRAFT: Eight thousand Cubans between the ages of 20 and 25 will shortly be drafted for army service.

TRADE COMPROMISE: Bi-partisan support was seen for a compromise reciprocal trade treaty act which would allow American producers the right to seek modification of any agreement with a foreign country.

AIR LINER: Henry J. Kaiser, the shipbuilding wizard, proposes to build a metal plane that will fly 12,000 miles without stopping.

DAD'S DRAFT: Drafting of dads might be delayed if public opinion forces unmarried youths between 18 and 25 years out of deferred war jobs, Selective Service Director Hershey says.

FIRE OIL: Allied bombers hit the Japanese oil refinery below Rangoon in continuing attacks upon enemy installations in Burma. The Mytinge bridge area of the Burma Road also was raided.

'Yippees' on Patrol

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Actual experience on the world's war fronts has proved the collapsible boat an essential safety feature for both Naval and land based planes. They are made of rubberized material, easily inflated.

At the Battle of Midway an Army Lieutenant, after bombing a carrier, was forced to bail out of his bomber. He was able to get a "fish eye" view of the entire battle from his collapsible boat and was later picked up by an American plane. Your purchase of War Bonds with at least ten percent of your income every payday will help protect the lives of men who are flying for you. Get behind them today. (U. S. Treasury Department)

BEDTIME STORY
by THORNTON W. BURGESS

CHATTERER HAS A DREADFUL THOUGHT

CHATTERER THE RED SQUIRREL was almost too frightened to think. He knew that the end must come soon unless something wonderful happened. The simple little tricks he had tried had not fooled Shadow the Weasel at all. He was right in the very next tree, and Chatterer didn't even dare stop to look behind. Then an idea popped into his head. It just seemed to come without any thinking on his part. It was a dreadful idea—a truly dreadful idea. At first Chatterer wouldn't let himself think of it at all. But, little by little, he did think of it, and the more he thought of it the less dreadful it seemed. That is a way bad thoughts have—the longer you let them stay the less bad they seem. And it was so with Chatterer now. What was the dreadful thought? Why, it was to lead Shadow the Weasel over to the home of Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel, who, you know, is own cousin to Chatterer.

"If he finds Happy Jack at home he will forget me."

"If he finds Happy Jack at home he'll forget all about me," thought Chatterer, "for Happy Jack is bigger and fatter than I am and will make a better dinner. Of course, I don't like to do it; it really is a very dreadful thing to do. No, sir, I don't like to do it; but—but it is everybody for himself these days, and I—I—can't run much longer. Of course, it won't be really my fault if Happy Jack gets killed, because all I'll do is to simply run past his door. Then, if Shadow chooses to go in there why—why—well, it won't be my fault."

Now, of course, Chatterer knew perfectly well that this wasn't true. But Chatterer is a coward, and he was thinking in just the way that cowards think. He knew that it was his own fault that he was in such dreadful danger himself—that if he had minded his own business instead of tormenting Bobby Coon by waking him from sleep Shadow the Weasel would not have heard him and so been able to find him. But, like all cowards, Chatterer wasn't brave enough to face the results of his own fault and now he was ready to see some one else suffer for what he had done. A little, still voice down inside told him that what he was thinking of was a dreadful and cowardly thing, but he tried not to listen to it.

"Happy Jack is bigger and stronger than I am, and I shouldn't wonder if he could fight Shadow and whip him. In fact, I am almost sure he can," thought Chatterer. Yet all the time he knew that Happy Jack couldn't, for just as likely as not he would be taking a nap, and it would be all over before he knew he was in danger. You see, Chatterer was just trying to fool himself.

"I wish I had thought of it before," he panted. "It's a long way over to Happy Jack's house, and I may not be able to get there before Shadow catches me."

But the thought that he might, he just might, escape gave him new strength, and for a little while he actually gained on Shadow the Weasel. He didn't stay in the tree tops now, but ran along the ground as fast as ever he could in the direction of Happy Jack's house. He was not half way there when, looking over his shoulder, he saw Shadow bounding along with great leaps just a little way behind him, and he knew that in a few more leaps Shadow would have him. Shadow could go faster on the ground than he could. He gave one despairing glance in the tree tops where he had raced and played and been happy so long, and which he felt sure now he would never play in again. Near the top of one of them was a big brown bunch. Chatterer's heart gave a little throb of hope. He saw what he thought might be a last chance.

So Long, Pal

While drilling recruits recently at an eastern army camp, a sergeant picked one rookie for practice in giving orders. The company, at the time, was marching toward a bushy area on a steep hillside. "Give them 'Rear March,'" directed the sergeant. The recruit gulped.

"Give them 'Column Left!'" Silence. "Tell them to halt." Silence.

"Well, Private Jones," said the sergeant resignedly, "if you can't stop them, at least tell the boys good-by."

Reciprocal Aid Makes Lend-Lease Two-Edge Sword in Fighting Axis

U. S. soldiers here use British-made guns and ammunition. They are firing a British 3.7 inch anti-aircraft gun in Britain.

The American in the armed forces draws upon the storehouses of many lands in these days of total war. He eats Australian beef and New Zealand butter, drinks English tea, flies British Spitfire planes and sleeps in barracks built by Egyptians and Indians. All this is possible because of reciprocal aid, a phase of the Lend-Lease Act upon which a vital part of the cooperative action of United Nations rests.

Photos at top show American soldiers at work in a kitchen fatigue pantry in Australia, with newly erected barracks in background. Left: Australian sheep produce wool for replacement uniforms for U. S. soldiers, thus saving valuable shipping space.

American soldiers can obtain British and American goods in post exchanges throughout the United Kingdom. All the British-made goods, including some items such as candy, chocolate and note paper, are given cash-free as reciprocal aid. Such payments as the soldiers make go to the U. S. army finance department.

New Zealand butter in the making. Our army has received 2,032,000 pounds of this staple from New Zealand, under reciprocal lend-lease. Most of the food for American armed forces stationed in New Zealand has been received under this arrangement.

Starved Deer Found as Snows Melt

Deer that failed to survive the long hard winter in northern Michigan are being found in considerable numbers in the yarding areas where winter food was known to be deficient. This picture was made in Alpena county, where deer were reduced to eating balsam—known from deer feeding experiments to be worthless as food. To trim the herd in these areas to fit the winter food supply, and so prevent starvation, the conservation department has long advocated special hunting seasons.

No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on the far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. Every bond you buy will help to shorten the war.

DEATH TOOK EDWARD GOLDSTICK SUNDAY

Was In Shoe Business Here Since 1914; Funeral Thursday

Edward Goldstick, Charlevoix business man for almost 30 years, died Sunday evening at Charlevoix Hospital. He had been ill for several months, and on April 1 was admitted to the hospital for treatment of a broken hip.

Mr. Goldstick was born September 10, 1880, in Riga, at that time in Russia but now the capitol city of Latvia. He came to this country 40 years ago, residing first in Springfield, Mass. He operated a shoe repair and sales business in that city and continued in this business after coming to Charlevoix in August, 1914. About three years ago, Mr. Goldstick retired from active participation in the business because of ill health, and sold out his shoe stock in the fall of 1941.

He was united in marriage to Gertrude Kramer at Holyoke, Mass., in 1909. She preceded him in death in November, 1934.

A member of Round Lake lodge No. 293, I. O. O. F., he had held many offices in the lodge.

Surviving are two sons, Pvt. Harry Goldstick of Camp Miles Standish, Mass., Pfc. Claronce Goldstick, of Fort Crook, Nebr.; two daughters, Mrs. Robert Miles and Helen, this city; two grandchildren; his mother, Mrs. Sarah Goldstick of Albany, N. Y.; two sisters, Minnie, of Albany, and Mrs. Rae Edelstein of Toledo, Ohio; two brothers, Joe and Isadore, both of Springfield, Mass.

Funeral services with Odd Fellow rites will be held at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at the Seo Funeral Home. Interment will be at Greenwood cemetery at Petoskey. Charlevoix business places will be closed during the time of the funeral.

FLOYD J. FESSENDEN SUCCUMBED FRIDAY

Services for Retired Druggist Held Tuesday Morning

Floyd J. Fessenden, prominent in business and civic affairs of Charlevoix for 20 years, died Friday after an extended illness.

Born February 6, 1883, in Susquehanna, Pa., he came to Michigan in 1904 to attend Ferris Institute school of pharmacy, at Big Rapids. On October 3, 1907, he was married to Manie Watson, of Kalkaska. They lived for several years in Petoskey and Bellaire, and in 1914 Mr. Fessenden purchased a drug store in Central Lake which he operated until 1921. In that year he came to Charlevoix and purchased the F. G. Hines drug store, operating it for 20 years under the name of Fessenden & Son drug store. Ill health forced his retirement in 1941, and in June, 1942, the business was sold to John Schroedor and J. W. Hovey, present owners.

A member of the city council for seven years, Mr. Fessenden was also a member of the Charlevoix Kiwanis Club, Masonic and Knights of Pythias lodges, and in Central Lake was affiliated with the Modern Woodmen of America. For several years he represented the Charlevoix district in the West Michigan Tourist & Resort Association. He was a member of the Episcopal church in his home in Pennsylvania but since coming to Michigan was associated with the Congregational church.

During the first world war, Mr. Fessenden's excellent work in promoting the sale of Liberty bonds won him high commendation from government officials.

Surviving are the wife, a son, William J., pharmacists mate second class, U. S. navy, stationed at Davisville, R. I., a daughter, Mrs. Charles B. Hahn, of Muskegon, and four grandchildren. Another son died in childhood.

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock from the See Funeral Home, Rev. Donald R. Evans and Rev. G. R. Parker, of Northport, officiating. Interment was at Bellaire cemetery. Charlevoix business places were closed during the time of the funeral.

What Makes Value?

A good deal depends on who is doing a thing and on what is being done. For instance:

Longfellow could take a piece of paper and write a poem on it and make it worth $5,000—that's genius. Ford can sign his name to a check and make it worth a million dollars—that's capital. A skilled worker can convert three cents worth of steel into watch springs worth hundreds of dollars—that's skill. Any man can spend his money as fast as he makes it—that's foolishness. Save, and keep your account at our Bank—that's business.

Aid to Enemy

"Any American who wilfully neglects to pay his taxes on time or to invest every cent he can in War Bonds is surely giving aid and comfort to the enemy . . . We have a job to do and we are all called for service to our country. Our dollars are called to service too. Let us all ask ourselves, 'Shall we be more tender with our dollars than with the lives of our sons?'" — Secretary Morgenthau.

DRAFT BOARD BRINGS RECORDS UP TO DATE

Cases Reopened to Reclassify All Non-Essential Workers

The Charlevoix county selective service board has reopened cases of all men whose files indicate that they were employed in an occupation listed as non-essential by the war manpower commission last January.

All men whose cases are reopened are allowed 10 days in which to bring their files up to date. If the current file reveals that the registrant is still employed in a non-essential industry or occupation, and has not registered with the U. S. Employment Service or made application for other work, he will be processed for induction in accordance with selective service regulations regardless of his dependency.

Files of other men in class 3-A and 4-F are also being brought up to date so that current information on the dependency status and occupations of these men will be available. Any of these men who have left an agricultural occupation without obtaining a determination as to whether they were essential to agriculture, in compliance with the manpower commission's instructions of last November, is subject to immediate induction regardless of physical condition or dependency status.

The above-mentioned conditions will apply to men in the 38 to 44 age group as well as those from 18 to 37 years of age.

SALVAGE COLLECTION WILL BEGIN APRIL 26

County Meeting Held Boyne City Monday to Plan Drive

Representatives from city salvage committees and township war boards attended a meeting in Boyne City, Monday night, for the purpose of planning the spring scrap drive in Charlevoix county during the week of April 26 to May 1. William Supernaw and Clifford McKibbin, Jr., represented this city at the meeting.

Salvage will be collected throughout the city by trucks and taken to the scrap dump on Stover road. Those who do not wish to wait for the pick-up may take scrap to the depot on Michigan avenue on the Charlevoix Lumber Co. property. However, the salvage committee requests that tin cans not be taken to this depot, but kept separate from other salvage.

Tin cans should be placed in cartons for collection, after ends and wrapper are removed the can is attened. Only food cans are good for salvage; paint or varnish cans cannot be used.

Nylon and silk hose also will be collected along with other no longer useful household items.

The huge pile of scrap in the Stover road depot has been sold and will soon be removed to make room for another large collection of salvage.

SIMPLE METHOD FOR PRESERVING SUCKERS

Kaleva Conservation Club Gives Directions for Canning

Suckers that soon will be running in Michigan streams by the tens of thousands make good summer eating if they are prepared according to a simple method described by Emil Rengo, of Kaleva, president of the Spirit of the Woods conservation club.

The club became interested in suckers when a screen they put in Bear creek to hold big rainbow trout in the stream over the summer proved a barrier to upstream-swimming suckers. Last year an estimated 25 tons of suckers were taken at the barrier with dipnets, and more than 2,600 persons signed the register as users of the club nets.

Some suckers taken from the creek are smoked for early use, but for canning the suckers are first cleaned and put in salt brine for 24 hours. They are then thoroughly rinsed in fresh water, cut up and put in quart jars, a teaspoonful of vinegar is added to each jar, and the jars are pressure-cooked for two hours.

The Kalova agricultural school canned about 500 pounds of suckers for students' hot lunch last season, and is planning to can more fish this year. The school superintendent rates them "delicious, just as good as salmon."

Reduction of 150 sizes and kinds of galvanized ware to 6 articles of a few sizes is expected to save 44,000 tons of steel and 10,000 tons of zinc.

Cutting one gallon from the "A" gasoline ration coupon, in 16 Eastern rationed states is estimated to save about 20,000 barrels of gasoline daily.

The saving in steel from drilling 13,000 fewer oil wells this year than last is sufficient to build 26,000 tanks, or half a million 2-ton block buster bombs.

A CHALLENGE

We on the home front face one of the most personal challenges of this war to date. That challenge is whether or not we are willing to sacrifice to a sufficient extent to lend our government thirteen billion dollars within the next few weeks.

To do the job, you and I, and everyone we know, are going to have to dig down in our sock—to dig out some of those dollars we have salted away for a rainy day—as well as to take take a good hunk out of this month's pay check.

This is a job that has to be done. Sure, we on the home front are feeling the pinch of war. We have gasoline rationing, food rationing, higher taxes and a lot of other little discomforts. But they are nothing compared with the agonies faced daily by our men—men from this community among them—out there on the fighting fronts of the world.

Yes, we know that this constant demand for money out of our pockets and out of our paychecks—an increasing amount each month—is monotonous. But so is sitting in a fox-hole or lying in a slit-trench day after day, slogging through the hell of a humid jungle or that of Sahara sand.

Our sons, friends, brothers, husbands and others we know are doing that for us. They are facing something more terrible than cutting down on a few things that we once thought were essentials to the American standard of living in order to do it, too. As Secretary Morgenthau has said: "Shall we be more tender with our dollars than with the lives of our sons?"

The Second War Loan is an order to the home front to go on a new offensive. Your dollars are the weapons in this attack. They will make possible the passing of the ammunition to those boys up there in the front lines. To win this war is going to cost more and more money—and more and more lives. But the price of freedom is high. We can not; we dare not let our fighting men down.

You can't let George do this for you. You must pitch in with your dollars. Just keep in mind those boys in the front lines. They give their lives—you lend your money! Don't wait for someone to come around and ask you to do it. Do it today—and do it until you feel worthy of them.

W. S. DARLING TAKEN BY DEATH THURSDAY

Willard S. Darling, a resident of Harbor Springs for 60 years, died Thursday at Little Traverse Hospital in Petoskey following an illness of ten weeks. He was well known in this city, having been for many years deputy collector of internal revenue in this region, and at the time of his death was deputy collector for the state sales tax division.

FINAL PLANS TO BE MADE THURSDAY NIGHT

City Trucks Will Collect Salvage Metal; Boy Scouts Get Fats, Silk and Nylon Hose

Organization of the spring scrap drive which begins in Charlevoix next Monday will be completed at a meeting to be held Thursday at 8 p. m. in the circuit court chambers of the court house, announces Bill Supernaw, local salvage chairman.

Members of the city salvage committee and representatives of United States department of agriculture rural war clubs in townships adjacent to Charlevoix will be present, and interested citizens are urged to attend. In addition to planning the collection of Charlevoix's share in the county's 281-ton scrap metal quota, plans will be made for salvaging fats, silk and nylon hose and tin cans.

City trucks will pick up scrap metal throughout the city next Tuesday. Scrap should be placed in containers at the roadside before homes, and tin cans must be kept separate from other metal. Fats, silk and nylon hose will be collected by Boy Scouts of troop 11 in a house-to-house canvass.

Some local people have raised questions concerning the pile of scrap collected last fall which has not yet been moved from the depot on Stover road. War production board officials at the county salvage meeting in Boyne City, Monday of last week, stated that the scrap has not been moved because it was originally sold to the WPA, and that agency was liquidated before the metal could be re-sold to a dealer. The pile has now been sold to a dealer, but sorting and cutting, which must be finished before the material is moved, have been delayed due to snow conditions. County salvage committeemen were assured that the scrap would be moved in the near future.

Gravity of the scrap situation is apparent from the fact that machine tool and agricultural tool replacements, which normally increase scrap metal reserves, are almost non-existent this year. New steel furnaces, of which the open-hearth type requires 50 per cent scrap and the electric type requires all scrap for a charge, have been completed during the winter and are now producing. To keep them in full production will require the collection of 30 million tons of scrap by July.

PROCLAMATION

I, Robert Bridge, Mayor of Charlevoix, do hereby proclaim that the week of May 3 to May 8 shall be designated as annual Spring Clean-Up Week. And I do further proclaim that the week of April 26 to May 1 shall be designated as the Spring Scrap Metal Drive in the City of Charlevoix.

JOINT MEETING OF STUDY CLUBS HELD

Dickens and Shakespeare Groups Conclude Year's Work

A joint meeting of the Shakespeare Study club and Charles Dickens Study club was held in the high school assembly room Tuesday evening of last week, concluding the year's activities for both groups.

Mrs. A. L. Livingston, retiring president of the Dickens club, introduced numbers on the program which began with selections by the Ballad Benders quartette and Charlevoices trio. Miss Evelyn Wiltse of the school faculty gave a talk on the subject of Puerto Rico, drawing from her experiences as a teacher on that island. Motion pictures of Puerto Rico and scenes of the war were shown by Ralph Hamilton. A talk on the April war bond drive was given by A. L. Livingston.

Guests at the meeting were husbands of the members of both clubs, and members of the school faculty and their husbands and wives.

BEN GILL IS JAP PRISONER

UNOFFICIAL WORD RECEIVED BY PARENTS

Short-Wave Broadcast from Tokio Heard Friday; Was Reported Missing April, 1942

Reported missing in action a year ago, Benjamin S. Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gill, is believed safe as unofficial word was received Monday by his parents that he is a Japanese prisoner.

Six letters came to the Gills Monday, and others followed later, from persons who had picked up a short-wave radio broadcast from station JLG-4 in Tokio, reporting that Friday night at 9:20 central war time, a Japanese announcer read in English the following message: "To the kin of Benjamin S. Gill, electrician's mate 3rd class, 309 Prospect street, Charlevoix, Michigan:

Dear Mother: I am well and happy and thinking of you frequently. If you write, send letters and packages via International Red Cross, Geneva, Switzerland. Loads of love and kisses,

Benny."

Ben was reported missing on April 10, 1942, when the submarine Perch on which he served was a month overdue and believed lost. Since then, his parents have received various messages from relatives of other crew members of the Perch, saying that all the sub's crew were in a Japanese prison camp. However, none of the messages mentioned Ben specifically, and this was the first definite word

SIXTY THOUSAND DOLLAR QUOTA REACHED TODAY

Public Response Far Exceeded the Local Second War Loan Drive Committee's Expectation

Robert Bridge, Chairman of the Charlevoix County Victory Fund Committee, reported at noon today that the splendid efforts of the volunteer workers and the fine cooperative spirit of the investors had put it over and the shouting could now begin.

The county was divided into three districts and the latest official figures of total bonds sold are: Charlevoix $60,900, East Jordan $40,200 and Boyne City $22,350.

Charlevoix can be proud that it has done more than was expected of it. However, this does not mean that the sale of bonds should cease. The larger the national over-subscription, the more bitter the pill for our enemies when they hear about it — and they will!

Charlevoix sends it's 60,000 fighting dollars into the big pool of 13 billion dollars to demonstrate to our armed forces, our allies and our enemies what a volunteer and united effort can accomplish on the American home front.

It is no military secret that there is a second front. Just over the horizon, the United Nations are piling up the thunder-clouds and massing for the greatest attack in history. The shameful time when we had to take blows without returning them, because we were not ready — all that is past. Now we are ready to deal a few blows ourselves, blows that will rock the Japs and the Nazis to their rotten, bloodstained foundations.

Charlevoix's 60,000 fighting dollars are now in uniform.

CURFEW ORDINANCE ADOPTED BY COUNCIL

Persons Under 16 Years Affected By Ruling Effective May 11

At their meeting Monday night, the Charlevoix city council adopted an ordinance providing for a curfew which applies to persons under the age of 16 years.

Regulating the time during which children may be permitted on streets and public grounds within the city, the ordinance provides that no person under the full age of 14 years shall be or remain on the streets between 9:30 p.m. and 6:00 a.m., unless accompanied by an adult or while returning home from some school function or an errand directed by parents. Persons under the full age of 16 years may not be or remain on the streets between 11 p.m. and 6 a.m., except under conditions above listed.

Police officers of the city were given power to enforce the ordinance, which will become effective May 11. Similar curfew ordinances have been enacted by many cities in recent months.

CLEAN-UP WEEK IS SET FOR MAY 3-9

ANNUAL PROCLAMATION IS ISSUED BY MAYOR

City Street Department to Provide Usual Pick-Up Service for Rubbish and Refuse

Charlevoix's annual "Clean-Up Week" will start Monday, May 3, and continue through Saturday, May 9, and as long thereafter as is necessary for completion.

Through proclamation by Mayor Robert Bridge, that week is designated as the annual period during which health and fire officials and local citizens cooperate in the effort to make preparations for the summer season and maintain the city's slogan, "Charlevoix-the-Beautiful."

The immediate purpose of clean-up week is to clear yards, alleys and vacant property of all refuse, rubbish and ash piles, thus reducing fire and health hazards and giving the city a neater, cleaner appearance. Following this year directly after the spring scrap drive, clean-up week should result in even greater improvement in the city's looks than usual.

Leo Allard, street commissioner, asks citizens to place rubbish in substantial containers at the street curb or at convenient places in alleys to be picked up by truck. It is requested that rubbish is not dumped in piles, as this method is not satisfactory and causes extra work for the street department.

READY FIFTY STATE PARKS FOR '43 SEASON

Fifty state parks will be opened for public use at the beginning of the 1943 season, and none of these will be closed except as lack of attendance or shortage of labor make specific closings advisable, the state conservation commission decided at its April meeting in Lansing.

It is time to change to summer oil and grease. Let us save wear on your car with D-X Lubricating motor fuel and Diamond 760 Motor Oil and Grease. D-X Service, 200 Antrim St., A. C. Hansen.—Adv. 16t2.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Well, things are looking better all the time. Lake Charlevoix is nearly free of ice, the railroad swing bridge is in operation, and two days of northeasterly winds has shoved the ice from us far north as Little Traverse Bay off to the southward. There's still a pretty tough strip of ice in the bay between North and South points — heavy enough, in fact, to stop the coast guard boat and keep shipping locked in port. A little more favorable wind, a few days of warmer weather and perhaps a rain or two should do the trick. And between you and me, nobody's going to be sorry after the winter we've experienced.

Saturday brings the earliest trout fishing season opening in many years and, what with the late spring and lingering cold, conditions aren't going to be too good. Unless you're one of those guys who don't mind plowing snow or fishing creeks so high you have to wade several rods through deep water to get within each of the stream bed, it won't be to your liking. Done a little scouting last Sunday. Couldn't get to the upper waters of Intermediate creek because of snow-blocked roads. Upper waters of the Jordan river were clear, but north hill slopes were waist-deep with snow and any splurge of warm weather is sure going to create an almighty flood. There weren't any car tracks along the upper Jordan and fallen trees blocked progress above a certain point. Well, regardless of all aforesaid, I'll be there Saturday morning, bright and early, same as I have since the "bug" smite me a good many years ago. Yes, and while on the topic, might mention that Burns pond on McGeuh creek was still covered with ice last Sunday, so might suggest that your fellows take along an ice spud, just to be safe.

A year ago last Monday the perch run was on in Round lake. Unless I'm mistaken, 'all you'd

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I have been receiving the Courier right along. I should be shot for not writing sooner. Would like to thank all who make it possible for us to receive and enjoy the home town news, a real morale builder.

Last Monday night I went over to the 110th Field Artillery to pay Harry Oldham a visit, but I didn't see him. He is spending this week at Tiger camp. Steve and Tony Faculak are also enjoying it out there this week. They'll really get a work out, at least I did when Co. B spent ten days out there, topped off with a 25-mile hike back to camp and a little beer party. Outside of a few non-drinkers, no one was too tired to take a few sips.

As you probably know I am in a tank outfit, we sure have our share of fun with the tanks. Did I hear some one say they're rough riding in? It is, over terrain practically impossible for any other vehicle to pass over, but not near as bad as we all thought back home. I got a good jolt in one yesterday when we hit a couple deep ditches, a little too fast for the width of the ditches.

The CQ is rushing me now, so I'll have to close.

Sincerely,

Dear Ken,

I started to receive the paper again. It was quite a while between papers, but I guess it is because of all the moving I have been doing lately.

Since I have been out here in California I think I have moved about ten times, and it sure takes a long time for a fellow's mail to be transferred that many times.

This station where I am now isn't too bad, except it is on somewhat of an island. Every time we go on liberty we have to take a ferry to the mainland.

Whenever a fellow stays aboard there is always something to do. There is a very nice swimming pool in front of our barracks and

THERE are plenty of signs to warn you that warmer weather is not so very far off.

It's sad, but true, that there is no sign or warning signal to tell you that the oil in your crankcase needs changing before high engine temperatures begin to make dirty, winter-worn oil unsafe!

We believe it is our duty to warn you that it's time to change the oil in crankcase and gears.

Let us drain out winter and refill your crankcase with fresh, clean, tough Mobiloil!

Mobiloil safeguards your engine against wear, gum, sludge, carbon and oil drag. It saves on gasoline, too! You'll also want Mobiloil Gear Oil.

This Spring is Different!

—AND THE SPRING TUNE-UP OF YOUR CAR SHOULD BE DIFFERENT, TOO!

NO MORE TOP SPEEDS!

You'll be driving at "35-and-under" this spring—and your car's timing, circuit breaker, carburetor, spark plugs, choke and heat controls should be adjusted for smoother low-speed performance.

LESS DRIVING

Your generator and voltage regulator should be put in top condition now to guard against the possibility of a rundown battery later on. Your battery itself should be checked at regular intervals.

NO MORE HIGH-OCTANE GAS

We use lower-octane gas today, so our flyers may have high-octane fuel. To prevent wasteful "pinging," your engine should be readjusted to its new diet. Whatever service work may be needed, we do the job right.

CARS ARE BEING DRIVEN LONGER

As your car's mileage goes higher—as your brakes, lights, tires and steering system grow older—a thorough check-up of these features becomes vital to the safety of you and your family.

LESS GASOLINE

In addition to giving your car a gas-saving, springtime engine tune-up, you should also have it thoroughly checked for other causes of fuel waste, such as dragging brakes, leaky gas lines or the use of too heavy lubricants for today's low-speed driving.

SLOWER DRIVING—SHORTER TRIPS

When you don't drive very much or very fast or very far, it's extremely important to keep fresh, clean oil in your engine at all times—because at slow speeds your crankcase ventilation system doesn't have much chance to prevent oil dilution.

OLDSMOBILE SERVICE

THIS wartime spring, it's important that you get your car set not only for warmer weather, but also for the new kind of driving you're doing today. We offer a springtime service program specifically designed to do both of these jobs. Whether you drive an Oldsmobile, or some other make of car, come in and find out about this special Oldsmobile service!

LANSING LETTER

Herman H. Dignan, Michigan's new secretary of state, David Harum of the Capltol, is a fellow of genisl personnality and astonishing candor.

To his employees at Lansing and elsewhero — for the department of state has 186 branch offices in a state-wide network, he admonishes:

"If this department is a failure, it'll be your fault. If it is a success, I want the glory."

Wearing a western-style Stetson hat, (he has been judging horse races at Michignn county fairs for well nigh on to 20 years), Dignan runs the state department just like a hardware store. And to any of you who have ever visited the Dignan hardware store in Owosso, that is proof enough that he is doing a good joh. Dignan is a successful retailer, the living witness of the fact that the United States still offers the open door to opportunity for any boy of 14.

Perhaps this trait of frankness is matched only hy his passion for people. Dignan likes folks. He would rather talk with people than to eat, and to a man of his portly dimensions — he is a man of weight for his age, 52, and for his short stature — such is nuite a confession. Ho listens well; he seeks to get the other person's viewnoint.

When Dignan ran first for the house of representatives from Shiawassee county, back in 1934, he insisted publicly that he hadn't received the mystic "call to nuhlic service" and that none of his friends persuaded him to become a candidate. Instead he admitted frankly that "no one is responsible except myself for my candidacy," and he won handily at the primary and the election.

Serving two terms in the house, he established a reputation for being a foe of "bad legislation—the racket tvne which is employed hy promoters to mulct business men —as well as being an advocate that fundamental issues should he decided by the legislature and not by a few persons in committee.

"I opposed a number of pressure groups who insist that certain bills should he killed in committee, whereas I felt that they should be decided openly on the floor of the legislature," he explained.

"When I ran for the Senate in 1939, I was opposed by a large number of influentinl organizations. They ganged up on me by endorsing my opponent. Things looked pretty tough for me. Then I bought newspaper space and told the voters my opponent had the endorsement of many groups, that I didn't have their endorsements, and furthermore I didn't want the endorsement of any organization, group or faction. I told them that I didn't want to be under obligation to any group, but preferred to remnin free to represent the public at large. Well, the voters liked it, and I won.

"Having served two terms in both the house and the Senate, I can see now that this experience is a tremendous asset to any man in public service. When people come in to talk over their problems, you can listen to them with greater understanding."

Dignan is a natural salesman, a "customer's man!" He is a good mixer. He beams friendliness. He hails you by your first name, small-town style, and insists on having his friends call him "Herman" as his way of announcing that being elected secretary of state hasn't changed the size of his collar in the least.

He is not head-strong. While he doesn't shun a good fight, he does not hunt for one. He does not magnify issues to feather his own nest. He is not a crusader at heart, but is a friendly person who finds that the country has been good to him and his family.

His conception of "good politics" is also the reflection of his inclination to deal with life in a direct manner. After he became secretary of state, he had the responsibility of filling a position of Detroit manager. To a politician who seeks to build a vote-getting machine, weighing every action with an eye on the ballot box, here was a key post that should go to some deserving supporter who would glorify the boss. Instead, Dignan chose for the job the assistant manager, a man who had started at the bottom of the ladder as a store janitor.

Of course, the skeptics criticized the appointee as not being a "good political front man," but Dignan chuckled good-naturedly and retorted: "To run a good department is the best politics I can play."

He possesses what, the layman would call "the customer's viewpoint" in administering his department.

Preferring always to talk with people than to delve into cold statistics or abstract problems, Dignan has established a practice of visiting all sections of his department regularly once each week. Let him tell the story.

"I discovered three girls working in a basement room about 20 feet below the ground," he said. Dignan leaned back in his chair at the desk. He was in his shirt sleeves, a favorite habit. The top of his desk was clean and orderly, the dream of many executives. Only one letter was in sight.

"It was a real rats' nest in which no humans should be required to work. I managed to find room for them on the fourth floor. The girls are better off, and we're getting more work done, too.

"Have you talked with Tom Wilson about our office?" he asked. Wilson is director of the state civil service commission.

We replied that we had not.

"Well, ask Tom about the secretary of state's department." Dignan beamed. "The other day he announced that we were setting an example for other state departments in complying with recommendations for efficiency and economy."

Lansing people say Dignan owes much to his able deputy, Gus Hartman.

The new secretary of state is a native of Saginaw, but he spent most of his boyhood days in Frankenmuth where he attended public schools. At the age of 14 he was "on his own," working as a delivery boy in the Walz hardware store at Saginaw. In 1910 he went to Flint as a store clerk, and later was employed by the morley Bros. wholesale hardware firm.

In 1913, at the ripe, mature ago of 22, he became manager of the Arthur Ward company's hardware department. Later, in 1921, he went into partnership and five years later bought the controlling interest, making the firm "the Dignan Hardware company." In 1928 he was elected president of the Michigan Retail Hardware Dealers' nssociation — top honors in his field.

On the walls of his office are pictures of two sons, both in the army, along side a photograph of a racing horse. His hobbies are few. One is being father of two boys — Tom, a propeller specialist who is stationed at Philadelphia and Jim who is a flying cadet at the Thunderbird Camp, Phoenix, Arizona — and two daughters, Elizabeth Jane, a graduate of M. S. C., who is studying for her master's degree at Ann Arbor, and Sally, a junior at the Owosso high school. His other hobby, reluctantly put aside because of state duties, is judging horse races at county fairs.

Is he ambitious politically? His friends are already saying that Dignan is ideal timber for the governorship in 1946, recalling the fact that twice in one decade the secretary of state was elevated to this top rank by the Republican party of Michigan.

What is Dignan's idea about it? He enjoys work, he likes to meet people, and he still operates his store at Owosso. And he enjoys being a judge at horse races.

But if a kindly fate ever does call him to run for governor, the campaign will probably be marked by the Dignan traits of smiling personality and surprising candor. He is what he is — a self-made merchant who started life at the age of 14 to demonstrate anew that America is a land of opportunity where even a delivery boy may become secretary of state, third highest state office next to that of governor and lieutenant-governor. That is Herman H. Dignan.

Victory Garden and Home Supplies Meetings Friday, April 23rd

The victory garden program for 1943 is directed toward more home production of food not only for immediate fresh use but also to produce a reserve or surplus for the out of season months. The necessity of having a Victory Garden this spring is known to all of us. It is the wise family who will produce all of the fruits and vegetables that can be raised in the Victory Garden this year.

Following is the schedule of the three meetings all scheduled on Friday, April 23rd:

Forennon, 10:00, Charlevoix court house.

Afternoon, 2:00, East Jordan Legion hall.

Evening, 8:00, Boyne City library.

Paul Krone, state Victory Garden chairman, will represent Michigan State College and discuss all garden problems with you. In addition a home economics specialist will devote her attention to the home food supply including canning and preservation, storing and proper handling of garden products.

Careful planning is necessary to conserve seeds, fertilizers, spray materials and labor. We have available in the office a series of folders that will be of great help to any victory gardener. These will be gladly sent upon request.

FROST DAMAGE STATE TRUNKLINES SEVERE

Highway Department Making Survey To Determine Repairs

A high water table and intermittent cold and warm weather have combined to cause thousands of frost heaves and mushy spots on Michigan highways this spring, the state highway department announced this week.

It is estimated that the spring break-up damage to state trunklines is the most severe in years and will cost the state thousands of dollars for repair work.

Because of the manpower shortage and difficulty of procuring repair materials the department will be grestly handicapped in making speedy repairs. It was pointed out that while there is no particular shortage of resurfacing materials, obtaining necessary priorities and securing delivery is difficult.

The department is now surveying road conditions to determine which roads will need repair but estimates of total damage are not yet available. Many roads are still being affected by springtime shifting and the damage is just beginning to be noticed in the upper peninsula.

Throughout the state, black-top roads and older stretches of concrete have been affected most.

Cancer is responsible for 11 per cent of all deaths in Michigan and in the United States.

THE 2ND WAR LOAN DRIVE IS ON!

Winner Take All!

There is one stark and simple fact about war which you had better get straight...and quickly, too.

THERE IS NO SECOND PLACE IN A WAR—IT'S EITHER WIN OR LOSE!

WAR FINANCE COMMITTEE

This war is being fought for tremendous stakes...

...for your life and your liberty.

...for your church and your children.

...for your freedom and your future.

And it's WINNER TAKE ALL. Don't forget that for a minute.

The winner will dictate whether tomorrow you shall be a free citizen of a free world, or a helpless serf to a "master race."

The winner will dictate whether you shall live and prosper under the Four Freedoms, or toil hopelessly in the darkness of a "New Order."

The winner will dictate . . . because the winner takes all.

The winner takes all. All you own, all you hold dear.

The winner is being decided right now . . . today . . . this very minute . . . on battlefields all over the world. Will you stand idly by . . . or throw all your weight on our side?

The weight of mighty tanks and planes. The weight of thousands of guns and millions of shells. The weight of billions of dollars . . . 13 billions which your country asks you to lend during this Drive.

Your country wants to borrow every idle dollar you have—every dollar except what you need for the barest necessities of life.

You'll have to give up some luxury or comfort which was dear to your heart. You'll have to postpone some pleasure which you had been eagerly anticipating.

But what of it?

Your sons and brothers and husbands are dying out there . . . fighting your fight. Surely it is no sacrifice to lend your dollars while they are giving their lives.

They need your help. They need the weapons your money can buy. If one of the War Loan volunteers calls on you...greet him with open pocket-book. Remember, Uncle Sam's goal is 13 billion dollars in April.

Don't wait to be asked. Go to your nearest bank, investment dealer, broker, Post Office or issuing agency and lay your money on the line. Remember, it's an investment you're making—an investment that pays a good return and insures a happier future for you and your loved ones.

So lend up to the limit.

You'll sleep better for it.

Subscriptions to the Third Liberty Loan have gone over the top in Charlevoix district in ten days. To date $53,650 has been raised, well beyond the $48,000 quota. No report from Boyne City and East Jordan as yet.

An Otsego county resident was tarred and feathered the other day for saying that he would rather die than buy a Liberty Bond. Some residents of Charlevoix county will have to take the same dose if they don't watch out. (A year of war at that time had apparently affected nerves and emotions considerably more than sixteen months of this war has so far, in this locality at any rate.)

Dean Scroggie writes from Nice, France that French trains are always late, due to the war; American soldiers are rich because they get $1.40 a day and the French get five cents a day.

Miss Caroline Gelken has been appointed chief nurse of the army hospital at Camp Travis, San Antonio, Texas.

Henry Partridge left Sunday for Great Lakes to seek enlistment in the navy. During his absence, his place as bookkeper at the Argo mill is being temporarily filled by Brayton Saltonstall, who is serving without compensation. If we cannot shoulder a musket, we must do what we can.

Blanchard Hahrdware Co. have installed a new Bowser 20-gallon gasoline pump at the curb in front of their store.

Announcing opening of the Belvedere Hotel this summer under management of Andrew I. Creamer, the Charlevoix Summer Home Association reports the completion of a new casino on the shore of Pine Lake, and addition of a solarium to the hotel. Almost every room and suite now has a private bath, a very unusual accommodation for a summer hotel.

Glen See, of this city, and Miss Dorothy Bornes, formerly of Petoskey, were married April 5 in Tampa, Fla., and are now on their way to Charlevoix to make their home.

Through Henry Ford's new weekly purchase plan, the Ford will become the universal family car, within reach of millions of people who have never enjoyed the benefits of motor car ownership. Five dollars will start an account for purchase of a Ford car.

Bounty Trapping Low

Catching wolves, coyotes and bobcats now holds so little interest either as sport or part-time occupation that the first quarter's bounty payments cost the conservation department only $1,190. This is about half what it cost a year ago, and about a third of what it cost in 1940.

BEAVER ISLAND GETS THREE MONTHS' MAIL

Only First Class Mail to Island Since January 16

Three months' accumulation of mail was received early this week by postmaster Frank Nackerman of St. James, as two fish tugs made rough ice-breaking trips to Beaver Island with mail that had stacked up in the Charlevoix post office since the last trip of the mailboat Mary Margaret on January 16.

Only first class mail has gone to the island on the CAP plane from Cadillac which has made at least two regular trips each week. Plane trips have been discontinued because of difficulty of taking off from the island field, and the island has received no first class mail since April 1.

More than a ton of third class and other heavy mail, and some first class, was shipped from Charlevoix to Manistique by train last Wednesday, where it was picked up Monday by the tug Betty C, owned by Mike Cull of Beaver Island. Another ton or more of first and third class mail was taken from Frankfort Saturday by the tug Estonia, owned by John Cross of this city. Some passengers were taken to the island by the Estonia also. The Betty C had previously made a trip to Manistique to pick up passengers for the island.

Capt. Leroy Allers is putting the mail boat Mary Margaret in readiness to make the island run as soon as ice conditions will allow. Government inspectors were here this week to inspect the boat before it begins its regular trips.

about eight tennis courts in back of us. There are three shows every day, and about once a month a few movie stars come and give us a show. So we just about always have something to do. Even if there isn't much work to be done.

The other day I went out to see the fellows in the marine boot camp. But it seems the only time they can have visitors is just the times I have to work. But I think I might manage to get over and see them. It sure makes a fellow feel better to see someone from home.

Bill is just about two hundred miles from here. But he just gets off on week ends and I never get one off. It is just about time to turn the lights out (what few there are) so must close.

Dear Ken,

I sure was both surprised and very thankful for the Courier. Thanks to you and all the folks back home that make it possible for the boys to get the news from home.

The outfit we're in is pretty interesting and I'm beginning to like it a lot. We're a quartermaster's supply squadron. Some sort of a supply depot. Maybe I can tell more about it later, when I find out what it's all about. Right now we're only in our third week of basic training.

Thanks again Ken, and in case my kid brother forgets, thanks from him too. Good luck to you.

Dear Ken,

Will drop you a line or two to thnnk you for sending me the paper for the last seven months, and let you know my new address.

I'm now in an anti-aircraft outfit. It's the third different outfit I've been in.

I'll take Michigan any day over Texas. I can't see where the stars are any brighter here than they are any other place. I don't even think they are as bright.

Well, Ken, I must close now, so thanks again for the paper.

Dear Ken,

I have been planning on writing and thanking you for the paper for some time, but boot camp kept me very busy. We were confined to the camp for eight weeks on a five a.m. to ten p.m. schedule. It was plenty tough but it agreed with me and I feel better than I have in my life. We were supposed to go to Quantico, Va., for sixteen more weeks training but that camp is full and we are having a toughening up course here at Camp LeJeune, until they make room for us. We have beautiful quarters here on the river about five miles from the ocean, but only use them two days a week. We spend the rest of the time in the open with packs and rifle. We have the new Garand rifle and it is a peach. It has become a part of me, as we carry it all the time, even to chow.

I have ridden in amphibious tanks and have had training with rubber landing boats. I was supposed to have enlisted in transportation but to date I am still using my dogs, and it looks very much like I was in the infantry.

Well Ken, the orders for tomorrow are to bring a light heart and a heavy pack so I must be moving to get my gear ready. Thanks again for a great little paper. It brings me a lot closer to Charlevoix. Keep up the good work.

As ever,

P. S. The geese are heading up your way. Saw several flocks go over this week. Note the new address.

Dear Ken,

Just a few lines to let you know that I am no longer an aviation cadet. I was eliminated from flying in primary school as a dangerous pilot, along with fifty per cent of my class. That was the highest wash out of any class so far at Stamford. I was one of the last to wash out of primary and most of my buddies were already at Pampa when I arrived.

I had more than enough flying hours to get my civilian pilots license and will when the world gets back to normal. It is easy to learn to fly, but to learn combat flying is a horse of a different color. Well anyway, I am a well-trained photographer and am back where I should have stayed in the first place.

Will sign off for now, remaining

Sincerely yours,

BURNING PERMITS REQUIRED BY LAW

Melting Snow Heralds Opening Forest Fire Season

Disappearance of the snow marks the beginning of the forest fire hazard season, so far as the state conservation department is concerned, and burning permits are now required for the setting of any brush or rubbish fires.

Winter employment of fire wardens has enabled the department to begin the season with equipment overhauled and in good repair.

Training of 10,000 volunteer cooperators in the Forest Fire Fighters Service in use of fire fighting tools and methods is to be completed in time to have many of them available for the spring high-hazard days — the dry days between the disappearance of the snow and the time vegetation becomes green again.

Refreshments were served at a beautifully set table lit by candles of red, white and blue, and included a silver-decorated wedding cake. A gift was presented to the honored couple from the group.

Mrs. Peter Tapovic's birthday anniversary, which occurred Sunday, was honored at a party given Saturday evening by Miss Marie Klooster at her residence in the Bogart apartments on Bridge street. What Makes Value?

A good deal depends on who is doing a thing and on what is being done. For instance:

Longfellow could take a piece of paper and write a poem on it and make it worth $5,000—that's genius. Ford can sign his name to a check and make it worth a million dollars—that's capital. A skilled worker can convert three cents worth of steel into watch springs worth hundreds of dollars—that's skill. Any man can spend his money as fast as he makes it—that's foolishness. Save, and keep your account at our Bank—that's business.

BANKS AND THE WAR

After We win . . .

What will the new world be like? There will be sweeping changes, beyond doubt. But some things will not change. There will still be homes, and families, and dreams. People will marry, children will go to college, men and women will engage in business. And there will still be banks — ours and many others — here to help people do these things, to safeguard the funds of the thrifty, to lend to the worthy, to give helpful advice and counsel to all who seek it. Let's all work together for speedy Victory and hasten the day when peace and plenty will be with us again.

WISE MAN KNOWS HIS MUSHROOMS

It's stop and know before you go picking mushrooms in Michigan.

Take the word of an authority, there are more than 1,500 kinds of mushrooms known in Michigan and a number of these are rated exceedingly poisonous.

Meat rationing has focused new attention on the mushroom as a possible source of food, explains E. A. Bessey, head of the Michigan State College botany department.

"Upset stomachs sometimes result from forgetting or not knowing facts about the mushroom. Even if edible, only 30 to 40 per cent of the dry weight of mushrooms is digestible, as contrasted to 90 per cent of the dry weight of beef. Pound for pound, a person must eat by weight three times as much mushrooms as of beef to obtain the same nourishment. A person with digestive troubles should not overload a stomach with material which is two-thirds indigestible."

With those warnings of identification and wise limits out of the way, Dr. Bessey still claims the mushroom, properly selected and identified, is fun to gather, prepare for the table and to eat.

Earliest edible fungus in quantity appears in southern Michigan late in April or early in May when the morels or sponge mushrooms and the bell morels pop up in hardwood forests, woodlots or orchards.

When warmer weather arrives, the inky-cap mushrooms form in clusters around stumps or bases of trees. Later in summer and early fall the Agaricus appears. From September to freezing weather the most common are the puff-balls.

Strangers to mushroom identification are offered help. Samples, carefully packed in toweling paper and wadded to keep samples intact, can be sent to the Department of Botany, Michigan State College, East Lansing. An accompanying letter should describe where the mushrooms were found and with any information helpful in identification. For more than one sort, samples should have numbered tags.

LIQUOR MONEY IS REFUNDED COUNTY

First Complete Breakdown License Fees Made by State

Charlevoix county has received $4,974.49 from the state of Michigan, representing 85 per cent of state liquor licenses purchased by Charlevoix county residents, the state liquor control commission announced this wek.

Of this amount Charlevoix accounted for $969. Money was distributed among cities, villages and townships as follows: Boyne City, $810.90; East Jordan, $637.50; Boyne Falls, $470; Boyne Valley township, $425; Charlevoix township, $425; Eveline, $42.50; Hayes, $425; Melrose, $297.50; St. James $488.75; South Arm, $283.34.

Classifiention of licenses for the county shows one state store, six specially designated distributors, 25 specially designated merchants; 15 taverns; one class B hotel, six class C hotels, one club, a total of 54 licenses in the county.

Sufficient funds, if properly used, are returned to local government units as their share of liquor license fees to insure ideal conditions in every licensed establishment in the state.

"If these ideal conditions do not exist, and we would be the last to claim they do, the fault lies in the use to which this money has been put," R. Glen Dunn, chairman of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission, states in revealing the first complete breakdown of license fees returned to every township and city in the state; a total of $2,490,889.52.

"It was the intention of the legislature," Dunn continued, "in providing that 85 per cent of liquor license fees be returned to local governmental units, that this money be used for strict enforcement of the law. In actual practice, it is used for almost every purpose except that. As one example, one city of some 30,000 population received $15,602.60 in returned fees last year, yet our records show that not one violation complaint was received from police of that city."

KNOW YOUR ENDORSERS

This is the slogan of the United States Secret Service in its program of education, urging the public to be on guard against the theft and forgery of Government checks.

Millions of dependents of American soldiers and sailors receive allotments and allowances in the form of Government checks. More millions receive Social Security and other Government checks issued for pensions, services and other purposes. When checks are stolen and forged, those who are entitled to them may suffer many hardships, while the victims suffer losses.

The United States Secret Service needs your aid in preventing forgeries of Government checks. Will you help prevent crime, and at the same time protect yourself from hardships and losses?

Here's How Persons Receiving Government Checks Can Help:

1. Put a lock on your mailbox if it does not already have one.
2. Print your name clearly on your mail box. Notify your post office of change of address if you move.
3. Do NOT endorse your check until you present it for cashing.
4. Try to cash your check in the same place each month.
5. Always present proper identification in cashing checks.
6. Notify issuing agency immediately if checks are not received when due.

Here's How Merchants Cashing Government Checks Can Help:

1. Insist upon proper identification.
2. Request customer to endorse check in your presence, writing his address as well as his name on check.
3. Check should be initialed by person approving or accepting it, indicating the type of identification presented by the customer.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

New Jap Activity in Australian Sector Threatens Entire Allied Pacific Front; United Nations Mastery of Air, Sea Brings African Campaign to Climax

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union

General Montgomery, leader of the victorious British Eighth army, inspects the weapons native to some of the fiercest fighters in his army. The men are Gurkhas from India. The weapon, the curving khukri which has been used effectively in hand-to-hand clashes. The weapon may never be unsheathed without blood being drawn.

SOUTHWEST PACIFIC:
Something in the Air

Indicative of an impending large scale move, in line with warnings of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, Japanese airmen continued their bombing campaign against Allied Southwest Pacific strongholds in the New Guinea area.

One hundred Jap planes attacked the important Allied supply base of Port Moresby, with 50 bombers protected by an equal number of fighters. Allied airmen arose to challenge the enemy and they were aided by heavy anti-aircraft fire.

In all, 37 Jap planes fell in flames, 29 in dog-fights and eight from accurate ack-ack.

Jap losses at Port Moresby raised to 76 the number of planes lost in two days.

Coming from down under, Australian Minister for External Affairs Dr. Herbert Evatt has come up with a plea for increased help to Allied forces in the Southwest Pacific.

Dr. Evatt's plea coincided with a warning from the Allies' two top Southwest Pacific commanders, Gen. Douglas MacArthur and Lieutenant General Blamey, that the Japs were massing planes and men north of Australia. General MacArthur said the enemy was seeking to re-establish his air superiority while Lieut. Gen. Blamey warned that the Japs had concentrated 200,000 men to capitalize on aerial advantage.

RUSSIA:
Lull Before Storm

The lull continued before the storm in Russia.

Both sides reported minor action. The Reds claimed to have thrown back small waves of German infantry that tried to run over Russian positions on the Volkhov river southeast of Leningrad.

The Reds also announced that artillery and machine gun fire was concentrated on German positions before Smolensk as part of a plan to reduce the outer defenses of the Nazi bastion.

For themselves, the Germans reported continued secondary action along the west bank of the Donets river below Kharkov. Here, they said, artillery fire raked the entrenched Russian forces. Neither side claimed major advances.

RUML PLAN:
Doughton Unforgiving

Pay-as-you-go but no forgiveness on taxes!

Doughty old Robert Doughton stood up in the house and told members pressing for reconsideration of the Ruml plan that his Ways and Means committee favored deducting 20 per cent from weekly payrolls but letting the question of forgiving any taxes go till study of a new tax bill.

Although backed by leaders of the majority party, Doughton failed to still opposition. Representative Joseph Martin served notice he would continue efforts to bring the Ruml plan back to the floor for further discussion.

With no tax forgiveness, the 20 per cent payroll deduction undoubtedly would apply to current taxes, with remaining payments on 1942 taxes being additional.

TUNISIA:
'Fox' in Corner

Ending one of the longest retreats in military history, Marshal Rommel's Axis Africa Korps hammered in its stakes in the triangular defense zone of northeastern Tunisia.

All around, Allied forces under supreme command of Gen. Dwight Eisenhower drew up for the final phase of the battle of North Africa. To the west stood the British First army; to the southwest, mixed Allied forces of French and American, and to the south the redoubtable British Eighth army, which had chased Rommel all the way in from Egypt.

Allied leaders estimated that the Axis had 210,000 men in the triangle, although reports reaching London from Switzerland stated that Italian troops were being pulled out of the box and sent to Sicily. Against this force the Allied leaders had almost a million men to hurl, besides enjoying numerical superiority in the air.

Jagged ridges and gulches distinguish the position Rommel has chosen for a last stand.

DRAFT:
You'll Be in the Army

With few exceptions, all physically able men between 18 and 37 years of age will be in the army by 1944!

So says Paul V. McNutt, War Manpower Commissioner, within whose office falls the National Selective Service board. Several months ago, McNutt announced that only employment in essential industry, and not dependency, would be basis for deferment.

Now, the Selective Service board has made it official. Heads of homes, childless married men, and married men with children will be called up for service unless they work in jobs deemed essential to the war effort. Exceptions will be made only if induction threatens to work hardship on a wife, child or parent.

To help solve the farm labor problem, broad exemption was given agricultural workers. The 2-C class will defer men engaged in farm labor while 3-C will exempt men with dependents in agriculture.

RECIPROCAL TRADE:
Show We Mean Business

Under fire of congressmen who expressed fear that the administration's reciprocal trade treaties tend toward a reduction in American living standards, Secretary of State Cordell Hull urged their renewal as a sign that the United States will promote a free development of commerce after the war.

Furthermore, Hull declared, renewal of the reciprocal trade treaties will place American industry in a position to bid for world trade after peace has closed many factories now working at capacity.

Under the present Reciprocal Trade act which expires June 12, the President is allowed to enter into agreements with foreign countries calling for mutual reductions in tariffs on different commodities for periods of three years. Opponents of the act would limit the life of these pacts to less than three years.

HIGHLIGHTS . . . in the week's news

HE-MEN: Noting that officers and enlisted men were losing too much time entering and leaving elevators, Maj. Gen. H. S. Aurand of the Sixth Service command ordered that hereafter they stop giving preference to women entering or leaving elevators; shift around so officers and men leave elevators according to rank, and taking off hats in elevators.

WOMEN'S RIGHTS: The senate judiciary committee has approved a resolution for a constitutional amendment giving women equal rights throughout the United States.

FALSE ALARM: Appealing for recruits for the reserve army, a Toronto radio station broadcast an alleged report that Japs had landed in British Columbia. The broadcast threw the Toronto area into a furor.

WAGES:
Hold-the-Line

Accepting President Roosevelt's exhortation, the War Labor board will "hold-the-line."

In a unanimous decision, the WLB refused to grant cement workers a wage increase which would have brought their earnings up to the same level prevailing in other plants of the same company.

However, the workers were allowed a small boost—in line with the WLB's "Little Steel formula," which permits a general increase of 15 per cent in wages over those of January 1, 1941, as an offset for rise in living costs since then.

In its decision, WLB said that the President's order freezing wages allowed for increases only within the "Little Steel formula" or in cases where wages would remain substandard even after such an increase. Consequently, WLB said, it was powerless under the order to grant boosts merely on grounds of equalizing wages throughout certain industries.

The WLB's action will affect some 10,000 cases before it. Regional branches were instructed to immediately make studies within their districts of sub-standard conditions.

In a midwest regional war labor board the chairman said that approximately 2,500 of the 3,000 cases on file would be affected by the national board's order, which is being observed in the "literal meaning."

FREIGHT:
ICC Uses Ax

Heeding the OPA's plea that freight rate increases averaging 4¼ per cent were inflationary, the Interstate Commerce commission voted to cancel the increases. A 10 per cent boost in passenger fares was allowed to stand.

Put into effect last year, the increases brought Class I carriers $308,997,000 in additional revenue. Of this amount, $226,445,000 was derived from freight; the rest, or $78,387,000, from passengers.

OPA had argued that the increases had resulted in higher costs in manufacturers and distributors, causing a serious strain against price ceilings. The reductions may bring cuts in the cost of many goods, OPA said.

The Interstate Commerce commission allowed the 10 per cent passenger increase for two reasons: (1) Passenger fares have not reflected costs, and (2) reduction in fares might now lead to greater use of passenger trains.

At the time the increases went into effect, railroads argued additional revenue was needed to meet the extra costs imposed by wage boosts to workers. These boosts were estimated to approximate $389,000,000. The Interstate Commerce commission felt that railroads were able to meet these extra costs out of increased revenues derived from war traffic.

BONDS:
To Shackle Axis

"The job of financing this war, like the job of producing weapons, is of such magnitude that it is necessary to enlist the support of the entire citizenry."

With these words, Jay N. Whipple, chairman of metropolitan Chicago's April War Bond committee, got the great war bond drive under way in his district. Within one day, residents of Cook, Lake and DuPage counties subscribed for $115,000,000 of treasury securities, one-third of their goal.

Response throughout the country was similarly enthusiastic. Indications were that the national goal of 13 billion dollars would be as readily met as last December's, when 9 billion dollars was called for and 13 billion dollars actually was raised.

SECRETARY MORGENTHAU

Speaking in New York on the opening day of the bond drive, Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau said the government will have to borrow 70 billion dollars this year, in addition to taxes. The Treasury expects to obtain 25 billion dollars from individuals, most within the income range from $1,000 to $5,000. Banks and insurance companies are to furnish 35 billion dollars.

PAN-AMERICANISM:
Blueprint for Future?

There was a new note in the celebrations that marked this year's Pan-American day as the 21 Western hemisphere republics took time out from vital war work to project a possible international relationship pattern when peace comes. This note indicated that the Pan-American Union, founded half a century ago, might become the blueprint for drawing up agreements which eventually lead to peaceful dealings.

CHATTERER TIES SOME TRICKS

CHATTERER THE RED SQUIRREL had no hope. He was growing tired and more tired and still more tired as he ran through the tree tops, while behind him came Shadow the Weasel. At last he grew so tired that he felt that he had just got to have a few minutes of rest. Perhaps he could fool Shadow. Anyway he would try. He ran down to the ground, wiggled his way through a big pile of brush, hurried over to another tree and started up. But instead of going nearly to the top as usual and then leaping across to another tree he ran out on a little dead stub of a branch only half way up the tree and jumped straight over to the trunk of another tree, where his sharp claws caught in the rough bark. And as he jumped there was a snap behind him. Chatterer knew what it meant. The little stub from which he had jumped had broken short off close to the trunk of the tree.

The first little ray of hope he had, had stole into Chatterer's heart. There would be nothing now to show Shadow the Weasel in which direction he had gone. Chatterer crept into an old nest of Sammy Jay's where he could watch and rest and get his breath. He didn't have to wait long. A long slim form came bounding along the ground in long leaps. Chatterer trembled all over when he saw it. It was Shadow the Weasel. Straight to the tree from which Chatterer had jumped he went and up to the place where the little dead stub had broken off. There the trail ended. Shadow ran up a little way above and circled wholly around the tree trunk. His nose told him that no Squirrel had been there. Then he returned to the place where the little dead stub had been broken off and looked across to the tree in which Chatterer was hiding.

Poor Chatterer! He knew by the look in those fierce red eyes that Shadow wasn't fooled. He knew just where he had gone and he didn't wait to see Shadow run down the tree and across to the one in which he was waiting. No, sir, he didn't wait. He had a wee bit of rest and a chance to get his breath, and now he started on again headlong as before with the same great fear clutching at his heart and the little ray of hope quite gone. But that little trick had given him a few minutes in which to rest, and so presently he tried to think of some other trick, though right down inside he felt that it would be of no real use.

This time he tried criss-crossing his own trail, running back and forth and round and round all over the branches of a spruce tree, and then once more ran on, this time along the ground, until he came to a hollow log. He ran in at one end, out to the other, back along the outside of the log and then did it all over again, finally making a long jump from the end of the log off to one side.

And behind came Shadow the Weasel. He actually grinned when he reached the spruce tree and found the criss-cross trail. It didn't bother him a bit. His wonderful nose led him through every twist and turn Chatterer had made and he knew perfectly well that Chatterer was growing very, very tired. When he reached the hollow log he half expected to find Chatterer there, but when he didn't he wasted no time. He came out at the other end and then ran in a little circle around the old log with his nose to the ground, just as Bowser the Hound circles when Reddy Fox has tried to fool him by making a long jump to one side. In a few minutes he had found Chatterer's trail once more and he knew by the smell that Chatterer was only a very little way ahead. He began to run a little faster.

"I may as well end this chase right away," said he to himself. "I have had all the exercise I need and my stomach is quite ready for that foolish Squirrel. Ha! There he is in the very next tree!"

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

Grandma Hoskins knows a lot about history—but when we asked her where the first brewery was built in America, she wouldn't take sides.

"You see," says Grandma, "wherever the colonists settled, one of the first things they thought about was food and beer . . . In fact, one reason why the Pilgrims landed at Plymouth Rock was because the Mayflower was runnin' short of beer."

Well, that was a new one on us, but Grandma showed it to us—just as it was written in the Mayflower's log.

And it seems that all through our early American history beer sort of tempered the hardships and helped to make us a tolerant, moderate people.

From where I sit, beer is the American drink of moderation and friendliness—kind of a symbol of our personal liberty.

WAR

. . . and your call to Cousin Bill

Cousin Bill lives in another state. You don't see him often, and it would be a pleasant thing to call him up on his birthday and wish him many happy returns . . . IF we weren't fighting a war!

In ordinary times, Michigan Bell would gladly help you send that message, but today long distance lines are crowded with a vastly increased load of war-created traffic. And new lines and equipment can't be added, because the necessary materials have gone to the fighting front.

So send your greetings to Cousin Bill by mail — and to aid in winning the war, please —

Do not make any long distance call unless it is extremely urgent.

Especially avoid calls to people outside of Michigan.

Keep all calls — local or long distance — as brief as you can.

Father's Day excites about as much emotional response as Apple Week.

Sometimes we're all inclined to get pretty disgusted with the cussedness of the human race, then suddenly some individual members of the clan go distingoish themselves for pure unselfishness and generosity that we have hopes for the sons of Adam after all. Such was the case this week when Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gill got the long-awaited — although unofficial — news that their son, Ben, is a prisoner of the Japanese. Most of the letters that were sent to tell them of the short wave broadcast picked up Friday from a Japanese station, were from people who make a hobby of listening for such messages about American prisoners of Japan, and relaying them to anxious relatives of those boys. One man, who has a recording device attached to his short-wave receiving set, said he has recorded between 350 and 400 such messages since Christmas. Another letter—incidentally, this was a printed form with blanks to be filled out for each particular case, indicating this person also sent many like dispatches — was sent with postage from a fund donated by an Ohio lady, as an expression of gratitude for having received word in a similar manner about her son, a prisoner in Germany. There must be hundreds of short wave fans who listen nightly to broadcasts of prisoners' messages from enemy nations, with no thought of reward or repayment except the measure of cheer they can bring to hopeful parents.

Too bad another rabies epidemic doesn't come along to get the stray and uncontrolled dog situation under control again.

EFFORTS TO REACH CROSS TUG FAILED

Coast Guards Attempt Break Thru Ice Outside Piers

Attempts were made this week by Charlevoix coast guards to reach the fish tug Dorothea M, owned by Ralph Cross, which was abandoned in heavy ice fields off Cathead point two months ago and since then has drifted almost to Big Rock point.

Sunday and Monday the tug was visible far outside Charlevoix harbor, jammed in drift ice which eventually carried it out of sight in the direction of Grand Traverse bay. Using the coast guard station's motor lifeboat, coast guardsmen attempted Sunday to break through ice just outside the pier heads to open water but had to be extricated from the thick ice by the tug Rambler, captained by Ernest Smith.

Two attempts were made Monday by coast guards to get through the ice barrier outside the channel to reach the captive tug, but both failed.

STATE FERRIES ON SPRING SCHEDULE

"City of Cheboygan" Makes Five Round Trips Daily

The state highway department announced Saturday a revised schedule of state ferry crossings at the Straits of Mackinac calling for five round trips daily.

The "City of Cheboygan" will supplant the railroad ferry "Chief Wawatam," in transporting automobiles and commercial vehicles, while the "Ste. Marie," an ice crusher, will be turned over to the U. S. coast guard for use in clearing other lake shipping channels.

Effective immediately, the "City of Cheboygan" will make departures from St. Ignace at 6 and 9 p.m., 12 noon, and 3 and 6 p.m. Northbound trips from Mackinaw City will be made at 7:30 and 10:30 a.m. and 1:30, 4:30, and 7:30 p.m. All crossings are scheduled on eastern war time, the department stated.

CAPTAIN WEAVER TAKEN BY DEATH

BEGAN SAILING CAREER IN EARLY YOUTH

Master of Lake Vessels When City Was Lumbering Port; Local Postmaster Nine Years

Captain George W. Weaver, 81, well-known Charlevoix resident and former lake captain, died late Saturday afternoon in a convalescent hospital at Saginaw, in which city he made his home with his daughter, Mrs. Winifred Borchard. In failing health for a year, he had suffered a full two weeks previously, followed by a stroke.

Born March 15, 1862, on Washington Island, Wisconsin, Capt. Weaver started his career on the Great Lakes as a commercial fisherman at the age of 13. Coming to Charlevoix in 1887 after several years of sailing on the lakes, he was master or owner of many lake vessels in the days when this was a busy lumber port. He was captain and owner of the lumber barge "Welcome," wrecked on South point many years ago, and master of the Charlevoix Lumber company's barge "Pine Lake." Later he owned and operated the passenger boat "Lon Cummings," between Charlevoix and Boyne City, and was captain and part owner with Harry L. Oldham of the steamers "Bruce," to St. James, and "Columbia," to Boyne City. He also served as a chief officer of the Michigan Transit Co., owners of several large passenger steamers on the lakes.

Following Capt. Weaver's retirement from sailing in 1914, he entered local politics, serving four years as Charlevoix county treasurer, four years as sheriff, and was postmaster of Charlevoix from 1923 to 1932. During the summer of 1935 he returned briefly to sailing, as captain of the passenger and freight boat "Baibridge" to St. James.

In 1887 he was married to Florence Hyland, of Reed City. Mrs. Weaver died in June, 1930.

He was a member of the local Congregational church and Masonic lodge, and had served for nine years on the Charlevoix Hospital board of directors. He had resided in Saginaw with Mrs. Borchard for the past year.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Borchard, and Mrs. Marjorie Gaffney, of Glendale, Calif.; a son, Dr. G. F. Weaver of Farmington; four grandchildren and one great-grandchild, as well as a host of friends.

Funeral services were held here Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock at the See Funeral Home, Rev. Donald R. Evans officiating. Burial was at Brookside cemetery.

Court house offices were closed during time of the services.

AIRCRAFT WATCH TOWER TO OPEN

STATION REMODELED AFTER RECENT FIRE

Active Post Must Be Maintained Here; Citizens Asked To Select Watch Periods

Upon receiving a report from army authorities at Fort Brady that the Charlevoix post of the Aircraft Warning Service is essential to protection of vital war plants in Michigan, local officials have obtained permission to again use the old Martha Ayers property at State and Hurlbut street, now owned by Sauder Halverson.

Since the fire which occurred at the watch tower April 4, plane spotting has been taken over by the local coast guards. However, as army duties must be secondary to their normal duties, and the coast guard station tower does not have elevation sufficient for a clear view of the skies, the former watch tower will be employed.

The tower is in the process of being cleaned up after the recent fire and larger windows are being installed, affording observers a much better view of the skies. Electric heaters will supply heat for spring and fall months, and sanitary facilities are planned so the tower should be more comfortable than previously.

Reorganization of the post is now under way. Former observers have been contacted by Clifford McKibbin, Jr., who has been appointed Chief Observer, but so far response has been light. Elsewhere in this issue of the Courier is a schedule with spaces indicating watches open at present. Anyone who can put in three hours a week in defense of the country is urged to choose a watch period and register at Mr. McKibbin's office, phone 75.

Length of watches has been cut from four to three hours. Watch periods begin at 12, 3, 6 and 9

DAIRY BUSINESS TO MAXBAUER CREAMERY

Milk Processing and Distribution Taken Over May 1

Milk handling and distribution equipment of Hill View Dairy, operated by Bessie and John Hyek, has been acquired by Maxbauer Creamery.

Effective May 1, service to Hill View Dairy patrons was taken over by the creamery, which will continue distribution to retail merchants as in the past. Pasteurizing, bottling and refrigeration units of the dairy are being installed in Maxbauer's Charlevoix plant. Sources of milk supply remain the same as those utilized by the dairy.

Difficulty of obtaining farm labor was a factor in disposal of the dairy business. Mrs. Hyek and her son will continue to operate their farm north of the city.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

April, according to Si Perkins, out Toenail Hill way, wasn't a month at all — just a collection of samples of all seasons, mostly winter.

It was quite a sight Tuesday morning to watch tugs of the local commercial fishing fleet and the Beaver Island mail boat work their way through about four miles of ice to open water in Lake Michigan. It's been quite a spell since we had that much ice on May 4th and the quicker it's gone, the better all concerned are going to feel about it. The coast guard cutter Hollyhock had gone through the fields early in the morning and later the coast guard motor surf boat broke a channel for the fish tugs. And by the way, it was the local coast guards, aided by coast guard auxiliary members from Petoskey, who broke Ralph Cross' fish tug out of ice floes in which it had been floating for a couple months last week. Apologies to the coast guard for our error.

The annual spring perch spawning run into Round lake started Sunday, just a week later than last year, and the way the boys are knocking off limit catches of big yellow bellies this week is a caution. Joe Foster, probably one of our most enthusiastic perch fisherman, had a big jumbo whitefish included in his limit catch Monday afternoon. This announcement is made especially for you down-staters. Boats, bait, tackles and fish, too, are awaiting you.

Dale Stafford, sports editor of The Detroit Free Press, writes in his column that the Detroit Lions plan to return to Charlevoix for early training as soon as the war is over. That's good news, even if it is, along with a lot of other things, something we must wait for. Stafford ventured that this information will be good news to Mayor Bob Bridge and his associates who helped make the stay of the Lions so pleasant last August.

Received an announcement from "Bill" Flynn that the Char-

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I have just finished reading the home town paper dated December 2, 1942, though I have later issues, this one came today and I always read with a great deal of interest concerning the activities of the other boys. Orin Sutton's experience and accomplishments were tops. More power to him.

I am in old Persia. I have been here since the first of the year and in spite of the multitude of men that are here, I haven't as yet met anyone from home and I am always on the lookout for a familiar face, so far the nearest approach to home is a lad from Bay City.

Persia, as you already know, is an ancient country and people live about the same as they did in Bible times. For centuries Persian women were shrouded in black veils, covering them from head to foot, the men wore baggy black trousers and stiff felt coats. The new king and queen, who have modern ideas, decreed that European clothes were compulsory, but judging by the strange mixture of European, Persian and Arabian costumes one sees on a single individual, the decree did not altogether achieve its purpose.

I haven't as yet seen many of the cities, but our nearby town is an interesting place with its bazaars, and "hole in the wall" shops. It's a common sight to see ancient automobiles, horse and buggies, donkeys, and a camel caravan thrown in for good measure all on the main street or crossing the one and only bridge the town has, all at the same time. The procession is colorful. Reminds one of a circus parade.

The people are not as modest as one would think. I have seen some unusual sights and I've always prided myself as being quite shock-proof — well, not any more.

I am in a station hospital, working with several other fellows in the registrar's office. At first I did ward work, then about a month ago I was placed here and I am getting along fine. I would like to tell you more in detail regarding our location, type, etc., that we are serving, but suffice to say, we are doing our share.

I am taking this opportunity to

All the camp got out safely. They had to pass 15 to 100 yards from enemy soldiers to withdraw. All three boys received silver stars. I wonder if we all realize and appreciate what our boys are doing to save and protect our country.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't goin' in the newspaper business, are you?"

"No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sends them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several counties where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise', 'Bootleggers must post Ceiling Prices', 'Federal Agents seize 'Thick' Liquor Truck'. Doesn't that go to prove, Joe, that prohibition does not prohibit?

"I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this country. The only thing I could see we got out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor... plus the worst crime and corruption this country has ever known."

One Phase of Tough Job for Army Engineers

In transporting pipe and other supplies for a pipeline connecting the Norman oil fields of Canada with White Horse, on the Alaskan highway, to make fuel easily available for defense stations, U. S. army engineers overcame great obstacles. Here a convoy of supply barges and towing craft nears the end of a rough 16-mile cross-country voyage.

LANSING LETTER

Streamlining of Michigan's public educational system, whereby 6,300 legally organized school districts would be sharply reduced in number, is to be recommended to the 1944 session of the Michigan legislature by a state public education study commission of which Dr. Eugene B. Elliott is chairman.

This interesting fact is found in a "statement of policy" made public this week by the commission which was appointed last September by Governor Murray D. Van Wagoner. Three new members were appointed by Governor Harry F. Kelly in January and February.

In March, the legislature increased school aid from $44,500,000 to $50,000,000, an all-time peak. On April 5, Dr. Elliott was re-elected for his fifth term as state superintendent of public instruction.

The educational picture, as Governor Van Wagoner saw it last September, is portrayed in a frank declaration of the need, purpose and scope of a study commission. Here are some explosive highlights:

"There is much waste, unsound business practices, questionable group pressures, and far too much sentimental attachment to the outmoded and inefficient small-district school system."

"War has created a condition which requires action on these long overdue reforms."

"Good teachers are fundamental to a good educational system. Yet today Michigan faces a shortage of 2,000 teachers, because low teacher salary scales cannot compete with private opportunities. Especially in rural areas, teachers never have been paid on a scale attractive enough to assure rural pupils equal educational opportunities with urban children."

"The state pays nearly half of the cost of public education in Michigan. It is indefensible, then, for the state to take no interest in good education for all children. . . . We have over 6,000 school districts in Michigan. Some of them have as few as two pupils. Supervisory officials in many districts outnumber the entire teaching staff and school population.

"Some 1,500 districts have 15 pupils or less. Certain villages have two districts, each with its own high school, its dual teaching and building and supervisory and maintenance and fuel budgets — and all within walking distance of each other."

The governor's statement goes on to recite how school bus routes overlap, how districts compete for the state subsidies that come with outside pupils, and how some districts are paying huge amounts in debt service for buildings they could not afford.

The commission's initial report, just made public, contains a recommendation that Michigan's present system of 6300 separate districts should be modernized into "school communities" by the legislature of 1944.

"It is impossible to provide for equality of educational opportunity in Michigan under the existing district system, designed for the frontier and a pioneer economy. The majority of the 6300 legally organized school districts are incapable of providing a complete instructional program for the children under their jurisdiction, even in times of great prosperity, except at an expense so large as to be practically prohibitive."

The report points out the need for "instructional specialization" which requires employment of highly skilled teachers and which in turn, calls for large classes of pupils. Laboratories and shops are prohibitive in cost, unless there is a sufficiently large number of students to use them efficiently.

Michigan's network of 6,300 school districts, of which 1,400 have less than 16 pupils, is founded on a territorial law of 1827 whereby township schools were authorized and the voters were permitted to divide the township into small school districts. Three trustees were to govern each school district.

The legislative council of the territory, of which Detroit was the capital, used the Massachusetts school law of 1789 as a pattern for the district system.

In 1836 the Congress of the United States provided that every sixteenth section of public land in a township would be reserved for public schools. From sale of such lands, the State of Michigan started a primary school fund. As the fund was not sufficient to maintain free schools, the legislature then authorized districts to levy a general property tax.

Today, the State pays approximately one-half of the cost of public education which is estimated approximately at $100,000,000 a year.

Members of the study commission include persons who are prominently identified with rural interest in Michigan: W. G. Armstrong of the State Grange, and Clark C. Brody of the Michigan Farm Bureau. It includes such educators as Dr. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction; Dr. Arthur B. Moehlman, University of Michigan, and Dr. John F. Thaden, Michigan State college.

Members of the legislature include John P. Espie, Engle; Rep. Edson V. Root, Paw Paw, and Rep. Joseph F. Nagel, Detroit, members of the house education committee; and Senators Harold Saur, Kent City; Stanley Nowak, Detroit, and James T. Milliken, Traverse City.

Other members: Edward R. Butler, Detroit board of education; Arthur Eldea, executive secretary, Michigan Federation of Teachers; John R. Francis, Sanilac county school superintendent; Frank Marquart, CIO education director, Detroit; Chester F. Miller, Saginaw school superintendent; Stephen S. Nisbet, president, Michigan Education association; and Mrs. J. C. Parker, president, Michigan Parent-Teachers' association.

CAPT. ROBERT BARNUM WRITES FROM TUNISIA

Farming and Army Life in Tripoli Area Is Described

Capt. Robert A. Barnum of Lake City, with the American fighter pilots attached to the Eighth English Army in Tunisia, gives the following account of farming and army life in the region around Tripoli in Italian Libya and in southern Tunisia. He is the grandson of Sam Alexander, of Ironton.

The only farming done out here is in the wadies, and the principal crop, on a very small scale, is grain, mostly wheat. The soil is just plain sand, but in the wadies it is damp and the grain seems to grow very well. All around the city of Tripoli the Italians and Arabs cultivate huge orchards of olives and figs. They have reclaimed the desert and irrigate by ditches. Nearly every farm has a wind mill to pump water for the irrigation systems. This is only in the Tripoli area, which covers about 20 miles out from the city. All of this improvement is part of Italy's attempt to colonize northern Africa.

The farming done by the Arabs is on a very small scale. The most grain that you see in a wady is only 3 or 4 acres. Most of them keep chickens, however, and every day they come through our camps to try to sell them to us. For eggs, the price is a shilling each, or about $1.40 a dozen. The camels out here are just like the herds of cattle at home. Each Arab settlement has 15 to 20 camels, also goats and sheep.

The hills south of Tripoli and around Tarhuna are usually outcrops of solid rock and are quite similar to the hills in Palestine. As a matter of fact, you can imagine you are in Palestine when you are among the Tarhuna hills. That is where the Huns shot me up a while back.

Since it has been very warm lately, the desert has blossomed out in its full glory. The camel bush is green and there are a great variety of bright colored flowers all around. The flowers are delicate and usually very small. They are bright yellow, red, blue, purple and white.

We don't have barber shops and tailors here, hence the long hair in my pictures; and we wear any type or kind of clothes we can find or get. We have had no laundry done for two and a half months, but we get along somehow. The soldiers out here go in for fighting rather than looks.

Money spent here—stays here.

Mother'll Understand

If you don't call her on Long Distance this Sunday

Mothers are understanding and patriotic. They know that under the steadily increasing burden of war-created calls, long distance telephone equipment is seriously overloaded.

Of course, they like to be remembered on Mother's Day, but they'd rather be sure the lines are kept clear for vital war messages.

This year, send your love in a letter. And if you'd like to give your mother a present, she will truly appreciate a U. S. War Bond—a gift of fighting dollars to back our boys overseas.

Don't make any long distance call this Mother's Day unless it is extremely urgent.

A proposed new charter for the City of Charlevoix has been drawn up by a committee of seven — Will Hampton, F. G. Hines, W. H. Miller, J. L. Crane, R. W. Kane, R. L. Lewis, and F. H. Wilkinson, and will be submitted to the citizens for approval. The charter would abolish the mayor-alderman form of government, substituting a city manager and three commissioners elected for three years, and also provides that the city may own and operate public utilities of all kinds. This latter provision may be invaluable if war, coal shortage and high prices continue.

Subscriptions in the Third Liberty Loan drive in Charlevoix and adjacent townships totaled $95,800, twice the quota and a thousand dollars more. Uncle Sam has asked for six billion dollars. (Uncle Sam wanted twice that and a billion more this year, but again Charlevoix obliged.)

This is the eighth school building to be erected here since the first 16x18-foot log school was built in 1861 on the shore of Lake Charlevoix. ARMY LETTERS say hello to everyone the Courier reaches and to thank you for keeping me well informed. Every time the Courier reaches me I feel quite at home. I feel only 15 miles away instead of the 15 thousand.

Sincerely,
Pfc. Jay J. Oliver

Dear Sir,

I have moved from Old Camp Rucker, Alabama, and thought I had better send you my new address. I sure appreciate the Courier. Us northern boys from around Charlevoix sure depend on that paper for our home town news.

We sure missed the snow banks last winter. The weather around here is just like a hot day in July up there. I'm sure pleased with this country, it is more like home to me, nice green grass and flowers growing. Down in Alabama all you see is red sand.

In regards to your paper, I thank you again, and it sure is appreciated.

Your friend,
Pfc. Thurlow McClellan
Co. I., 322nd Inf. R.
APO 81, c/o Postmaster
Nashville, Tenn.

Dear Ken,

This long overdue bit of a letter is to let you know that I am receiving the Courier every week. I want to thank you and everyone who is making it possible for sending it to me.

This is a small world after all. I just read in the paper about Harry Oldham, Steve and Tony Faculak and George Fratrick being stationed here at this post. I plan to look them up the first chance I get. They are members of the 10th Armd. Div. and it is a tough outfit.

I know a little something about the Tiger Camp that George Fratrick mentioned in his letter to you. I also attended the camp and you do get a real workout.

The weather is getting mighty warm down here now. I just close my eyes and visualize I am sitting on the beach at home and feeling that good old Lake Michigan breeze blowing in my face. It really helps.

I enjoy being in an armored outfit and am kept quite busy. As you know, the armored divisions are doing their share in winning this war. I think it will be real sport riding through Berlin in a tank.

Time has come when I must close this so-called epistle. I want to thank you again, Ken, for the home town paper. You can look forward for another letter from me in the near future.

Sincerely,
Lt. Glenn L. Heise
419th Armd. F. A. Bn.
Fort Benning, Ga.

Dear Ken,

I have been receiving the paper every week and I sure enjoy it. I just found out what my new address is going to be so thought I would let you know.

I am beginning to think more and more of the army and am just beginning to find out that the tank destroyer units are the toughest in the world. I haven't gained or lost any weight but I have built up my muscles. I can run all day and still be in good health at night and not be the least bit tired. The training we get is good and if all the boys get the same kind of basic training, we are sure to win this war a whole lot quicker.

Will close. Thanks again for the paper.

As ever,

LETTERS FROM THE ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I am writing to thank you for the past copies of the Courier and I wish you would hold back the paper for a few weeks, as I am now moved to a new camp for a week and then I get my furlough. So I'll be home by May 3. When I return I'll most likely be sent to Mississippi for 3 or 4 weeks.

I am now learning to fire anti-aircraft guns. We have 4 days to learn to take them apart and put them back together again and also find the target when we fire them.

The sun is beating in this window and I can hardly keep my eyes open, and my dogs are aching from marching all afternoon so guess I can stand a little rest before chow. I plan on visiting Keith Ager after chow. So I'll sign off for now. Will be seeing you all soon. Thanks a million for the past copies of the Courier.

Your friend,
Allan Webster

MANY TRADES OPEN TO NAVY'S SEABEES

Men With Construction, Mechanical Experience Wanted

High-paying petty officer ratings still are available in the Navy Seabees, (Construction Battalions) to men with construction or mechanical experience, but it is probable that many of these ratings soon will be closed.

Therefore, men, 17 through 50 years old, who are not deferred because of essential war work, should investigate now the opportunities offered by the Seabees before it is too late for them to capitalize on their experience.

Men desiring to join the Seabees, or seeking information, should visit the navy recruiting station at Traverse City.

These are some of the trades and professions in which there are now open ratings in the Seabee: Auto and truck mechanics, blacksmiths, bull dozer operators, carpenters, concrete workers, crane operators, divers, draftsmen, drillers, electricians, engineers, machinists, motor patrol operators, pile driver operators, pipefitters, pipelayers, plumbers, powdermen, riggers, sheet metal workers, stationary engineers, steel workers, switchboard men, telephone men, welders, wharf builders, winchmen and wire splicers.

NEW MILITARY AREA COMMANDER CHOSEN

Recruiting, Public Relations Are Included In Duties

To provide for plant and state guard training in the northern Michigan area, Captain John L. Sullivan, Corp Military Police, has been detailed to duty in this district as area commander, it was announced today by Colonel August M. Krech, district commander, district No. 1, Sixth Service Commander.

Although the training of plant and state guards is Captain Sullivan's primary responsibility, his duties will include such assistance as is necessary in public relations, internal security, liaisnn with the office of civilian defense, administration of army emergency relief, and the procurement of auxiliaries for the WAAC, officer and enlisted specialists, aviation cadets, and seventeen-year-olds for the enlisted reserve.

With offices in the Oscoda Town Hall, Captain Sullivan's territory will include the counties of Gratiot, Emmet, Cheboygan, Presque Isle, Charlevoix, Antrim, Otsego, Montmorency, Alpena, Leelonou, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Crawford, Oscoda, Alcona, Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Roscommon, Ogemaw, Iosco, Mason, Lake, Osceola, Clare, Gladwin, Arenac, Mecosta, Isabella, Oceana.

What could we do without cotton? Lacking the fluffy Jack of all Trades, we couldn't very well fight a war, there'd be a clothing famine, our livestock might starve and fighting planes wouldn't have the right kind of noses. Don't miss this timely and informative article by Joseph Ciszek Peters in The American Weekly, the magazine section with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

One $18.75 War Bond will give new Army enlisted man an overcoat, two woolen under shirts, and a pair of light woolen socks.

SET PRICE CEILING ON COMMERCIAL CARS

Heavy Demand for Used Cars Brings OPA Control

Price ceilings on all used commercial motor vehicles whether sold by dealers, individuals or at auction, went into effect this week, according to H. L. Goodland, district OPA price specialist. A comprehensive digest covering all phases of the regulation is being prepared for distribution to local war price and rationing boards, where they may be procured by used car dealers and garage operators.

Curtailment of production of new trucks and war time transportation needs have resulted in a heavy demand for second-hand vehicles. This was responsible for an influx into the market of many old type models, many of which were considered out of operation. In an uncontrolled market, prices on these vehicles were out of line.

Although values of used trucks decline with age, depreciation has not been a factor in present prices. As an example, the average price for a certain 1938 model was $199 in September, 1941 and $268 a year later, although under normal circumstances it would have been valued at a price of $50 below the September 1941 price, at the end of 1942.

A specified written guarantee of satisfactory operation (for 1000 miles or 30 days) is required by the regulation when said "reconditioned." Dealers are required to "tag" stock reconditioned trucks with certain information as outlined in the regulation.

The conversion of panel jobs to pickups, standard chassis to tractors and similar changes are of common occurence in the industry. The regulation is designed to permit such alterations from being made in anticipation of demand.

STATE HAS NEW AIR RAID SIGNAL SYSTEM

Civilian Defense Director Leonard Announces Change

A new air raid warning signal system will go into effect in Michigan at 12:01 a.m. May 1, it was announced this week by Capt. Donald S. Leonard, state director of civilian defense.

Signals will be uniform throughout the state, and will supersede all other signals now being used.

Principal features are:

1. Introduction of a public "blue" warning signal, a two-minute steady blast on horns or whistles, to indicate a raid is probable.

2. Sounding the "red" public warning, the familiar fluctuating note on sirens and intermittent blasts on horns and whistles for three minutes, to indicate a raid is imminent.

3. Introduction of an additional "blue" public warning, a two-minute steady blast, to follow all "red" signals to indicate that the raiders have passed, but may return.

4. Introduction of a new "white" or "all clear" signal to indicate that all danger is past and normal activities may be resumed. This is a one-minute steady blast, two minutes of silence, second one-minute blast, two minutes of silence, and final one-minute blast.

OPTIMISTIC VIEW ON 1943 RESORT SEASON

Tourist Association Reports All Signs Good Indication

Every indication points to another good year for the tourist business in Michigan according to William Palmer, Secretary Manager of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association.

"Early inquiries are as numerous as last year," said he, "travel-show inquiries are greater. Everyone has more money. People need vacations more this year than ever before. Those coming to the out-state information offices and to the travel-shows are tired. They ask for places where they can rest. They want to fish and relax. They don't ask for entertainment this year. Most of them have saved up their gas coupons for this vacation trip. Many will make their trips by boat, bus or train . . . fitting their vacations into the transportation program.

"Many industrial companies doing essential war work are insisting on their workers taking vacations. They are doing it because they realize it is an investment in morale and good health.

"I believe that those communities and resorts who go out after this civilian furlough business will get plenty of it this year. We all realize that there is one big job . . . the war effort . . . but that job can be done much better by a healthy, cheerful nation."

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Final Battle in Campaign for Tunisia Marked by Fierce Enemy Resistance; Allies Strive to Reunite Reds, Poles; Labor Front Studies Coal Mine Issues

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

TUNISIA:
Slow but Sure

Meeting fierce fire, Allied troops fought methodically to the approaches of the Axis' final two bastions in Tunisia, Tunis and Bizerte.

While French and American forces pressed against rocky Axis entrenchments in the north, and British units contained the enemy in the mountains in the south, the Allied First army's armored columns fought German tanks in the plains in the central sector.

Driving the Axis from Long Stop hill, the First army cleared the road leading to the Tunis plain to the east. A little to the south, First army formations shot it out with German tanks in that country, then swung off toward the Axis' vital central sector base of Pont du Fahs, which was rapidly encircled.

Resisting bitterly, the Axis was giving up territory by the foot only, relying on mortar and machine gun fire to stop Allied infantry advancing under cover of massed artillery barrage. Using freighters and motor barges, the Axis continued to run the gantlet of seathing Allied bombers in the Sicilian straits in an effort to keep their embattled troops supplied.

Helmet Saves General

Only a helmet saved the life of Lieut. Gen. Lesley J. McNair, leader of American ground forces, as shell fragmentation struck him down while on observation on the Tunisian front during the bitter fighting. Although fragmentation glanced off the helmet, particles ripped into the general's shoulder, injuring him painfully. Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear has assumed his position pending his recovery.

RUSSIA:
Break With Poles

Charging that the Polish government in exile was using Nazi propaganda in order to force territorial concessions from the Russians, the Reds formally broke diplomatic relations with the Poles. In consultation with the United States, British Foreign Minister Anthony Eden immediately got to work patching up the rupture.

Immediate cause of the break was centered around the Nazi charge that they had uncovered the graves of 10,000 Polish army officers near Smolensk, allegedly murdered by the Reds before they were driven from the area. The Poles asked the International Red Cross to investigate the charge. Polish officials said that they have been unable to locate the officers despite a general amnesty granted Polish prisoners of war by the Russian government.

At the same time there were indications of another diplomatic break, this one between the United States and Finland. Withdrawal of American embassy officials from Helsingfors reputedly followed Finland's declination of a U. S. offer to mediate her war with Russia.

Catch Breath

Russian troops held against Nazi attacks in the Leningrad area and Red airmen continued to pepper German supply lines along the whole front. Minor action was reported above Kursk, where the Reds are wedged into Nazi lines, and at Novorossisk, the Germans' big base on the Black sea shore in the Caucasus.

POISON GAS:
Nazis Prepare

For the last two months, the German people have been drilled against poison gas attacks.

This information reached Allied sources in the wake of Great Britain's warning that she would use poison gas against Germany should the Nazis start such warfare in Russia.

According to reports, fire fighting squadrons in Germany were instructed on the effects of gas.

SOFT COAL:
Labor Showdown

John L. Lewis forced a showdown on the government's war labor policies.

Backed up by approximately 450,000 members of the United Mine Workers, Big John demanded a $2 a day raise; an $8 minimum wage for all employees, and portal-to-portal pay, or, pay from the time a worker enters a mine to the time he leaves.

At stake was the President's "hold-the-line" order, based on the WLB's policy of granting a 15 per cent wage increase over January, 1941, rates. Lewis has opposed this formula from the beginning.

Although the UMW was committed to continue working until the end of last month many mines reported stoppages and slowdowns during the week preceding the deadline. UMW did not authorize the disruptions, but neither did officials order the workers to return to their jobs.

PRODUCTION:
Ships and Planes

Stating that American shipyards could produce 20 million tons of shipping a year, Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, chairman of the U. S. Maritime Commission, has revealed that yards are constructing five vessels a day.

Land's announcement coincided with one made by Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson, in which he told the Atlanta War Effort committee that American aircraft manufacturers turned out 6,200 airplanes in March. Like Land, Patterson declared that many more planes could be produced if critical materials and men were available.

Deriding Nazi claims that they have sunk 30 million tons of Allied shipping since the start of the war, Land said our shipyards will produce almost 19 million tons this year. This will be greater than the rest of the world combined.

Patterson revealed that production of major items in the army supply program exclusive of aircraft will approximate $1,600,000,000 in April. This will be about 15 per cent greater than the January total.

ALEUTIANS:
No Picnic

Swirling mists and rains continued to hold up American bombings in the Aleutians. Although prepared to dump 50 tons of explosives on each trip over Attu and Kiska, weather has held U. S. fliers to a mere handful of raids.

Meanwhile, pilots report the Japs have succeeded in heavily fortifying the Aleutians. On recent flights over the islands, they have encountered strong anti-aircraft bursts, and airmen believe the Japs have deliberately withheld some of their fire.

Both Attu and Kiska have few suitable beaches upon which American troops could land, most of the shoreline being steep and craggy. The Japs have these few beaches thickly covered and aptly manned, remembering the Yanks' successful surprise landings at Guadalcanal.

Eight months ago, the army said the Japs probably had 10,000 men stationed in the Aleutians. Airmen believe that these troops have since been strongly reinforced. Summed up: American observers believe the battle of the Aleutians will be a big one, and no picnic.

RAF:
Bombs Rip Duisberg

Seventeen bombers failed to return following the RAF's heavy raid on the important German industrial center of Duisberg.

Over 1,000 tons of explosives were dumped on Duisberg, famous for its engine works, as the RAF returned to the wars after bombing Stettin, Rostock and Berlin.

Meanwhile, RAF bombers continued to attack Nazi communications centers.

RATIONING:
More Tires, More Gas

Because of the increased quota of tires for civilians, OPA has amended its gas rationing regulations outside of the 17 eastern seaboard states and the District of Columbia.

Following Rubber Administrator William Jeffers' announcement that more Grade A tires would be available for essential use, the OPA boosted the maximum allotment of gas for occupational driving from 470 to 720 gallons per month. The figure is based on an average of 15 miles per gallon of gas.

Formerly, only doctors, ministers and some classes of salesmen received the cherished "C" card allowing 720 miles for occupational driving. Average allotments on "B" cards approximated 470 miles. Now "C" cards will be available on application, showing all traveling will be done on jobs, or the car is being used to transport three or more persons to war industry.

The OPA also ruled that rationing certificates for replacing tires on farm tractors may be issued by local boards in areas where recapping facilities are inadequate.

SHIPPING:
Allied Losses

The Allies suffered a net loss of one million tons of merchant shipping in 1942, the navy department reported.

The "net" figure was arrived at after deducting losses from existing fleets and new construction during the year. The navy declared, however, that figures were incomplete, since building records were not received from some of the Allied nations.

In announcing the losses, the navy pointed out that they included submarine sinkings, mines, airplanes, capture and otherwise. According to Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, submarines accounted for 50 per cent of the losses.

The navy's statement followed a report by the Truman defense investigating committee that 12 million tons of Allied merchant shipping had been sunk during the year.

CHINA:
Fight in Mountains

Forty thousand Japanese assaulted the Chinese army's positions in the mountain range flanking the Pieping-Hankow railroad.

Both sides suffered heavy losses as the Chinese resisted fiercely in the passes and on the heights.

The Chinese also reported throwing back two Japanese attempts to land along the China sea coast. The first attempt found troops trying to reach the beach under cover of a lone warship's fire. But when Chinese cannon forced a withdrawal, the Japs returned the next day with four warships. Again heavy fire frustrated a landing.

Meanwhile, American airmen were active over China, combatting Japanese fighter planes from an advanced Allied base in Hunan province.

NEW HORIZON:
'Old Capitalism Dead'

"The capitalism of complete laissez-faire which thrived on low wages and maximum profits for minimum turnover, which rejected collective bargaining and fought against justified public regulation of the competitive process is a thing of the past."

No words of a suspicious orator these, but rather the keynote of an address made by Eric A. Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, at the initial session of the chamber's 31st annual meeting.

Continuing, Johnston said: "Political and economic freedom are integrated, and that what impairs one also hampers the other in like measure. The horizons of opportunity being opened up are larger than ever before."

SHELTER IN TUNISIA

Protected from the burning sun by a solar helmet commandeered from an Axis prisoner, this American corporal relaxes in his foxhole in central Tunisia. His dog keeps him from getting too lonely.

MISCELLANY:

FUEL OIL: American Liberators bombed the huge Thilawa oil refinery south of Rangoon, scoring hits on the distillation and storage installations.

DRAFT FATHERS: Secretary of War Henry Stimson said drafting of fathers was necessary if the army was to take advantage of the opportunities offered for speedily ending the war.

Bomb the Japs with junk!

Capt. Joe Foss and His 'Flying Circus'

One of the hottest fighter squads in the South Pacific area is a marine outfit known as the "Flying Circus," led by Capt. Joe Foss of Sioux Falls, S. D., top American ace of the war. The squadron has bagged more than 60 Jap planes, and Foss himself has more than 26 confirmed victories. Foss, smoking his characteristic cigar, is shown in the center, while around him, reading from top left around the bottom to top right are, Oscar Bate, Greg Loesch, Tom Furlow, Roger Haberman, Frank Presley and Bill Freeman.

U. S. Planes on Way to Harass Enemy

An unpleasant sight for Axis eyes is this cargo of planes on the way to battlefields, where they will harass the enemy. As they near their destination the accompanying vessels of the convoy swing astern of the carrier with its precious cargo. Army mechanics can be seen giving the planes a final checkup.

Pledge Help for Paralysis Fund

Movie stars at the White House pledge help for the paralysis fund. Shown, left to right, are Lloyd Richards, production co-ordinator of picture "Forever and a Day," all profits accruing from which will be turned over to the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. C. Aubrey Smith presented the pledge to the President. Next in line are Roland Young, Brian Aherne, Mrs. C. A. Smith, Ruth Warwick, who plays the lead in the picture; Lady Warwick—and President Roosevelt.

Grand Old Man Feels Call of Spring

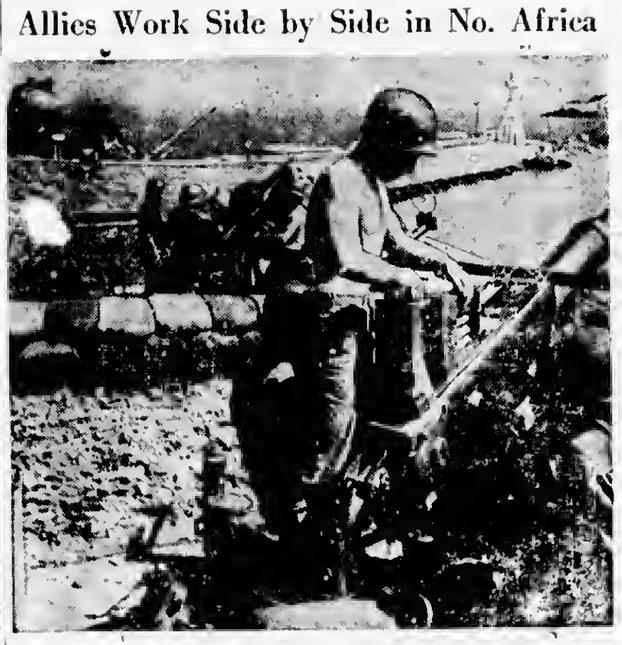
Connie Mack, manager of the Philadelphia A's, grand old man of baseball, feels the call of spring and steps up to take a cut at the ball during training session at Wilmington, Del., baseball park. Bob Swift catches for the "boss," while Felix Mackewics and Jo Jo White look on.

Keep 'em firing—with junk!

Old Man River Goes on Rampage

Backwaters of the swollen Missouri river, bursting through dikes, inundated hundreds of acres of land, and made many homeless in the vicinity of Omaha, Neb. In picture at top Mrs. Ell Kotal is being carried to safety on the back of a real "mudder." Below: Here soldiers are shown on the Locust street dike, plugging a leak in the levee with bags which they have filled with sand.

Allies Work Side by Side in No. Africa



Anti-aircraft gunners of three United Nations are seen working side by side as they protect an Allied-held North African port from Axis air attacks. In the foreground an American unit mans a Bofors gun, while just behind them is a French crew servicing their Oerlikon gun. In the far background is a British crew with another Bofors.

Jap Prisoners in South Pacific Camp

Japanese prisoners of war are shown being given medical treatment by a U. S. officer at a South Pacific prisoner's camp. Smile on prisoner's face seems genuine enough.

General Patch Decorated in Guadalcanal

Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch (right) is shown as he pinned the Navy Distinguished Service Medal on Maj. Gen. Alexander M. Patch, in command of U. S. troops at Guadalcanal, shortly after the army relieved the marines here. Looking on are Brig. Gen. R. L. Spraglins, corps chief of staff, and Brig. Gen. William R. Woodward, artillery chief.

levoix Beach Hotel is opening on July 1st, and betwen you and I, am glad there's one fellow who isn't letting the wartimo bugaboo of gasolino and tire rationing and curtailed rail travel get him down. Bill's confidence in Charlevoix as a resort is reflected by his decision to open the hotel as usual. His psychology (or optimism as some probably would call it) would be a good one for all Charlevoixans to adopt.

BEAVER ISLAND

Mr. Lees of the Top O' Michigan R.E.A. of Boyne City spent a few days here on business.

Henry Allen and son, Tommy, arrived Sunday for a few days stay at their cottage in St. James.

Edw. B. Gallagher arrived here Sunday from Charlevoix, where he spent the past winter with his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Cross.

James H. Gallagher is spending a few days this week in Charlevoix on business.

James Gntliff is spending a few days this wek in Charlevoix with his aunt, Mrs. Perry Smith.

Anna Mae and Lillian Connaghan left Sunday for Crawfordsville, Ind., where they will attend a Western Union school for two months.

Mrs. Leo J. Adams arrived last week to join her husband who is a coast guard at this station.

The potluck supper given Sunday by the ladies of Holy Cross Parish was a big success both socially and financially, in spite of the bad weather and rain.

Mrs. Fred Sondenburgh returned home Sunday from Escanaba, where she spent the winter with her son Alphonaus and his family.

There'll be many absentees in the observance of Mother's Day next Sunday, May 9th. That's all the more reason why those at home should not forget.

There's little good to report about trout fishing to date. Haven't caught a day's legal limit in all the times I've been out put together, so you can surmise that if it was fish I was after, I'd have given up in disgust before this. Streams were as high Sunday as the week before, but another week of good weather should get them down to normal.

AT THE MOVIES

"Journey for Margaret"

Five-year-old Margaret O'Brien, who plays the title role in "Journey for Margaret," coming to the Palace Theatre Saturday and Sunday, May 8-9, is called the baby Bernhardt of Hollywood. She, as no one else, is said to be fitted to step into those shoes Shirley Temple left behind when she grew up. Robert Young and Loraine Day are starred in the MGM production of William L. White's poignant story of an English refugee child.

"The Black Swan"

Maureen O'Hara is teamed with Tyrone Power for the first time in "The Black Swan," Rafael Sabatini's mighty adventure story directed by Henry King from a screen play written by Ben Hecht and Seton I. Miller. Laird Cregar, Thomas Mitchell, George Sanders, Anthony Quinn, George Zucco and many others are in the cast of this thrilling tale of ancient buccaneers, filmed in Technicolor.

"Henry Aldrich, Editor"

That incorrigible youngster, Henry Aldrich, is headed this way with a new load of laughs and troubles in his new Paramount picture, "Henry Aldrich, Editor," which comes Friday and Saturday, May 14-15 to the Palace Theatre with Jimmy Lydon as Henry, Charles Smith as Dizzy, Rita Quigley, John Litel, Olive Blakeney and Vaughan Glaser as the Principal of Centerville High School.

"Secret Enemies"

GROUNDWATER LEVELS NOW AT RECORD HIGH

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 48 NUMBER 19 EIGHT PAGES — THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER, WEDNESDAY, MAY 12, 1943 — PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

MAY APPLY FOR CANNING SUGAR

APPLICATIONS RECEIVED AFTER MAY 15

Special Coupons to be Issued for Purchase; Larger Allowance For Jams and Jellies

Applications for sugar for home cnnning will be accepted by the local war price and rationing board on and after May 15. The hoard will handlo applications by mail, or applicants may visit tha rotion board offlce.

As previously announced by Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown of the offico of price administration, sugar for home canning is being allotted on substantially the same basis as last year; that is, ona pound for each four quarts (or eight pounds) of the finished product. The applicant must present a copy of war ration book one for each person for whom homa-canning sugar is seught; state total number of qnarts or pounds of finished fruit to be put up; and amount of sugar to be used for making jams and jellies.

A top limit of 25 pounds of sugar per person has been aet, which is a maximum figure, to be grnnted only in relatively few cases. Five pounds per individual will he allowed for maklng jams and jellies, within the 25-pound limit. The increase in allownnce for jams and jellies is to encourage their use ns a spread to stretch tha butter and margarine ration.

Home canning sugar alletmenta will be in the form of "sugar allowance coupons" in denominntions of 1, 3, 5 and 10 pounds. Housewives thus ean spread their sugar buying over the entire canning season, instend of making a single large purchase as was done with purchuse certificates last year. Each coupan will be marked with the serial number of war ration book one for which it was issued, and the book itself must he presentod whenever n coupon is used. Unless the numbers on books and coupons correspond, the coupon is not valid and the retailer cannot complete the sugnr sale.

Those who sell home-canned foods must keep a record of all sales nnd turn in the ration stamps collected to the local ration board that originally granted the sugnr for canning, on or before the 10th of the next month after sale. Speclal provisions have been made for those whe grow their own frults nnd vegetnbles and hnve them commercially canned, and nlso for restaurants, botels, and other institutions which do their own canning.

Enemy Weapons Compared at Aberdeen, Md.

The foreign material branch of the ordnaace department of the U. S. army has in its possession many enemy weapons that they have brought to this country for comparison purposes with our own weapons. At right Lieut. Edwin Davis holds a shell at the breech of the "mystery" 88-mm. anti-aircraft and anti-tank gun that was talked about so much in the heginning of the war in Africa. Right: Colonel Jarrett holds a mortar shell for the German 81-mm. mortar, which almost compares with the American mortar in design.

ARMY COMMISSION TO ST. MARY'S PASTOR

First Local Minister to Enter Army Chaplain's Ranks

Saturday's Grand Rapids Press carried a picture of Mayor John A. Collins of East Grand Rapids administering the army officer's oath to his son, third member of the mayor's family to enter service. Another son, Richard, is with the army in north Africa, nnd a daughter, Lt. Mary Ann Collins, is an army nurse at the Gulfport, Miss., base hospital.

FARMERS ASKED FOR MORE SCRAP

THREE MILLION TONS BY JULY IS GOAL

Numerous Factors Contribute to Metal Shortage; Much Less Machinery is Junked

In the first six months of 1943, three million tons of scrup metals are being sought from American farmers by the salvage division of the War Production Board, at the request of Chnirman Donald M. Nelson. This means that every farm in the United Statea muat collect und turn in an average of a thousand pounds before July 1.

Despite uny rumors to the contrnry, there is still n critical need for an adequate backlog of scrap piles in communities throughout the country. Reports from many of the nation's steel producing centers indicate that many mill inventories are dropping rapidly. Another crucial scrap shortage is expected despite the improvement in the situation during tha latter pnrt of 1942. Frrmers of the nation must dig much deeper to assure capacity steel mill operation.

Fnisity of the rumor that there will bo plenty of scrap metul is apparent when aome of the following reasons for shortage sro considered:

The dormant scrap program in industry may not yield as much tonnage as was hoped for because naw machines are not generally available to replace old ones whlcb normally would be acrapped.

Auto graveyards are recalving, and thorefore producing, far less jalopies than during now ear manufacturing periods.

STATE HAS HIGH SALVAGE RECORD

FIRST IN COLLECTION OF TIN CANS, FATS

Third Place in Salvage of Scrap Iron and Steel for Last Six Months of 1942

Michigan leads the rest of the nation in tin cnn salvage und has the best quota performance of any state in household fats collections, according to a report submitted by Kenneth M. Burns, chairman of the state salvage committee, to Capt. Donnld S. Leonard, director of civilian defense. Since the report was compiled, however, fats collections have shown n sharp decline nnd a new appeal has been issued for this vital war material.

Michigan salvage committees collected 1,751 tons of tin cans in March, with Wayne county contributing 1,609 tons. Outstate counties showed increases ranging from 50 to 200 per cent.

Preliminary figures for March show household fats collections of more than 412,000 pounds, compared with 408,889 pounds in February and 290,165 pounds in January. The February total was 50.6 per cent of the state quota of 806,500 pounds a month. This percentage was the best in the nation.

Michigan was fourth among the states in the total of discarded silk and nylon stockings contributed between November 16 and March 15. Collections for that period in the stale wore 53,277 pounds. Pennsylvania was first, New York second und California third.

Michigan also won high rank in the collection of scrap iron and steel. During the last six months of 1942, Michigan collected 1,044,849 tons of scrap, 94.0 per cent of its quota of 1,101,000 tons, the third best record among the states having quotas of more than 1,000,000 tons for the period.

This week's Courier is being sent to 236 Charlevoix men and women in the nation's armed forces. In order to be sure thoy are going to get the Courier each week, we must have their latest correct address. We are glad to make any changes, no matter how often, so that they will receive the home town news regularly. If you do not know whether we have your son or daughter's present address, please notify us at once. Don't count on the paper being forwarded from camp to camp as the soldier is transferred — it may be — but train and mail service is loaded to capacity already and it would be of real aid to save them the necessity of forwarding the paper. To those in certain foreign areas whose name is on our mailing list but who are not receiving the paper regularly, we can only say that food, arms and first-class letters to soldiers overseas take precedonce over newspapers and while we do our best to get the Courier to them and sincerely hope it will get through, we cannot at any time be sure it will.

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

I guess I will be going to school here now, learning variation and deviation of the compass and navigation instead of radio maintenance. But now I can fix radios so I am glad I took it up while in the signal corps.

Wish you could see the barracks here, they are swell brick buildings like small hotels, even the dining room is swell. Some change from the places I was at. In Columbia we had tarpaper shacks and the latrines were outside.

Am now wearing a sailor's hat and a suit of dark blue fatigues, as I am in what they call the army's navy.

Well so long Ken, and I wish to thank you a million times for the home town paper.

Best of luck to the home town boys in the service. Yours for victory,

Hello! Ken,

Well, I finally made the boats. And I sure like this place very much, especially the food and barracks. It's all swell, just like a dream. No more of the long hikes and bivouacs.

They are getting some new PT boats in as soon as the new boat house is built. The C. O. said I would then be assigned to one of the boats. We have a few cruisers here now for aircraft rescue work. One is the 83-foot rescue boat.

Today we are cleaning up the boathouse for Saturday's inspection. As far as I know now we have only about 25 men in the outfit.

The PT boats we are getting are not going to have the torpedo tubes on them, as they are to be for aircraft rescue work only.

If you know of any of the boys from home that are near here, I wish you'd let them know where I am. Would enjoy seeing them.

WAAC RECRUITS GET TECHNICAL TRAINING

Women Assume Specialized Duties Release Men to Fight

Unskilled women are needed by the Woman's Army Auxiliary Corps, as well as women with training in any field. The army takes it upon itself to train women in many vital, technical fields.

WAACs are being fitted for valuable work in photography for the army air forces, and as photographic laboratory technicians at the army's famous school at Lowry Field, Colo. Musicians of the four WAAC bands can attend the army music school at Fort Meyers, Va. A 13-week course is offered at the Midland radio and television school in Kansas City, Mo., where some recruits learn to be radio repair women and operators. Others attend administrative schools located at training centers and selected colleges, or learn to be truck drivers or cooks and bakers.

Proof of the type of work the WAACs are contributing is found in the continued request of commanders for additional WAACs as soon as they complete training.

Women 21 to 45 with at least two years high school education, and with no dependents, are needed by the women's army. They must be in good health and with approved character.

"Random Harvest"

Ronald Colman and Greer Garson star in one of the strangest romances ever to reach the screen, in "Random Harvest," based on James Hilton's best-selling novel, and coming to the Palace theatre, Sunday and Monday. It is the love story of a man who forgets his past and identity, through war injury that brings amnesia, and a woman whose love and steadfast faith guide and inspire him, and finally unlock the mental door to his past.

"Immortal Sergeant"

In John Brophy's "Immortal Sergeant," which comes Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to the Palace theatre, 20th Century-Fox brings to the screen the first stirring drama to come out of the blazing desert warfare which led to a British victory in Libya.

Starring Henry Fonda and Maureen O'Hara, a strong supporting cast features Thomas Mitchell, Allyn Joslyn and Reginald Gardiner. John Stahl directed, while Lamar Trotti, who produced the picture, also wrote the screen play.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

Secretary of Navy Frank Knox had to pull in his horns in his argument with the Truman Committee over submarine losses. The Truman Committee had the facts and it is the unpleasant truth to learn that the German submarines have so far been sinking allied ships faster than our remarkable shipbuilding program has been able to replace them. However, we can take encouragement from the fact that our combined allied shipbuilding construction has still been able to keep somewhat ahead of the submarines and the Allied Nations as of today have several million tons more shipping than we had prior to the outbreak of war in 1939. Furthermore, we may expect to make a considerable improvement in the coming year; which improvement is imperative if we are to win this war. In fact, we may well say that the day on which victory will be ours will be very definitely determined by the day on which our battle with the submarine has been definitely won.

We may take encouragement from the fact that the hitherto terribly bungled up destroyer escort building program is now being untangled and these vitally needed anti-submarine weapons are now beginning to get into service. We may take encouragement from the fact that the Maritime Commission has at last been able to change its shipbuilding program from the hitherto unsatisfactory Liberty Ship to a new designed Victory Ship. The Liberty Ship design was handed to us on a silver platter by our friends, the British. Inability to secure proper propulsion equipment kept the speed of this ship down to a bare 10 knots. In order to make it seaworthy, roughly 450 tons of lead was loaded in the bottom of the ship to keep it right side up. The big trouble with these Liberty Ships of course is the fact that the submarine can match them in speed when they are submerging. Therefore, they can pick them off at will. And they will be worse than useless in the competitive post-war shipping world, entirely too slow and inefficient.

Some of us on the Merchant Marine Committee have long been arguing for faster type ships as well as for many more auxiliary aircraft carriers and now the Maritime Commission is finally in a position to bring this about. The new Victory Ships which will soon be under construction will be 20' longer and 5' wider than the Liberty's and with new propulsion equipment will be stepped up considerably in speed. The faster of these two new designs will be turbine driven and a second design—but slightly slower in speed — will be propelled by a new Lentz type poppet valve reciprocating engine. This new engine is indeed very interesting and recently I attended the trial run of the first of 10 new Maritime Commission constructed ore boats on the Great Lakes which was powered by the first model of this new type engine. In her trial run she exceeded all expectations and exceeded her designed performance which will make her about 30 per cent more efficient than the standard reciprocating engine.

These new faster Victory Ships will be able to out-run the submarine when the latter is submerged which means that in order to press home an attack, the submarine will have to surface thereby making it an open target for the Victory Ships' gun crews and for depth bombs and gun fire from escort vessels and aircraft. Then, too, these new type ships with their greater speed can be readily converted to auxiliary aircraft carriers and when future speedier convoys have several such carriers with them they can provide their own effective air protection against the devastating submarine.

Last year our Maritime Commission made a marvelous record of producing 8,000,000 tons of shipping. Last month the Maritime Commission put into service 157 new Liberty Ships. By June of this year the remarkable tonnage of last year will have been exceeded, and by the end of this calendar year the Maritime Commission will have delivered the amazing total of 19 million tons of ships. That is a real record.

A survey of 50 typical New Jersey farms gave an average of more than one ton of scrap per farm. If this average were maintained throughout the country, the nation's farms are capable of yielding at least six million tons of scrap.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Had any news from George and his family since they moved away, Judge?"

"Yes, I had a letter from him day before yesterday. He's in Kentucky... the family's fine and they all like it there. George says he has a fine job in a beverage distillery. He brought out an interesting point in his letter I hadn't thought of before. He said that while the beverage distillers are working 24 hours a day, 7 days a week turning out war alcohol for the government for ammunition, tires, medical supplies and chemicals, they still are able to account for nearly a billion and a half dollars in taxes each year. That's on account of the fact the beverage distillers, though working 100% for the government, are still able to supply the public with beverages from the reserve stocks made during peacetime.

LANSING LETTER

Michigan will be in an enviable financial position by the end of 1944 to meet its post-war problems — soldiers sailors' bonus, state institutional building, welfare aid and other responsibilities — probably without recourse to a bond issue or new taxes.

Such is the belief of D. Hale Brake, Michigan's new state treasurer.

And since Brake thinks conservatively as a matter of long legal training, his conviction is encouraging news for taxpayers.

We interviewed the state treasurer a few days ago. He gave us the following picture:

"The voters of Michigan, back in 1921, approved a soldiers' bonus bond issue of $30,000,000, and a state highway bond issue of $50,000,000," said Mr. Brake.

"A sinking fund was created by the legislature to provide funds for retirement of bonds as they came due and to meet the interest annually. The bonus bonds imposed a load in the state's general fund of one to five million dollars annually. For the 1921-22 year the sinking fund was allocated $2,456,000. Varying amounts were deposited each year until the last payment of $1,750,000 was made last fall. All bonus bonds have been retired.

"The state highway bond issue. Also authorized in 1921, has been liquidated through payments from gasoline taxes. This has averaged about $4,000,000 a year. The last of these bonds will be paid off by November, 1944, leaving the State of Michigan entirely free of bonded indebtedness.

"But that isn't all."

As Treasurer Brake delved into the bookkeeping entanglements whereby millions of dollars have been set aside annually to retire the last post-war indebtedness of $80,000,000, two of his sons — Donald J., age six, and John R., age eleven ran into the office and started to interrupt their father.

Mr. Brake, schooled in discipline as president pro tem of the State Senate and a prosecuting attorney of Montcalm county, told the lads to wait. They slid upon a davenport and promptly started to wrestle.

Brake continued: "Not only will the State of Michigan be out of bonded indebtedness for the first time in more than two decades, but it will have a post-war fund of $50,000,000 ready to meet the state's post-war problems.

"We have already allocated $20,000,000 to the special post-war fund which the state legislature established this spring, following the recommendation of Governor Kelly. When the state administrative board meets soon, another allocation of money from the state's surplus will undoubtedly be authorized. The fund will be increased to $50,000,000."

Stating that this post-war fund was perhaps one of the most important accomplishments of 1943, Treasurer Brake paused to pay tribute to the legislature in which he served four terms.

"The state legislature is entitled to credit which they may not have received. Take 132 men from all parts of Michigan, gather them together for 90 days, have them subjected to pressure groups, and — at the same time — have a fat state surplus in the treasury available for appropriations — and you'll see what I mean. The legislature did mighty well."

Michigan's new state treasurer brings to office a mind which has been trained to handle detailed work with great persistency and with acknowledged competency. For six years he was chairman of the senate judiciary committee. He worked hard, tirelessly, conscientiously.

He won oratorical medals at Fremont high school from which he was graduated in 1911. He was a member of the Albion college debating team for three successive years and was editor of the college paper during his senior year. After graduation, he became principal of a township high school at Greenland in Ontonagon county. Three years later he took his bride with him to the University of Michigan where he studied law. Brake is proud of the fact that his entire education, from the tenth grade on through law school, was financed entirely by his own savings.

Because of his success as judiciary committee chairman, Brake was singled out by many observers as potential timber for attorney general. In 1940 the Republican nomination went to Herbert J. Rushton, successful attorney at Escanaba, largely because of geographical considerations. (Rushton did not seek the nomination.) Last summer Brake was an unsuccessful candidate for lieutenant governor. In the Republican state convention he was nominated for state treasurer.

Brake is no extrovert in personality. He is not a natural mixer. He has a shy reserve that is often mistaken for coldness. But he warms up with a genuine smile. His friends are staunch in praise of his Dickinson-like traits of abstainance from alcohol and tobacco and his pride of owning a 486-acre cattle farm near Stanton, his home town. He was born on a Newago County farm.

And now for his accomplishments since Jan. 1:

"We have adopted a policy of not selling bonds below par except at public sale, thoroughly advertised in advance and with a right to reject any bids. Before purchasing any bonds other than federal, we require legal opinion.

"When I came into office, I found $4,600,000 of state bonds in the vaults. The state was paying interest to itself. These bonds have been cancelled. The savings in insurance premiums was $3,800 alone.

"We discontinued a custom whereby a few legislators and employees got cash loans from the treasury — I.O.U.'s, you might call them.

"When the auditor general and state superintendent of public instruction make their monthly audit, they do so without giving us advance notice. And for the first time in the entire country, we have one multiple insurance policy in which 21 companies are co-insurers and re-insurers. Premiums are payable annually at fixed amounts."

Treasurer Brake is as proud of his office staff as he is of his family or his farm. Frank Kropschot, deputy, was a "career man" in the banking department. Mildred Bappert, secretary, was formerly with Auditor General Vernon J. Brown — recommendation enough for her ability. Mary Stimson, chief securities clerk, is an office institution.

As he concluded the interview, the youngest of Brake's two sons in the office approached his father's desk.

Donald, age six, had listened to the talk about millions with obvious boredom.

"Dad," he asked, "may I have six cents?"

Brake smiled indulgently. "I guess you would call that reckless living. There is a candy counter downstairs, you know."

Val, the eldest son, is on duty with the army military police near Baltimore. Mr. Brake's wife, the former Marjorie Valentine of Albion, maintains the family home at Stanton to which Brake returns for week ends.

The state treasurer of Michigan is about as typical an American as you will find anywhere. You can't get worried about democracy going to ruin as long as there are Hale Brakes available to help apply the brakes.

A & P PURCHASE OF STATE PRODUCE HIGH

Cash Returns to Michigan Growers and Shippers Set Record

Cash returns to Michigan's growers and shippers in 1942 increased 63.4 per cent to an all-time high of $5,237,258 from fresh fruits and vegetables sold through the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's produce-buying affiliate, the Atlantic Commission Company. In 1941 purchases totaled $3,200,435.

The state supplied fresh fruits and vegetables equivalent to 6,878 carlots last year, as compared to 5,745 carlots the previous year. Potatoes and onions brought the largest returns to the state's growers and shippers of fresh fruits and vegetables. The company in 1942 purchased 2,690 carlots of potatoes for $1,405,525 and 2,429 carlots of onions for $1,858,185. Other purchases included celery, apples, peaches and grapes.

AS Michigan's war industry hits full stride, more and more long distance calls have to be made—war calls vital to victory.

The burden of calls on many long distance lines has reached a critical stage. Central office equipment, fully manned with operators, is being used to capacity. At times, each interoffice call, regardless of its destination, affects the speed with which all other calls can be handled. Many calls are delayed—some for hours. And materials to expand the system cannot be had.

Yet, war calls must go through promptly! So it is necessary that we all curtail both our personal and our business use of long distance. Therefore, please—

1. Make fewer long distance calls — and keep them short.
2. Give the operator the number of the telephone you are calling, if possible.
3. If your call can't go through at once, stay near the telephone ready to talk when the operator notifies you.

Now that Charlevoix has doubled her quota in the Third Liberty Loan drive, and that the Red Cross emergency fund of $2,425.-44 has been taken care of, the city must again make every effort possible to go over the top in the War Savings Stamps drive beginning this week, for a quota of $459,080. FARMERS ASKED FOR MORE SCRAP

Since manufacture of farm equipment is curtailed, farmers are hesitant to scrap machinery which they might eventually use.

Special projects such as buildings, bridges, rails, are not being constructed. Almost obsolete structures which might normally be scrapped are being repaired and preserved for the duration.

War-time manufacture of ships, guns and tanks, unlike peace-time manufacture of automobiles and refrigerators, becomes somebody else's scrap overseas instead of being returned as scrap to our own mills.

Add to this the fact that steel mills need approximately a million tons of scrap per week in order to operate at capacity, and it will be seen that the three million tons asked of the nation's farmers is little in relation to the need.

The task of collecting scrap is far from finished. Until our fighting forces are victorious it will be necessary to continue to support them with mountains of scrap.

by Joe Marsh

Almost everybody's figuring what things'll be like after the war. I talked about that today with Jeb Crowell. Jeb—he's a veteran of the last War—says:

"One thing's sure, Joe. The boys this time won't return and find what we came back to."

Then he went on to mention Prohibition . . . and I ought to say right here that Jeb's a man of moderation . . . a glass of beer or two is all he'll ever take. It was the principle of the thing that bothered him.

"Passing a law behind our backs," he says, "was violatin' just what we were fightin' for. The very principles we fought for in 1776. Law-makin' without representation is one of the most undemocratic things we can do."

I guess we're all agreed on that. Most folks admit we made a mistake once . . . but the boys who are fighting this war can be pretty sure we won't pull anything like that again!

MURRAY STUDENTS TO HAVE SUMMER CLUBS

Garden and Canning Groups Aid To Win the War With Food

Summer 4-H clubs were organized by students of Murray school last Wednesday evening, meeting with their parents and teacher, Glenn Snider, at the school house.

Sixteen members were enrolled in garden and canning clubs, and a livestock club is being considered. Lucile May is leader of the canning club, while the garden club is led by Mrs. William Hair and Mrs. Murray, assisted by Mrs. William Price and Mrs. Jake Spelgl.

The boys and girls, as well as their parents, realize that food is necessary to win the war and are eager to do their part. The clubs also have a social side, as last summer they met at the school house every two weeks for a social and business meeting. With gas rationing local get-togethers are even more important this year.

Movies of war highlights from Pearl Harbor to the present were shown by Ralph Hamilton, who also spoke about the scrap drive and work of the Charlevoix Service Organization. Karl Festerling, 4-H club leader, gave a talk on 4-H clubs and showed colored slides of snow scenes in this county last winter. A potluck lunch was served.

Other rural communities are being urged to organize summer 4-H clubs both for fun and to help win the war with food.

Who Has The Money For 2nd War Loan?

"Where is all the money coming from to meet the 13 billion dollars of the Second War Loan goal?" is a question heard on many sides. It will come out of the 45-billion dollar surplus earnings of 1943, according to statistics reported by Treasury experts.

During 1941 personal savings of individuals amounted to 9 billion dollars. During 1943 this surplus or prospective savings will increase by 36 billion dollars over 1941 when consumer goods were easy to get.

Now that prices are high, thrifty people will make their goods last longer and place more money in War Bonds.

RESORT OWNERS MEET FRIDAY AT TRAVERSE

Important Information to Business Men of Region

Resort owners and all business men who have a stake in the resort and tourist business will get valuable information at a regional meeting of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, which will be held in Traverse City on Friday, May 4, starting at two o'clock p.m.

This meeting, which will be afternoon and evening sessions at the Park Place Hotel, will introduce to northern Michigan William Palmer, newly elected secretary-manager of the association, who has succeeded the late Hugh J. Gray. Mr. Palmer will speak at the dinner meeting.

On the evening program with Palmer will be one of the nation's outstanding advertising men, D. B. Caeser, for many years in charge of the tourist and resort travel promotion of the Southern Pacific railroad. Caeser will tell how resort communities are developed and what they must do to attract paying guests.

In the afternoon Al Erhardt, another well known advertising figure, will speak and on the same program will be representatives of the Office of Defense Transportation and Office of Price Administration who will tell resort owners what they may expect in the way of vacation travel and food allowances for summer guests.

PUT NEW STYLE PICNIC IN FIFTY STATE PARKS

New style picnic tables and bright-topped old ones will be a conspicuous feature in all 50 state parks open this spring, the conservation department's parks division reveals in a report of its winter work program. Seven hundred and twenty tables built during the winter are of squared cedar timber and pine plank construction — neater, stronger, more easily built and repaired than the old-style log type.

STATE'S CROPS OFF TO A LATER START

Backward Spring Weather Retards Work of Farmers

Crop production in Michigan got off to an unfortunate start in 1943 in contrast to exceptionally favorable weather in April a year ago. In 1942 East Lansing temperatures in April were like those of central Ohio, in 1943 more like normal temperatures at East Jordan.

Planting of substantial acreages of oats and barley has been seriously delayed. In 1942 high yields of those crops were in part the result of planting on time.

If Michigan farmers should still succeed in planting as many acres of oats and barley as in 1942, says H. C. Rather, head of the Michigan State College farm crops department, and if only normal yields should prevail, Michigan likely would have 22,000,000 less bushels of oats and 2,000,000 less bushels of barley than in 1942, a serious reduction in livestock feed supplies.

Rather suggests farmers might profit from planting on time those crops normally planted in May and June, if short of help, rather than delay such crops in attempting to complete a late sowing of oats and barley for which the most desirable planting season has passed.

On farms where labor is adequate he suggests using increased acreages of corn and soybeans in southern Michigan to offset prospects of reduced supplies of oats and barley.

There still is time, according to Professor Rather, to put in increased acreages of major cash crops such as sugar beets, potatoes and field beans, all needed in wartime by civilians and armed forces.

Printing of the country's new all-purpose ration books will take 87,000 pounds of ink, 7,500 pounds of paste, half a million pounds of boxing.

REPORT TRAPPERS HAVE GOOD SEASON

Conservation Officers Sealed 6,464 Beaver Pelts

Neither the wartime shortage of trappers nor gas rationing, bad roads or unusually severe ice and snow conditions prevented Michigan beaver trappers from taking a good harvest, a tally of the take in 14 conservation department districts of northern Michigan reveals.

Conservation officers have completed sealing 6,464 beaver pelts — 4,201 more than were taken last year when only the lower peninsula was open, and only a little less than the 7,008 and 7,285 trapped in the normal years 1941 and 1940. Better than two-thirds of the 1943 total — 4,537 — was trapped in the upper peninsula.

REVISE MEAT POINT VALUES

OPA SCHEDULE CHANGE WAS EFFECTIVE SUNDAY

Prime Cuts Raised One Point Per Pound; Meat Extracts Are Removed From List

Housewives must now pay an additional point for 16 prime cuts of beef, veal and pork and a point less for 25 variety meats, canned fish and other special products as point values were revised last week by the office of price administration.

Effective Sunday, May 2, the upward devision in point values of steaks and roasts resulted from a heavy consumer demand for lean meats and those which can be sliced into smaller portions, and did not reflect any worsening of the meat shortage.

Five cuts of steak — round, top round, bottom round, round tip and flank — were advanced from 8 to 9 points a pound. Round top roast was advanced from 7 to 8 points a pound.

In veal, leg roasts were raised from 6 to 7 points; round steak cutlets from 8 to 9 points, and sirloin steak or chops from 7 to 8.

Pork point values were raised a point each in center cut chops and loin roast. Ham, shank end, was lowered a point. Ham slices, both bone in and boneless, are 9 points.

The value of sausage is now determined by point value of the meats that go into it.

Salad and cooking oils were reduced from 6 to 5 points. Cheese and butter were not changed. Removed from the ration list were bouillon cubes, beef extract and all other meat extracts and concentrates formerly listed at 7 points a pound.

INTERLOCHEN MUSIC CAMP OPEN JUNE 27

More Than 300 Students Expected To Be Enrolled

The National Music Camp at Interlochen, Michigan, famed northwoods music education mecca for hundreds of youthful American musicians will open for its 16th annual season, June 27, Dr. Joseph E. Maddy, president, announced today.

Stressing importance of music in wartime, the 1943 camp program will focus upon American musical achievements and American musicians, according to Dr. Maddy, pioneer in fostering national music development.

More than 300 music students will be enrolled at the camp, which is affiliated with the University of Michigan. The camp will operate for an 8-week period, closing August 22, Dr. Maddy stated.

In Martin County, Minn., 4-H club boys canvassed all farms and brought in 400,000 pounds of scrap iron and rubber, sold the collection for $1,300, and invested the proceeds in war bonds.

ARMY LETTERS

tween the lines, but still I would rather not say. Don't send me the paper until you hear from me again, which will be in about two weeks.

I see by the paper where Ben Gill is safe, and am glad for that.

I had a big surprise here about two weeks ago. I was at the show and was coming out when Jimmy O'Brien stepped in front of me. I can't express the feeling one gets to see someone from home, but it's a good one, especially when he has just come from home. He was inducted the same time as my kid brother, Claude.

Before I forget it, Claude wishes to have the paper sent to him if it can be arranged. He was stationed at Camp McCoy, Wis., but is now in Illinois. His address is as follows:

Pvt. Claude Mitchell
1624 S.U.T. 5529
Medical Section
Camp Ellis, Ill.

I found a clipping the other day taken from a comic book. Under "Super Men of America," it mentioned the brave deeds of Orin Sutton. He is really a soldier, someone whom our home town can really be proud of. I am glad I know that everyone else is.

Taps just sounded so will close for this time, but believe me I'll write as soon as I get my change of address, because the paper is what I look forward to every Monday noon.

Give my regards to all who are left in Charlevoix.

Dear Ken,

I wish to thank you for sending the Courier to me. I am always around for mail call, waiting for it. I always read from top to bottom of each page.

I have completed all my basic training and can find more time to write now.

I am always interested in the fellows in California. I was wondering if anyone was in Camp Haan, where I am located for the present time.

Just another

Dear Ken,

Just a few lines to let you know I received the Courier and I really enjoy it.

It is good to read about the boys I used to run around with. They are all over the world. I was glad to read about Ed Thorp being in England and safe.

I am going to a photography school here at Lowry Field. It is a real interesting course to study. The army knows how to teach you, they don't leave out a thing. We start from the ground up and learn the whole works. Maybe some day I can come back to Charlevoix and run Bob Miles out of business. Kan, if you know of any of the boys from home who are stationed here or near, will you send me their address? It would feel good to see some from the old town.

I read where you didn't have very good luck fishing. Maybe you just go to the wrong creeks or don't live right. Why don't you let your son try?

You'll have to excuse this typing, for I am a poor hand at it, so you fix up the mistakes and maybe the next letter I will be a little better at it. I have to get back to camp now, so keep the old town alive till we win this war and when we all come back to have tha fun we used to have when I had my truck, as you will never forget.

Yours truly,

FIRE CHIEF URGES SAFETY PRECAUTION

Suggests Practices Aimed At Preventing Fires

Fire Chief Charles Marshall today urged a spring offensive against home fires on the ground that they impede the war effort just as much as fires in war plants. He outlined three fundamentals of fire safety—good housekeeping, regular inspection and repair, and speed in reporting and attacking a fire.

"Every dwelling fire destroys materials that are becoming more difficult to replace," the Chief said. "Like a saboteur, it subtracts just that much from the help we can give our boys at the front. And we must remember that war-time conditions make bigger loopholes for fire to break through. Men are working longer hours, and have less time for attending to all the odd jobs and chores that used to keep the home safe from fire. This means that women, and even children, must take on a bigger share of fire prevention activities."

The Chief then outlined three fundamental rules for fire safety:

1. Good housekeeping: Dispose of or salvage all combustible "junk" in attics, cellars and closets. Do not keep gasoline in the house, or use it or other volatile flammable liquids for dry cleaning. Burn or dispose of oil and paint-soaked rags, and keep oil lamps in tightly closed metal containers.

2. Repair: Have heating plants and stoves cleaned and repaired. Have the chimney and flues cleaned regularly. Inspect all electrical appliances and wiring, and replace frayed cords.

3. Fire-fighting: Teach every member of the family how to turn in a fire alarm. Keep fire fighting equipment in good condition, and make sure that it is kept where it is readily available.

AAA PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Melvin Somerville, Charlevoix county RACC Loan Supervisor announces that he will be available for interviews in connection with RACC loans in the AAA office, Boyne City, every Monday from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and on Wednesday mornings from 8:30 a.m. to 12:00 a.m. By writing, farmers may arrange for special appointments any day or evening during the week.

The Department of Agriculture is urging farmers to market their 1942 bean crops immediately. Large supplies apparently are being held on farms and by country shippers so that they can be sold with the 1943 crop to take advantage of the higher support price announced April 8 for beans produced in 1943. No change will be made in the existing ceiling prices or in support prices for the 1942 crop so there is no advantage to holding them in expectation of higher market prices. This is no time to keep needed food tied up in storage bins and elevators. All farmers who still have on hand 1942 bean crops should get them into the regular food markets where they will do the most good. Dry edible beans are urgently needed to meet increasing civilian, military and lend-lease demands. Farmers in Charlevoix county have promised to raise 978 acres of dry beans in 1943. This is 246 acres more than produced in 1942 and if possible this acreage should be increased even more.

If the nation's 27 million motorists cut their 1943 driving to the figure recommended — 5,000 miles — they will save more than 17 million tires, according to estimates.

The New York Association for the Blind started its scrap drive by placing two large barrels in its lobby, to which blind contributors were directed by an announcement in Braille.

According to Government estimates, the seasonal kill of waterfowl would provide enough down and feathers for 300,000 aviators' pants and parkas, more than 10,000 sleeping bags or 500,000 sub-zero jackets, if hunters plucked and turned in the down and small body feathers of all birds they kill.

Peaceful Meal in African War Zone

Axis nuisance raids in North Africa are so frequent that the pilots and ground crewmen of this advanced U. S. bomber base in Algeria find it much more comfortable to have their meals in slit trenches, where they can go right on eating while the Jerries or Eyties are having their fun. This base is near the Tunisian border.

Strong Pressure From U. S. 2nd Army Forces Axis to Last Tunisia Cover; House Approves 'Pay as You Go' Tax; 43 Nations to Discuss Food Problems

Testifying before the Truman defense investigating committee, Undersecretary of War Robert Patterson, right, revealed that a truce had been arranged in his feud with Rubber Administrator William Jeffers. Long at odds over a battle for priorities for equipment for aviation gasoline and synthetic rubber plants, Patterson and Jeffers were brought together by Ferdinand Eberstadt, former WPB official, in a Washington hotel room. They agreed to make a personal inspection of the gasoline and rubber plants, working out arrangements for breaking bottlenecks in either program.

PAY AS YOU GO:
75% Forgiven

As the shadows lengthened on Capitol Hill, 313 congressmen ended a hectic day of debate by passing the Robertson-Forand pay-as-you-go measure, forgiving 75 per cent of the 1942 income taxes and putting all taxpayers on a current basis.

After rejecting the Ruml plan as embodied in the Carlson bill, which would have forgiven all taxes, and voting to recommit the house ways and means committee measure, which would have applied 1941 rates to 1942 incomes, the congressmen acted on the Robertson-Forand proposal.

Under the Robertson-Forand bill, which went to the senate following house action, all taxpayers would be exempted from paying the 6 per cent normal and first surtax of 13 per cent on their 1942 incomes. Those with taxable income over the 13 per cent surtax, however, would have to pay balance of the 1942 tax. In that case, their first two payments this year would be applied against their remaining liability, and if they still had a balance outstanding, they could clean it up in two later payments.

As to 1943 taxes, the Robertson-Forand bill provides for a 20 per cent withholding tax against wages and salaries after exemptions have been estimated. Of this amount, 3 per cent would be taken out for the Victory tax, the tax being reduced from 5 per cent.

TUNISIA:
Yanks Are Coming

Yielding to strong pressure from the Second American army of Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton, Axis troops fell back to their last stronghold in northern Tunisia, there to await the final assault of the Allied forces. Even as they were being regrouped for the decisive battle, American units pressed forward against their fortified positions in the mountains.

The Axis took up their new positions along the last perimeter of defenses ringing the great naval base of Bizerte, after Yankee infantry had cleaned them out of the strategic hill country to the west.

Advancing under the cover of heavy artillery, American troops braved seathing machine gun and mortar fire to crawl up the scraggly slopes and ferret the enemy from their entrenchments. Then they swept into Mateur, strategic rail and road junction 18 miles south of Bizerte.

In the central sector, the Axis maintained their massed armored columns to stand off the British First army along the level approaches to the gateway of Tunis.

Meeting Place

Having finally agreed to get together, Generals Charles De Gaulle and Henri Giraud, the anti-Axis French leaders, were at odds as to where to meet. Fearing public demonstrations of De Gaullist sympathy in North African cities where the Fighting French chieftain is strongest, Giraud had been angling to hold the meeting in some secluded location.

SUPREME COURT:
No Tax on Evangelism

Reversing its stand of one year ago, the United States Supreme court ruled as invalid all forms of licensing the spreading of the written and spoken word.

Particularly, the court attacked the collection of license fees by four cities from Jehovah's Witnesses for distribution of its religious tracts. Such fees, it said, were a violation of the first constitutional amendment guaranteeing speech freedom.

RUSSIA:
Nazis Repulsed

Nazi attacks against Russian lines around Novorossisk were repulsed with losses, the Reds claimed, and all of the enemy's efforts to enlarge its bridgehead in the vicinity were checked.

While ground fighting flared, Russian airmen were active over the Caucasian front, shooting down 54 Nazi planes in swirling dogfights west of Krasnodar.

Minor artillery duels were reported all along the rest of the huge battle-line. The Nazis announced Allied planes again raided East Prussia, one being shot down.

NAVAL BATTLE:
Convoy Scattered

Happening upon a Jap convoy northwest of the Aleutian islands, a daring American naval task force closed in for an attack even as strong Japanese units bore down off its flank.

After breaking up the convoy which included three transports headed for Attu and Kiska, the American force, led by Rear Adm. C. H. McMorris, then wheeled toward home, and with three destroyers running interference, maneuvered clear of the enemy fleet.

Rsaing in close to hold off the Jap fleet with torpedo fire, the destroyers threw up smoke screens to cover their withdrawal after the attacks. Checked by the fire, the enemy stood by while the Americans slipped through.

Despite the intense barrage of the heavy Jap cruisers and destroyers which fell within the proximity of the American ships, the U. S. units emerged with no material losses.

FOOD CONFERENCE:
43 Nations to Meet

Representatives from 43 nations will meet at Hot Springs, Va., next week for the Allied food conference.

The conference will revolve around American proposals for achieving more efficient production and wider distribution of the world's food.

Plans also will be discussed for restoration of agricultural production in Europe after occupation by Allied forces.

The conference will be wholly exploratory, it was said, with the different representatives laying the conference recommendations before their respective governments for individual adoption.

SUBS:
Japs Efficient

According to Allied spokesmen, Japanese submarine activity in the South Pacific has equaled that of the Germans in the Atlantic.

In both cases, Allied naval leaders said enemy U-boats have sunk about 2 per cent of total shipping.

Using 2 per cent as a basis, the Allies have lost 210,000 tons during the five months of the Tunisian campaign. No actual figures were given for the Pacific theater.

The Japs put out a claim recently that they had sunk a 12,000-ton tanker, a 12,000-ton troopship and an 8,000-ton freighter.

INVASION:
Nazis to Hit England?

According to reports received in Madrid from authoritative diplomatic and military sources, Adolf Hitler may try to invade England and end the war after stabilizing the Russian front.

Allied circles accepted the reports with a goodly grain of salt, however. There was a feeling that the rumors may have been planted to confuse Allied preparations for a second front in Europe.

COAL TRUCE:
Time to Dicker

Following the establishment of a 15-day truce in the bitter coal strike, Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes ordered the nation's 3,650 mines to shift to a six-day week or suffer cancellation of price increases recently granted them to cover the expense of such operations.

Under the miners' present contract, they are paid time-and-half for all work over 35 hours on the sixth day. The additional pay they receive under Ickes' order was said not to need the approval of the War Labor board.

Reached by the government with the United Mine Workers' chieftain, John L. Lewis, the truce assures continued coal production and opportunity for additional negotiation with the operators.

From the first, Lewis gave no indication of backing down on his demands for a $2 a day wage increase; for time spent in the mines traveling to and from the coal faces, and unionization of minor bosses.

At the same time, Lewis continued to hammer at the War Labor board's formula for limiting wage increases to 15 per cent over 1941 levels.

MYSTERY:
House on R Street

Everybody in Washington is talking about the house on R street. A big, red, Georgian mansion, almost as spacious as a hotel, it is the residence of one John Monroe, also known as Monroe Kaplan, business man and manufacturers' representative.

"Sometimes the food's terrible," Monroe said in talking about the now famous parties held in the house, "but my guests don't come for food, but for interesting conversation."

Topping the list of Monroe's guests were Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox; Maj. Gen. Levin H. Campbell, chief of army ordnance; Senator Warren R. Austin of Vermont; and Representative James H. Morrison of Louisiana. Senator Styles Bridges of New Hampshire was honored at the house with a party celebrating his recovery from an illness.

Rubber Administrator William Jeffers said he had received many invitations to break bread at the hospitable house, but refused them all. Jeffers said that Monroe was trying to promote an important man in the United States senate for President.

CHINA:
Fight for Rail Line

Continuing in their reported campaign to obtain full grasp of the railroad system of China to build up a communication line from the Asiatic mainland to Japan, select Nipponese troops continued hammering at strategic Chinese positions.

While the Japs claimed to have encircled 20,000 Chinese troops along the Peiping-Hankow railroad, the Chinese asserted that their troops repulsed persistent Jap attacks.

Japanese efforts to drop picked troops behind Chinese lines by parachute failed, the Chinese said, when their forces wiped out these units in hard fighting. All along the Taiheng mountains where the battle raged, the Chinese held their ground in hand-to-hand warfare.

In Washington, D. C., the army announced that Gen. Edgar E. Glenn of the 14th air force in China was wounded by bomb fragmentation when Japanese bombers struck at an American base.

TRAGEDY:
In Iceland

Tragedy on the bleak island of Iceland claimed the life of the eighth American general to be killed or missing in this war when Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, commander of all American forces in the European theater, crashed to his death. With the general and sharing his fate was Methodist Bishop Adna Wright Leonard, on an inspection tour of religious facilities in U. S. military bases on behalf of 31 American Protestant denominations.

A former cavalry officer who transferred to the air force during the last World war, General Andrews was foremost among the early advocates for a strong American air arm. He was partly credited with the development of the famous Flying Fortress.

MISCELLANY:

STORMY: Stormy weather accounted for some of the Allied losses in the recent big Japanese bombing raid on Port Darwin, Australia. Strong winds developed during the dog fights and forced some of the fliers into the ocean.

VISITOR: Coming as a visitor, with no hand out, Eduard Benes, chief of the exiled Czechoslovak government, will visit the U. S. in May, confer with President Roosevelt and make three speeches in Chicago.

PROFITS: Profits of British shipbuilders constructing warships reached 30 per cent in one instance, with the average aggregating between 20 and 30 per cent.

ESCAPE: The entire crew of 42 of a medium-sized U. S. merchant vessel recently survived torpedoing in the North Atlantic. They took to lifeboats in a calm sea.

MORE ROOM: Three types of caskets have been lengthened three inches on order of WPB which took the action after a storm of criticism greeted an earlier directive to limit coffins to six feet.

U. S. Flying Squadron in India

Twenty-two young American pilots from nearly as many states of the Union are billeted in "Hump Happy Tavern," somewhere in the wild borderlands of eastern India. Members of the India-China Ferry Command, their job is to fly supplies in and out of China. Kipling could have written another "Barrack Room Ballad" about these youthful flyers and their unique tavern, a single-storied hut where the twenty-two spend their earthbound hours. "Hump" refers to a particularly troublesome section of the Himalayas over which the twenty-two fly daily. All day long these Americans are on the move, bound for China across the mountains, with another day's deadly load to beat the Japs. But every evening these twenty-two are back at "Hump Happy."

Right: The bulletin board is checked by Operations Officer Jack McReynolds of Dallas, Texas, and a group of pilot officers before taking off to fly "the hump" into China.

Left: Returning from a flight across "the hump" are, left to right, Lieut. Donald J. Fruda of West Palm Beach, Fla., Lieut. Lawrence D. Putnam of Portland, Ore., and Radio Operator Fishbaugh. Lieut. Putnam has been in India for nearly a year. There are now a few hours of relaxation ahead for these boys.

Leisure hours at "Hump Happy." Some play solitaire, some write home, and some read. Lieut. J. C. Crossett of Springdale, Wash., (playing solitaire) was recently decorated by the Chinese government for dropping rice.

"What's cookin'?" is the question on the lips of these fliers standing in front of thatched roof barracks No. 6, just before chow time.

This bamboo-latticed shop is equipped for repairing any one of the numerous instruments that face a pilot sitting in the cockpit of the big transport ships.

The holder of un A card gets coupons good for about 2,800 miles n year. He may pay an avernge of $30 in excise taxes, 40 cents more or less for a driver's license, somewhero near $10 for registrntion, $40 for insurance, $5 for a federal uso stamp, $5 for battery reeharging, $1 for tire checking, $100 to $200 for depreciation, $3 to $4 for antifreeze, $40 for gasoline, and $5 for oil and grease. If the motorist has no garnge of his own or does not want to keep the car out in all wenthers, he may pay as high us $120 a year for storage in e public garnge. Then there are such items as parking, washing, polishing, and if he is unfortunate, traffic fines.

However the above figures vary, they are likely to work out at nine or more cents per mile. Thnt is worth remembering when deciding whether to walk or give the tires a little more friction. There is no doubt which will help along the war more.

POPPY DAY SET FOR SATURDAY

LEGION AUXILIARY PLANS ANNUAL SALE

Disabled Veterans At Grand Rapids Soldier's Home Made Flowers To Be Sold Here

Poppies in tribute to America's battle deed of two wars will be worn in Charlevoix on Saturday, May 22, Mrs. Harry Walstad, President of Leslie T. Shapton unit of the American Legion Auxiliary, announced today.

The poppies this year will honor the men who have given their lives in the present conflict, as well as those who fell among the poppies of France and Belgium 25 years ago, she said. The money contributed for the flowers will be used for the welfare of victims of both wars and their families.

The Charlevoix unit of the Auxiliary is making extensive preparations for the observance of Poppy Day here, under the leadership of Mrs. Walstad and Mrs. Lillian Ulrich, unit poppy chairman. The little red flowers of remembrance will be available to everyone in the city, offered by volunteer workers from the Auxiliary who will be on the streets throughout the day.

The flowers, made of crepe paper in replica of the wild Flanders poppy, were ordered from the soldier's Home at Grand Rapids, where disabled veterans manufactured them under direction of the Michigan department of the Auxiliary. Poppy making has kept the hands of hundreds of these unfortunate men usefully employed during the winter and spring, helping them pass the long hospital hours and aiding in their rehabilitation.

More Americans than ever before are expected to wear poppies this year as a personal tribute to those who have been killed, and to aid the disabled, their families and the families of the dead.

Historic Fort Mackinac, on Mackinac Island, has again been placed in active use in defense of the country.

LATIN-AMERICANS VISIT REA SYSTEM

Engineers Study Operating Problems for Use In Own Lands

The Top O' Michigan Rural Electric Company, with offices at Bayne City, will entertain three representatives of Latin American republics who are in this country to make a study of REA operating systems for application in their own lands.

In cooperation with the Coordinator of Latin-American affairs and the Department of State, eighteen engineers from fourteen Latin-American republics are visiting selected REA systems throughout the nation to learn first-hand about their operation. Those who selected the Top O' Michigan system for two weeks of observation are Jose Soto of Costa Rica, Vincent Ugalde of Mexico, and Rene Moravia of Haiti.

This is one aspect of the government's "good neighbor" policy to promote better understanding between the America's.

BOTTLE RETURN CAMPAIGN OPENS

BEVERAGE CONTAINERS ARE BADLY NEEDED

Housewives Asked To Collect All Idle Milk Deposit Bottles; Return To Merchants

If Michigan men and women round up all stray bottles and return them to the source from which they were purchased, there will be an adequate supply of milk, carbonated beverages and beer available this summer.

That's the information given by members of Michigan bottler and dairy groups, who with retail grocer and chain store organizations, are joining in a campaign starting Monday, May 24, to gather every available deposit container to put them back into service.

Bottle manufacturers are turning as much as possible to the manufacture of glass containers in which to pack perishable foods for American soldiers and sailors at home and abroad. While there is no lack of materials for the manufacture of bottles, their machines, weared to war effort, must produce an extra bottle whenever a container is not returned.

Another reason why bottles are scarce is the pile-up of them in the kitchens of the state. More than ten million bottles have disappeared since September 1.

During this campaign, bottlers are asking Michigan residents to gather up idle bottles from their bidding places around the house, and return them to stores where they were purchased, obtaining refund of the deposit.

Bottlers, brewers and dairymen will pick up bottles at the store, sterilize them, and put them back to work in the war effort.

V. F. W. POPPY DAY SATURDAY, MAY 29

Veterans of Foreign Wars will sell poppies in Charlevoix on Saturday, May 29, according to announcement from Lewis Brant, post commander.

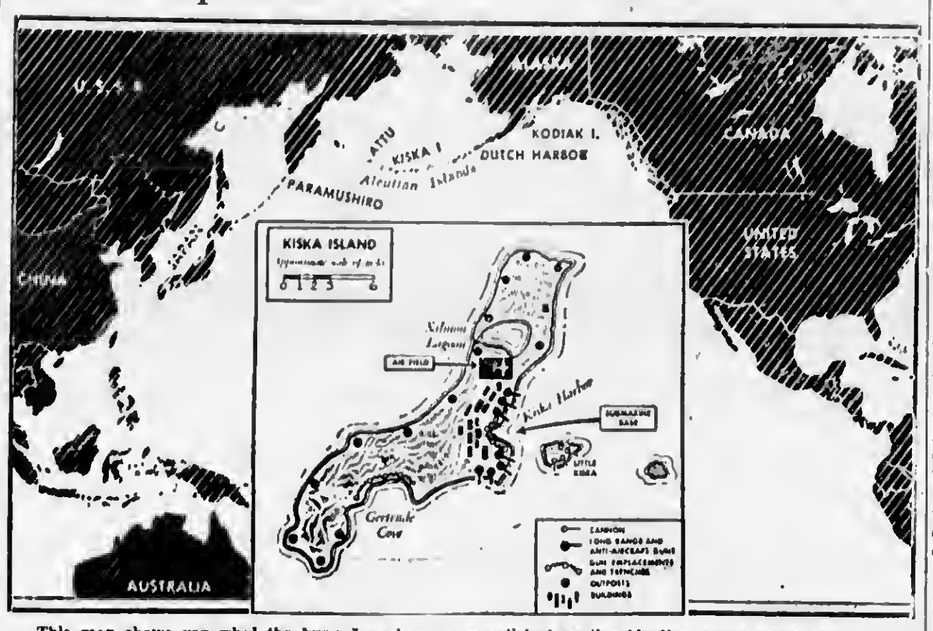
Kiska, Jap Threat to Alaska and United States



This map shows you what the busy Japs have accomplished on the Aleutian island of Kiska since they occupied it last June. Despite repeated bombings by our air forces, the Nips have succeeded in installing formidable military establishments on the island with a view to future operations against Dutch Harbor, our naval base in the Alaskan area, and against Alaska itself. Proximity of the major enemy base at Paramushiro makes it possible for Kiska to be reinforced with comparative ease.

B AND C GAS BOOKS ARE NOW AVAILABLE

Many Supplemental Rations Will Expire May 31

Holders of B and C supplemental gasoline ration books are reminded by the local war price and rationing board to take notice of the date of expiration marked on their books, as a large number of these rations expire May 31.

Supplemental books issued at the beginning of rationing on December 1 and renewed March 1, must again be renewed by June 1. Some books expiring later than May 31 may also be renewed, as holders can apply for renewal 30 days before expiration of their books.

The rationing board advises motorists to make application for renewal before using their last coupon, to give the board time to take action and to assure that the motorist will receive renewed books before running completely out of gasoline. The tire inspection record must be presented with the application.

A recent OPA ruling grants 5 gallons of gasoline for the use of service men home on furlough for more than 3 days, provided that it is needed and there is no alternate means of transportation.

Bulletins have been prepared by the Michigan State College extension department on the growing of vegetable gardens. Those interested may obtain a full set of bulletins from the city hall offices of Clifford McKibbin Jr., Victory Garden chairman for Charlevoix.

LONGER FURLOUGHS FOR NEW DRAFTEES

Drafting of Fathers to Begin In August, Says Director

Post-induction furloughs for draftees will be extended from 7 to 14 days by July 1, and to 21 days by September 1, according to a War Department order issued Friday.

The extension indicated further preparations for drafting fathers in August, by recognizing that they need more time to adjust their affairs than single men. The order followed the recent statement by Maj. Gen. Louis B. Hershey, selective service director, that drafting of fathers would start by mid-August.

REFUSE EXTRA GAS FOR VACATIONISTS

War Requirements Prevent Release Extra Supply

Price Administrator Prentiss M. Brown said Monday that additional mileage for vacation travel cannot be permitted this summer.

Brown said the extra use of rubber, and gasoline in the East, could not be justified by the present supplies.

This does not preclude the use of "A" coupons for vacation trips. Brown pointed out that each car owner gets 90 miles of "A" coupons each month to be used as he pleases, and since all "A" coupons are good for two months the motorist can save up 180 "free" miles for vacationing.

"B" and "C" ration coupons are issued for occupational and essential uses only, thus making it a violation of OPA regulations to use them for vacations or other pleasure driving. Brown has promised a nation-wide drive to "crack down" on the misuse of "B" and "C" cards.

QUOTA OF SURGICAL DRESSINGS ARRIVES

Work Room Open 2 Afternoons, Two Evenings Weekly

Red Cross surgical dressings for the June quota have arrived, Mrs. F. F. McMillan, surgical dressings director for Charlevoix, has announced.

The quota includes 6,300 4 by 4 dressings, and 3,600 4 by 8 dressings, all to be completed by the end of June. The city hall work room will be open Monday and Tuesday evenings from 7 to 9:30, and Wednesday and Thursday afternoons from 2 to 5 o'clock.

During the month of March, workers in Red Cross chapters throughout the country made up 109,538,580 surgical dressings which were immediately shipped to army and navy hospitals. Need for larger amounts of dressings is growing ever more urgent as American armies take the offensive position on the world's battlefronts.

CHANGE IN RULING ON CANNING SUGAR

Special Coupons and Ration Stamp Combined for Purchase

Sugar allowance coupons for home canning sugar will be issued to the value of no more than 15 pounds to any holder of war ration book one, the local war price and rationing board has announced.

While the maximum limit of 25 pounds of canning sugar per person is retained, not more than 15 pounds of this will be purchased with coupons issued by the ration board. One stamp in war ration book one will be made valid for the purchase of ten pounds or less, at option of the applicant. The stamp to be used has not been designated. Consumers will present this stamp direct to the retailer, thereby eliminating excessive work for local boards.

MAIL CONTRACT IS AWARDED TO ALLERS

New Agreement Effective April 1 To December 31.

Contract for transporting mail to Beaver Island has again been awarded to Capt. Leroy Allers, manager of the Charlevoix-Beaver Island Transit Co., according to notification received Monday from the United State Post Office department.

Under terms of the new contract, Capt. Allers is required to take mail to the island only from April 1 to December 31, instead of the former terms calling for year-around mail service by boat or plane. Other arrangements will be made for winter service. The contract specifies that the mail boat "Mary Margaret" will make three trips weekly during April and December, and trips daily except Sunday from May 1 to November 30.

Capt. Allers has held the island mail contract since 1936, when he completed the unfulfilled contract of the ill-fated "Marold II."

TOURISTS WAIT VACATION GAS

GOVERNMENT ATTITUDE IS BELIEVED LENIENT

West Michigan Resort Meeting At Traverse City Friday Gives Hope for Good Season

Gasoline is the only thing which stands between Northwestern Michigan and an excellent tourist and resort season, was the fact stressed at the regional meting of the West Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, held at the Park Place hotel in Traverse City on Friday.

William Palmer, secretary-manager of the association, David Caeser, Chicago travel expert, and OPA and ODT officials were speakers at the meeting. Mr. Caesar voiced the opinion that the government might permit "share-the-ride" vacations whereby car owners might pool their gasoline coupons and come north in one car.

A distinct softening in the attitude of government agencies toward gasoline restrictions was noted by Mr. Caesar, who has spent many weks studying the situation. OPA officials present had a helpful attitude, although holding out no direct hope for such easing of gasoline restrictions.

Tens of thousands of war workers, with more money than they ever had before and no consumer goods on which to spend it, are awaiting an opportunity to get into vacation areas. Instead of extensive automobile tours, these vacationists would select one resort and stay there.

There will be adequate food for tourists and resorters, indicated Harold Stuart, food rationing specialist from the Grand Rapids OPA office, who explained how resort proprietors must collect ration stamps from their guests and how these stamps may be used to secure an additional and adequate supply of food.

Al Erhardt of Grand Rapids, advertising expert, urged resort owners to make a special advertising effort this year to present their attractions to prospective vacationists.

Representing Charlevoix at the meeting were E. J. Edwards, Earl A. Young, Clifford McKibbin Jr., and Miss Rae Gravuer.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Never say "Shut Up!" to your wife or anybody else unless you are willing to take the consequences.

The conservation department reports the capture of a tagged rainbow trout 430 miles from the point where it was released and comments on the great distance of travel. That's nothing at all, I claim. I've traveled that many miles and more after fish without getting enough to stink the pan.

Consistency

"Does your husband always live up to the promises of his courtship days?"

"Always. In those days he said he was not good enough for me, and he has been proving it ever since."

The stranger who retrieved a fish pole from a seagull on Round lake one day last week can do "Hank" Marshall a very decided favor by returning it to him. "Hank", it seems, lost the pole in a very unusual manner, to say the least. Coming in for lunch at noon, he left the pole, with the hook baited, lying in his boat while he went up to the restaurant. While he was gone a seagull spying the minnow, swallowed it, hook and all, and attempted to fly away. Another fisherman, seeing the gull floundering in its attempt to disgorge the hook from its throat, grasped the line, pulled in seagull and pole. Inasmuch as the pole, a hand-made rod and gift from a friend, was very highly prized by Mr. Marshall, he would greatly appreciate its return. It is the hope of this writer that the person who retrieved the pole will read this item and return the rod to Mr. Marshall, who says he'll never again leave it in the bottom of a boat with the hook baited.

We have often ventured the opinion that the end of the war will be followed by a spending spree, once merchandise becomes available. Many more conservative people are not of the same

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

Just a few lines to let you know I still think of Charlevoix and all the folks back home and that I am still getting the paper every Sunday.

School is almost over, just three more weeks of school, one week in the field and we move out. Where, I don't know. It's still in the rumor stage. Every fellow has a different idea and they are all sure they are right. But I'm sure it will cause Schickelgruber no end of dismay when he learns we are about to graduate and are right on his tail. Hot Tojo can't sleep either. The only thing, the way the boys in Africa are going, there won't be much left when we get there.

Our company was transferred to the night shift last week and now we go to school from 4 to 12. Of course we get up early in the morning, around 9, eat at 9:30, then we're free until 3:45. So it isn't so bad. Nice and cool nights, but sure hot in the day time. From what I read in the papers you could use some of this heat to melt the ice in the streams so you could get some of these "brooks."

We have a tough schedule for the rest of our term. Five hours out of seven it's code. They shoot it at you at about 35 w.p.m., and if a guy had a strong mind he'd go nuts but they don't worry about us. We are all doing pretty well. Our company has a good average and I happen to be lucky enough to be up there near the top. They gave me 26 words as a gift I guess, on the last test. But we all sure work hard.

Well, Ken, thanks again for the paper and if we move out I'll send my new address. Say hello to everyone for me. Best of luck.

Dear Ken,

I guess it's about time I was letting you know I am receiving the good old home town paper.

My outfit left the states some time ago and my mail is just starting to catch up with me. The first news from home was your paper of March 17. Sure was good to hear from home. Letters from

CATTLE RAISERS FACE PROBLEM

Danger Ahead if Beef Cattle Increase Continues.

By R. J. McKENNA
(Chairman, Montana USDA Defense Board.)

Dangers that face the livestock industry if cattle numbers continue to increase past a balance with normal feed supplies were pointed out by Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard in a rsceat letter.

There is danger ahead for beef cattle producers if berds continue to increase, Wickard stated. This, together with the fact that abundsat supplies of food are needed for national defense, indicates that increased marketings of beef cattle and calves in 1942 will benefit not only cattlemen but the National Defense program as well.

Secretary Wickard's statement pointed out to stockmen several things thsy could do to make their position more secure. He advised increased marketing of cows and heifers which, because of the good demand and price, would mean more monsy to pay off indebtedness and get set for what may come in the future. This present demand also offers stockmen an opportunity to improve their breeding hards by culling out and selling undesirable animals at a good price.

Keep livestock numbers in bsiance with normal feed supplies, hs urged. Range conditions and feed supplies in the West have been unusually good this year. Drouth can cause a lot of loss if there is no feed reserve avalisble..

In 1934, just before the disastrous drouth, there were 74,000,000 head of cattle in the United States and in another year, if the present rata of increase continues, there will be at least that many again.

Vitamins Important In Animal Breeding

The success with wbich farmers raise their pig, lamb and calf crops to meet expanding national food needs may depend in a large part on tha kind of rations they supply their breeding stock, says Earl H. Hostetler, professor of snimal husbandry at North Carolina State college.

Rations well forlified with vitamins and minerals ara required for aormal reproduction, and vitamins A, E and C have received most attention in relation to reproduction.

Carotene, which is present in well-cured green hay, fresh graen pasture, grass, well-made corn, grass and legume silage, and yellow varieties of carrots, squash, and sweet potatoes, is the priacipal source of vitamin A, highly essential in the reproduction of all farm animals.

However, Hostetler pointed out, carotene is rapidly destroyed in feeds, especially under conditions of poor storage, so precautions must be taken to provide adequata smounts particularly to pregnant aaimals.

As early as in 1922, the vitamin E factor was demonstrated to be necessary for reproduction of laboratory animals such as the rat, but the need for it in the diet of farm snimals other than poultry is still questionable. Most good rations contain adequate amounts of this vitamin, and only in unusual cases is it likely that animals may be sterile beceusa E is lacking.

Sueb feeds as wheat bran, shorts, linseed meal, hominy feed, white and yellow corn, cottonseed meal, and kafir are good sources of vitamin E, as are most of the common bay and pasture crops.

More Potatoes

One way to increase Michigan'a 1943 potato yields where fields slope or roll includes planting rows on tha contour or across the slope rather than up and down hill.

According to a reminder from the soil sciencc department at Michigan State Collega, potato growers in the state can rely on results obtained in eastern state trials. Increnses ranged from 5 to 36 bushels an nere when contour plnnting was practlced. Other incrense factors useful in wartimo production include effective use of manure and fertilizers, plowing under of clover and alfnlfa aods, good seed, proper and adequate sprayling or dusting.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Our men in the service in this war have pretty definite ideas about what they're fighting for and the way they want to find our country when they come back... don't you think so, Judge?"

"I certainly do, George. Just a week or so ago I was reading in a national magazine the results of a poll taken among our soldiers. Each man was given a questionnaire containing twenty-five 'assignments' for the folks at home. He was asked to check the first five in order of importance to him.

"Out of thousands of replies the first 'assignment' to the folks back home was 'Make sure I'll have a job in my chosen field of work when I get back'. Number 5 was 'Make sure that Prohibition isn't put over on us again.'

"When the men in the last war came home and found prohibition had been put over on them behind their backs they were sore as boils. You can see from what I just told you how they feel about it this time, too."

LANSING LETTER

Quoting Governor Harry F. Kelly:

"The vast European continent remains a Nazi stronghold, ringed with steel. Bleeding and helpless and starving, the conquered countries are yet to hear the tread of friendly marching feet.

"Across the world, the Rising Sun of Japan arrogantly flutters over Guam and Wake and the island of the Philippines. There is only darkness in Burma and Singapore and the Dutch East Indies, Australia is threatened.

"Nor is that all. Just last week, the Navy Department admitted that the United Nations lost more shipping tonnage in 1942 than they built — a figure in excess of a million gross tons more!"

These words were uttered by Michigan's chief executive, not in darkness of despair, but in celebation of the Allied triumph in Africa and Michigan's generous response to the Second War Loan drive.

They recalled to our memory a conference which we attended in Washington several weeks ago at the war department's gigantic Pentagon building across from the Potomac river in Virginia. A number of newspaper association executives — including the president and a vice-president of the Michigan Press Association — listened to a review of press problems presented by Col. R. Ernest Dupuy, chief of the news division, war department bureau of public relations.

The army colonel referred to the presence of only four American army divisions on the Tunisian front and the snap judgment of many Americans on the home front that the war will be over soon. He admitted—and so did we—the difficulty of getting true perspective of military values through condensed newspaper headline.

The resultant conversation veered to the idea of having the war department issue confidential memos to newspaper editors. Colonel Dupuy and his staff replied that Congress would accuse the military of seeking to influence the press. We were reminded that the United States is a democracy.

And yet the readers of Michigan newspapers are getting today the most complete coverage of war news in the history of world journalism.

Correspondents of the Associated Press, United Press and International News Service, as well as writers of leading newspapers, are accorded every facility by the American government to obtain and transmit information. Of all the nations of the world, we permit a voluntary censorship. And it is still possible for editors to criticize freely.

Hanson W. Baldwin, military commentator of the New York Times and Pulitzer winner for his brilliant analyses, has just returned from a 22,000-mile trip to Africa to report — without censorship — that the Allied victory in Tunisia was won chiefly by the British, that Germany is still strong and far from being near defeat and that American troops are still green and inexperienced in modern warfare.

As Colonel Dupuy phrased it in a radio talk May 9, "we are one step forward on the long march to victory." But it is only one step. American troops have yet to land on the continent of Europe.

We Americans like to gossip.

Probably not one of you has not heard reports of over-production of tanks and trucks and other war materials at Michigan war plants; that vast fields are filled with equipment that cannot be shipped overseas because of lack of shipping, and so on.

Lieut. General Brehon B. Somervell, chief of the army services of supply, visited Michigan last summer. Recently he declared that the U. S. army will not be completely equipped until late in 1944. Only in the field of ammunition is there a reserve. Rumors of over-production were called the work of fifth-columnists.

Secretary of Navy Frank Knox revealed to the Truman Committee at Washington that the net loss in gross tons of shipping in 1942 was "in the neighborhood of something over a million tons." Submarines have been sinking ships faster than we could build them.

The newspapers bring these facts to your home. Only a democracy can afford such freedom of information!

We hope and pray for early victory, yet it is folly for citizens on the home front to relax one moment their efforts for winning the war.

Michigan rates first in per capita sale of war bonds.

It is truly the "arsenal of democracy" with more than eleven billion dollars in war contracts already awarded to Michigan industries.

Yet this is no time for celebration. On the basis of contracts already awarded, Michigan will need 200,000 more workers before the end of 1943.

As Governor Kelly explained in Washington recently, "Michigan is producing one-tenth of all the armaments with which our nation is waging war against the Axis." Yet we cannot afford the luxury of one labor dispute which halts production.

The hour of destiny is nearing when American troops will land on the fortified continent of Europe—many hundreds of miles from the borders of Germany itself. Many thousands of lives is the price which we must pay.

Compared with the price of life itself, the investment of dollars from the citizen soldiers on the home front is a puny sacrifice.

In the last war the OWI reports that "only 241 tanks were used by Americans in combat areas. Only one American-made airplane reached the fighting front in the first year of the war."

In the last war 4,300,000 Yanks were under arms today at least 10,000,000 are certain to be in uniform. Yanks must be equipped to stand the humidity of jungle warfare, wintry blasts of the Aleutians, desert heat of North Africa.

In 1918 the American war expenditures were only 18½ billion dollars. This coming fiscal year calls for more than 100 billion dollars!

We must continue to produce more arms, to buy more bonds, to grow more food.

As the war department colonel put it tersely, the victory of Tunisia is only "one step forward on the long march to victory." For us on the Michigan home front the unified command must be: "Let's get on with the war!"

A SWITCH in TIME

By MADGE ELWOOD

CORPORAL McNEW laid his whiskers on the window sill. It wasn't, he thought, military duty to play the role of Santa Claus at the garrison Christmas party. He couldn't, however, disobey his commanding officer. Nor did he want to after hearing about that vacancy for a corporal at the recruiting office in Kansas City. McNew had been born there. Marianne lived there now and only yesterday he'd heard that Marianne had been seen with a fireman.

The colonel, though, had made his role more difficult. "Er—" he'd drummed on the table with his fingers. "—I want you especially to convince my son. Make him believe that Santa Claus is really magic. My son is—er—fascinated by anything in the electrical line. He's been—er—quite disturbing. I've told him that Santa only gives presents to good boys. If you can encourage his belief, it'd help the regiment and—me."

He'd have to be a perfect Santa Claus, McNew thought. Sonny was very skeptical.

"Hello." Peeping in the window he saw the object of his worries, accompanied by the regimental mascot—Henry, the goat. McNew slipped into a closet. Too late, he remembered his whiskers. The goat, as the regiment had learned, had an appetite. McNew's fears were confirmed when he emerged from the closet. The whiskers were gone, and he heard Sonny giggling. "I bet Santa Claus ain't magic enough to grow more whiskers. I bet he ain't magic at all. Dad doesn't know everything. Say, Henry, I wonder if Santa Claus can see in the dark. I know how to turn off the switch—"

Tiny lights gleamed about his whiskers.

McNew sighed. Soldiers were supposed to be ingenious. McNew remembered some cotton fields nearby.

The band played a traditional Christmas carol. Corporal McNew stood beside a gaily decorated tree and began to distribute gifts to the children of the regiment. He called out Sonny's name. Then the lights went out.

He took a step backwards as tiny lights gleamed about his whiskers. Fireflies must have made their home on the abandoned cotton he had plucked. McNew stepped on a package, stumbled and grabbed the tree for support. He caught a branch. Out of the darkness, he heard Sonny's voice: "Yes, Santa, here I am."

"Here—" McNew tried to hand the boy the package containing the electric train. A firefly rested on his whiskers. "Here, Santa Claus carries his own lights, you know."

"Is it magic?" asked Sonny. "And you grew more whiskers—"

McNew stumbled again, reached for support. The branch cracked and broke. Falling, he caught Sonny's hand. "Here!"

The lights went on. Sonny fled down the steps and McNew saw that the colonel was comforting a weeping boy. A corporal who'd given the colonel's son a switch for a Christmas gift would never be recommended for a recruiting job in his home town.

The annual event at last over, McNew painfully removed the cotton from his chin. His suffering was in vain.

The colonel wanted to see him. McNew hurried. His chin was sore and red, but he managed a salute. "Yes, sir."

"Did you ever act the part of Santa Claus before?"

"No, sir." McNew suppressed a sigh.

"Um—maybe that explains the fireflies and the switch." There was a curious note in the colonel's voice. McNew struggled to explain, but the colonel interrupted: "I hear you want that recruiting job in Kansas City. Under the circumstances, I've decided to recommend you. Sonny wants to visit his grandmother there and you can take care of him on the journey. His grandmother thinks that Sonny is a good boy. I expect you to—er—continue to be resourceful."

"Yes, sir." But McNew sighed. He wondered if snow could be used to advantage by a resourceful soldier in charge of an equally ingenious boy.

SLOW TIRE LEAKS RESULT IN FLATS

Standard Oil Co. Tests Air Loss To Help Conserve Rubber

One out of every three automobiles has one or more tires with slow leaks which may be caught before they result in damaging roadside flats, Standard Oil Company of Indiana estimated today in announcing adoption of the Schrader comparative air loss test for tires to help conserve rubber for the American war effort.

How long it may take a slow leak to result in a flat was illustrated by puncturing four tires with four-penny nails. The first tire ran over 2,300 miles before going flat, the second over 3,900 miles, the third over 5,100 miles and the fourth had still not gone flat after 8,480 miles when the test was ended. Other causes of slow leaks are punctures from glass, pinches and the like, faulty valves or missing valve caps.

The comparative air loss test involves checking the pressure of tires before inflating them to determine the amount of pressure loss from any one tire as compared to the other tires on the same vehicle.

For example a normal variation of tire pressures is: right front 27 pounds, left front 26, right rear 26½, left rear 27½ and spare 27.

"China Girl"

A beautiful girl, defying violence and terror, and a daring Yank, flying and fighting for victory, provide an exciting romantice adventure story against a flaming background of war in 20th Century-Fox's "China Girl," which arrives Saturday and Sunday at the Palace Theatre.

Gene Tierney and George Montgomery, teamed for the first time, are co-starred with Lynn Bari, Victor McLaglen tops the featured cast.

A story of violence and high adventure, "Manila Calling," the 20th Century-Fox film opening Wednesday and Thursday at the Palace Theatre, is geared for action and suspense. And it should provide both in abundance, judging from the nature of the tale it tells.

A lost battalion is the hero of this picture — a lost battalion of fierce fighting men stranded in a jungle clearing by the withdrawal from the Philippines of American armed forces and socking at the Japs whenever the opportunity arises.

Lloyd Nolan, Cornel Wilde, James Gleason and a spirited young lady named Carole Landis, play the leading roles.

Mice Injure Junipers

Field mice may be to blame for winter injury to ornamental shrubs such as junipers, observes Dr. M. D. Pirnie of the Michigan State College W. K. Kellogg bird sanctuary at Augusta. Results are just showing from the girdling that field mice tunnelled into deep snows in search of shelter and food. Junipers not dead, but damaged, can be pruned back to make up the loss in vigor caused by the bark-eating mice.

His Pigs Go to War

Young Johnny Clay of Rocky Mount, North Carolina, is typical of farm children raising victory pigs and devoting profits to War Bonds.

Farm Youth of U. S. Looks to Tomorrow

TOMORROW'S farmers and farm homemakers ere second to no scheol group in their enthusiasm for investing in War Bends and Stamps to make sure their future is secure. Through the Schools At War program they ara investing whst they savo and earn in War Stamps and Bonds.

First evidence of this is the amount the 4-H Club boys and girls and the FFA boys invested in war savings in 1942 from "Victory Pig" and other projects. A million and a half 4-H Club members put $6,000,000 of their own savings in War Bonds and Stamps and sold $2,500,000 worth of War Savings to their neighbors. Nearly a quarter million members of Future Farmers of America invested more than $1,500,000.

Spurred by the realization that the financial welfare of farm families the next 20 years depends on how wisely they use today's higher incomes from increased food and other wartime production, both groups have set their goals still higher for 1943.

These farm youths are building financial reserves, and urging their parents to do the same, for after-the-war necessities, to meet financial emergencies and to help them get started in college.

They're building reserves today for tomorrow's farm buildings and for the other things they will need when they're tomorrow's farmers and homemakers home sure seem few and far between, but I'm hoping they will get more regular soon now.

I must close now, got a big day tomorrow. We really have a rugged training schedule and we're getting near the end of it. Sorry, I can't tell you more about things here. But all the boys will have some real stories for all of you when we get home.

Thanks again.

Pvt. Robert E. Goss, USMC

Dear Ken,

I have just finished reading the Courier and it came to my mind to write to you. I am very sorry I did not write sooner but am kept very busy. I am thanking you and all who make it possible for us to receive the greatest paper in the world.

This is the only outfit of its kind in the United States. It is also the first outfit to be started or experimented with. I have been here about 6 or 7 weeks and it seems to go fast.

We go to Fort Sill the 22nd for rifle practice. From there we start in training horses and mules for combat. The officers told us they need them badly over there, and they are calling on us so we are really being rushed.

One thing I can say is we have a fine bunch of officers here. We will move to our new camp in two weeks. It is only 4 miles from where we are now. We are a concentration camp, so I hope to get a good look at some of those Japs. Jack Holt, the cowboy, in the movies, is one of the captains at our new camp.

I asked about getting a furlough, but they told us not to even think of it, because we are needd over there. So I hope to get over there and give them the works so I can come back to good old Charlevoix soon.

Oklahoma is a good state for the people who like dust. And when it rains, mud is up to the knees.

Well, I will close and am thanking you and the people of Charlevoix for sending this paper to us, because it really means a great deal.

Sincerely,
Pvt. Frank Gengle
253 QM Remount Sqdn.
Fort Reno, Okla.

Dear Ken,

Since transferring to this outfit I have been pretty busy. Four of us boys went to Hampton, Va., boat rapair yard for the 65-foot rescue cruiser to which I am assigned for the time being, until the new boathouse is built and they get some new PT boats in, then I am to be assigned to one of them.

I sure do like this place, and especially getting a transfer from the signal corps. Here we do no drilling, except get the boats in shipshape for emergency cruises. Chesapeake Bay sure does get rough and there is an awful tide here. The boat drags her keel when we come into the mouth of the James river. The draft of the boat is 3½ feet, so you see there is quite a tide.

This field is the largest aeronautical research field in the world.

Today we had to take three soldiers and their skiff to Fort Eustis, which is at Cape Charles, Va., at the entrance to the Atlantic ocean. They were men from the coast artillery stationed there and had been out fishing in the Chesapeake Bay. Their boat drifted across the Bay to Black river at our station. They had been in the drifting skiff from 2 p.m. Sunday and all night. Some trap net fisherman picked them up and brought them to Langley field. They sure were lucky they didn't drift out into the ocean.

Chesapeake Bay is full of trap net fisherman. They have pretty sturdy built boats, about 40 feet, and are motor sailors. They do quit a bit of fishing here, but I still prefer the good old Lake Michigan trout or Round lake perch.

I bought myself a Yachting magazine at the PX and what do you know, I opened the first page and there was my Charlevoix along with the Foster Boat Co. advertisement. You can't imagine how surprised I was to see it.

Dear Ken,

This is just a note, as I want this to go out this noon.

I am in the heart of the desert training center, 175 miles from Los Angeles, Calif., 46 miles from Indio, Calif. We made camp Tuesday afternoon. What a job it is to make a new camp here, no water or lights. We just cleared the land and put up our tents. We don't do anything during the day, as it is too hot, at least it will be this way for about 10 days until we get a little used to the climate. How long we will be here no one knows.

Well Ken, if I get this out on the noon mail I'd better end this.

Hello Ken!

I have been receiving the Courier now for quite a spell, and it's sure swell of you to send it to me. For my sake it's another letter from home, that's how well I appreciate the Courier.

Yesterday at 4 p.m. we had a tornado here in Kansas and all of the government houses got blown away. (I mean the barracks.) Only civilian houses were left. (They were held down by heavy mortgages.) And what few civilian houses that did blow away, only the mortgages were left, so you can see for yourself it was pretty bad.

I must thank you again for the Courier and hope you keep sending it.

Women Scholars Active in Wartime

Work the Entire World for Post-War Co-Operation.

NEW YORK. — Women scholars throughout the world are working, not only to combat totalitarian aggression, but to prepare themselves and others for the task of rebuilding when the fighting is done, 600 members of the New York city branch of the American Association of University Women were told at their annual luncheon at the Hotel Pierre.

Speaking as the representative of the British ministry of economic warfare, Miss Mary Craig McGeachy said that exiled women scholers from all parts af Europe were now active in England, training young girls for their part in a "new life."

"These women," Miss McGeachy declared, "who came to England from a background of apprehension, were afraid it would be impossible to resist the German machine without setting up a similar machine. They are now making the discovery that a people who really believe in a democracy insist on defining what they are fighting for, and that, in the midst of battle, they define freedom in fresh and vigorous terms."

Civilian defense has placed emphasis, in Britain, on the maintenance of standards for food, clothing, shelter and justice, Miss McGeachy added. She believes that this will result in a new conception of service in society, the defense of the means of life for every one.

Dean Virginia C. Gildersleeve of Barnard college, acting president of the International Federation of University Women, reported that the federation still lives and functions.

"It is still working for world understanding and co-operation," she said.

Private Finds Short Cut In Laundering Is Futile

CAMP CALLAN, CALIF. — Pvt. Loyd C. Gilbert really has a first-class case of the blues!

Gilbert tried to kill two birds with one stone by combining his shower bath and his clothes-washing. He eased under the steaming shower in his blue denim fatigue outfit, hat included, and scrubbed away briskly until long plumes of lather covered him.

When Gilbert stepped out of the shower he peeled off his clean denim suit and discovered that, underneath, his skin had taken on a very weird shade of blue. He spent the next few hours scrubbing himself white.

Soldier Finally Gets Pair of Size 2-E Shoes

NEW CUMBERLAND, PA.—Private William E. Boyer of Lewisburg, Pa., is one man in 20,000—take it from Lieut. Wilbur B. Logan, to whom fell the task of obtaining a pair of 2E shoes for the soldier.

The job took two months, the shoes looked about as broad as they were long, and Logon learned the following.

They were the smallest size issued in 20,000 pairs here. The smallest shoe regularly stocked, 5A, fits only one in 13,000 men; the largest, 15EE, 19 out of 13,000 and the most common size, 9D, 54 out of every 1,000.

Ship Construction Now Catches Up With Losses

SAN PEDRO, CALIF.—Rear Admiral Emory S. Land, retired, chairman of the U. S. maritime commission, disclosed that American ship construction has caught up—ton for ton—with the sinking of allied shipping in the European war.

The admiral paid a surprise visit to the California shipbuilding yards and the Consolidated Steel corporation at nearby Long Beach.

This Time It Is the Fish That Got the Bird

OTTAWA, CAN.—Usually it's the bird who catches the fish, but banded birds turn up in strange places. The recovery of a full-grown ring-billed gull from the gullet of a large fish caught off the southern coast of Rhode Island this summer ranks among the most unusual items recorded by the department of mines and resources.

Private Is Admiral Allen, But Major's Just Major

SAN ANTONIO.—Private Admiral C. Allen of the army air corps isn't the only one around Randolph field with name trouble.

There's Maj. Major S. White of the medical corps. Chided by his friends about this seemingly double title, Major White is impatiently waiting for a promotion.

Pete Swanson fancies himself as an armchair strategist. Sometimes he gets so tangled up, I just can't resist tryin' to straighten him out.

For instance, the other day he was waxing indignant about our soldiers being allowed to buy beer right in camp. Said that was just coddling the troops and would ruin discipline.

I told him the actual facts had already been established by a study the Government made. Their report said chaplains and the military police agree that instead of ruining discipline, 3.2 beer sold in Army camps provides our soldiers with a mild form of relaxation without impairing their efficiency.

Well, Pete allowed that the chaplains and military police are a pretty good authority on what's right for soldiers. I've noticed lately he's been confining his remarks to the broader phases of strategy.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Farm Labor Assistant To Be Appointed

It is expected that by the end of this week that complete plans will have been developed to supervise and handle all labor problems in this county. Under the supervision of the Extension Office a farm labor assistant will be appointed to help administer this important project. It is anticipated that there will be perhaps three definite labor programs organized; one will be the youth farm labor, another the victory farm volunteers and a third the women's land army.

Charlevoix county will have perhaps a greater problem than other counties in this immediate locality. Our first concern will be the harvesting of the cherry crops which gives every evidence of being above normal. Then a big labor problem presents itself in the string bean acreage which has been somewhat increased and thirdly the potato harvest activity which likewise shows greater acreage than in past years.

A set amount of money will be made available to take care of the field and office expense necessary in handling this labor program. It is highly probable that an assistant will be engaged for the entire summer season. Already the names of over 200 high school pupils have been enrolled as being available to help farmers with their seasonal labor needs. Community committees have already been organized to help guide the program. Further details will be given next week.

Spring Hints for Livestock Producers

Sheep: Be sure to dip sheep every year. Tick-free sheep produce one half to one pound more wool—a matter of from 25c to 50c more income. Lambs thrive better when dipped. Cooper's Dip is still the best material to use as only one treatment is required and two to four weeks after shearing is the best time.

Parasites are the number one enemy of sheep. The presence of internal worms and parasites is indicated by the sheep being listless, the wool dry and harsh, eyelids and skin pale, milk white in appearance and failure of young animals to grow. For treatment use the new material, Phenothiazine. This may be fed in many ways but perhaps the easiest is to mix with loose salt, with the strength of one to ten or one to fourteen. If the mixture is stronger the sheep won't eat it and if weaker the worm eggs may not be killed. The average sheep usually eat one half to two thirds pounds of salt monthly. This material can be purchased at your drug store, mail order house or any company handling medicines.

Swine: Many losses occur in pigs from the presence of worms and these can be largely controlled by phenothiazine. The easiest way to feed this material is to mix the powder with heavy slop, using one ounce for 150 pounds of pig. The pig should be of about the same size at about the time of treatment.. Missing one feed beforehand is a likely guarantee of their eating it up quickly.

Pigs with abnormal appetite or undersized indicate nutritional deficiencies. Use minerals of one part salt, two parts bone meal and two parts ground limestone or marl and allow free access to this mixture at all times. A common trouble might be the lack of protein as this material is difficult to buy at the present time. Included in the protein should be a small amount from animal origin such as milk, tankage, meat scrap or fish meal. Mixed protein feeds are easier to get than straight proteins and should contain at least 3% of these proteins. Fattening hogs regardless of weight need from one half pound to two thirds pounds daily of the thirty per cent to forty per cent proteins. Good green pastures will produce the protein needs about one-half of this is real economy. For best results suckling sows require proteins at about one part to eight parts of grain. Certainly every hog producer should be efficient in all respects to greatly help the war effort and for greater profits. Another suggestion would be to wean the pigs at 10 to 12 weeks of age instead of from 6 to 8 weeks if the sows are not to be re-bred at once. The sow's milk provides a valuable protein for the young pigs which is now hard to replace.

Feed Requirements: Every farm should plan sufficient acreages for next winters feed supply now. It only takes a few minutes time to analyze your needs and it's not too late to make the necessary changes to provide sufficient acreages for your needs.

VICTORY GARDENS

Michigan Council of Defense

By Paul R. Krone,
Chief, Victory Garden Section,
Michigan Office of Civilian Defense

It usually isn't safe to plant tomatoes and the early tender crops much before the full moon in May. Even though we do plant earlier, the ground is so cold that these crops do not make much growth until the season has warmed up considerably. However, it is time to start planting some of them. Right now we might plant our sweet corn, and during the remainder of the month get in the squash, cucumbers, beans, mustard greens, tomatoes, and others of this group.

There is a great difference in varieties of sweet corn. Many stand by Golden Early Market and Golden Bantam, others by hybrid strains, and some plant just whatever comes along. Our choice lies with some of the proved hybrid strains, including Marcross, for the early crop, Bancross for midseason and Golden Cross Bantum for the late crop. Bancross can be eliminated, following the Marcross planting with successive plantings of Golden Cross Bantam.

In planting corn it takes about a quarter of a pound of seed for 100 feet of row, and we suggest planting several short rows of a variety at a time, rather than one or two long rows. Since corn is wind-pollinated, much better pollination will take place if there are several rows abreast. Usually we space the rows about 36 inches apart and plant in hills 24 inches apart in the row. The seed should be planted about an inch deep.

The average person can consume the production from about 20 feet of row in each planting. Of course you will want to make successive plantings about every three weeks until about July 15.

In the northern part of the state we would recommend only the earlier varieties, although in some sections of the Upper Peninsula Golden Cross Bantam, ordinarily considered a late corn, will mature satisfactorily. Marcross and Golden Early Market are good varieties for that section.

You will find that hybrid varieties produce very uniform, well-formed and delicious ears, and that virtually all of the crop planted at any one time will mature very much at the same time. So don't plant too much at once or you may have more than your family can use.

The Home Economics Department of Michigan State College recommends that you can only about 12 pints of sweet corn for each member of your family. This takes about 90 feet of row. Many families will want to put up more than 12 pints per member, and that is quite all right, except just don't fill up all your cans with corn and not have enough left for the other necessary vegetables and fruits.

Crop Corps Certificates

Plans to award an estimated 3,500,000 persons with certificates for work in the 1943 U. S. Crop Corps are announced by the federal War Food Administration.

All Crop Corps members will be eligible for the award in Michigan and other states. This will include persons volunteering locally for full or short-time employment on farms, members of the Women's Land Army and the Victory Farm Volunteers from high schools and colleges, and seasonal and year-around workers moved from one area to another for farm work. Those who work in canning and food processing plants also will be eligible; as will the workers brought in for farm labor from foreign countries.

Allied Leaders Review Grand Strategy As Casablanca Promises Are Renewed Following Finale of Tunisia Campaign; Winter Wheat, Rye Dip to 1936 Levels

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

TUNISIA:
Steak and Potatoes

While captured German generals were putting down steaks, potatoes, and peaches in on American prison camp after they had surrendered with thousands of their troops, Allied forces sealed the fate of the remnants of the once proud Afrika Korps on rocky Cape Bon peninsula.

Blasted by swarms of Allied planes ruling the skies and an Allied fleet that stood off of Tunisia ready to crush any attempt at evacuation, the 80,000 Axis soldiers that retired to the skinny neck of land faced their doom, resisting to the last.

No less than six Axis generals, led by Maj.-Gen. Willibald Borowiecz, surrendered to Maj.-Gen. Omar N. Bradley, the infantry specialist who commanded the American Second army in its dramatic break through the rugged enemy positions before Bizerte.

The American forces continued to mop up around Bizerta where scattered bands of Nazis entrenched in the hills continued firing till their last round of ammunition. Much enemy material was recovered, since the German generals agreed to turn it over undamaged as one of the terms of surrender.

Also offering fierce resistance was a formidable Axis group holding out against the British Eighth army in the south. Cut off from the remnants of the northern Axis forces, this group stuck to the mountain fastnesses, while British artillery and infantry picked them slowly to pieces. Even the Nazis realized that their scattered forces were inexorably doomed.

FARM CROPS:
Light Prospects

Winter wheat and rye crops will be the smallest since 1936, the department of agriculture predicted early this month.

Production of winter wheat should approximate 515 million bushels, almost 200 million bushels less than last year, the department said. Yields per acre should average 15.5 bushels.

Thirty-six million bushels of rye should be harvested, over 20 million bushels less than 1942, the department reported. Each acre should yield 11.7 bushels.

Condition of tame hay was placed at 81 per cent of normal. Pastures were said to be 78 per cent of normal. Stocks of hay on farms early in the month totaled over 13 million tons, well over last year's.

PACIFIC:
Air Warfare

Striking back at Japanese bases northwest of Australia, Allied airmen destroyed or damaged 23 enemy planes in a heavy raid on Babo, Dutch New Guinea. Bombs also were dropped on oil tanks and docks, and flames visible for 80 miles licked the installations.

In China, heavy and medium bombers of the 14th American air force swooped down on the Japanese airdrome at Canton, razing hangars, fuel storage dumps, repair shops and factories. Accompanying fighters shot down 13 enemy planes, and Liberator tail gunners accounted for three others.

SOLDIER MAIL:
Now Can Get Packages

American soldiers serving overseas no longer need obtain permission from commanding officers to receive packages from home.

If Johnny Doughboy asks that a package be sent to him, it will be delivered without any further formality, save that the parcel must be of the current specified size and weight. The soldier's envelope must be presented when mailing the package.

GRAND STRATEGY:
FDR, Churchill Meet

No sooner had Axis resistance in Tunisia collapsed than Prime Minister Churchill of Great Britain was on his way to Washington to map the next step in the Allied grand strategy with President Roosevelt.

Although plans for an invasion of Europe loomed largest in the discussions, the situation in the Pacific also was given much consideration. Continued Japanese aerial assaults on Australia and the pressure the enemy was exerting on General Wavell's forces on the frontier in India, were said to be of concern to the conferees.

The two leaders re-emphasized their "unconditional surrender" decision of Casablanca.

Official quarters predicted the formulation of a concrete plan of action at the meeting. They remembered that Churchill's visit here after Pearl Harbor resulted in the decision to concentrate on the defeat of Hitler first; Churchill's second conference with President Roosevelt in Washington in the summer of 1942 preceded the invasion of French North Africa, and the Casablanca meeting saw the development of plans for the battle of Tunisia.

Discussion of the Russian-Polish controversy, and policies to be framed with the occupation of Europe, also were said to have entered in the latest Churchill-Roosevelt meeting.

UNEMPLOYMENT:
900,000 Still With Us

Despite booming business, there were still 900,000 unemployed in the United States in April, the census bureau reported. Of the number, however, were many merely enjoying an interval from one job to another.

While non-agricultural payrolls dropped 400,000 in the month, agricultural employment jumped 600,000, thus showing a general increase of 200,000 over the month of March.

According to the census bureau, the boost in agricultural employment reflected the return of many industrial laborers to the farms, and the early working of school boys.

CIVILIAN SUPPLY:
Agency for Consumers

If the U. S. senate has its way, the supply of civilian goods in America will become the responsibility of a powerful new independent agency answerable only to Stabilization Director James F. Byrnes.

A bill introduced by Senator Maloney of Connecticut and passed by a 44 to 29 vote, provides for the creation of a civilian supply administration which would determine the essential needs of consumers and then place its orders for materials and manpower for the production of the goods. These orders would have the same high ranking as those of the army and navy.

The new administration would replace the recently reformed office of civilian requirements within the War

SENATOR F. T. MALONEY
Would determine civilian needs.

Production board. Arthur D. Whiteside was appointed to head the reorganized office after protests that the WPB had sidetracked civilian industry in its concentration on war production.

Opponents of Maloney's bill contended the WPB office should be given an opportunity to operate before another new governmental agency is created.

LOCAL BOARDS:
OPA Increases Power

Authority of local rationing boards was greatly increased through a new order issued by the Office of Price Administration. Boards now can revoke gas ration books if they find the bearer has misinformed them upon applying for the book, or if the operator of a commercial vehicle has violated a provision of the Office of Defense Transportation.

Ration books may also be revoked for speeding.

RUML PLAN:
Returned to Life

Buried more than a month ago, the Ruml plan has sprung back to life, and although it has slightly changed form, it is still recognizable in congress. The latest version of the Ruml plan would forgive all income taxes for one year, except those of persons excessively profiting from the war, and put the nation's taxpayers on a current basis.

According to the latest bill, a 20 per cent withholding tax after legal exemptions, would be imposed on all weekly wages or salaries, on either the 1942 or 1943 incomes, whichever are higher. The remaining year's taxes would be wiped out.

To guard against persons profiting from excessive profits from the war effort, regular normal and surtax rates would be applied against all income over the person's ordinary income for 1938, '39 or '40, plus a $10,000 exemption.

Provisions for special payments by farmers and professional people are included, indications being that farmers would pay all but the last installment this year, and then make a final settlement on March 15 of 1944. The latest bill differs from the one recently passed by the house, in that the house bill would merely forgive taxes on the normal and first surtax rate.

FRANCO:
'No One Can Win'

Appealing to "the consciences of peoples," Spanish Chief of State Francisco Franco again called upon the warring powers to come to peace.

Asserting that the present conflict had reached a deadlock, Franco said that neither side now has the power to destroy the other.

"The world has now undergone three years of war and when this time is passed it is fitting to think of peace, of ending hates and of bringing peoples together," Franco stated.

Again claiming that Spain has preserved her neutrality to be available to the warring powers as a mediator in negotiations, Franco declared: "Abroad, Spain demands a post which corresponds to her history in service, humanity and worth."

To Franco's plea, Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden of Britain replied: "Our terms are unconditional surrender."

INVASION:
To Hit Underbelly?

Prime Minister Churchill's twangy reference some months ago to the Mediterranean shoreline as the "underbelly of Europe" was ill received in the Axis capitals. It was much better, Axis officials said, to refer to the territory as the "abdomen."

But "underbelly" or "abdomen," they both look alike to approximately a million Allied troops, facing Europe's southern boundary from one end of North Africa to the other. The big question on everyone's mind was: When will the United Nations swing the knockout punch at the enemy's midriff?

To counter the expected blow, the Nazis were feverishly completing coastal defenses in southern France. Whisked from North Africa, Marshal Rommel was reported inspecting fortifications in Greece, where the Germans have worked out an elaborate outer ring on the many Aegean islands leading to the mainland. Bulgaria was said to be putting the finishing touches on defenses facing neutral Turkey.

Matching the large Allied forces in North Africa are well over two million troops in England, poised for a thrust at any point, or series of points, along the whole occupied European mainland from Norway to southern France. When the invasion comes, several landings undoubtedly will be made, to spread the Nazi defense forces.

SUPREME COURT:
Free Air

In a decision read by Justice Felix Frankfurter, the Supreme court broke the grip big radio chains reputedly held over smaller stations. Whereas it was alleged the chains could compel affiliates to carry certain programs, and deny them the right to present others through contract terms, the Supreme court verdict now allows the smaller stations a free choice.

The Supreme court ruled that the Federal Communications commission's order of 1941 providing that no licenses shall be granted to stations or applicants having specified relationships with networks was within the law.

The two big chains contesting the FCC's order argued that the agency lacked the authority to formulate such a regulation. However, the 5 to 2 majority, speaking through Justice Frankfurter, declared:

"The act gave the (FCC) not oligarchy but expansive powers . . ."

MISCELLANY:

CUT LINES: As an indication of the tenseness that has gripped southeastern Europe in the expectation of an Allied invasion, telephone communications have been cut between Axis Bulgaria and neutral Turkey.

TOO COMPLACENT: Rookies entering the army are too complacent and think the war is boy scout stuff, Maj. Gen. C. L. Scott at Fort Knox, Ky., has said.

Royal Inspection

Princess Elizabeth, elder daughter of King George of England, is shown inspecting the grenadier guards, famed regiment of which she is colonel. The princess wears the regimental cap badge in her hat. She was 17 years old on April 21.

'Ike' Meets 'Monty'

Gen. Dwight ("Ike") Eisenhower (overseas cap) shakes hands with British General Bernard Montgomery, commander of the Eighth army which chased Rommel from Egypt halfway up Tunisia. General Eisenhower flew to General Montgomery's headquarters to congratulate him and his men for cracking Nazi resistance.

WOMEN AT WAR

Irene

When Irene got home from the airplane factory she was good and tired. This was the hour, after work and before dinner, that she always looked forward to. Her private name for it was "My sissy hour." Into it, these days, she packed all the lazy, luxurious little things she loved—things that used to take up a lot more than an hour of her peace-time days.

She sat down at the little desk in her room. You could tell quite a lot about Irene from that desk. The water-glass filled with the small bouquet of flowers she sometimes bought on the way home. The paper-weight of pink marble. The thin, crackly blue air-mail stationery. And the big, framed photograph of a young man in a corporal's uniform—as good-looking a man as Irene was pretty. On the blotter pad lay the telegram that had come that morning just as she was leaving for work.

With these long, well-shaped fingers she reached for a sheet of paper. She nibbled the end of her pen for a bit, and then she wrinkled up her nose at the picture of the soldier and began to write, "Dear Mr. Morgenthau", but the corporal's name was Jackson and she called him Pete. Her round handwriting spread across the page. "My boy friend is with the A.E.F. in Ireland. He has cabled me fifty dollars with which to buy a diamond ring. I've been thinking it over and decided to buy a War Bond to help Uncle Sam instead. This may help to bring my boy friend home sooner, and then he can help me select my ring."

Slowly she began to sign her name. "Irene ——"

CHATTERER TELLS SAMMY JAY ABOUT SHADOW THE WEASEL

CHATTERER the Red Squirrel, was hurrying through the Green Forest. He didn't know just where he was going. He had but one thought, and that was to get as far away from Shadow the Weasel as he could. It made him have cold shivers all over every time he thought of Shadow.

"Seems to me you are in a great hurry," said a voice from a pine tree he was passing.

Chatterer knew that voice without looking to see who was speaking. Everybody in the Green Forest knows that voice. It was the voice of Sammy Jay.

"I—I—am," he said.

"What's that?" Sammy asked sharply. "I always knew you to be a coward, but this is the first time I have ever known you to admit it. Who are you running away from?"

"Shadow the Weasel," replied Chatterer, still in a very low voice, as if he were afraid of being overheard. "Shadow the Weasel is back in the Green Forest, and I have just had such a narrow escape!"

"Ho!" cried Sammy, "this is important. I thought Shadow was up in the Old Pasture. If he has come back to the Green Forest folks ought to know it. Where is he now?"

"Ho, ho, ho! Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Sammy Jay. "I wish I had been there to see it."

Chatterer stopped and told Sammy all about his narrow escape and how he had left Shadow the Weasel in a hollow of a chestnut tree with Redtail the Hawk watching for him to come out. Sammy's eyes sparkled when Chatterer told how he had pulled the tail of old Redtail. "And he doesn't know now who did it; he thinks it was Shadow," concluded Chatterer with a weak little grin.

"Ho, ho, ho! Ha, ha, ha!" laughed Sammy Jay. "I wish I had been there to see it."

Then he suddenly grew grave. "Other folks certainly ought to know that Shadow is back in the Green Forest," said he, "so that they can be on their guard. Then if they get caught it is their own fault. I think I'll go spread the news." You see, for all his mean ways Sammy Jay does have some good in him, just as everybody does, and he dearly loves to tell important news.

"I—I wish you would go first of all and tell my cousin, Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel," said Chatterer, speaking in a hesitating way.

Sammy Jay leaned over and looked at Chatterer sharply. "I thought you and Happy Jack were not friends," said he. "You always seem to be quarreling."

Chatterer looked a little confused, but he is very quick with his tongue, is Chatterer. "That's just it," he replied quickly. "That's just it! If anything should happen to Happy Jack I wouldn't have him to quarrel with, and it is such fun to see him get mad!"

Now, of course, the real reason why Chatterer wanted Happy Jack warned was because down inside he was ashamed of that dreadful thought that had come to him of leading Shadow the Weasel to Happy Jack's house so that he himself might escape. It had been a dreadful thought, a cowardly thought, and Chatterer had been really ashamed that he should have ever had such a thought. He thought now that if he could do something for Happy Jack he would feel better about it.

Sammy Jay promised to go straight to Happy Jack and warn him that Shadow the Weasel was back in the Green Forest, and off he started, screaming the news as he flew, so that all the little people in the Green Forest might know. Chatterer listened a few minutes and then started on.

"Where shall I go?" he muttered. "Where shall I go? I don't dare stay in the Green Forest, for now Shadow will never rest until he catches me."

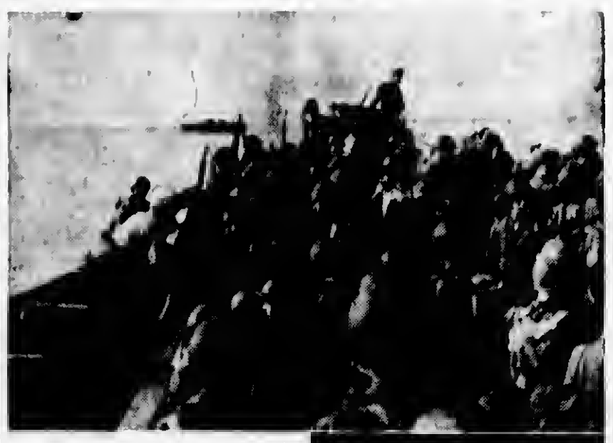
Navy All Set for Biggest Job

Since the days of John Paul Jones, founder of the United States navy, the story of our navy has been one long chapter of splendid progress. While many glorious victories have already been rolled up by the U. S. navy in World War II, yet, in the language of John Paul Jones, "we have just begun to fight." Whatever may be ahead, the navy will come through. These pictures give you some of the reasons why.



In the picture above, American soldiers are being transferred from a navy launch to a smaller boat during maneuvers designed to acquaint both soldiers and sailors with amphibious warfare. Picture shows the troops in regular battle dress.

Right: Disarming a foe. Here two U. S. navy pre-flight cadets demonstrate the proper method of disarming a foe in hand-to-hand combat. It's done realistically, too.

After Nazis Hit Casablanca With 500-Lb. Bombs

American soldiers are shown filling a flooded bomb crater (left) after a Nazi air raid upon Casablanca, North Africa. Very little damage was done to military establishments, though the native quarters took quite a beating from the Germans' 500-pound bombs. At right, two stunned women sit amidst the ruins of their home in Casablanca. The bombs caused terrific damage among the flimsy houses. Inset: A native mother is shown with her six-year-old boy who, just before photo was taken, was removed from the ruins of his bombed home with scarcely a scratch. Both boy and mother took the affair stolidly.

opinion, however. Frequently I've heard others suggest that if new social habits like walking, dining at home, writing instead of telephoning and telegraphing, loafing instead of joyriding on Sunday, become fixed and pleasurable, it will take a long time to break them down. Tastes may also stick. Margarine may give butter a tussle, and home-made meals prepared from raw ingredients may hurt the canners. A host of substitutes, born of the war, may prove better than the real thing. Time only, will tell.

What is a small business man? He's one too small to have even one congressman pulling for him in Washington.

The village council at Central Lake has voted to have free movies again this summer. It's quite a popular attraction, too, drawing hundreds of people into town the evening of the show.

Yup, the trout fishin's getting better now that the early rush is over. Three in the party I was with Sunday took 42 fish, lacking three of the legal limit for the group. Weather wasn't so good, either, but it was a hittin' day, at that. Perch fishing still holds on well. There were over fifty boats on Round lake Sunday. A fellow tipped me off, though, that early morning is the best time to get the big ones. Ought to be hearing about someone getting a steelhead pretty soon, too.

A few decades ago Japan was ready to go to war because Uncle Sam mentioned a Yellow Peril. What Tokyo seems to be worried about now, however, is the Red, White and Blue peril.

Speaking of fishing makes me think of Art Winnis, the Traverse City barber who was famous throughout the United States as a fisherman and fly-tier. His lures were used all over the country, he was an expert angler, and his equally famous philosophy regarding the sport went something like this: "When people ask you if you had a good time instead of how many fish you caught, your fishing problem will be solved." Well, that's about the size of the matter, at that. It is sufficient of a privilege to be able to get out into the woods, hear the birds, see an occasional deer, observe the wild flowers, and the like.

Now if someone would warm the weather up, then everything would be hunkydory.

SIGNS INDICATE 4-H WORKERS FOR VICTORY

Boys, Girls In Food Production Projects Are Recognized

Boys and girls enlisting their aid in the war effort by carrying 4-H food production projects will be given a sign attractively printed in green and white letters to display in front of their home.

The "Victory Project Sign" will be large enough to be noticed by all who pass and will tell everyone that at that residence lives a boy or girl who is a fighter on the home front.

Enrollment is being stressed in garden, corn, potatoes, carrots, beets, beans and canning clubs; but food preparation, dairying, rabbits, conservation, colt, sheep and swine are also very important.

This sign will be sent out from the county agricultural agent's office as soon as the club is organized and the enrollment is sent in.

Unsolved Mysteries of the Sea

The sea hides many mysteries, strange stories of derelict ships, frightful mutinies, savage fighting, sudden death. Some of the strangest, most baffling of these will be described in "Mysteries of the Sea," starting in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (May 23) issue of the Detroit Sunday Times. Be sure to get Sunday's Detroit Times.

TELEPHONE USERS ARE ASKED CURTAIL CALLS

Overburdened Toll Wires Present A Critical Situation

The Michigan Bell Telephone company has renewed its appeal that the public sharply curtail its use of long distance service.

With a heavy increase in volume of long distance calls, the situation has become critical. Should the present rate of increase continue, the already overburdened toll lines would have to handle nearly 47,000,000 calls this year, an increase of 12,000,000 over 1942 and nearly double the peacetime traffic of 1939.

Although civilian use of the service has increased greatly, a great proportion of the calls being handled are vital to the progress of the war. Telephone officials ask that long distance be used only when really urgent, or when mails or other forms of communication cannot serve the purpose, and that users be brief in their calls.

Each unimportant call, regardless of its destination, affects the speed with which all other calls can be handled. Central office equipment, fully manned with operators, is being used to capacity. Over some routes, many calls are delayed, some of them for hours. Materials needed with which to expand the telephone system cannot be obtained, therefore use of the service must be restricted in every possible way with cooperation of the customers.

PETOSKEY FLIER IS PLANE CRASH VICTIM

Grandson of Local Resident Killed Thursday Near Baltimore

Funeral services were held Tuesday in Petoskey for Second Lt. Dean E. Scroggie, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Scroggie of Petoskey, who was killed Thursday when his army fighter plane crashed at West River, Galesville, near Baltimore, Md.

He was born in Hayes township, Charlevoix county, January 27, 1920, and entered service as an aviation cadet in December, 1941. After receiving his wings and commission at Eagle Pass, Texas, in February of this year, he went to the Baltimore army air base. Surviving are his parents, a sister, Gertrude, of Petoskey, and his grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Howe of Charlevoix.

Lt. Scroggie is the third of his name to die in his country's service. An uncle, Dean Scroggie, died at Great Lakes naval training station during the influenza epidemic in world war I, and Dean Scroggie, of Charlevoix, who was killed in action in the battle of the Meuse-Argonne, in 1918, was a cousin.

MEMORIAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED

PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR MONDAY, MAY 31

American Legion Plans Program With Cooperation of Other Local Organizations

Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, with cooperation of local schools, patriotic and civic organizations, is planning an impressive memorial service for Monday, May 31.

While Memorial Day services will conform closely to those of previous years, this year, in the second year of America's participation in the war, should make the day one of the most significant in American history as a memorial to those who gave their lives in past wars and those who have and may make the supreme sacrifice in the present struggle to maintain liberty.

O. P. North, Legion chaplain, has announced that Rev. Leigh H. Hagle, pastor of the Methodist church, will deliver the address.

With Floyd Bluck acting as marshal, the parade will form on Park avenue at 9:30 a. m. and begin marching at 10 a.m. The order will be colors, school band, veterans, Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts, patriotic organizations, school children.

All service men home on leave are extended a special invitation to join the parade.

The ceremonial of casting a wreath on the water for the sailor dead will take place at Memorial Park, conducted by the Girl Scouts. Taps will be sounded and the march resumed to Brookside cemetery.

Program at the cemetery will include: "Star Spangled Banner," school band; invocation, Rev. Donald R. Evans; address by Rev. Leigh H. Hagle; floral tribute; salute, taps; "America," by school band; benediction, Rev. W. D. Wood.

Aside from the regular services, St. Mary's Catholic church will conduct a memorial mass at 8:00 a.m. at the Catholic cemetery.

Legion members will decorate graves of veterans at the cemetery Friday evening.

Charlevoix business places, schools, city and county offices will close Monday.

The cooperation of all people is earnestly sought to carry out Monday's program. It is little to ask and little to give in honor of those who have given their all for our country.

HOSTESSES WANTED LOCAL USO CENTER

Service Man's Recreation Room Will Open Soon

There is a great need for local women to serve as matrons at the local USO service men's center, which is to be opened soon for the summer.

As it is not expected to operate the center full time this summer, hostesses will be asked to give only a little time to this patriotic duty. There must be many local women who can spare a few hours weekly to spend at the center, as they would wish women to do in other cities near army camps or naval stations where their sons are located.

Those who wish to act as matrons are asked to contact Miss Frances Martin, chairman of the USO center committee, phone 367.

TIME EXTENDED ON BLUE FOOD STAMPS

G, H and J Coupons Are Valid Until June 7

Time during which blue stamps G, H and J in war ration book two may be used for purchase of processed foods has been extended by one week, office of price administration officials announced Saturday.

Instead of expiring on May 31, as previously announced, these stamps will be good through June 7. The next three sets of blue stamps in the book, K, L and M, became valid Monday, May 24, and instead of expiring at the end of June, will continue to be good through July 7. This will provide an overlap period of two weeks when both sets of stamps will be good, and is intended to make marketing easier for consumers and avoid the congestion that prevailed in most stores at the end of April.

TWO-DAY SALE BUDDY POPPIES

V. F. W. SPONSORS 22ND ANNUAL EVENT

Poppy Fund Is Used For Welfare Activities Among Men In Military Service

V. F. W. Buddy Poppies will blossom on the streets of Charlevoix on Saturday and Sunday, May 29 and 30, when members and volunteer workers will sell the little red memorial flowers in the 22nd annual sale sponsored by V. F. W. Post No. 1153, Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, announces Lewis Brant, commander.

The local distribution is identified with the nation-wide sale conducted under V. F. W. auspices. Held in conjunction with the observance of Memorial Day on May 30, the proceeds of the V. F. W. Buddy Poppy sale are devoted exclusively to the care and welfare of service and ex-service men, and their dependents.

Those who purchase the V.F.W. Buddy Poppies will know they are making a personal contribution to the various phases of welfare work that have been assumed by Post No. 1153 and the national organization. Primarily, they will be buying Buddy Poppies that have been fashioned by the hands of disabled veterans in government hospitals throughout the country—men who are thereby afforded a sources of income for personal necessities not provided by the government itself.

In addition, the V.F.W. Buddy Poppy fund will be used for welfare activities among men in active military service.

Guns That Speak With Full Authority

Shown at left is our new 240 mm. howitzer, the M-1, as described in the Field Artillery Journal. It is more mobile and more powerful, and even more accurate than its 1918 counterpart. It travels in two loads on high speed trailers. Less digging is required for its emplacement, and this is speeded by a stamshell tucket. Navy Order to Foster Boat Company

APPLICATIONS SENT FOR RATION BOOK 3

Forms Must Be Mailed to Detroit Post Office By June 10

Distribution of application forms for war ration book three, to replace book one, began last week and will continue for three weeks.

Mail carriers are serving as distributors of the application blanks, one of which is sufficient to apply for ration books for an entire family. The Detroit post office has been designated as the mailing center for this area, from which blanks are sent to post offices throughout the state, and to which the blanks must be returned after they are filled out.

Care in answering every question on the cards will speed the work of distributing ration book three. The cards are divided into three parts: (1) an identification stub which is detached and retained by the applicant; (2) an application on which is to be typed or plainly printed, preferably in ink, the name of the head of the family and the address to which books are to be sent; (3) the card on which should be listed the name and age of everyone, including the head of the family, who is to get book three.

Cards must be mailed, with postage as for a letter, to the Detroit post office between June 1 and June 10. Those not returned by that date will not be handled until after August 1. Books will be mailed late in June.

Those accepted are Irving L. Hullet Jr., Edward P. Hansen, Donald A. Pearl, Vernon L. McGinnis, Richard A. Fochtman, Robert J. Shaw, of Charlevoix; Arthur H. APRIL PREDATOR TAKE BEST SINCE OCTOBER

In April Michigan's predator trappers had their best month since October. They presented to the conservation department for bounty payments six wolves worth $110, 10 bobcats worth $50, and 234 coyotes worth $4,110 — a total April cost to the department of $4,270. All except $30 of this total was paid to trappers in the upper peninsula.

LOCAL FIRM GETS FOURTH CONTRACT AWARD

Peacetime Boat Construction Is Planned As Work On Naval Craft Progresses

Production is rapidly getting under way at the Foster Boat Co. to fulfill the contract which was recently received from the Navy Department, for approximately $100,000.00.

In anticipation of this award, the local company has been working on plans, patterns and controlled materials well in advance of actual confirmation of this new order.

This contract calls for a new type of construction — different in design from former production —details of which cannot be divulged, other than it is known as a "Personal Boat," very fast and with a shallow draft.

This is the fourth contract to be awarded Foster Boat Co. in approximately a year. The company is listed in the upper brackets of qualified boat builders of craft under 100 foot construction.

The foresight of the Foster Boat Co. in the construction of the new marine basin will expedite the testing and completion of the finished product. This addition has received much favorable comment from Navy officials, which will reflect to the advantage of Charlevoix as a whole.

It is estimated that additional skilled help will be required as operations continue and every effort is being made by the management to train local workers who have an aptitude toward boat construction.

Experimental work for peacetime construction after victory has been in progress for many months. Sales agencies throughout the country have been kept informed by advertising, which will facilitate the distribution of the eventual product.

This will give Charlevoix a permanent industry, which has been the goal of the Foster Boat Co. since its inception.

HOME CANNING SUGAR PLAN IS FORMULATED

Two Stamps In Ration Book One Good For Five Pounds Each

Final decision on distribution of canning sugar has been announced by the office of price administration, after several changes in rulings during the past two weeks.

Stamps 15 and 16 in war ration book one will be valid for purchase of 5 pounds of sugar on each stamp from May 24 through October 31. Persons who need additional sugar will apply to the local war price and rationing board.

No change has been made in the rate at which sugar for canning will be made available — one pound for each four quarts, or eight pounds, of finished fruit, and five pounds per person for making jams and jellies — with a total not to exceed 25 pounds. The 25-pound limit will not be generally applied, as this amount will be granted only in a relatively few cases.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

"It's silly," said the philosopher, "to say women are as young as they look. They can't all be under thirty."

Reputations are no longer at stake at bridge parties. The girls are so busy talking about point rationing they no longer have time for gossip.

A couple weeks ago I asked if anyone had picked any mushrooms. Last Sunday I saw some results in a certain home—a wash tub and two large kettles full, besides six quarts already cold-packed. The recent rain and warm spell has made mushrooms plentiful.

"A boss, my son, is a man who comes to the office too late when I'm early—and too early when I'm late!"

Joe Smith answered my query about steelhead. A party he was fishing perch with on Round lake landed one and lost two during the past week. There have been a few picked up trolling, too.

And speaking about fishing—"Hank" Marshall got the pole a seagull stole back again. The fellow who retrieved it from the gull read the incident in this column and returned it to Mr. Marshall.

Room for Improvement—

Husband: "Those pajamas you bought me are three sizes too big."

Wife: "I know they are. But there were a lot of women in the shop, and I wanted them to think I'd married a splendid he-man."

Have you ever noticed how a small boy becomes all enthused over one thing for a few hours, then suddenly changes to something else? Well a lot of those boys never really grew to manhood in some ways. They move to Washington.

This isn't bragging, in fact, it's just goes to prove that when yours

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken — and Charlevoix—

We have a few unexpected minutes off so I have time to write the letter I should have written a long time ago.

They call this camp "The Country Club of the Army," because the buildings are more permanent than the buildings in other camps and some of them are as beautiful as the homes of well-to-do people.

From what I hear, as this camp expanded it swallowed up the small towns located around it and now you won't find open fields and woods like you can in other camps. This camp is located very near the coast (about 5 miles south of Red Bank, N. J.) so it is always dimmed-out at night. I've tripped over more than one wire that borders the lawns! That's what I get for taking short-cuts in the dark.

When we were on our way here fom Crowder we saw some scenery that will not be forgotten. The mountains of Virginia and Maryland are not as huge as the Rockies but they are worth seeing anyhow.

Our train pulled into a small town in West Virginia and we had to wait there for a few minutes. To our surprise a train-load of Italian prisoners of war pulled up alongside of us! They were from the north African front and looked a little weary — but in good spirits — especially when some of the fellows on our train handed their cigarettes and candy bars through the windows. You should have seen them grin!

They were headed west and I suppose they will work on some of the farms out there.

During the week we have only about two and sometimes three hours to ourselves, but during the week end we can do what we please. I've been to New York twice and I took in all the main points of interest — starting with the subway and then the Empire State building. Did you know that the Statue of Liberty is pale green in color? I always thought it was white.

I would like to give my best regards to all of the people left in Charlevoix and to all the fellows and girls in the service. I'm proud and

Colt Breaking Demonstration Conducted At St. James

The colt breaking demonstration conducted at the farm of William Schmidt, St. James, last Thursday attracted a capacity attendance of around sixty-five farmers ond villagers. H. F. Moxley, Specialist from the Michigan Stoto College, conducted the demonstration and really proved to some of the doubtful that ho knew his stuff. He worked with a young colt that had not heen broken but which was not considerd a bad horse.

He demonstrated the use of ropes in bringing colts to time. Muny farmers said, "Well, this colt was too easy. Let's have him try one that can't be handled." This second colt was one that has been considered a vicious character and unmanageable. After some delay the colt was finnlly caught and tied up. Specialist Moxley in a few minutes time had the colt under control. By the uso of ropes the colt soon discovered that he had met his master. All four feet were trimmed before tho colt was released. Moxley proved that any colt could bo broken if it was properly done. Best of all it was accomplished without any almse or ill treatment which according to Moxley is the most important consideration in the treatment of colts.

In the evening a meeting was held in the Town Hall where suggestions and recommendations were made in regard to feeling and caring for sheep, swine and beef cattle. This is the first time that a representative of the Animal Husbandry Department of the Michigan State College has visited Beaver Island. He discussed with them the feeding of minerals, sanitation problems and the control of parasites and worms that rob farmers of profits in nnimal feeding.

K. C. Festerling, District 4-H Club Leader, was also present and met with some 25 boys and girls who were interested in organizing 4-H club projects. Mr. Festerling reports that there will be poultry, victory garden, canning, dairy and volunteer work projects, being carried on this summer. The tentative organization of the varions projects was perfected and everything points to a highly successful 4H club program.

Farm Labor Needs for All Charlevoix County Crops Being Charted

Plans are being rapidly formulated to handle the farm labor problem throughout the county. At a meeting held at Gaylord last week Wednesday, attended by all Extension Agents from counties in this district, full information was given in regard to tho responsibilities for carrying out the program. Efforts will he made to recruit and place farm workers throughout the season.

Dua to the fact that Charlevoix county has a large acreage of fruit and canning factory crops, it is recognized that a greater labor problem will exist in harvesting theso seasonal crops. Donald P. Watkins of Boyne City has been appointed as Emergency Farm Labor Assistant to work under the direction of your county agent and with tho Extension Office as official headquarters.

Contacts aro heing made this week with schools in the county to solicit Victory Farm Volunteers who will make themselves available to help with fruit harvesting and canning factory crops as they may need attention. Also a survey is being started to determine the amount of labor necessary to harvest our greatly enlarged acreages of sweet corn, string beans, beets, carrots and cucumbers.

It is expected that two or three community placement centers will be set up in the county to more efficiently recruit and place farm workers. Already several farm workers havo been placed on farms for the entire summer. Right now there are some eight farmers in the county that need farm halp for the balance of the summer. Any person with farm experience who is interested in working on farms this summer please contact your county agent ot once so that these applications can be filled. With so much emphasis placed on the necessity of producing larger quantities of foods and supplies and with the season starting out under somewhat unfavorable conditions tho demands for farm labor will be great. Hundreds of city folks are necessary to harvest our cherries which will be our first big ned for seasonal labor. Any person who can help in the cherry harvest is requested to send their nome to the Extension Office at Boyne City which will be the clearing house for all labor needs throughout the season.

Governor Offers Two Trophies In Garden Contest

Victory Gardeners entered in the state contest have new goals to work for, with announcement that Governor Harry F. Kelly has offered two trophies and the first prize in the farm garden division has been increased from a $250 to a $500 War bond.

The Governor will present a trophy in each of the city and farm garden classifications. Tho awards will be based on proper land use and planning of the garden, suitability and kinds nf vegetables, succession planting and planting for winter storage and preserving.

In doubling the amount of the farm garden award, the State Contest Committee made it equal with the first prize for the best city garden. Through possible combinations of awards, it is possible for a Victory Gardener to win as much as $700 or $800.

Governor Kelly is deeply interested in the Victory Garden campaign, particularly in the emphasis now being placed on growing crops that can be stored or preserved. It is feared that many gardeners are planting too high a percentage of perishable crops, such as lettuce and radishes, and not enough of the "winter" varieties."

Figures presented at a meeting of the State Contest Committee show the need for balanced production planning. With only 16 of every 100 Michigan persons residing on farms, the State produces little more than half of its fresh and canned vegetable requirements. For example, in 1940 Michigan consumed 914,603,000 pounds of fresh and canned vegetables, exclusive of potatoes, and produced only 544,071,000 pounds or 60 per cent, of its needs.

Stringency of the situation is accented by a falling off in produce shipments into the state due to curtailed transportation facilities, market conditions and lend-lease and military food requirements.

Although reports indicate there are now 800,000 Victory Gardens in Michigan, the need is urgent for even more if residents of the State are to be assured of a sufficient supply of the proper kinds of foods next winter, according to Governor Kelly. He has gone so far as to recommend that, if possible, families grow more of the non-perishable foods than they need and sell the surplus.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Just one more question before you go, Judge. What is this thing called propaganda you hear so much talk about these days?"

"I'll give you an example, Hank. Last night I was reading an interesting little book called 'Hitler is in Favor'. It told how Hitler would very much like to see Americans fighting among themselves over prohibition because that would create disunity, waste the time of Congress and legislatures in wet-dry arguments and cripple our war effort. It also mentioned a booklet written about Hitler's government telling how Hitler's gang wants to maintain contact with foreign temperance organizations and how it contributes annually to an international temperance union.

"You can bet Hitler isn't interested in seeing prohibition advanced in our country for any reason except that he knows it's a good way to stir up trouble. That's what they mean by propaganda, Hank."

LANSING LETTER

Here is the prospect of food for Michigan, as revealed by Governor Kelly's fact-finding committee:

Unless more residents grow more food in victory gardens, Michigan will have to import 70 per cent of its vegetable needs during the coming 12-month period.

A study of carload shipments of fruit and vegetables into the Detroit market alone raveals a 15 per cent reduction in supplies received. This trend is expected to continue downwerd.

Military and lend-leasa are going to dip heavily into the normal supply available to civilians. This will be truo not only of canned goods but also of potatoes and onions, much of which will ho dehydrated in Michigan plants.

Bad weather this spring, delaying the planting of crops, has already prompted federal experts to forecust a 14 per cent declins in the 1943 truck crop as compared with 1942 yields.

While the situation is not serious, continued unseasonal weather could mako it so.

Consider, for u minute, what Uncle Sam is requiring to feed our armed forces.

Federal demands for canned goods lasod on 1942 needs: Spinach, 48%; snap beans, 38%; lima beans, 56%; peas, 48%; beets, 100%; carrots, 130%; tomatoes, 40%; tomato juice, 43%; sweet corn, 40%; pumpkins and squash, 51%; catsup, 61%; tomato puree, 71%; tomato paste, 40%.

The average of theso percentages is about 50 per cent — HALF of all the commercially canned vegetables!

Dehydration of vegetables will also remove substantial amounts of vegetables from the civilian market. Wa quote from the governor's food report:

"The government is greatly expanding its program for the production of dehydrated vegetables which is best evidenced hy the fact that there were fiftoen million pounds produced in 1941 and this is expected to increase to at least seventy million pounds in 1943.

"This increased demand for foods for dehydrating will ho an additional drain upon Michigan's food supplies. At present, u dehydrating plant at Traverse City is ready to start operations. Plants at Holland and Port Huron are also in the process of construction.

"Two other plants have been approved: a potato dehydrating plant at Greenville and an onion dehydrating plant at Marshall. Present plans call for these plants to be in operation by August 1. The Greenville plant will be the largest of its kind in America.

In the frozen food field the governor's report says that Uncle Sam is also taking over 70 per cent of 1943 production.

"The increase in output of frozen foods will be primarily for the purpose of meeting expanding requirements of the armed forces."

What about the commercial truck growers?

"In the Detroit area it is apparent that commercial truck gardeners do not plan an increase of acreage over last year in vegetables becausa of limitad facilities and limited labor supplies. Outstate our survey would indicate thut growers who produca food for local consumption will not be able to increase their planting in 1943 to eny extent. In severul sections there will be less produced in 1943 than in 1942."

These facts do not make pleasant reading. But war isn't a picnic, and the home front must expect to be second to the armed forces for all needs — clothing und food und everything else.

What can we do about it?

Here ure recommendations of a group of Michigan food experts—Paul R. Krone, chairman of the OCD victory garden committee; Charles Figy, state agricultural commissioner; Robert J. Baldwin, MSC extension director; Lawrence O'Neil, state department of agriculture; C. J. Borum, state and federal cooperative crop reporting service, and M. L. Lowe, United States department of agriculture:

1. If you have not planted a big victory garden, do so.

2. Grow enough food to take care of your family needs next fall, winter and spring. That means home canning of food.

3. Grow non-perishable vegetables which muy be stored, such as potatoes, carrots, cabbages, onions and rutabagas.

4. Avoid waste. Sell eny surplus crops to your neighbors, local merchants and markets.

There is still time to act. It is not "Too little and too late."

Deer Ken,

I wish to thank you for sending me the Cherlevoix Courier. I received my first peper today and have covered it completely, and enjoy it very much.

I am connected with tha Quartermaster Graves Registration Co, and enjoy my work very much.

This is a nice country out here. It rains most evory day, oven when the sun is shining. But the surroundings are reelly beuutiful.

If you know of any of the fellows from Charlevoix that are out here in Washington, I would appreciate knowing their address.

Again I want to thank you for your paper. It seems there are two important calls in the army, that's chow cull and mail call, and I enjoy both of them.

Dear Ken,

I guess it's about time I dropped you a few lines to let you know I often think of you and all the swell people in Charlevoix who have been so kind in sending not only me, but all the boys in the service, the best paper in the world to us, as it comes from home and gives us all the latest news from home.

I am convalescing here at the pesent time after a narrow escape from Davy Jones' locker. There are two of my shipmates here with me. The nurses end doctors here treat us swell. I expect to be laid up for a month or two and then I hope to be sent out after them again. I would appreciate hearing from some of the folks from home, as it sure is lonely here when you are sick in bed and don't know anyone.

Best of luck to all the boys from Charlevoix who are in the service.

Dear Ken,

I received the last three issues of the Courier in the last couple of days, two of these were forwarded from Fort Benning. In one of these I read Lt. Glenn Heise's letter. I knew he was stationed at Fort Benning, but little dreaming he was in the 10th Arm. Div. It sure is a great outfit. I am glad to be able to say I was a member of that same outfit for about five and one-half months.

I happened to be one of the few "tigers" who were transferred, but where we still don't know. We have been here two weeks waiting to be shipped to another armored force. It probably won't be long and I'll be sending you my new address.

This camp is just a replacement center, brand new, just opened for business last January, and they sure can run the boys through. It's pretty nice to meet fellas from all over the good old U. S. I hot every state has quite a few boys here and listened to them argue about their states. Michigan holds its ground. I guess we saw the sun three times, so that puts Pennsylvania on the bottom. The weather has been pretty punk here, plenty of rain, that gives us plenty of mud to walk through.

I think I'll have to sign off for now. Thanks a million for the paper, I really look forward to it.

Good luck and so long

Dear Ken,

I'm writing to give you my new address in hopes you might send me a few more copies of the Courier to read. I don't suppose I'll be able to give my address after I leave here. I'll only be here a few weeks, and that won't be any too short a stay in this place for me, although it reminds me a lot of good old Charlevoix.

It's only about 90 in the shade. And you should see us wiping the sweat off after coming from up north. But we're sure getting a tan out of it. About every other day they take us down to the Gulf to bathe for a few hours and then bring us back and drill us harder than ever. But I guess we'll need every bit of this training in order to bring down our share of those planes.

I guess I'll quit for now. And thanks a million for all of the past copies of the Courier. Say hello for me back there in that good country. So long.

Your friend,

Send us your address after you leave Gulfport, Allan — although we may not be able to publish it in the paper, we can still send you the Courier.

Dear Ken,

Just a few lines to let you know my new address, as I've been shipped from Great Lakes, Ill., and would appreciate the continuance of the Courier.

I'm waiting to go to sea, and em getting lazier every day as we just lay around here. It sure rains enough here on the coast, as it's been raining ever since I arrived.

The Courier sure has been a great help to me in getting some of the boys' addresses which I used to chum around with.

It's about time for another blackout, so will cut it short. Thanking you again for the Courier,

Fighting the Black Market

The Consumers Activities Section of the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense has issued five rules which, if followed by the household buyer, will go far towards eliminating the black market in meat and assure a more equalized supply for all. They are:

1.—Look for posted ceiling prices and pay not one penny more.

2.—Ask to see slaughter permit stamp or U. S. grade label — the purple stamp that must be on all wholesale cuts.

3.—Don't trust a dealer who does not collect your ration stamps. If he's honest he needs the red stamps to get his next month's supply of meat; if he does not collect stamps he is probably getting his meat from an illegal source.

4.—Don't trust a dealer who offers you "prime beef." There is no prime beef for sale. Highest available grade is now "choice" (very scarce,) followed by "good" and "commercial."

5.—If in doubt about any phase of the transaction ask for a receipt with date of purchase, cut and price marked on it. The honest dealer will be glad to supply this. If he refuses, report him.

FARMERS RECEIVE NEEDED FARM HELP

MSC, County Agents Cooperate In Labor Effort

More than 3,000 Michigan farmers already have received assistance in getting farm help this year through the Michigan State College and county agricultural agent program, according to A. B. Love, state emergency farm labor supervisor.

As a further promise of aid, more than 8,000 Victory Farm Volunteers have been enrolled in offices of county agricultural agents, with more enrollments still being made. In 42 counties in the Lower Peninsula more than 350 volunteer placement centers are being established at which farmers can make requests for help.

AT THE MOVIES

"You Were Never Lovelier"

"You Were Never Lovelier" is said by an enraptured Hollywood to fittingly describe Rita Hayworth's latest screen appearance. The title of the film, Columbia's newest musical, directed by William A. Seiter and coming to the Palace theatre Saturday, Sunday und Monday, does not note that Fred Astaire is Miss Heyworth's dancing and romancing partner; nor does it note that Jerome Kern has penned for the Astaire-Hayworth team his greatest musical score since "Show Boat."

The Jerome Kern tunes are presented by Xavier Cugat and his orchestra, who are featured with Adolphe Menjou in support of the stars.

"Margin For Error"

There's a new kind of comedy treat in store for moviegoers in 20th Century-Fox's "Margin For Error," a rollicking picturization of the Boadway laugh hit by Clare Boothe Luce, who wrote "The Women."

Featuring Joan Bennett, Milton Berle and Otto Preminger, the film arriving Wednesday and Thursday at the Palace theatre takes you on a hilarious tour through the New York consulate of the Nazis looking for laughs.

"Just Off Broadway"

Two mystery-shrouded murders and several attractive young ladies, Marjorie Weaver among them, keep Lloyd Nolan leading a double life in "Just Off Broadway," the latest and liveliest of 20th Century-Fox's populer Michael Shayne films, coming to the Palace theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

No, we don't want to talk down the importance of your tires—we want to talk up the importance of your whole automobile. Remember, no new cars are being built at all. Your present car must last. That means you need a program of complete, all-'round maintenance service. Not just tire inspection. Not just lubrication. FARM BUREAU MET AT ELLSWORTH WEDNESDAY

About thirty leaders of the Tri-County Farm Bureau met Wednesday evening at the Ellsworth Community Hall to celebrate the completion of their membership campaign, which more than doubled their membership of last year. They enjoyed a fine supper served by the ladies of the P.T.A. Some time was spent in discussing the farm program and farm problems and the evening together was finished with an hour of games.

RED CROSS AQUATIC SCHOOL IS PLANNED

Charlevoix County Asked to Send Water Safety Students

George Hemingway, First Aid Chairman of the Charlevoix County Chapter of the American Red Cross, announces that the chapter will send several qualified persons to Red Cross Aquatic School with all expenses paid this summer. The persons attending this school will be qualified upon their return to conduct swimming and Water Safety courses as well as Farm and Home Accident Prevention. One of the courses being offered is the new Functional Swimming and Water Safety course being given the men in the Army and now to be extended to civilians of military age and fitness.

In the aquatic schools water safety instructors are qualified for assistant instructors in schools, resorts, recreation departments and the like. It is expected that persons completing this course will be hired at benches throughout the country this summer through the Red Cross giving swimming lessons, lessons in boating, canoeing and so on.

In previous years the age limit was set at a minimum of 18 years but has been dropped to take in 17 year olds with outstanding aquatic ability and leadership qualifications. For further details contact your local Red Cross chairman or George Hemingway at the Charlevoix County Nurseries. It is hoped there will be at least one representative from each part of the county taking advantage of this opportunity to do their share toward a safer home front. Application blanks may be obtained from the local Red Cross in each town. Remember — this is an essential program sponsored by the Red Cross and with all expenses paid. Don't delay. Make your application now.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

Bill Burry was reflecting back on the last war and what the boys used to do when they got a furlough.

"We weren't a hard-drinking bunch particularly, but that was in Prohibition," said Bill, "and forbidden fruit always seems worth goin' after. We'd hunt up a bootlegger, which was easy, and buy a bottle.

"So, instead of a beer or two, well—I guess we generally drank too much! . . . wonder what the boys are doing this time?"

I got out the official report the Office of War Information made and read him this: "The fact that there is vastly less drinking among soldiers in this war may stem in part from the sale of beer in camps."

From where I sit, it certainly doesn't look as if we had to worry about our boys. We learned our lesson in the last war, and I'm glad to see we're on the right track now.

"Although these dramatic words were spoken almost eighty years ago, Abraham Lincoln, who uttered them, might have been discussing today's problems. God grant that when the present war is over, we shall have won a new birth of freedom and that once more we may return to the normal pleasures of free American lives. Meanwhile, we can speed that happy day by making every minute count in the production battle as well as the battle of arms. Let this be our Memorial Day pledge."

The Food Problem

The Republican Congressioanl Food Study Committee, comprised of some 73 members, divided into nine sub-committees, and headed by Representative Thomas A. Jenkins of Ohio, has given considerable study to finding a means of correcting our food difficulties. The Committe findings reveal that most of our food difficulties are directly traceable to the divided control in handling problems related to food production, distribution and prices.

The Committee found some 10 agencies of the Government are now having direct or indirect control over the production, distribution and price of food. There is direct competition between several Federal agencies in the purchase of food; the OPA is attempting to regulate and control food prices but finds its efforts hampered by activities of other Government agencies bidding higher than established prices; by lack of adequate enforcement machinery and by the fact that it has lost much public respect and confidence.

With a view of consolidating our Nation's food problem under a central authority, Chairman Jenkins on May 18th introduced H. R. 2739 designed to place entire control of food under one agency, the Department of Agriculture, and naming the Secretary of Agriculture as the War Food Administrator.

The bill transfers to the Secretary of Agriculture, as Food Administrator, all of the powers given the present War Food Administrator by executive orders; all powers, functions and duties of the Price Administrator; all powers of the Secretary of Agriculture deemed necessary to the performance of his duties as Food Administrator; all functions, powers, and duties vested in the OPA or in the Price Administrator in respect to "(1) establishing, maintaining, and enforcing prices of food and (2) the rationing, allocation, and control over the distribution of food and the enforcement thereof."

The bill also transfers all functions of the Administrator of Food Production and Administration set up by the joint resolution approved by Congress, April 29, 1943.

The Food Administrator is directed, in the bill, to stabilize, establish or maintain food prices after consultation with the food industries affected, such "prices and distribution margins as will prevent profiteering," with a view to securing maximum production and maintaining stable prices to the consumer.

The Committee believes that this bill, if adopted, would practically put an end to the disastrous bungling of the Administration's food authorities. It is indeed a well recognized fact that unless the existing confused setup is corrected in the near future our country will witness the greatest shortage of food experienced in many a decade.

Maternal Care for Wives of Servicemen

In the First Deficiency Appropriation Act of 1943 — Public Law 11 — the Congress appropriated $1,200,000 to the Children's Bureau for grants to States to provide additional medical, nursing and hospital maternity and infant care for wives and infants of enlisted men serving in the four lowest pay grades of our armed forces. Wives may receive complete medical care during pregnancy, childbirth and for six weeks after and medical care of the baby for the first year.

The American Red Cross is stepping up its program of nurse recruitment for the armed forces in an effort to meet the goal of 36,000 army and navy nurses recruited in 1943.

U. S. Invasion of Attu Is Second Step In Drive to Oust Japs From Aleutians; Discount Rumors of Nazi-Italian Rift As Allies Plan Heavy Knockout Blows

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Pictured are members of the delegation of the United States to the United Nations conference on food and agriculture at Hot Springs, Va. Left to right, seated: Murray D. Lincoln, executive secretary of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation; Miss Josephine Schain; Judge Marvin Jones, conference chairman. Standing: Paul H. Appleby, undersecretary of agriculture; W. L. Clayton, assistant secretary of commerce, and Thomas Parran, M.D., surgeon general, U. S. Public Health Service.

ATTU:
Second Step in Aleutians

Firmly established on Attu, westernmost of the Aleutian islands in Japanese hands, strong American forces pushed forward against bitter opposition by the enemy.

First to admit the American landings, the Japs also were first to confess that heavy U. S. aerial and navy bombardments provided an irresistible cover for a continuing stream of reinforcements.

Presaging their defeat on Attu, the Japs made much of the claim that their troops were fighting numerically superior forces.

In Washington, Col. R. Ernest Dupuy declared that the attack on Attu was the second step in the drive to oust the Japs from the Aleutians. The first, he said, was the American occupation of Amchitka and Adak to establish bases from which to strike not only Attu but also Kiska, 172 miles to the east.

FOOD CONFERENCE:
Post-War Agriculture

Reconstruction of agriculture in Europe after the war was the principal subject of discussion among the representatives attending the United Nations food conference in Hot Springs, Va.

According to Marvin H. Jones, chairman of the parley and head of the U. S. delegation, conferees are chiefly concerned with getting the farmlands of reclaimed countries back into production.

Problems connected with such an effort, such as adequate distribution of supplies and materials, and the planning for the production of crops which would furnish local populations with nutritional diets, were brought into study.

The conference, in the nature of a discussion, brings no binding agreements among the nations, Jones said. Representatives will present conclusions of the conference to their respective governments for further action.

ITALY:
No Setup

After a sudden welter of rumor, it appeared as though the Allies would have to take Italy the hard way. The Italians and Nazis gave no sign of handing it over on a silver platter.

King Victor Emmanuel answered wild rumors originated by the Free French that he was about to abdicate by appearing at an art exhibition in Rome to receive the applause of his subjects.

Talk that Hitler was preparing to abandon Italy to its fate and draw all Nazi forces into the Brenner pass were immediately counteracted by plentiful assurances in the German press that Der Fuehrer had no such idea.

Allied airmen apparently were the first to take these rumors with a grain of salt. Even as the abdication talk, etc., intrigued the arm chair strategists, bombers were plastering the seaplane base of Lido di Roma, 15 miles from the Italian capital. Hangars, moorings and planes were the targets.

Rome admitted damage in the vicinity, but claimed Axis planes had bombed Algerian harbors "with good results."

RECIPROCAL TRADE:
Renewal Fought

Renewal of President Roosevelt's authority to negotiate reciprocal trade treaties with foreign countries was the subject of heated debate in congress, with successful efforts to limit the life of the President's power to two years.

Claimed as a great contribution to stable international relations by its advocates, and opposed as a dangerous threat to our tariff system by its foes, the Reciprocal Trade act passed through the house only after fierce debate and a two-year limitation on its existence.

Inspired by Secretary of State Cordell Hull, administration forces contended that renewal of the act now was necessary to assure the world that we were prepared to participate in the revival of international commerce and stabilize employment and marketing in other countries.

Foes of the act said it had failed to avert war since its creation in 1934. They tried to limit its operations by offering amendments which would allow congress to review treaties; permit domestic producers to testify against provisions of any treaty, and prevent the importation of products when they sold for less than the American cost of production.

WHEAT:
May Increase Acreage

With some officials claiming current consumption of wheat will run 500 million bushels over the 1943 crop of 690,000,000 bushels, the War Food administration has been debating about the possibility of increasing acreage allotment next year by 20 or 25 per cent.

If the WFA has hesitated in deciding on an increase, it has been for fear that production of other important staples like corn, flaxseed, soybeans and peas would drop. The problem centers around boosting wheat output without sacrificing other yields.

This year, 55 million acres of wheat were seeded, and intended increases would add 11 million acres. At a normal yield of 12 bushels to the acre, the WFA estimates the extra plantings would produce a crop of 792 million bushels.

HOSPITAL SHIP:
Sunk by Japs

With its red cross sign brightly lighted and the whole vessel fully illuminated, the Australian hospital ship Centaur was silently plying through placid waters to New Guinea.

Suddenly a terrific explosion shook the ship, and in a moment, it was wrapped in raging orange flames. As many of the vessel's complement of 363 fought to escape the burning hulk, the ship went down, only 64 surviving.

Cause of the sinking: a Japanese torpedo. Even as some of the survivors clung shakily to a raft, they could see the submarine's lights flickering over the dark sea.

Said Gen. Douglas MacArthur: "I cannot express the revulsion I feel at this unnecessary act of cruelty . . . The Red Cross will not falter under this foul blow. Its light of mercy will but shine the brighter on our way to eventual victory."

RUML PLAN:
In Again, Out Again

Passed by the senate, the Ruml plan was rejected by the house for the third time, in the wake of an open letter from President Roosevelt indicating he would veto such a bill.

As a result of the action, some form of pay-as-you-go legislation was put squarely up to a conference committee of the house and senate.

The committee had two bills as a basis on which to map pay-as-you-go. One was the senate measure modeled after the Ruml plan, forgiving all of either the 1942 or 1943 income tax, whichever is lower, and only assessing incomes in excess of normal. The other was the house bill, only wiping out the regular 6 per cent tax plus the first surtax rate of 13 per cent on 1942 income.

In both cases, a 20 per cent withholding tax would be taken out of all weekly or monthly wages after deductions of lawful exemptions to apply on the 1943 tax. Farmers and professional people would pay on their estimated tax in quarterly installments, making a final settlement on March 15 of the following year.

PRODUCTION:
On Schedule

"On all important categories in the President's (war production) program we are up to and ahead of schedule."

With these words, War Production Board Chairman Donald Nelson described the nation's booming industrial effort. Only in the matter of airplanes did he speak with reservation, declaring the situation was one with emphasis now placed on quality rather than quantity.

Changing needs of the services may necessitate some alterations in production plans, Nelson said, echoing reports that revised schedules have slowed the tempo of some plants while increasing it in others.

Tonk production has been chopped, Nelson revealed, since Great Britain and Russia have reduced their estimates of their needs.

GERMANY:
Ruhr Flooded

Flying at an altitude of 100 feet, four-engined British Lancasters dropped heavy mines in the huge reservoirs of the Eder and Mohne dams in northwestern Germany. Then British airmen watched the mines swirl into the dams' sluices, explode and break open big breaches through which the pent-up waters roared to deluge the Ruhr and Weser valleys below.

Hydro-electric stations throughout the area were crippled by the rising flood waters; traffic on the vital Mittelland canal, which unites all of Germany's river transportation, was disrupted, and the important industrial city of Kassel and others beyond were inundated.

Reports reaching Switzerland said at least 4,000 people had been killed and 120,000 made homeless by the torrents. The German high command admitted property damage and casualties "were very high as walls of water rushed through populated districts."

Dr. Eduard Benes, president of the Czechoslovakian government-in-exile, is shown as he conferred with President Roosevelt during an informal visit at the White House.

U. S. CASUALTIES:
80,000 Lost

In 17 months of warfare, U. S. losses have approximated 80,000 men.

Army casualties include 6,076 killed; 12,277 wounded; 24,345 missing, and 12,244 reported prisoners. Of the wounded, 4,000 have returned to duty or been discharged from hospitalization. The major losses in prisoners or missing were suffered in the Philippines.

In the navy, 7,218 have been killed, 4,683 wounded, and 12,061 missing. Since September, 1941, the merchant marine has reported 4,653 casualties.

COAL TRUCE:
Still Friends

Continuing to act in unison, Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes and United Mine Workers' chief John Lewis arranged for a 15-day truce in the tangled mine situation.

Once before, the two had agreed to a 15-day breathing spell, as 465,000 bituminous and anthracite miners were preparing to stay away from the pits. Miners were lining up behind Lewis again to strike when extension of the truce was announced.

SERVICE MEN NEED ONLY RESIDENT FISH LICENSE

A Michigan statute enacted in 1927 provides that "All persons regularly enlisted or commissioned as officers in the United States army, navy or marine corps and officially stationed in Michigan shall be considered for the purposes of all game and fish laws as residents of this state, and shall have all privileges of residents of this state under the game and fish laws." The difference between resident and non-resident rates this saves the servicemen is $1 for fishing, up to $14 for small game hunting, and up to $22.75 for deer hunting.

Elsewhere in the Courier this week is an advertisement urging prompt return of all bottles. You no doubt have appreciated the significance of the disappearance of tin cans and steady increase of the use of glass as containers for not only food, but paints, varnishes and other commodities which formerly were packed in tin containers. The result is that glass production is falling behind demand, making it imperative bottles be kept in the channels of use. Everybody should aid in this effort.

Through the sale of the poppies, the service officer and welfare committee of the local V. F. W. post are enabled to give aid and relief to veterans or service men in distress; those whose disabilities have destroyed their source of livelihood; to the dependent families of disabled veterans or to the widows and orphans of veterans or service men. Another percentage of the proceeds of the V.F.W. Buddy Poppy distribution makes it possible to maintain service and liaison work at the various Veterans' Administration regional offices and in Washington, D. C. Still another beneficiary of the Buddy Poppy fund is the V. F. W. National Home for orphans of war veterans, at Eaton Rapids, Mich.

KIWANIS WERE HOSTS AT DINNER TUESDAY

Boyne, Jordan Rotarians Guests Of Service Club

As a result of finishing in last place in the scrap drive last year, the Charlevoix Kiwanis club paid off with a dinner last night as hosts to the Boyne City Rotarians, who finished first, and the East Jordan Rotarians, who finished second.

Donald P. Watkins, president, introduced his fellow members in the Boyne City Rotary: Robert Campbell, president-elect, presented the East Jordan Rotarians and W. F. Meyer did the honors for the local Kiwanians.

The principal speaker of the evening was Mr. Roob Allies, secretary of the Michigan Railroad Association, who gave a very enlightening and appropriate talk on the present and past functions of rail traffic.

What the individual can do to help the situation was explained as follows: "The traveling public — and that includes all of us — can help by staying home. That is the only way to allow space for those who have to travel and unless voluntary self-denial is applied, compulsory methods may be established."

FORMER RESIDENT OF EASTPORT DIED HERE

Services Were Held Wednesday For Aged Lady

Mrs. Eudora Farrell, 75, wife of John Farrell died Sunday, May 16, at her home at 101 West Garfield avenue. She had been in ill health for six years.

She married John Farrell in 1889, and for 45 years they resided on a farm north of Eastport. Violation Heavy In April

Always a busy month for conservation officers, April this year saw exactly twice as many arrests as March, a count of prosecutions for conservation law violations recently completed, reveals. At 248 cases, the count was still well behind the total of 354 cases in April of a year ago.

APPEAL FOR WORKERS AT RED CROSS ROOM

Surgical Dressings Are Needed For American Forces

Workers are urgently needed to make Red Cross surgical dressings in the large quota just received for Charlevoix, which must be completed by the end of June.

Despite necessity of performing regular household tasks and seasonal spring cleaning, an appeal is extended to Charlevoix women to come to the Red Cross room to work on the dressings. The need for adequate supplies of dressings for the wounded of our armed forces becomes greater every day.

The work room in the city hall is open Monday and Tuesday evenings, and Wednesday and Thursday afternoons each week.

WATCH TOWER CREW NEEDED

ELEVEN WATCHES REMAIN OPEN IN SCHEDULE

Aircraft Warning Service Post Ready for Operation When Vacancies Are Filled

Although the Aircraft Warning Service post at the corner of State and Hurlbut streets has been in readiness for a week, operations have not been resumed due to lack of observers.

Fifty-one Charlevoix people have volunteered for this duty, but there yet remain eleven watches to be filled, exact times as are shown in the schedule on the last page of this issue.

Many people, upon being asked to take a watch, have excused themselves because of the busy season approaching. This post may not appear to be as necessary as the three-hours-a-week inconvenience it will cause, but if it contributes a small part toward intercepting of Axis bombers headed for Detroit, the time spent by Charlevoix people would appear negligible. Bombing of Detroit could result in a material postponement of the day when Charlevoix men will come home from the camps and battlefronts far good, and prevention of such a bombing lies in the information we can give the Defense Command at Fort Brady. Bombers headed for Detroit, whether from Berlin or Tokyo, would come over the Arctic circle and would be very likely to pass near Charlevoix.

Work of observers consists of reporting all plane movements, civilian and military, to the Soo Information center.

Movement of civilian planes is closely watched at present, due precautions being exercised against the eventuality that civilian planes taking off on unauthorized flights and flying toward the Soo, may be intercepted before any damage can be done to the locks. All civilian planes must now file flight plans for all flights with the CAA. These plans are made known to the information center and the actual flight, as reported by Aircraft Warning Service posts, checked against the flight plan.

Citizens are urged to look over the schedule of watches on the last page of this paper, choose a watch among those left and register by phoning number 75.

SENIOR CLASS IS GRADUATED

COMMENCEMENT TUESDAY FOR CLASS OF '43

Graduation Activities Concluded; School Summer Vacation To Begin Friday

Commencement exercises Tuesday night brought to a close graduation activities of the Charlevoix high school senior class of '43, numbering 43 members.

Last Wednesday class members made an all-day trip to Traverse City, accompanied by H. E. Bingham, high school principal and class sponsor. Attendance at the movies, dinner in a downtown restaurant, and roller-skating at the Coliseum provided an enjoyable afternoon and evening. The excursion was financed by accumulated class funds, balance of which was given to the high school athletic association to be used for some specific purpose, not as yet announced.

The school gymnasium was filled to capacity for baccalaureate services Sunday evening. "Shields of Brass" was the sermon delivered by Rev. Donald R. Evans, who stressed that in these days of world chaos, personal ambitions must often be unfulfilled and the best must be made of many situations. Other program features were: processional, "Aida," Verdi, school band; invocation, Rev. W. D. Wood; hymn by the congregation, "Come Thou Almighty King"; scripture reading, Rev. W. D. Wood; prayer, Rev. L. H. Hagle; two songs, "Go Forth With Thy Courage," Schumann, and "Holy Is the Lord," sung by the high school girls' glee club; benediction, Rev. L. H. Hagle; recessional, "Swedish Coronation March," Svendsen.

Two MSC Scholarships Are Given

Miss Phyllis Roberts

ANNUAL AWARD IS MADE BY ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

Davida Blake, Phyllis Roberts Are First Charlevoixans to Win Recognition

Two local young women have been awarded scholarships offered annually by the Alumni Association of Michigan State College, in cooperation with the college. This marks the first time that the scholarships have been given to Charlevoix young people.

Miss Davida Blake, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Blake, and Miss Phyllis Roberts, daughter of Mrs. Myrtle Roberts, are those so honored. In each senatorial district of Michigan, the alumni committee selects six outstanding scholars as candidates for the scholarships, from which two are chosen on the basis of their high school records, recommendations of the local committee, and a comprehensive examination.

While originally awarded on a three-term basis, the scholarship may be renewed through the entire four years of college if the student's scholastic record is sufficiently high.

Salutatorian of this year's Charlevoix high school senior class, Davida has taken an active part in high school activities, including the school band, glee club, Girl Scouts, school paper, dramatics, committee work, and is vice president of the senior class.

Phyllis graduated from Reed City high school in 1940, and was also salutatorian of her class. In Safe arrival in Australia of Henrietta Gravner, former manager of the Belvedere Hotel who is serving as assistant club director for the American Red Cross overseas staff, has been announced by Red Cross Headquarters.

Prior to joining the Red Cross service, Mrs. Gravner was manager of the Belvedere Hotel for 11 years, and is a member of the resort committee of the Michigan Hotel Association. POLICE CHIEFS WILL MEET HERE IN JULY

Annual convention of the Michigan Association of Police Chiefs will be held July 12-14 at the Belvedere Hotel in this city, it was announced Friday by Dan Patch of Ypsilanti, president of the organization.

Wilson, of Detroit, publisher of the Michigan Police Journal, has been here arranging preliminary plans for the convention with Chief of Police Clarence Heisa and Miss Rae Ann Gravner, Belvedere Hotel manager. With State Police Commissioner Oscar G. Olander, of Lansing, he is expected to return later to complete arrangements for the meeting.

Police problems involving juvenile delinquency, subversive activity and crime control under war conditions will be conference topics.

Anyone who plans to rent rooms, cottages or tourist cabins this summer is invited and urged to attend a meeting of the Charlevoix board of commerce, to be held on Thursday evening of this week at 8 o'clock on the second floor of the court house.

Plans for the summer season, and problems which will face renters this summer, are the topics to be under discussion.

CANNED MILK ADDED TO RATIONED ITEMS

Supplies Ample for Infant Food, Say OPA Spokesmen

Rationing of evaporated and condensed milk was ordered Tuesday night by the office of price administration, which simultaneously assured mothers that while supplies are sharply reduced, they are adequate to meet nutritional demands of children.

Value of condensed milk was set at one point per pound, for which red stamps in war ration book two will be used. Seven points a week will be ample for infant formulas, while three or four points will be sufficent for adults.

OPA spokesmen urged persons to spend points for canned milk only when they are unable to obtain fresh milk. Reports indicate that 1943 production of canned milk will be 25 per cent below 1942, due to heavy demands for manufacture of dairy products, and diversion of canned milk supplies to the armed forces.

SPEBSQSA PARTY IS SUCCESSFUL

LOCAL TALENT FEATURED AT GYM WEDNESDAY

Proceeds of Entertainment Will Send Ballad Benders Quartette To National Convention

Costumes and songs of the Gay Nineties, mingled with modern barbershop harmony, were featured at the entertainment given Wednesday evening at the school gymnasium by Charlevoix chapter No. 19, Society for the Preservation and Encouragement of Barber Shop Quartette Singing in America.

With Dallas Henry as master of ceremonies, assisted by Rev. Donald R. Evans, the program opened with numbers by the school band and singing of "God Bless America" by the audience. The Timber Cutter's chorus, made up of the chapter membership, sang two selections, "Tell Me You'll Forgive Me," and "I Want a Girl Just Like the Girl That Married Dear Old Dad."

Various numbers were given by the Ballad Benders, who will be Charlevoix's singing delegates to the national SPEBSQSA convention in Chicago, June 18-19. Among them were "Down on the Mississip'," "Tell Me Why," "Kentucky Babe," "Daddy Get Your Baby Out of Jail," "Maod Indigo," and a version of the quartette from "Rigoletto" that never was heard in the Metropolitan opera house.

Donna and Doris Onderkirk sung "Wait for Me, Mary," and "For Me and My Gal." The Unnamed Three, Mrs. Dean Davenport, Mrs. Bill Supernaw and Mrs. Vi Kelso, sang "Sweet Sue," and "Workin' on the Railroad." Aided by Harold Gray, vice president of

COUNCIL ADOPTS ANNUAL BUDGET

ORDINANCE SETS FUNDS FOR ENSUING FISCAL YEAR

Valuation of City Property Was Raised by Board of Review At Meeting In May

Adoption of the annual budget and setting of the tax rate for the July, or summer tax roll, constituted one of the major items of business transacted Tuesday night by the city council.

Providing funds for departments and interest and sinking fund to retire funded debts, the budget was set at $35,541.60. This sum is virtually the same as that of last year, when the figure was $35,525.48. To provide this amount, the council approved a tax rate of 12 mills for general purposes and 3 mills for interest and sinking fund, the same rate as a year ago.

The 15 mill tax rate will be assessed against a real and personal property valuation of $2,369,440 as set by the board of review at their May meeting. The valuation figure for 1943-44 represents an increase of $1,075 over last year, when more than $10,000 was cut off property valuation by the board.

Following are the budget figures for 1943-44:

Contingent	$ 2,183.28
Advertising	3,200.00
Auto Camp	100.00
Parks	6,400.00
Docks, Harbors	None
Police	6,200.00
Health	450.00
Airport	None
Cemetery	3,500.00
Street Fund	3,700.00
Sewer	600.00
Fire	2,100.00
	$28,433.28
Int. and Sink.	7,108.32
	$35,541.60

Details of the budget are contained in an ordinance appearing on page 7.

BEAVER ISLANDERS TO GROW CUCUMBERS

Acreage on Island Contracted By Local H. J. Heinz Agent

Beaver Island farmers gave an enthusiastic reception to H. E. Brumm, district manager for the H. J. Heinz Co., with headquarters at Charlevoix, an his recent visit to the island.

Indications are that a considerable acreage of pickling cucumbers will be grown on the island this year. Immense quantities of pickles are needed for the armed forces, and growing of this crop is a real contribution to the war food program. It is a Group 1 crop and each acre equals one-half war unit.

Acreage is still available either by writing the district office at Charlevoix, or contracts may be signed at Lloyd McDonough's store.

At Commerce Meeting

Representing Charlevoix at the annual meeting of the Petoskey chamber of commerce, last Thursday evening, were F. E. Cartier, George LaBlanc Jr., and Charles Duerr.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

"Behold the fisherman — he goeth full of hope, and when the day is far spent he returneth smelling of strong drink and the truth is not in him." That wording is imprinted on a ruler Pvt. Art Emmons sent to me from Fort Sill, Okla. The ruler, by the way, is marked with 12 inches, while in reality it's only six inches long, and bears further wording to this effect: "Fisherman's Inches — to better your fishing stories use this rule. Have positive proof of your statements." Art's been reading my fishin' yarns, no doubt, and maybe sent the souvenir as a hint to soft pedal a little. Well, it's the privilege of an editor and a fisherman to stretch the truth somewhat and when one fellow goes to work with both privileges, things are apt to get out of line once in awhile. Thanks for the ruler, Art, and greetings to you.

Might's well get the fishing chatter over with now as long as I started that first. They tell me Ed. Goff, out Ironton way, picked up four steelhead and a nice German brown trolling in South Arm last Saturday. He's the fellow who knocked off that big German brown a year ago. They're getting steelhead off the west shore of Lake Charlevoix, too, and incidentally (this time I am bragging) took another limit of brooks over the week end. Newville turned the trick Monday, also. The perch are still coming good, now right up close to the docks, indicating the spawning run is about over. That information sums up the matter, I guess.

The darkest hour is never more than 60 minutes.

This will acknowledge a nice letter from Allan Shapton, who is working at a U. S. army air base near Miami, Fla. He mentioned that he was hungry for news from the "old home town," so subscribed to the paper. Allan says he has a half-acre garden patch, grew a fine crop of spuds and never sold produce at such prices. In case some of you would like to

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

It's been a long time since the last time I wrote to you and a lot of things have happened in the meantime. I have changed APO number twice and I have seen a lot of this section of the world, and believe me, I know what Sherman meant when he said war was hell.

Our location now is a paradise compared with some of the places I have lived in during the past year. Now we have a roof over our heads, and it seems good after living in tent for a year and more. I just stopped to figure it up and so far I have been over here for fifteen months tomorrow and by the looks of things it will be a long time before I walk down Bridge street again.

How about sending the paper to my new address, I sure miss the editors ramblings down in the left hand lower corner. I haven't seen a copy of the home town weekly for at least three months. There are lots of things I can get along without but the two things I must have are letters from home and the weekly rag. I sure get a kick out of reading the letters of the other boys in the service and finding out where they are. The town of Charlevoix is pretty well represented on all fronts and in all of the services.

Lately I have been reading all of the articles I can get hold of about the present argument about beer. Why worry about that now, a better idea would be to spend that energy on the Axis. I can promise you that the beer situation will be well taken care of when this outfit returns home.

Right at the present I am back at my old job as Squadron Inspector and believe me, they sure keep me busy. Giving the final OK on whether an airplane flies or not sure has me in an uproar at times. It's worse than a job as a baseball umpire, if I ground it for repair work the ground crew kicks and the pilots complain about holding it out of commission, and if I let it fly some pilot comes back and tells me in no uncertain terms just why the airplane is not fit to fly. It gets pretty rough at times but in the end I usually win. On top of that I have about fifty reports

No Smiles and Heils for Der Fuehrer

Wounded Germans sit helpless in wheelchairs while Hitler congratulates them during a Nazi celebration at a hospital in Berlin. Not long ago he promised them a glorious victory, and by the expression on their faces these men are probably wondering if this is what he meant. Photo was copied from a German magazine.

Compare your troubles with what is happening to Americans in Manila. Over 3000 captives of the Japs live in crowded barracks, with poor food, inadequate medicine and pitiful sanitation, and are forced to broadcast pleasant lies about their miserable existance. Don't miss this revealing article by James R. Young, in The American Weekly, the magazine distributed with next week's Sunday Chicago Herald-American.

GOOD CARE CUTS LOSS OF CHICKS

Average poultrymen lose 25 per cent of the baby chicks they hatch or purchase, good poultrymen with wise management lose only about 10 per cent of the young stock before it matures for meat or eggs, but the careless who doesn't take care may lose 50 per cent of his chicks.

Poultry in Michigan contributes so much to the war effort that chicks saved represent both economy and patriotism, comments J. M. Moore, extension poultryman at Michigan State College.

He endorses a 22-point program. With Michigan's hatcheries still turning out baby chicks and many potential flocks still in the young chick stage, the pointers offer ways to reduce mortality, reduce labor and add to the war effort.

First bit of advice is that poultrymen purchase quality chicks from pullorum-tested stock. Prepare for arrival of chicks by having equipment and houses cleaned, disinfected. Move brooder house to clean ground. Provide adequate equipment. Protect feed and water to prevent waste and improve sanitation. Use a deep, highly absorbent litter. Crowding doesn't pay. Sunshine and green grass are ideal in good weather.

Other points advise separating cockerels and pullets at early age. Provide green pasture range, avoid contact with older fowl or turkeys. Build range shelter from scrap material. Protect feed and water containers and move these frequently. Protect pullets from predatory animals at night. Clean brooder house and disinfect before starting second brood.

For nutrition, the advice is to feed adequately. For disease control, seven pointers repeat the advice of purchasing healthy chicks. If disease shows up, get an early and accurate diagnosis. Properly dispose of dead chicks. Prevent bronchitis by keeping young chicks away from older broods. Prevent coccidiosis by keeping adequate litter, control roundworms and tapeworms, immunize pullets against fowl pox in areas where disease has been reported.

What Girls Can Do About The Man Shortage

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Glad we ran into you, Judge. I was just tryin' to set Helen straight on this business about sugar. I wish you'd tell her what you told me last night down at lodge."

"Glad to, Jim. I told him, Helen, that there's not a single bit of truth to the rumor that the distillers use sugar in making whiskey. They make it exclusively from grain. Only bootleggers use sugar to make whiskey. I read an article in the paper just last week that goes to prove it. It told how a confessed bootlegger in a Federal court testified to the fact that another bootlegger, also on trial, had bought a million pounds of sugar a few years ago.

"As a matter of fact, Helen, no distiller is making whiskey today and hasn't for many months. All distillers are working night and day producing war alcohol for the government. And they make every drop of it exclusively from grain, too."

LANSING LETTER

If Michigan's Prentiss M. Brown can pull a rabbit out of the hat, he may be able to save the OPA system of price ceilings, rollbacks and other controls from a resounding Humpty Dumpty fall.

Resignation of Arthur Sarvis, the Flint banker, as state director is regarded as just another sign of impending trouble on the price front. Detroit received two complicated sets of ceiling prices in two weeks! two of the three daily papers refused to duplicate columns of space to publish the second listing. Sarvis said he had been given 48 hours' notice for the first release which was badly scrambled.

Chain and indepedent food store operetors hava denounced the new roll-back ceilings, declaring that distribution of food was threatened with "complete demoralizetion" if not "annihilation."

Michigan business executives, who have recenly visited Washington, hsvo expressed privately their concern over present symptoms of runaway inflation. OPA's feilure to hold price ceilings is just one factor. Another is the wobbly policy whereby the War Labor Board continues to pierce wage ceilings and whereby the 48-hour work week is being extended to more key industries.

Although the nation did oversubscribe the $13 billion second war loan by around $5 billions, the fact still remains — according to public statements made by William M. Robbins, chairman of the United Stutes Treasury Department's war finance committee — that only 7 per cent of all bonds sold were "E" bonds. Theso bonds are popularly called "people's bonds" becnuse of their low denomination. Who subscribed the billion billions? Mostly the banks, insurance companies, trust companies, manufacturing concerns and governmental units.

On the political front, the visit of Wendell L. Willkie to Michigan lsst Sunday occasioned new gossiping about the line-up of Michigan Republicans for the 1044 esmpaign. A powerful movement is under way among Michigan Republicans to support Thomas Dewey, New York's Owosso-born governur, for the presidential nomination. Secretury of State Dignon of Owosso is Dewey's bell-ringer here, but the Willkie triumph nt Michigan polls in 1040 is not forgotten among the politicinns. The soring popularity of his Gulliver's travels, "Our World," is boosting the Willkie stock. Frank McKay, national committeeman, was prominent at the Willkie reception in Detroit.

The labor shortage in Michigan due to become worse in 90 days as fathers under the age of 38 ere called to military duty, may be eased somewhat by the current cutback of production in key war plants. Michigan's industrial capacity is near to the top. As the government revises schedules, labor is being released.

More airplanes and fewer tanks under this pring's schedules give rise to the increasing belief thet the United Nations may seek to knock out Germany and Italy in 1943 by air attacks and limited invasions — Norway and Italy, for example — and leave the big continental attack to 1944. Tha grand invasion may possibly come earlier if Germany weakens internally under continued air assault.

Betting odds still favor President Roosevelt as the democratic presidential nominee in 1944. Churchill's masterful address in Washington increased this belief. The Lewis swing to AF of L is regardad as a "beat Roosevelt" move. Lewis favored Willkie in 1940.

Continued rainy weather, accompenied by cold temperature, hasn't improved the prospects of a good food crop in 1943. Michigan gardeners are urged to plant nonperishable vegetables which can be stored next winter and to overlook the traditional luxury items of lettuce, onion and radishes.

Strict liquor rationing for Michigan consumers is on the cards of the state liquor control commission, as soon as the present registration drive is completed. Arrangements are to be made later for visitors and service men.

On the walls of Governor Kelly's executive office is a huge chart showing the state's various administrative offices, commissions and ugencies. Reason: Kelly is surveying governmentel units with thought of consolidations and simplification.

Despite gasoline rationing, the vacation resorts in the lower peninsula — especially those served by railroads and buses — anticipate e good season this summer. Demand is heavy for cottsges.

Lieutenant Governor Eugene C. Keyes, who spent several yesrs of his boyhood on an Ontario farm, recently inspected a farm near Howell. His idea: A good farm is a good investment.

Civilian per capita food consumption in 1943 is expected to ba about 3 per cent moro than the average for the 1935-39 period but 6 per cent below the overage consumption in 1942.

GAS FOR GARDENERS, NONE FOR BERRYING

The district office of the OPA ot Grand Rapids hes announced that Victory gardeners showing need for extra gas beyond their "A" books, will, if approved by the local board, be allowed up to 20 gallons extra gasoline. No extra gas will he granted, however, for the purposes of gathoring wild berries or bringing in fire wood.

Work absences in a Cleveland, Ohio, plant were reduced by a labor-management drive from 22,000 hours to 8,500 hours in a four-month period, in spite of increased employment.

to send out every month and I was never very good at offica work. So far none of them have bounced but just give them e little time.

This place is just like garrison back in the States except when I do get a pass thera is no place to go, no beer to buy, nothing at all to spend money on except native trinkets. My greatest ambition at this timo is to he a USO Commando like those guys around Chicago and the other big cities. That would meen coming back to the States but that would suit me flne. I have seen enough of this part of the world to last me the rest of my life.

So far I heven't seen any boys from the home town thet ara in tho service. I know where Ed Radie and Bruce Withers are but I havo been nowhere near them yet so I heven't had un opportunity to look them up. I nearly made connections with Ray Nowland last November but I was one day too late and he had left for places unknown. If I stay over hera long enough I am sure to meet some of them some day and that will be a red letter day for me. Most of the older men in our outfit are from Michigan and that is some consolation.

Have to close now and get to bed because unless I miss my guess tomorrow will be another day of continued argument.

Sincerely,

Your Couriers are going to the right address, Bob, and should all catch up with you some day.

Dear Ken,

Sure was swell of you to catch up with my new address so soon. I was really enxious to get the paper and see all of that good old Charlevoix news.

I am in the amphibious squadron. This is a new branch of the navy and really the most important. We land marines and soldiers on beach heads and islends in our small boats, at 22 to 30 miles per hour. We are coxswains in training. I've felt the salt water spray from the blue Pacific in my face already and it really is salty.

I am working in the boat yards now, caulking, painting and other small items just as I did at Rny's (Hamilton's) last year. I am up for 3rd class petty officer (carpenter's mate) soon.

I went to Hollywood and Los Angeles last week on my 36-hour liberty. I get 6 liberties out of 7 a week and one duty night. Also included in the 7 days is one 36-hour a week. So you see we get out enough. It sure is beautiful in Hollywood and LosAngeles, oranges and fruit orchards and such, and also I might add, some very beautiful girls.

There is an Ager boy down here, also a few other boys from Charlevoix in or around Los Angeles, Diego and Hollywood, and if you have their address would you kindly send them to me. I remain,

A friend,
Loads of luck,

Hi Ken,

Here I am at Keesler, for how long, who knows.

My present occupation is that of acting sergeant, teaching recruits the age-old art of drilling (and not for oil.) Of course I still draw a Pfc's pay.

I've said it before but will gladly say again, tha Courier is aver faithful. I enjoy very much the letters from the othar fellows in tho service.

It may interest you to know Ed Fochtman and I were practically bed-fellows ona evening, and I still see him around.

Time is growing short so I'll wind up by saying, "Keep the weeds out of your Victory Garden."

Yours,

Hi Ken,

Just thought I would drop you a few lines telling you thanks for the papers I hava been receiving, also for the CSO which is backing it by the donations. It really means a lot to a fellow when they sea a few names that are familiar in a home town paper.

George Shaw and I have stayed together since we left Charlevoix, and wa are now only one room apart in the same hotel, which has a swell view of that big Atlantic ocean (personally I'll take Lake Michigan any day.)

We both got into thot swell branch of the army called the air corps, we also both got into the mechanics branch of it. George took ground mechanics and I took flying mechanics, I think we'll both lika it though.

We ara in our basic training, which lasts 42 days, then we will be shipped to a naw base to take up machanics of tha air corps.

It'a really a pretty sight to see a dress parade here in Atlantic City. Tha fellows all dressad up in class A uniforms, and singing that swell song, tho Army Air Corps song. I have heard people tell about it and they say it's truly beautiful to see these parades. People from New York and all the other states around here come to see them, as we march down Boardwalk.

I'll close for now, until tha next time.

Dear Ken,

Just a line to give you my new address. I'd sure hate to miss a copy of the Courier. Sunday would not be complete without it.

Dear Ken,

Just a line or two to let you know my new address. I was transferred here the 10th and really like it here.

We're just 30 miles from San Francisco. Sure glad to leave Nevada, and glad to get back to California. This is a new base, we're the first sailors to be stetioned here and we're cleaning up the barracks and all the windows in our mess hall. It's hard to believe that our mess hall can hold 8,000 at one time, but thera aren't that many sailors here yet. There aren't over 200 of us hera. We sure get swell food, the best I've had yet.

Well, I must be closing. I enjoy reading the Courier, and thank you for sending it. My new address is:

Sincerely,

Deer Ken,

Heve once again begun to receive the Courier after un elapsed period of six months—for which I am extremely grateful to you and the C.S.O. I am now stationed in North Africa, which no doubt accounts for the burning sensation I get reading of the cold weather Charlevoix hes experienced this past spring.

I have visited Rabet end Casablenca on furloughs, and found them to be quite interesting from a visitor's viewpoint. The natives consist of French ond Arabs, the latter of course attracted my attention. They certainly set themselves aside when it comes to fashions of dress. They clothe themselves in robes from head to foot, some of which are rather ragged but it's quite the custom, I gathered. One fellow gave ono of them a pair of pants only to have him cut it up for patches for his own ragged clothing — so I gathered their opinion of our dress isn't too high. But they ere very friendly to Americans.

Hoping to visit a much mora beautiful town soon (Cherlevoix) —until then I extend my heartiest hello to everyone and thanking you all again, I remain

As always,
T/Sgt. Ted Ager.

MOTORISTS SHOULD RECAP GOOD TIRES

Conservation of National Rubber Supply A Necessity

Recapping of tires is being urged by the office of price administration whenever it is possible to do so.

Despite recent relaxations in tire regulations, the rubber supply is not sufficient to allow new tires for all who might desire them, only for those who actually need them. It is the patriotic duty of every motorist to have tires re-capped instead of attempting to obtain new ones, if the national rubber supply is to last.

Swamped with applications for purchase of new tires, the local war price and rationing board joins in urging the motoring public to get tires recapped when they can.

Thirty-three men from this county left for Camp Custer Monday afternoon, escorted to the depot by a parade of forty automobiles. Joseph Holecheck nnd Ernest Nowland were the only ones from this clty to leave.

Severe raln storms last week caused thousands of dollnrs of damage in this region. On the north side of the city, streets, lawns, gardens and fields were flooded several inches deep and a flood of water poured down the main thoroughfare. Near the M. K. Between Petoskey and Charlevoix, the Pere Marquette roadbed was washed out in several plnces and tons of sand and gravel were piled nn the trnck in other spots.

WOMEN AT WAR

Betsy

The little girl tugged gently at her mother's sleeve.

"Now, Mother?" she asked. "Now can't we write my letter?"

"Why of course, Betsy," Mrs. Carson grinned. "Are you going to write it or am I?"

"Well," Betsy said. "Mayba you'd better kind of say it to me. Only I'd lave to write it."

"All right, then, Miss Carson, take a letter," her mother said, walking alowly up and down the room. "Ready? 'Dear Mr. Morgenthau: The way I save money for War Stamp buying is to steer all the small household jobs tawards my daughter, who is aight yeara old. She is so keen about buying War Stamps that I know all the money I might have paid to someone elsa for doing the jobs will go toward Victory when paid ta her.'

"Now maka a list, Betsy. 'Windows washed, 60 cents. Apples picked from under the tree, 25 cents. Emptied trash cans, 4 cents. Sold string beans from the garden, 15 cents. Sold strips of spoiled film to childran for sungazing, at ona cent a yard, 20 cents. Total, $1.24. Yours helpfully, I hope,'—and then I'll sign it at tha bottom."

Betsy waa puffing like a grampus from her labors. Tha tall, painstaking letters tottered bravely across tha sheet of paper. Grovely Mrs. Carson took the pen to sign.

"Mother, would it be the proper etiquetie if I aigned it too?"

"Perfectly proper, I think," Mrs. Carson said without a smile, and handed the pen back to Betsy.

FERTILE SOILS AID LIVESTOCK

Crops Rich in Minerals Are Valuable as Feed.

By W. H. PIERRE
(Head of Agronomy Department, Iowa State College of Agriculture.)

When we think of fertils soils wa usustly think of high crop yields. Soils, however, nqt only affect the yield of crops but they also affect crop qusulty composition.

From the standpoint of salmal feeding the threo elements often found in too low quautities in crops are nitrogen, calcium, and phosphorus. For this reason they are often added to animal rations as supplements, nitrogen as protein concentrates, and calcium and phosphorus as minersl supplements.

The protein egnient of all grass or non-leguminous crops is determined by the available nitrogen in the soil. If the available nitrogen is low, crops make poor growth and contain low amounts of nitrogen and of protein. Therefore, the use of msnure or nitrogen fertilizers on such soil often increases both the yield and feeding value of the crop grown.

Legume hays are, of course, much bigher in nitrogen and protein than grass hays. Moreover, legumes when well inoculated, get their nitrogen from the sir. They csn also furnish nitrogen to non-legume crops grown in association.

Liming, by promotlag the inoculstion and growth of legumes, often results in sn increased nitrogen content in the crops.

Of the elements found in low amounts in crops which are important in snimal nutrition, phosphorus is found in all parts of the animal body, and together with lime forms the chief constituent of bone.

Animals fed a ration deficient in phosphorus have been found to develop bone diseases. One of the early symptoms of such a disease is bone chewing or the gnawing of wood. This is usually followed by poor physicsl appearance, poor appetite, stiffness in the joints and sometimes fragile bones.

Deficiency of phosphorus in the ration often exists, however, long before symptoms of extreme phosphorus deficiency are obtained; and in balsncing a ration for farm animals, phosphorus in the minersl form is often needed in order to provide the necessary amount of this element.

Livestock Find Comfort In Brush-Off Fly Trap

Farm animals soon learn to make frequent use of a device for brushing off snd trapping horn flies that are such s pest to livestock in summer. It is a engelike structure that fly-pestered snimals pass through, leaving their tormentors behind in traps to be destroyed.

The framework of the cage is a structure 7 feel wide, 6 feet high, and 10 feet long with s fly-tight roof. Canvas flaps within the cage brush flies off animals walking through.

The device is usually set up at some strategic spot through which the snimals must pass severnl times a day—tn s lane to the pasture, in the entry to a dairy barn, or on the way to the water tank or pond. Livesluck soon learn to make for the "brusher-offer" when flies torment them.

Any handy man can make such a trap at small expense with the aid of plans and illustrations that the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarsntine, Washington, D. C., offers to send in response to a post cerd request.

Some Weed Plants Color, Flavor Eggs

Keeping laying bens away from certain plants, and limiting the eottooseed meal in their diet, will prevent off colors snd flavors in eggs. Poultry specialists of the bureau of animal industry report that if there is more than 5 per cent eottonseed meal in hens' diet, the yolks of the eggs tend to become mottled after the eggs have been stored several months. Tha whites may take on a pink tinge. Cheese weed has s similar effect on egg white. Shepherds-purse and field pennycress may produce a green color in both the white and the yolk.

If chickens est freely of strongly flavored feedstuff, it mey eause an undesirable flavor in the eggs. Turnips, oolons, gertle and leeks are among tha worst offenders.

Poultry Houses

Dirt floors are a distinct menace to the welfare of the poultry industry, says Roy S. Dearstyne, head of the North Carolina State college poultry department. If conditions actually necessitate houses with such floors, these should be scraped once each month. Four to six inches of dirt should be removed and replaced with sand or soil from unpolluted sources. The material removed should be taken to some place where chickens do not range.

PLACE TIME LIMIT ON TELEPHONE CALLS

New Michigan Bell Policy In Effect Monday, May 24

Beginning Monday, May 24, don't be surprised if the telephone operator asks you to limit your long distance call to five minutes.

On that date, the Michigan Bell Telephone company instituted the new practice in order to help conserve time on overloaded telephone lines. The request by the operator will be mada only on calls which have been delayed because circuits were unavailable.

On such calls, the operator, after completing the connection, will say: "Please limit your call to five minutes — others are waiting."

George M. Welch, president of the company, said that "notwithstanding the cooperation of many people in limiting their use of the long distance service to only the most necessary calls, the fact remains that the number of calls to warbusy centers continues to increase.

"The new practice is important to the service because restrictions on the use of materiala make it impossible to add sufficient circuits to busy centers for handling the additional calls. If our customers generally will limit their calls to five minutes or less, delays now experienced in setting up connections during husy perlnds can be reduced considerably."

The public is being informed officially nf the new practice through advertising.

He pointed out that true success is that of character rather than nf materinl gain. Diplomas were presented by C. S. Webster, president of the hoard nf educntinn, assisted by Harold Withers, also a member of the board. Alsn on the program were: processional, "War March of the Priests," Mendelssohn, school band; invocation, Rev. W. D. PICKLING CUCUMBERS AN ESSENTIAL CROP

Numerous Concessions to Growers Made by Government

That the growing of contract pickling cucumbers is considered essential by the government must be accepted as a fact when the numerous concessions to growers are considered.

Briefly, these government releases begun lute in 1942 when it was announced that pickles may be packed 100% of 1942 under Closure M-104, and tin is to be alloeated for export of government purchases. A memorandum from the United States department of agriculture, Washington headquarters to state war boards, indicated that an increased acreage in 1943 was expected, and further stated that the armed forces are taking a largo part of the 1942 pack and want still larger quantities this year. Pickles form a prominent part in the diet of the armed forces, which with the known scientific facts about their vitamin and mineral content, is not surprising.

The time for planting pickling cucumbers is only a short time away and soil preparations should now be well advanced. Increased production depends on better preparation and improved fertilization.

Wartime Canning Demonstrations To Emphasize Food Insurance

The homemakers of Charlevoix County are making plans to speed victory through a plentiful supply of home produced food. To safeguard and protect the interest of every family both rural and urban a victory garden is the first requisite. Next, to make the proper use of what is produced home canning is essential. As a help toward this goal a series of nine meetings have been arranged for Charlevoix County on Tuesday and Wednesday, June 8 and 9. These meetings will be of great help to every housewife who faces this big responsibility of preserving ample food supplies this coming winter. Following is the schedule of meetings:

Tuesday, June 8th

10:00—Marion Center Grange Hall.
2:00—Barnard Grange Hall.
10:00 — East Jordan High School (Home Ec. Room.)
2:00—Star Community Hall.
8:00—Boyne City Gymnasium (Dining Room.)

Wednesday, June 9th

10:00—Wallnon Lake Community Hall.
2:00—Boyne River Grange.
10:00—Charlevoix (City Building.)
2:00—Murray School.

Miriam Eads and Lolabelle Gren, Specialists from the Michigan State College, will be present nt these nine meetings. The process of canning fruits and vegetables is to be shown in detail. The "how" nnd "when" of drying, brining, pickling and storing will be discussed. Types of jars, covers and other types of equipment are tn be displayed. A new addition "Wartime Canning" giving complete directions nf use of both hot water bathe and pressure cookers are availeble.

Inesmuch as these metings will be the only ones conducted on home canning this summer a special invitation is extended to group meinbers of the Home Economics Extension Club, 4-H Canning club leaders and members, homs economics teachers and students and all other leaders interested in nutrition.

Farm Machinery and Equipment Being Used To Full Capacity

Farmers in Charlevoix County can lend or borrow farm machinery on a fair basis for wartime food production if they refer to a suggested rental schedule approved by the American Society of Agricultural Engineering and recommended by the agricultural engineering department at Michigan State College, according to B. C. Mellencamp, County Agricultural Agent.

Owners deservo compensation when they lend mnchinery and this fec should cover cost of repnirs, depreciation and interest on the investment, plus an additional cost for risk and the responsibility of ownership, the engineers recommend.

Machines should be operated by the owner. If the borrower or lessee operates the machinery the engineers suggest increases up to double the suggested rate, nnd in other instances increased rates to cover operating conditions.

Rentnl charges are based on an hnurly charge fnr each $100 cost of the mchine now. This charge nplies for ench hour of the first five hours and then is cut in two for each hour nfter five hours. The expense of sharpening knives, shovels or sickles, or of binding twine, baling wire, fuel and lubrication is borne by the borrower or lessee.

Rates suggested in cents per hour for each $100 cost of the machine now:

Riding plow, 24; tractor plow, 28; disk plow, 32; disc harrow, horse, 20; diek harrow, tractor, 22; field cultivator, 24; spring tooth harrow, 24; spike tooth harrow, 22; roller, 28; grain drill, 38; corn planter, 40; cultivator, horse, 20; cultivator, tractor, 20; mower, horse, 26; mower, tractor, 28; potato planter, 38; potato digger, 36; sulky rake, 34; side delivery rake, 36; hay lnader, 28; grain binder, 42; thresher, 18; combine, 24; corn bindsr, 42; husker-shredder, 20; manure spreader, 11; tractor, 8.

Cutworms Reported To Be Damaging Victory Gardens

Cutworms apparently are doing considerable damage to early crops in many gardens. They may be eliminated by the use of poison baits, but some care should be exercised in the use of these baits.

Small quantities of bait are made up at the rate of four ounces of whits arsenic or Paris grsen to five pounds of bran or sawdust, chopped dandelions, alfalfa or clover. To this mixture may be added a half pint of cheap molasses and ons or two oranges to give it an attractive scent.

For the small city lot ten to fifteen pounds of this bait uniformly scattered should turn the trick. Cutworms usually do their work at night and will feed on thie poisoned bait. Perhaps two or threo npplications is necessary.

A very simple formula will be a half bushel of dnndelion greens chopped fine and then mixed thoroughly with three or four ounces of Paris Green.

Standardization of glass food containers will increase their production by about 20 per cent more this year with existing equipment than were produced in 1942.

Tho nation-wido "carry-your-bundlea" campaign brought about n delivery mileage cut of 500,000 miles by n popular-price store in Cleveland, Ohio.

VICTORY GARDENS
Michigan Council of Defense

By Paul R. Krone,
Chief, Victory Garden Section,
Mich. Office of Civilian Defense

If you dickered with the idea of growing a Victory Garden, but didn't etart, don't give up now just because preliminary reports indicate our goal of 700,000 gardens in Michigan has been exceeded by 100,000. This goal was established last winter and there is now evidence that additional food will be required if we are to have the supply of edibles to which we are accustomed in Michigan.

The tremendous quantities of canned, frozen and dehydrated foods necessary to maintain our armies, plus the large quantities needed for lend-lease and for shipment to the reoccupied countries, make it imperative for us to produce every possible ounce of food and to properly can, store or preserve it.

Late starters can still get under the Victory Garden wire. There is still plenty of time to plant tomatoes, beans, corn, potatoes, turnips and all those other highly essential staple foods that play such an important part in winter meals. So if you haven't planted a garden get busy on it now. You'll be helping yourself as well as helping the war effort.

Some persons who never had a garden have held back because they believe they don't know enough about growing one. It isn't a difficult job. And help is available. If you haven't a garden plot, your local Victory Garden chairman will assist you in getting one and perhaps even arrange to have it plowed. A card addressed to me at the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense in Lansing will bring you a free booklet on how to garden. And follow this column for further information.

Now here's an important point for all gardeners. A survey of urban gardens in the State indicates that many persons have planted only a summer garden, that is, a garden that will furnish food to the family during the summer months only. All gardeners should plant crops for storing and canning. It is essential that we preserve as much of our winter food supply as possible, for we cannot depend upon our markets to furnish us with the quantities of these foods that we desire — or need.

Such easily stored crops as potatoes, carrots, beets, cabbage, turnips, rutabagas, salsify and winter squash can still be planted, as well as such important canning crops as beans, lima beans, spinach, tomatoes, sweet corn and New Zealand spinach.

If you haven't additional land available you probably can work some of these crops into your garden when earlier crops will mature soon or have matured. For instance, you can plant winter squash in with your early corn. Tomatoes can be interplanted with early peas that will soon be maturing. Late cabbage plants can be set between early plants of head lettuce. A late crop of spinach can be planted to follow the early carrots.

Use care to avoid over-planting less stable things that cannot be stored or canned. Undoubtedly in many home gardens during the height of the producing season there will be surpluses of the more perishable items, such as radishes, lettuce, spinach, cabbage and others. This is extremely undesirable because of the waste of foods, effort, seed, fertilizer and soil. More space should be devoted to crops that can be stored and canned. If you do that you'll be well satisfied next winter that you used such foresight.

AT THE MOVIES

"Stand By For Action"

Robert Taylor, Charles Laughton, Brian Donlevy and Walter Brennan all are appearing in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Stand By For Action," which comes Saturday and Sunday to the Palace Theatre.

The picture is the first great battle film of the present war. It's also the first outstanding sea picture since "Mutiny on the Bounty," and marks Laughton's initial appearance at M-G-M since that picture.

"Chetniks!"

Sabotaging by day, raiding by night and striking the enemy in a thousand places, "Chetniks!" The Fighting Guerrillas, 20th Century-Fox's thrilling new film, is slated to flash across the screen of the Pulaco Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday.

Featuring Philip Dorn, Anna Sten, John Shepperd, Virginia Gilmore and Martin Kosleck, the action is set in the Balkan mountains.

The Chickamauga National Park in Tennessee gave 8,000 cannon balls and all unessential markers and plaques to the national scrap drive.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON
From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

Open covenants, openly arrived at are not favored by this Administration. Discussions and the commitments which will follow are made known to the Congress and the public after their adoption. Consequently, whatever appropriations will be requested of the Congress in the future to fulfill our country's pledges — made at secret conferences such as this United Nations Food Conference —will have to be acted upon by the Congress based upon the censored information and reasons therefore handed us by the Executive Department. Our Government is well on the way to being a Government by decree rather than a Representative Government — the Representatives of the people are being more and more prevented from knowing the real truths behind our international moves and commitments.

Compressed Dehydrated Foods

In my news letter of April 15th, I summarized the advantages of compressed dehydrated foods, especially in our food for Victory Program in that — shipping being the bottleneck retarding our war program, and approximately 40% of Allied shipments consists of foods—50% of the shipping space heretofore used for dehydrated food shipments could be saved.

On February 25, 1943, a committee of Congressmen and experts of compressed foods met with Mr. Stettinius, Lend-Lease Administrator, and others high in his setup. Mr. Stettinius, being one of Washington's few practical men, was greatly impressed and agreed to immediately institute a vast expansion program in the compressed food field, backing it with whatever Lend-Lease funds were necessary. He also immediately called this matter to the personal attention of our Secretary of Agriculture Wickard, and solicited his full cooperation.

On March 11th, at the luncheon held at the Hotel Statler at which some 750 guests were present on the occasion of the Second Anniversary of the enactment of the Lend-Lease Act, each of the foods served was a dehydrated food and guests were advised that dehydrated and compressed foods would play a great part in our war effort.

On April 27th, Mr. Stettinius in writing Congressman Mundt, stated that he had been informed by a member of the British Food Commission, who just returned to Washington from London, that the test shipment of compressed dried eggs had arrived in London in fine shape.

Despite the apparent success of this initial shipment, no further purchases of this or any other compressed foods have been made by Lend-Lease, and the plant which produced the successful shipment has remained idle for three months, because of lack of orders, with the exception of having received one relatively small test order from the U. S. Army.

Why have no further purchases been made? The trouble lays with the Department of Agriculture which has shown a marked hostility to this program from the start, possibly because it did not develop the process. As a result of this bureaucretic bungling, our fighting armies and those of our allies — and especially in Russia where transportation facilities are extremely limited — are denied the saving in transportation which they would experience if foods of 50% less bulk were shipped to them.

While our State and Agriculture Departments were fooling around in Hot Springs with an International Food Conference — trying to set up a starry-eyed "Cripple-A" program for the post-war world, our Department of Agriculture stubbornly fiddles around and delays the adoption of a thoroughly practical and proven scheme for getting food to the battlefronts and the civilians of our allied nations with half the shipping space now required for transportation of the same quantities of food. It is the old Washington story — they go just half far enough with practical schemes.

No criticism should be levelled at Lend-Lease officials, the fault is with the theorists in our Agriculture Department who are in effect sabotaging the war effort by blocking shipments of food to our fighting allies, apparently simply because the original idea was not theirs.

MICHIGAN WAR WEEK

Defense Councils Will Cooperate In Farm Labor Drive

Agricultural committees are to be appointed by county and local Councils of Defense to assist in promoting the State Emergency Farm Labor program administered by the Extension Service of Michigan State College, it is announced by Capt. Donald S. Leonard, Director of Civilian Defense.

Cooperation of the councils was asked by R. J. Baldwin, Director of the Extension Service, to help recruit farm labor and build up community support for the program. Don C. Weeks, Director of the Civilian War Service Division of the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense, has suggested that the Youth Farm Labor Committee of each council be renamed as the agricultural committee.

Success of the Youth Farm Labor program thus far led to the recommendation that the committee be given the broader assignment. The program, now the direct responsibility of the Extension Service, will have 10,000 Michigan boys and girls available for full or part time work on farms this summer, and it is expected all will be placed, according to C. B. Dibble, Assistant Emergency Farm Labor Supervisor in charge. Nearly 2,000 will come from Detroit, and another thousand from adjacent areas.

The new civilian defense agricultural committees will work with County Agricultural Agents. Coordination of the overall program with Extension Service activities in the 83 counties will be under the direction of C. V. Ballard, State County Agent Leader on Baldwin's staff and Chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the MOCD. Baldwin also has named A. B. Love, of his staff, as State Emergency Farm Labor Supervisor.

Household Fats Collection

Thirty-one counties in the Lower Peninsula exceeded the State average of percentage of household fats quotas collected in April. Leading the list are four counties which collected more than 100 per cent of their quotas: Monroe, 103.1 per cent; Muskegon, 101.4; Mason, 100.4, and Washtenaw, 100.2. The State total was 414,193 pounds of fat, or 51.4% of the quotn of 806,500 pounds. Colelctions in March were 413,998 pounds, or 51.3 per cent. The gain of one-tenth of n cent. The gain of one-tenth of u point in April was regarded as more than satisfactory in that this was the first month in which meat rationing was fully reflected. In addition to the four counties which exceeded their quotas, the following reported collections above the State average: Hillsdale, Huron, Oakland, Clinton, Gladwin, Isabella, Mecosta, Midland, Alpena, Ingham, Benzie, St. Joseph, St. Clair, Lenawee, Barry, Bay, Kent, Genesee, Sanilac, Arenac, Clare, Montmorency, Jackson, Alcona, Allegan, Shiawassee, and Newaygo. They are listed in the order of their ranking.

One tablespoon of household fats each day from each household would meet the State quota.

Allied Bombers Rip Axis Industries; British Delegate to Food Conference Asks 'Normal Granary' for All Nations; Reds Dissolve World Revolution Group

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Weary after hours of sandbogging the top of the mile long seawall at Beardstown, Ill., workers line up to refresh themselves with hot coffee served by Katherine White of the Red Cross Motor corps. An estimated 4,500 of the town's 6,500 persons already had been evacuated as the Illinois river rose to a height of 29.6 feet. Floods raging through the Midwest made 40,000 families with 160,000 members homeless, and thousands of fertile farm lands lay under cover of water.

FLOOD:
Thousands Homeless

More than 40,000 families or 100,000 persons were made homeless by raging flood waters that surged through the Midwest, pouring over into towns and covering thousands of acres of fertile farm land. Many communities joined with the Red Cross in sheltering the victims and providing immunization to disease.

As Food Administrator Chester C. Davis called a conference of governors and agriculture commissioners from six states to formulate a program for farm production in the rain and flood soaked areas, levees along the Mississippi tottered as the dark and muddy "Father of Waters" reached record crests.

At St. Louis, the Mississippi stood at 38.94 feet, highest in 99 years, and downstream at Cape Girardeau, it reached 40.5 feet, tops in 100 years. Even as these stages were being recorded, rolling torrents moved toward the Mississippi from the swollen Illinois and Missouri rivers. All along the Illinois side of the Mississippi levees cracked.

Adding to the flood, persistent rains continued to hamper farmers' work in the fields. According to experts, planting will be delayed till late in June, with harvests then depending upon the time frosts will appear in early fall.

BOMBERS:
Pound Axis Europe

Allied bombers struck at both ends of Europe, with Axis industries and defenses standing out as the targets.

Hit hardest by the raids was the metal, coal and communication center of Dortmund in northwestern Germany. More than 2,000 tons of high explosives fell on the city, with curling palls of smoke rising from raging fires often obscuring visibility.

Thirty-eight of the bombers failed to return from the attack, which brought to 100,000 tons the amount of explosives dropped by the RAF over Germany since the start of the war.

While the Allies were busy in the north, their squadrons were equally active in the Mediterranean area, where American and British bombers continued to plaster important enemy outposts of the Italian mainland.

Airdromes, harbors and shipping installations were pounded on the islands of Pantelleria, Sardinia and Sicily. The ferry linking Sicily with Italy was blasted, with the enemy admitting heavy damage.

COAL TRUCE:
Bargain Collectively

The United Mine Workers and the coal operators resumed collective bargaining even as the War Labor board denied John L. Lewis' demands for a $2 a day wage increase. However, the WLB, which must approve any agreement, recommended that the disputants come to terms on the question of paying miners for the time spent in traveling to and from the mine faces.

Also, the WLB indicated it favored the six-day week for the miners, with wage concessions for the extra day. It ordered the vacation payment boosted from $20 to $50. All told, these payments would represent an 8 to 15 cents a day wage increase.

ATTU:
Remnants Resist

Entrapped in the mountains on the northeast tip of Attu, Japanese remnants bitterly resisted the advance of American troops slogged by sleet and rain.

As the Americans' pressure increased, a formation of 10 Japanese bombers flew in to raid ground positions and shipping. A half dozen American Lightning fighters rose up to intercept the attackers, and the army reported that two-thirds of the enemy squadron was shattered.

The Japanese remnants made good use of the high ground both north and south of the village of Attu, their main supply base which had been razed by bombers. American troops bucked strong positions which the enemy had carved into the mountainside and on either side of the towering passes.

Meanwhile, American bombers continued to pound the main Jap Aleutian base at Kiska, 172 miles to the east of Attu.

FOOD CONFERENCE:
For Normal Granary

World-wide application of the principle of the "ever-normal granary" was suggested by Richard K. Law, chairman of the British delegation to the United Nations' food conference at Hot Springs, Va.

Declaring that the world must devise a system of international trade which will assure the passage of food from the producer to the consumer at fair and stable prices, Law recommended building buffer stocks which would be increased when supply outran demand, and drawn upon when output dropped.

Law hit the system of regulating agricultural trade by allotting importers specific quotas, say on wheat, etc. Instead, he advocated the creation of an authority that would be representative of the consumer as well as the producer.

Law's statement was followed by a suggestion of the American delegation that resettlement of millions of people may be necessary to promote adequate food production. The delegation said that only one-fifth of the world's population lived in those areas in the temperate zone in which food is produced by highly developed technology.

COMINTERN:
'Suspend' Revolution

Stating the war had made it impossible to co-ordinate its activity, the Communist party's organization for promoting world revolution known as the Comintern formally dissolved itself.

The action met with mixed emotion in Allied circles. While some interpreted the move as a step toward closer relations between Russia and the United Nations, others pointed out that in the U. S. the Communists had formally detached themselves from the Comintern in 1940, but maintained activity along the party line nonetheless.

Although the Comintern stressed that chief consideration for the dissolution lay in its inability to maintain communication with its various branches, it also declared that it had recognized that national Communist groups were in better position to frame and work out policies on the scene, than in some distant center.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO:
'The Child Is Born'

"The child is born!"

With these words Senator Arthur Vandenberg emerged from a conference of legislators to announce approval of a pay-as-you-go income tax measure, which would wipe out all taxes of $50 and under and forgive 75 per cent of the taxes remaining for one year, and put all taxpayers on a current basis July 1.

Agreement on the measure, which now has to be passed by both houses and signed by the President, came after months of bickering over pay-as-you-go taxation. According to terms of the new measure, taxpayers would select the highest of their 1942 or 1943 income tax liability for figuring out their tax. Of the remaining 25 per cent of the tax, they would clear up the arrears in two yearly payments, the first due in March, 1944, and the next in 1945.

To put taxpayers on a current basis, a 20 per cent tax on weekly wages would be applied after ordinary exemptions had been deducted. The 3 per cent victory tax would be included. The 20 per cent would cover the normal and first surtax. Any liability outstanding would then be settled later. Farmers would make quarterly tax payments on current earnings.

LABOR:
Study Lewis' Move

Labor circles are still buzzing with excitement over John L. Lewis' application for the United Mine Workers' readmission into the American Federation of Labor, from which they bolted when Big John undertook the formation of the CIO about a decade ago.

Lewis' application has been put under the study of the AFL executive committee, which will report back on the proposal later this summer. Although the application is expected to be received with favor, it was pointed out that Lewis' District 50 of the Mine Workers also takes in a number of other different unions organized in fields where AFL units already exist. Also to be solved is where the AFL's Progressive Mine union will stand if Lewis' United Mine Workers are readmitted.

PEARL HARBOR:
Final Accounting

Last February, workmen clambered over the 27-year-old hull of the battleship Oklahoma, turned almost upside down by the Japanese in their attack on Pearl Harbor, in December, 1941.

The workmen tied cables to her framework. The ends were tied to winches set up on shore. Then the signal was given and the winches began pulling on the cables. After 69 hours, the steady tug gradually drew the Oklahoma from the depths, righting her.

Salvaging of the Oklahoma reduced the final loss at Pearl Harbor to three ships—the battleship Arizona and the destroyers Cassin and Downes.

Repair restored the battleships California, Nevada and West Virginia and the destroyer Shaw, which had been struck and heavily damaged.

RUBBER STRIKE:
Higher Pay Demanded

Fifteen thousand employees of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber company joined 30,000 other workers from the Firestone Tire and Rubber company and the B. F. Goodrich company in a strike protesting the War Labor board's refusal to grant a requested eight cent per hour wage increase. It allowed a three cent boost.

The strike paralyzed production in the country's three major rubber plants. Although Sherman H. Dalrymple of international president of the CIO united rubber workers expressed public disapproval of the stoppages, strong detachments of pickets prevented the return of employees to the factories.

Dalrymple hastened to Washington to confer with the WLB, while an official of the war department roundly condemned the stoppage as a violation of the union's no-strike pledge. In declining to grant an eight cent increase, the WLB said such an action would unstabilize pay levels throughout the industry.

POLL TAX:
Good Show

Amid the gymnastics of a gallery spectator, the house passed the anti-poll tax bill, 265 to 110. The bill abolishes the poll tax as a condition of voting in primaries or other elections for national officers.

A 21-year-old sailor from San Francisco provided the acrobatics at the session, standing on the gallery rail and hanging onto a pillar while shouting for passage of the bill.

In opposing the measure, Rep. Hattan Sumners of Texas said: "There is some expense to democracy. The individual who is unwilling to pay $1.50 or $2 isn't a good citizen of this democracy."

DRESSES:
WPB Cuts Frills

As part of the effort to make more garments from limited material, the War Production board imposed new controls on women's garments.

Trimming allowance for dresses is restricted. Hip measurements have been cut to 56 inches and sleeve lengths to 30 inches on the basic untrimmed dress. Skirt sweeps are reduced six inches to 72 inches. The limits are for size 16, with proportionate variations for other sizes.

CHATTERER LEAVES THE GREEN FOREST

CHATTERER the Red Squirrel was in a peck of trouble. Yes, sir, he was in a peck of trouble. There was no doubt about it. "Oh, dear! Oh, dear! If only I had kept my tongue still! If only I had kept my tongue still!" he was saying over and over to himself as he hurried through the Green Forest. You see, Chatterer was just beginning to realize what a lot of trouble an unruly tongue can get one into. Here it was cold weather, the very edge of winter, and Chatterer didn't dare stay in the Green Forest, where he had always made his home.

If he hadn't called Bobby Coon names that morning at the top of his voice, Shadow the Weasel might not have found him. But Shadow did find him, and it was only by great good fortune and a sharp and daring trick that he had escaped. He knew that Shadow has a long memory and that he would never forget that trick, and so the only way he would ever be able to have a moment's peace would be to leave the Green Forest for as long as Shadow the Weasel chose to stay there.

Presently he came to the edge of the Green Forest. He sat down to rest in the top of a tree where he could look all over the Green Meadows. Far, far away he could see the Purple Hills, behind which Jolly, round, red Mr. Sun goes to bed every night. He could see the old stone wall that separates Farmer

"You know there is another old stone wall up there by the Old Orchard," said he.

Brown's cornfield from the Green Meadows. He could see Farmer Brown's house and barn, and near them the Old Orchard, where Johnny Chuck had spent the summer with Polly Chuck and their baby Chucks. He knew every nook and corner in the old stone wall and many times he had been to the Old Orchard. It was there that he had stolen the eggs of Drummer the Woodpecker. He sighed at the thought of those eggs, and how he had stolen them, and then he shivered as he remembered how he had finally been caught and how sharp the bills of Drummer and Mrs. Drummer were.

But all that was in the past and thinking about it wasn't going to help him now. He has got to do something right away. Perhaps he might find a place to live in the old stone wall, and there might, there just might, be enough grains of corn scattered over the ground of the cornfield for him to lay up a supply if he worked very hard and fast. Anyway, he would have a look. So he hurried down from the tree and out along the old stone wall. His spirits began to rise as he whisked along, peering into every hole and jumping from stone to stone. It really seemed as if he might find a snug home somewhere here. Then he remembered something that made his heart sink again. He remembered having seen Shadow the Weasel more than once exploring that very wall. Just as likely as not he would do it again, for it was so very near the Green Forest. No, the old stone wall wouldn't do.

Just then along come Peter Rabbit. Peter saw right away that something was wrong with Chatterer and he wanted to know what it was. Chatterer told him. He felt that he had just got to tell some one. Peter looked thoughtful. He scratched his long left ear with his long right hind foot.

"You know, there is another old stone wall up there by the Old Orchard," said he. "It is pretty near Farmer Brown's house and Black Pussy hunts there a great deal, but you ought to be smart enough to keep out of her clutches."

"I should hope so!" exclaimed Chatterer scornfully. "I have never seen a cat yet that I was afraid of! I believe I'll go over and have a look at that old wall, Peter Rabbit."

"I'll go with you," said Peter, and off they started together.

Shopping for Victory With U. S. War Bonds

Ninety-five cents out of every dollar under the new budget submitted by President Roosevelt is going to be spent directly for war costs and interest on public debt, the Office of War Information reports. The OWI points out that everything produced in the United States today goes into one of two heaps. One heap consists of tanks, planes, guns, ships—everything for the war. The second consists of goods and services which civilians can share. The war heap grows; the consumer heap shrinks. We should take less out of the consumer's heap, put more into war bonds.

As a matter of patriotism, citizens on the home front with billions in war-boomed income on their hands should invest regularly in war cost "bargains" for soldiers, sailors and airmen fighting on the world fronts. Some of these "bargains" are shown here.

Right: A war bond about to go off! The $18.75 that buys a war bond will pay for seven hand grenades.

That "ashcan" hurtling through the air is a depth charge ready to deal with an enemy sub. It's in action because somebody bought $105 in war bonds.

When you bought a $100 war bond you may have bought a Garand rifle for a fighting American.

A $100 war bond buys 2,000 rounds of steel-jacketed .30 caliber shells for this naval gun.

Shown at left is the celebrated fishing kit with which every navy lifeboat is now equipped. Experiences of Eddie Rickenbacker and others showed how these kits could provide the means of saving lives at sea. The $18.75 that buys a $25 bond will pay for three of these kits. Below: A $25 war bond will send this light tank, which is forging toward Jap lines, twenty miles on its way.

These, brother, are 2,000-pound block-busters for Adolf and his helpers. They cost a lot, $600 each—$800 in war bonds.

A recent visitor to lower counties tells me the farmers lnven't been able to plunt onts, a crop usually in the ground by late April, and that farm work is at a standstill. We may not grow the best crops up here in northern Michigan, but you don't have to wait forever to work the soil ofter a period of heavy rain, either.

To the Editor of Courier
Charlevoix, Michigan.
Dear Sir;

Am sure you can settle a question which we are much interssted in and thst is: 'how can an Indian Chief, have the name of McSauba?' (Mc and Mac buing frish ond Scotch.) Also sos in your pnper, among the tax list — it is spelt 'Mesauba'. Will you print an article in your paper giving whatever eorrect data you can?

May I add, too, we wish Charlevoix county would ndopt a Society for the Preservntion of Wild Flowers. Here in Illinois there is a fine of $100.00 for picking blue gentians, lady slippers, trillium and the trniling arbutus. In time these flowers will become extinct in Michignn, as did the wild pigeens. Children and adults have much to learn nhoot the causes of these rapidly disappenring flowers.

But with your aid and the Garden Club, they might be instructed how rare and beautiful these plnnts are and to keep them from becoming a thing of tho past. Let us think of the futuro generations.

During the past year, the various local male quartettes, ladies' trios, and other singers, have made approximately 80 public appearances at banquets, programs, and various gatherings. Received into membership as of June 13 are; Robert Bridge, Frank Poole, Harold Miller, Junior Supernaw, Bill Supernaw, Gale Hines, Robert Carpenter, of Charlevoix; Bill Adams and Ellis Bailey, of Petoskey; Walter Kemp, of Ironton. COURIER GOES TO 242 MEN IN ARMED FORCES

Correct Addresses For Present Subscriptions Are Needed To Insure Delivery

This week's Courier is being sent to 242 men and women from Charlevoix who are in the nation's service. According to unofficial estimates, this number represents only about half of the actual number of men from Charlevoix and the immediate vicinity who are in service.

One of the biggest accomplishments of the Charlevoix Service Organization has been the sending of the home town newspaper to local men far from this city, and it is their wish that every Charlevoix man who wants the paper sent to him shall receive it. Anyone who would like to enter a soldier's subscription may do so by calling the Courier office, or Ralph Hamilton, CSO chairman. There is no charge for these subscriptions — a contribution of any amount may be made to the CSO subscription fund, if desired, either at the Courier office or at the Charlevoix County State Bank.

Some idea of what the home town news mean to men in service may be garnered from the letters published each week in the Courier. By entering a soldier's or sailor's name on the CSO subscription list, or donating to the fund — or both — it is possible to make an immeasurable contribution to the happiness of some local man hungry for news from home.

FOUR CAREY SONS SERVING IN NAVY

TWO CHARLEVOIX FAMILIES SHOW FOUR STARS

Excellent Athletic Mark Made By Careys; Fosters Have Equal Number Sons In Service

With the acceptance of Donald Carey for navy service at the Detroit induction center last week a fourth star is added to the service flag of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carey of this city, and all these four stars are for sons in the navy.

Charles, 25, boatswain's mate second class, is swimming instructor at Great Lakes naval training station. Keith, 23, is an aviation cadet at Grosse Ile naval reserve air base. Tom, 21, seaman first class, is a painter with the navy's "Seabees" — Construction Battalions — in a south Pacific area. Don, 19, reported at Detroit Wednesday of this week for assignment to a training station.

Two younger brothers, Bill and Bob, 13-year-old twins, would also like to be in the navy but have a few years yet to wait.

An outstanding record in athletics at Charlevoix high school has been made by the four brothers. Chuck also won football fame at Michigan State College, while Keith was one of the Alma College Scots who held the Michigan intercollegiate basketball championship in 1941 and 1942. Don was captain of this year's Northern Michigan Class C conference basketball championship team.

The Careys are Charlevoix's second four-star family. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Foster also have four sons in the service. MATRONS URGENTLY NEEDED USO CENTER

Furniture, Card Tables, Records Are Also Desired

Matrons are badly needed for the local USO service men's center, scheduled to open July 1 for the summer.

Opening of the center has been delayed because of the lack of matrons. Only six women responded to the appeal for hostesses, and as the center will be open every night in the week, more are needed. In most cases, those who have volunteered already have household cares in plenty, and it is felt that there are many women who could more easily give some time to this work.

Furniture, card tables and phonograph records are also needed at the center. Anyone who would like to donate furnishings to the center is asked to call Miss Frances Martin, phone 75.

SHOT AT RANDOM

Nearly everything except card games seem to end at a reasonable hour.

Mrs. "Cap" McRae reports that she saw a deer inspecting the garden near her home at the lighthouse supply depot last Thursday afternoon. After a leisurely tour of the premises, the critter made its way up the hill to the Chicago Club.

Women can absorb a little more flattery than men but not much.

A famous advertising man told how one of his partners was asked by a friend what could be done to stop friend's wife from talking to him all evening while he was reading his newspapers and books. "Simple enough," said the partner. "Just pay no attention to her. Next day the friend laid a ten-dollar bill on the partner's desk and said, "It worked, and I want to reward you." We have related this incident to half a dozen men. All were incredulous. They said it wouldn't work at their house.

The fog horn blowing as I type this column reminds me of the inconsistency (or should I say consistency on the disagreeable side) of the weather for several weeks past. Fog has been more of a daily and nightly occurrence than otherwise; Saturday's and Monday's showers, just two of a dozen or so we've had the past ten days, totaled approximately three inches; a variation of 46 degrees in temperature has not been unusual, taking last Saturday, for instance, the mercury dropped from 82 to 41 within 10 minutes and Sunday was a day when heat in the house was a necessity.

And all this weather has the greatest number of Victory gardeners Charlevoix has ever known sitting on needles most of the time. Early plantings haven't grown because it's been too cold; later plantings have been nearly drowned out. Frost nipped practically all tomato plants set out before the past week and because of the rush for replacements, avail-

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I've been in the army 9 days and I still think it is swell. The non-cons are nice and the C. O. is the best there is. All the fellows are young and from all the states in the union.

I'm here at Fort Benning in the army specialized training program. We are supposed to get 13 weeks of basic training and then get sent back to college for a year or two. If we want to, there will be chance for a few to go to O.C.S. (Officer candidate school.)

We are lucky in some respects and not so lucky in others. We don't have to roll out until 6:15 a.m., but we do have 8 hours of drill in the sun with the temperature ranging from 95 to 110, and summer is not here yet. Today we got our first taste of a full pack. Not bad, but after marching 10 miles you really know it's there.

The chow here is the best, if you like scrambled eggs. I've had them 7 times so far. Also water is nice — and warm. We finally talked the cook into giving us ice water instead of hot coffee.

Well, I would like to hear from any and all fellows in this area. We are allowed every other week end for a pass and I sure would like to see somebody from Charlevoix. There are only 7 Michigan men in my company.

As ever,

Dear Ken,

Know I should have written to you a long time ago and let you know where I was, but was awful busy in my last squadron and when I did get through work I darned near always went to bed.

Was transferred from Oregon down here to Frisco about a week ago and we are now waiting for some means of transportation down to the south Pacific. Makes a guy feel good that he may get a crack at the Japs yet, and then again darned blue to know that he is leaving the good old States.

Passed my examinations for second class machinist, but have to wait till I get out there before

A Nazi Mark VI tank is shown plowing through a house in this photo from a German propaganda magazine. This is one of the very few good pictures of this tank to reach American. Most of the other pictures show the tank after it has tangled with Allied equipment, been knocked out of action, damaged, and captured. Note here that its long high velocity gun is turned back over its tail to avoid injury.

VICTORY GARDENS

Michigan Council of Defense

By Paul R. Krone,
Chief, Victory Gorden Section
Mich. Office of Civilion Defense

Even with the inte start that most gardeners are getting it is still possible to do eome saccession cropping in order to increase the qaantities of vegetobles grown this year. By succession planting we mean planting a second crop in the same ploce after the first crop has been harvested, or perhaps inter-planting or planting between the rows when the first crop is nearly matare.

If your space is limited, careful planning to provide for the later crops is especially necessary. Don't plant all of your garden at once anless you have planned so carefully that yoa know the early crops will mature in time to plant the later storage crope in their place. Otherwise you may hove no room for your late plantings for storage. The namber of days from planting to matarity for various cropn is falriy uniform year after year and this information is usually printed on the seod packet so thot you may know at the tima you plont just when the crop will be ready to harvest. This information is very important this year because of the shortened growing season, and particalarly if you are planning to saccession crop.

The average date of the first killing frost in Charlevoix county is October 6 so we still have approximately 122 days of growing season left. With that in mind, we should select two short season crops to succeed each other so that the namber of days required to matare both crops will not exceed 122 days.

Other factors need to be taken into consideration, however. For instance, some crops sach as peas will not produce well during the heat of the summer and only an early spring crop will be successful. Others, like spinach, will go to seed darlng the long doys of sammer so an early spring crop and a fall crop might be sown.

Fish Like High Water

Whatever fishermen may think personally of continual rains and high water, they may find some comfort in the assurance of the conservation department's fish division that the fish like it. High water means expansion of the fishes' "living space" by addition everywhere of a very fertile margin.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

Farm Labor Placement Centers Announced

Plans for handling the farm labor situation are being rapidly developed and are now nearly completed. Close to 400 names hove been secured of boys and girls who are volunteering to help harvest the increased acreage of canning factory crops. For the most part the ages included in this group are from 11 to 14 years of age. Thoy will be most aseful during July and August when the picking of string beans and cucumbors will be the big job on most farms.

A labor placement center has been developed in East Jordan to help place and recruit farm volanteers. Tho office will be in the City Building and is located in the extreme west end of the building. Miss Bartlett employed in the County Rationing Board Office has kindly consented to lend her help in this responsibility. All farmers who will need extra help should lenve their order in this office any day daring the week. Likewise those who will volunteer to help on farms are urged to leave their names. In Charlevoix the labor plocement center will be in the Chamber of Commerce Building ander the direction of Mr. Stewart Coleman where the same service will be available. In the east end of the county the center will be in the County Agent's Office.

Daring the last week or ten days the prospects for a normal soar cherry crop has greatly diminished. Apparently the cold, backwnrd spring has prevented the pollinization of cherries. While the bloom was all that could be expected it did not result in the formation of fruit and thus we are not estimating over 30% of last years yield for 1943. A late report from the Grand Traverse district indicates a 28% crop compared with last years. For Michignn the production estimate is now 35,800 tons, 23% less than lost years record large crop. The reports from New York state a decrense in prodaction while Wisconsin reports a slightly larger crop.

Alfalfa Cutting Best Later in '43

Michigan's record alfalfa screage will get a delayed haircut if properly handled in 1943, according to H. C. Rather, head of the farm crops department at Michigan State College.

Spring weother has delayed maturity of the alfalfa growth and many farmers have other more necessary work to do in June, according to a summary of the situation.

Later cutting than asual is necessary for the good of the alfalfa plants, Rather advises. The extremely wet weather delayed growth, especially in southeastern Michigan, although northern counties are more nearly on schedulo. If the slow-growing alfalfa is not cut antil late in June or even early in July, the plants will have a better chonce to recover from the spring setback and can store reserve food in their roots.

Timely cutting will result in greater vigor of plont, a better second cutting if summer moisture is adequate, and greater winter hardiness.

Alfalfa cut in advanced stages of bloom is not so high in protein as thot cut earlier. But tho hey cut later is easier to cure. In other years advice has been to put early cut alfalfa in the silo, Rather says, but this year also silo spnce likely should be reserved for a prospective soft corn crop. Alfalfa is likaly to get little room in silos except where it is to ba used for summer feed.

Lote cutting of alfolfa, according to Rather, looks like good management in 1943 when feed supplies will be badly needed to help feed the state's increased number of livestock.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"How about joinin' us in a game, Judge?... I'll drop out for a while."

"Sorry, Phil, but I can't today... I'm on my way up to the hospital to see how Frank's wife is coming along. I just dropped by to give you the answer to that question you asked me about synthetic rubber yesterday in the barber shop. I looked it up and found out that the beverage distilling industry's facilities for producing grain alcohol make it possible to include 200,000 tons of rubber from grain in the government's 870,000 ton synthetic rubber program.

"I also verified the fact that no distiller is making whiskey today. They all stopped making whiskey last year and are working night and day, 7 days a week, producing war alcohol for the government... for smokeless powder, chemical warfare materials, medical supplies, as well as for synthetic rubber. It's a mighty good thing these distilleries were in existence ready to do this important job."

Your Car's Life Can Be

STRETCHED FIFTY PERCENT

The engineers who build America's automobiles say proper care can stretch car life fifty percent. Yes, ten simple rules will do the job. And high on their list is the choice of suitable winter motor oils and greases. Proper lubrication, these experts explain, reduces friction, avoids unnecessary engine wear, makes cars start and run easier. Knowing this, millions of motorists prefer high-quality Mobiloil, the world's largest-selling motor oil.

Mobiloil Arctic gives exceptional lubrication, guarding every vital engine surface with a tough, protective film of all times — even during cold starts and fast warm-ups. Mobiloil is refined for extra purity, too, and thus resists dangerous carbon and sludge formation. Such impurities can gum up your engine, make it harder to start and run — and even do a lot of damage. So, for the safe, dependable winter lubrication you need to make your car last, ask for Mobiloil Arctic.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

An official release of the Office of War Information informs the public that 97% of the Navnl and Mnrine wonnded from Pearl Hurbor hnve recovered. And that nn anolysis of the available datn of Army wounded shows that recoveries are compnrable to thot above.

Uncle Som furnishes his fighting men with the best medical care nnd equipment ever given a soldier during previous wars. Our doctnrs are trained to perform their duties with whatever equipment is at hand. When medical snpply ships were torpedoed in the North African campaign, the doctnrs, we nre told, started a splendid system of caring for the wounded right nn the beoch of the Mediterranean and nearly all of the wounded recovered.

Cure of the wounded under the American system of military medicine begins with the soldier himself. Each man hos fastened to his belt, readily removable, a first-aid packet a package of sulfadiazine tablets. If he is conscious after being wonded, he begins to take the sulfa tablets immediately. He also dusts the sulfa powder into his wounds and uses the first nid packet. In all probability a hnspital corpsman hns reached him before he has a chnnce to do this. Each corpsman carries a larger kit of snpplies nnd administers to the soldier, giving him an injection of a drug which almost instantly stops pnin. He does not remain with the fallen soldier as he is required to move forward with the attnck. However, after treatment he ties a tag to the soldier's belt telling what type of treatment was administered, fixes a bit of gauze to a bnyonet or a stick to mark the place where the soldier has fnllen and goes nhead.

Litter-bearers carry the wounded man to a battalion aid station from 400 to 1000 yards back. This station, a miniature hospital on wheels, is staffed by two physicians and ussistunts. The battalion aid station may be compared to the emergency room in an ordinary hospital. It has operating instruments, anesthetics, sulfanilamide, opiotes to relieve pain, hot drinks and most importnnt blood plnsma to combat shock nnd loss of blood. At this station a soldier receives emergency treatment until such time ns he can bo evacuated by nmbulance or other conveyance to a collecting stotion. The collecting station also is mnbile and can be moved us closo to the front line as necessury and determined safe. Here the various cases are classified so each man is assured of the exact type of treatment required for his particular injury.

From the collecting stations the more seriously wonded sru moved to field hospitals which are ususlly some five or seven miles back of the battle line. The field hospitsls travel on six wheels — four of them with double tires to permit rapid movement over rough or soft ground and eun, if necessary, bo brought right up to a battle line. They are reudy for instant use and a major operation can be performed in one of them a few minutes after a man is wounded. These units are equipped with the most modern medicnl und surgicnl snpplies and staffed with expert surgeons with specialists avalluble for all kinds of injuries.

Farther back are located the great general or base hospitals. These, naturally, are not mobile and sometimes are several hundred miles from the front lines. A general hospital contains arnund 1000 beds and is equal to the most elaborate city hospital. Men may remsin there until completely recovered or may he sent direct to military hospitals in the United States. Often a trip to this country is made by ambulance plnne. We have boen told of cases where men wounded nn distant battlefields thousnnds of miles awoy arrived in these United States before news of injury reuched their families. Tho knowledge thnt he can be homc In a couple of days from almost any part of the world aids the mornle of a soldier.

Shortage of Nurses

We are experiencing a critical shortage of nurses. The Armed Services ure recruiting in the vicinity nf 3,000 nurses per mnnth. It is estimated that the military und civilian requirements for the next fiscal yeor will approximnte 100,000 nurses.

In order to stimulate recruiting of nurses the Congress the past week completed action on H. R. 2064 to provide for the training of nurses for the armed forces, governmental and civilian hospitals, health agencies, and war industries, hy authorizing federal gronts to schools of nursing or other institutions. Such trnining institutions cun in due course apply for federal grnnts by submitting for approval hy the Surgeon General of the Public Health Service their plsns for nurses training. A plan may be approved only if it provides that no student or grad-uate nurse will he included therein unless in the judgment of the head of the institutinn she will be nvailnhle for military or other Federal govornmental or essential civilian services for the duratinn of the wor nnd the nurse so states in her applieation for inclusion under the plan. The nurses will be provided courses of study ond training meeting the standards prescribed by the Surgeon General and the institution will furnish, without charge for tuition, fees, or other expenses, courses of study and training, uniforms, and insignia. Tho students alsn will bo entitled to nn allowance for personal expenses throughout the training period.

LANSING LETTER

State Treasurer D. Hale Broke recently computed the debts of Michigon local governments and produced this good news:

Governmental indebtedness decreased $67,000,000 between Juno 30, 1941 and Junu 30, 1042. In seven years local guvernments have paid off approximutely $100,000,000. Out of tho $532 million dollar IOU's existing one yeor ago, $455 millions were in Wayne, Oukland and Macomb coantles — the Detrolt metropolitan area.

Michigon Republicens are interested in the statement by Wendell L. Willkie, recent visltor in Dotrolt, that Michigan and Ohio were key states for 1944. Willkie's stock is reported to be increasing here, despite the Owosso boom for Tom Dewey. Possible resson: Thu war importance of foreign relations.

Bonus recoinmendetion by Governor Harry F. Kelly nt Columbus, Ohio: Stnte governments should supplement federal payment to returning servicemen, but only after Washington acts. Kelly favors nn "adequnte" bonus payment for every veterun.

The Michigan governor's talk at Columbus stressed the theme, "we won tho war ond lost the peace," and he urged tho Republican party to retreat from isolationism nn the premisu that the "United States is inescapably a part of world civilizatiun."

Brig. General LeRoy Pearson, state selective service director, announces thnt 40,000 Michigan men face military service by end of 1943. Approximately 80,000 men have been doferred to date for occupntional reasons.

Capt. Donald S. Leonard, state director of civilian defense, objects to federal policies restricting use of gas masks, helmets and similor protective equipment for uir raid personnel. Distribution is now limitod to cities. Said Leonard: "It is impossible for a bombardier in a plnne three miles high to tell where a city ends and nn abutting township begins." Leonard has a feud with Washington's OWI for painting a too-rosy picture of the war.

C. W. Lucas, stnte highway department public relations expert, docided he couldn't work for a Republicon commissioner without being tagged as a "turncoat" by his Democratic friends. His new job: Assistant to Manfred Burleigh, president nf the Great Lakes Greyhound Lines. Lucas goes to Flint for a year, thence to Detroit headquarters.

PICKLING CUCUMBER NEWS

By H. E. Brumm, District Mgr., H. J. Heinz Co.

Weather conditions this spring have interfered with plans of many farmers in putting in crops but attention is directed to the fact that pickling cucumbers are profitably planted all through the month of June:

This is a good time to uso commercial fertilizer deeply beside rows or hills.. Its use will help offset the later planting as it will force tho development of the plant und moro pickings can be made before the frost in the fall. With the moisture as pleatiful as it is this year tho possibilities of damage from the use of fertilizer aro greatly lessened.

Cool soil conditions are favorable to cut worms and all growing crops should be watched as considerable damage can be done in a short time if control measures are neglected. Poison bran bait broadcast lightly over garden or field just before dark usually is all that is necessary. Pickling cucumber soed sacks contain a sheet with instructions for preparing poison bran bait.

NOT TOO LATE FOR VEGTABLES

Farm, suburban and city vegetable gardens still offer good prospects for helping solve the food problem in 1943, advises Paul Krone, chief of the Victory Garden section of the Michigan office of civilian dofense and on lonn from the Michigun State College horticulture department.

Early lettuce, radishes and green onions may not have been coming out of gardens on schedule and their season is ubout over.

But, says Krone, there still is plenty of time right now to plan and plsnt importunt crops liko tomatoes, carrots, beets, corn, beans, potatoes, cabbago, turnips, squash, rutabogss; hroccoli and cnuliflower.

Peas sown this late probably wouldn't pod well in summer, spinach likely would go to seed in hot weather and in southern counties it's too late to get head lettuco headed before summer hent arrives.

This is a reasonable period on the calendar to put in green and yullow beans und to set out early and late cubbage plants. The early cabbuge shuuld take 65 to 90 days to matare. Lato cabbage will take about 100 days from transplants.

Beets should bo sown now with a second sowing about July 1 und, in southern Michigan, a third beet sowing late in July or early August. The latest beet planting in northern Michigan should he made in mid-July. Rutabagns and turnips should he on the schedule for early July planting, according to Krone.

Repairs of tank cars in the Eastera fuel-carrying service cut into oil delivcries in 1942 by loss than ono-tenth of one per cent.

PRICE CEILINGS ON FISH

Up to this time the price on fresh water fish has been set more or less by the principle of supply and demand. When fish were scarce the price was high, when fish were abundant the price dropped accordingly. Under this system it was possible for most fishermen to continue operations at all times because if production reached a low point it was partially offset by an increase in the prices paid for the catch.

Now the fisheries are faced with a serious threat as the Office of Price Administration at Washington is planning to set price ceilings on all varieties of fresh water fish.

Once this ceiling is set, it cannot be raised. If production falls off to a point where fishermen cannot operate under the ceiling, they will be forced to suspend operations. Today fishermen of Charlevoix and the Great Lakes region must pay high wages, or shares, in order to compete with the war production plants and keep a crew. Fishermen should be entitled to every cent they can get for the fish they produce. The future of the fisheries — if they must operate under price ceilings — will indeed be uncertain.

FOOD DEALERS AND OPA OFFICERS MEET

Stores In Thirteen Counties To Get Pricing Program

A committee of nine grocery wholesalers and retailers met with Grand Rapids OPA price officials in Traverse City Thursday as a preliminary to OPA's setting maximum prices on nearly every food item that goes into the housewives market basket.

The safe flat pricing program is to be established for all retail food stores in thirteen counties in this area. Those counties included are: Osceola, Lake, Mason, Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Kalkaska, Grand Traverse, Benzie, Leelanau, Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet.

Stores are grouped into four classes and prices are computed according to their method of purchase and annual gross volume of sales. Each store will display a sign indicating the class to which it belongs.

William VanOverloop, District OPA Price Officer, conducted the meeting. He was assisted by Ben F. Gordon of the Grand Rapids OPA Price Division. This group will meet again to audit items and prices before the list is made available to the public. It is expected that the list will be ready about June 21st to become effective one week later.

I can start drawing my second class pay, as I had to be shipped out as third class from my last squadron.

Right now I am doing shore patrol duty in Frisco and boy, is it a good deal — only work 8 hours and then we are off 40 hours, so you can see we have plenty of time to see things.

Was stationed on Treasure Island for a while, so at least I was where they had the Fair.

Sure wish I could get back and get a mess of perch right now, as these salt water fish just don't agree with me.

So long for now,

Dear Ken,

It has been some time since I last wrote you. I've been pretty busy the past five months and never seemed to have time to write, so while I have the time I'll do so.

I sure appreciate the Courier very much and wish to thank you and the people who make it possible for us fellows in the service to have it.

After we finished maneuvers on the desert we moved out here to the coast. Have been here about two months and a half. There is some beautiful scenery here in California, but I can't say I like the weather. One day it's hot and next it's cold or raining. Our camp is situated in a valley with mountains all around.

I have just completed a cooks and bakers course and now have a 1st cooks diploma. The course took two of the longest months I have ever put in at anything, and I'm sure glad it's over.

I'm expecting a furlough in the near future, and sure glad it will give me a chance to get up there in the summer time.

I'm expecting also to be sent some place back east on a cadre, as a cook for a new training company. Sure hope it will be near Michigan.

Thanking you again for the paper and hope I hear from some of my friends up that way, I'll close.

Dear Ken,

I have just finished reading the Courier from A to Z and appreciate it very much. Next week we are moving out to sunny California for maneuvers, and as you might know I'll miss my baseball very much. We have here in Fort Riley a baseball team with such famous players as Pete Reiser, a former Brooklyn Dodger, and National League batting champion, and Ken Heintzelman, a former St. Louis Brownie; Ken is a southpaw pitcher. We also have George Archie from the Washington Senators and Frank Crespi of the Cardinals. These players played in the majors last season.

But here's hoping I can find some amusement out in California besides maneuvers, and that the Courier still finds me. Keep it coming. So long,

I remain a Courier reader

Dear Ken,

I have put off writing so very long that I am ashamed to write, but here goes anyway. I am at Huntington, a small resort town, and it reminds me a little of Charlevoix. The people here are of German descent and they even print a paper in German.

The school (radio) that I am attending is a castle-like affair built by a rich man named Khun. It is built on a high hill and made entirely of large stones. I will be here for 8 weeks (4 more) and then will be transferred to Gallups Island for 3 months. In other words, I will be at sea in November some time.

I have received the paper very regularly, but it is being sent to Sheepshead instead of my new training station. Also, it means so much to be able to read what all your friends like Hunt Wexstaff and Bill Hannah are doing. It's a great paper and thanks again.

Yours sincerely,
Cadet Donald Bogart

Dear Ken,

Just finished my basic training last Wednesday. I was shipped up here yesterday. This camp is new, so they sent a bunch of Engineers to build it up. We are supposed to be able to do just about everything. So we will be pretty busy building barracks, mess halls, etc.

In Fort Story there were 62 men from Michigan in our platoon. While shooting on the range, we set a record for the highest average that was ever shot there. Our Commanding Officer said it would be a long time to come before anybody surpassed it.

Ken, I want to thank you and all the wonderful people in Charlevoix who make it possible for me to receive the great little paper, the Courier, and also take this opportunity to say hello to all.

Your friend,

Just a few lines this evening to let you know my change of address and that I receive the paper every week and enjoy very much reading it. So do some of the other fellows here.

The weather here is very hot and it rains often. I am going to cooks' and bakers' school here and I like it fine. Cooking is a nice job, but dangerous in a way. I mean if the biscuits are heavy or the toast burnt, the cook better take for the nearest shelter he can find, but I won't worry because we have a fine bunch of fellows here at Fort Belvoir, "The Home of the Engineers."

I will close for now and write you more later. Thanks a lot for the paper. I hope this letter finds you well and the best of luck.

As always,

Dear Ken,

I thought I had better drop you a few lines to let you know that I am "somewhere in North Africa" close to Frod Hardy and Bob Kelley. Our mail came yesterday for the first time since we left the States, along with several copies of the Courier. Hardy, Kelley and myself sure did enjoy ourselves sitting on the fantail of Fred's ship and reading all the local news, while cursing North Africa. It isn't so bad because at night it cools off enough to sleep.

Thanks a lot again not just from me, but Hardy, Kelley and Bill Goeman, who all read the paper till it is worn out. All of us are sending our regards to Charlevoix.

As ever,

I wish I could think of more to write, but I just can't without having it clipped, so I'll drop off. Thanks a million for the paper. So long,

COMMUNICATION

Dear Sir,

Enclosed find check for our paper. Think it's about due.

If you know of any men or boys who want to go in defense work, they need them very badly here at Willow Run bombee plant. Billy was only here three days, went in school as an aviation mechonic at 90 cents an hour. I mention this to encourage anyone there.

There are any number of things they can do, and leacn a trade. They get a 5 cent raise every two weeks. Must be 17 years old, have birth certificate and a letter of recommendation. This applies to girls as well, but age limit is 18 years. The housing conditions are bad for families but all right for single people.

We are advised to try and recruit workers and this is my way of trying.

Sincerely,
Mabelle Graves Beatty

An appeal for correct addresses for men already on the list is also made by this newspaper. If some service man has been getting the paper, and has been moved and since failed to receive it, his address should be corrected on the Courier's records. Farmers are progressive business men these days. They keep an accurate record of their business transactions. They find it PAYS them to do so.

Such farmers take advantage of the facilities offered by a modern bank like ours. We make a specialty of farmers accounts, something they all seem to appreciate. An account at our bank saves the farmer a lot of book-keeping, insures the safety of his funds and places him along side other progressive business men where he properly belongs. MICHIGAN WAR WEEK

Equipment Allocation Made By U. S., Not By State, Leonard Says

Authority and responsibility for the allocation of protective equipment rest with the national Office of Civilian Defense solely, local Citizens Defense Corps Commanders have ben reminded by Capt. Donald S. Leonard, Director of Civilian Defense.

His reiteration that the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense is without authority in the matter was prompted by repeated complaints and inquiries from communities which have received no equipment to date, even though neighboring cities have.

"At present, allocations are made to municipalities only," Capt. Leonard said. "We have repeatedly protested against this system because it deprives some communities and areas, such as those on the outskirts of cities, of badly-needed equipment. But thus far, we have been unable to convince Federal officials that they should assign equipment to critical areas, instead of to critical cities, and let us help determine how that equipment is to be distributed. We can't even convince them that cities having surplus equipment should be authorized to take it out of storage and permit neighboring communities to make use of it."

Wayne Tops In Cans

Wayne county topped all other counties in Michigan in tin can collections for the first five months of 1943 with an average of 4.59 pounds per capita and a total collection of 9,255,830.

Garden Contest Date Extended

Because of adverse weather conditions which delayed the start of many Victory Gardens, the period for entering the State garden contest has been extended to July 1. In addition, Victory Garden committees in communities in which a garden enrollment was conducted may, if they see fit, consider these gardens as registered in the contest.

Telephone Load Eased

The necessity for reducing public use of telephones to a minimum during air raid alerts and practices is emphasized in instructions sent by Capt. Donald S. Leonard, Director of Civilian Defense, to local Citizens Defense Corps Commanders to trim their lists of those who receive confidential warnings by telephone. Official calls during alerts also are to be sharply restricted.

The confidential warnings, which are sent to such units as control center staffs, police headquarters, sheriffs' offices, fire departments, hospitals, public utilities and some industrial plants, precede the first public warning, which is the Blue signal. However, the Blue signal serves to mobilize the civilian defense protective services and a primary reason for instituting it was to make sure that telephone lines would be clear to handle other essential calls.

What You Buy With

WAR BONDS

Prevents the "Bends"

Before our fighting pilots take to the air for stratosphere flying they must be "suped-up." To do this the pilot just before he takes off pedals a stationary motor driven bicycle to reduce the amount of nitrogen in his blood. Otherwise gas bubbles would collect in his blood stream.

The stationary bicycle is an inexpensive piece of equipment, but the vast quantities of this and other materials of war make it imperative for all of us to keep our fighting men well supplied by greater and greater purchases of War Bonds.

Maurice Nowland writes from Camp McArthur, Texas, that there is an aviation camp in one corner of this garrison, and that you can see as many as 26 planes at one time. Forrest McGeagh, in France, says he saw Clare Nowland a couple of weeks ago.

Lieut. Fred Marsh of Detroit, hero of the Canadian aviation corps, has gone to Beaver Island to be married. First piloting a fighter plane over London, repelling Zeppelin attacks, he was later transferred to France. A Hun airman's machine gun penetrated his gasoline tank, but Marsh held his seat in his flaming plane and jumped only when within 100 feet of the earth.

Miss Isabelle Mitchell spent the week end with her brother, Lieut. W. W. Mitchell, at Camp Custer.

Frank Campbell and wife have arrived from Dallas, Texas, to visit his mother, Mrs. E. Campbell. Mr. Campbell will leave this week for New York, to go to France with the Y.M.C.A.

Bert Taylor, George Lusk, Archie Lemieur, of this city, and Fenton Bulow, of East Jordan, left Wednesday for New York to enter the Coast Patrol service.

Twenty Years Ago

Charlevoix's Fourth of July will be a blinger, as we have the county celebration this year for the first time since 1920, when the rotating plan was arranged with Boyne City and East Jordan. Land and aquatic sports will occupy the day, with boxing at the corner of Bridge and River streets. In the evening, $500 of fireworks will blaze over the town. The traffic jam is likely to be enormous. (Isn't it nice to read about fireworks and traffic jams.)

One of Loch Farms' Holstein bulls brought $3,750 at the Holstein-Freisian Association's annual convention in Cleveland, highest price paid for any animal at the sale.

B. P. Wilkinson has sold his property on the Norwood road to Ed Swanson, of this city.

Ray Faulkner has leased the new office addition in the Sanitary Engineering Company's building on Bridge street, commencing October 1, and will conduct a quick lunch counter.

Fifteen Years Ago

Great improvement in traffic conditions has resulted from inauguration of parallel parking on Bridge street.

Carl Kohler has taken over the John Roen machine shop on Belvedere avenue, and will engage in general machine work.

Mrs. Rosa Nettleton and son, Douglas, have returned from St. Augustine, Fla., where they spent the winter. Doug has resumed his position at the Central Drug store.

Miss Audrey Yahr, of Bay Shore, and Oakley Saunders, of Ironton, were married last Wednesday and will reside in Ironton.

Charlevoix boys home for the week end from Fort Brady, where they are now receiving training for the emergency conservation work camps, were Edwin McCann, Glenn Heise and Gordon Bartlett. Others in training there are Perry Fasset and Willard Bird.

The Lake Charlevoix Dramatic camp, to be known this year as the National Dramatic camp, will open for the 1933 summer season the first of July under management of Mrs. Allen G. Miller of Grand Rapids.

Many Charlevoix residents had an opportunity to observe the giant navy dirigible Macon in flight over Lake Michigan, Tuesday afternoon, on a training trip out of Chicago.

Earl Miller, daughter, Jane, and niece, Katherine Left of St. James, have gone to Chicago to attend the Century of Progress exposition. Others going to Fair were Mr. and Mrs. Louis O'Neill, Miss Dorothy Ikens.

Bananas are 3 pounds for 19c at the Kroger store; fancy fresh dressed chickens, 15c a pound; slab bacon, 12½c; salad dressing, 25c a quart jar (same brand now 39c); smoked hams, 10c a pound. (Imagine a store having to advertise bananas for sale in order to get rid of them — nowadays the clerks have to step aside to keep from being trampled on in the rush during those infrequent appearances of the fruit.)

During the first four months of the Stockings Salvage Campaign, over 888,000 pounds or 18 million pairs of discarded silk and nylon stockings were contributed by American women.

AT THE MOVIES

"Andy Hardy's Double Life"

The Hardy Family, with irrepressible Mickey Rooney in a myriad of comical troubles, returns to the Palace Theatre in "Andy Hardy's Double Life," coming Saturday and Sunday.

Mickey as the ebullient Andy Hardy is faced with a breach of promise suit that turns out to be a "frame" and otherwise is in hot water generally until he finally gets started for college.

As in the case of several of the Hardy pictures, the new one introduces a glamorous new personality in Esther Williams, national swimming champion turned actress. The regular Hardy Family favorites, including Lewis Stone, Fay Holden, Cecilia Parker, Sara Haden and Ann Rutherford appear in the new picture, which was directed by George B. Seitz. Additions to the Hardy group of William Lundigan, playing Miss Parker's heart interest, and Robert Pittard, who plays the role of Bosty, Andy's friend.

"My Heart Belongs To Daddy"

What happens when a bubble dancer, fresh (and we do mean fresh) from the burlesque circuit falls in love with a college professor specializing in astrophysics?

The answer is "plenty," and you can see for yourself when Paramount's gay comedy-romance "My Heart Belongs to Daddy" opens Tuesday and Wednesday at the Palace Theatre. Lovely Martha O'Driscoll is the burlesque queen and handsome Richard Carlson, complete with jet black Van Dyke beard, is the dabbler in astrophysics.

The story is an original by F. Hugh Herbert, which speaks well for the comedy content of the piece. Cecil Kellaway, veteran screen comedian, Frances Gifford, Florence Bates and Mabel Paige are also in the cast.

"Night Plane From Chungking"

From the world's least known war front, China, comes one of the most exciting movie stories of the year, Paramount's "Night Plane From Chunking." The stars are Robert Preston and Ellen Drew.

"Night Plane From Chunking," opening Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the Palace Theatre is a strange tale of romance and adventure with two Americans, an airplane pilot and a Red Cross nurse, as the principal actors. Its locale is that Japanese-threatened China lifeline, the tortuous Assam Road that winds from Chunking to the borders of India, route of thousands of munitionladen trucks moving up to the front lines.

More than 4000 Michigan citizens are now in sanatoriums trying to get well from tuberculosis.

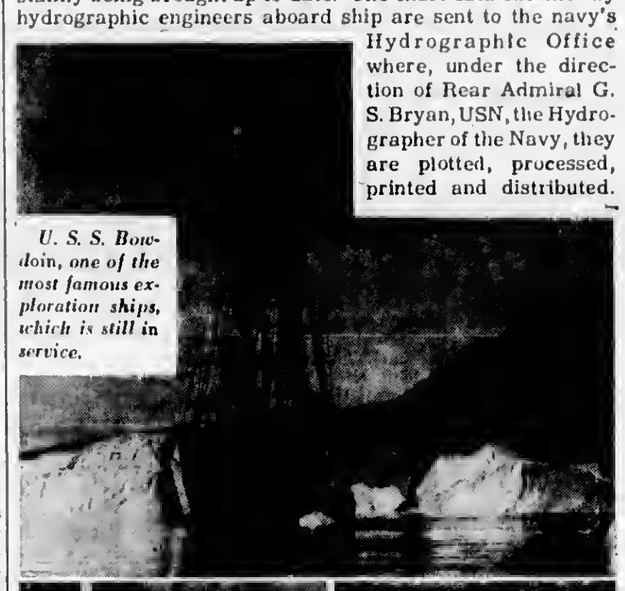
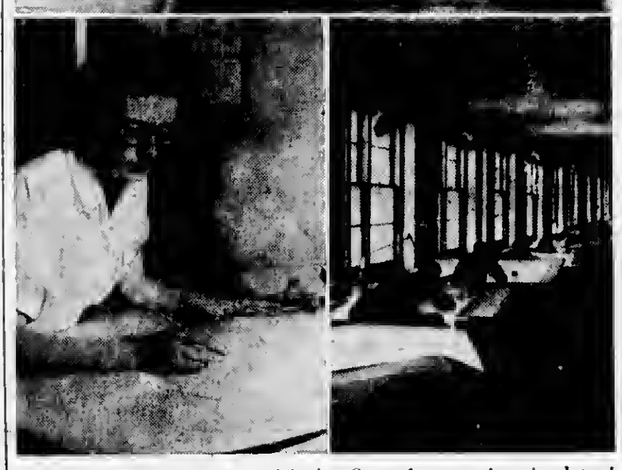
War Charts Define Seven Seas

Each month more than two million charts roll off the presses of the United States Hydrographic Office, giving detailed, vital data of the harbors and expanses of the seven seas. As these charts go out to the fleet and to friendly mariners of the United Nations, U. S. Navy ships are charting new segments of the oceans, new ports of call, new reefs and channels. Likewise, old and incomplete charts are constantly being brought up to date. The chart data obtained by hydrographic engineers aboard ship are sent to the navy's Hydrographic Office where, under the direction of Rear Admiral G. S. Bryan, USN, the Hydrographer of the Navy, they are plotted, processed, printed and distributed.



U. S. S. Bowdoin, one of the most famous exploration ships, which is still in service.



The rough sheets prepared by the men aboard survey ships are sent to Washington, where they are transformed into detailed, usable product.

Once the new chart is plotted, it is taken to the survey room where coastlines, reefs and similar details are plotted in according to scale.

Once the chart is on zinc, technical workmen see that the design is clear-cut and that the zinc plate receives proper chemical treatment. Before the zinc plate goes to press a proof copy is pulled.

Rear Admiral G. S. Bryan, Navy Hydrographer, in his office in Suitland, Md. The plant he directs makes a vital contribution to the war effort.

On a stack of finished charts, corrected and ready for folding, filing and mailing, sits Betty Peterson, a stenographer in the Hydrographic Office. Files in background fill two large rooms.

Here the completed chart is engraved on a permanent copper plate before being sent to the photographer and printer.

EUROPE:
'Mellow Light'

Even as Prime Minister Winston Churchill had declared that the "mellow light of victory" was already playing on the Allies, the Axis had been tensely alert for the long-promised invasion of Europe.

Axis communiques had early reported attempted Allied landings on "stepping stone" islands between Africa and Italy. First of these was the Rome and Berlin radio reports of a Commando movement on the tiny island of Lampedusa, bordering the Tunisian coast. Then came the Rome communique announcing that the garrison defending beleaguered Pantelleria had been called on to surrender by Allied forces. Pantelleria had experienced a pounding such as even Malta had not suffered, for here the devastating Allied bomb onslaughts from the air had been accompanied by withering bombardment of Italian positions by unopposed Allied naval forces.

Never before during the war had Prime Minister Churchill spoken so confidently as during his report to parliament concerning the European situation in which he described the amphibious operations of a "peculiar complexity" against the enemy. Concerning the Allied air offensive which observers had termed the actual first phase of the invasion, he declared that nothing will turn the Allies from their intention of accomplishing "the complete destruction of our foes by bombing from the air, in addition to all other means."

TAXES:
New Levies Ahead

With the pay-as-you-go bill now operative under presidential approval, congressional leaders began consideration of additional tax sources to meet the administration's request that new tax measures be undertaken as a means of closing the inflationary gap caused by the nation's tremendous purchasing power.

While President Roosevelt had left up to congress the type of new taxes to be adopted before summer recess, he expressed his opposition to a general sales tax on the grounds that it would impose too heavy a burden on the poorer people. While a compulsory savings plan is not necessary now, the President indicated that ultimately a combination of enforced savings and taxes would be required to meet his original budget request for $16,000,000,000 in new revenue for fiscal 1944.

The Federal Reserve board recently estimated excess purchasing power at $35,000,000,000.

SUBSIDIES:
Grange Head Demurs

Albert S. Goss, master of the National Grange, predicted that if the government employs subsidy payments to roll back food prices, "the nation is headed directly for inflation and inevitable chaos."

The farm leader added that in his belief, a system of price controls by subsidy would lead to a food shortage for America and her allies.

Testifying before a senate agricultural subcommittee, the Grange master predicted that a 10 per cent roll back in the retail prices of butter and meats, already ordered, would discourage production. "There are indications already," he said, "that the butter and milk output are being reduced substantially." Mr. Goss contended that instead of the present price control system as a control of inflation, an effort should be made to bring supply and demand into balance.

GAS:
FDR Warns Axis

President Roosevelt served blunt notice on the Axis that the use of poison gas against any one of the United Nations would result in swift and full retaliation by the United States with "terrible consequences" to enemy munitions centers, seaports and other military objectives.

This was the third time in 12 months the President had warned the Axis that the use of gas would be a fatal boomerang. He said evidence was "being reported with increasing frequency from a variety of sources" that the enemy powers were making "significant preparations" indicative of an intention to use poisonous or noxious gases.

Observers who noted that the President's warning was similar in character to one issued by the British government recently, believed he had both Germany and Japan in mind.

RUSSIA:
Tactics in Reverse

Using tactics in which the Allies had given them bitter lessons in Western Europe, the Nazis employed their waning air force in massed bombing attacks against Russian armament factories.

Typical of this effort were the attempts to wreck the giant Gorki works, 250 miles east of Moscow. While German and Soviet communiques differed on the extent of the damage, both agreed that the attacks were of a ferocious nature. Moscow radio admitted that casualties and some damage were caused, but maintained that German reports were grossly exaggerated.

Retaliatory raids were made on a big scale by Russian bombers which attacked the Unecha junction on the Bryansk-Gomel railroad, blowing up munitions dumps and fuel stores.

Meanwhile in the midst of counter claims about opposing losses in the Caucasus, a German transocean agency broadcast predicted a big scale Russian attack on Novorossisk.

TIGHTER BELTS:
Forecast for '44

Somber warning that American civilians may have to tighten their belts in 1944 was sounded by the bureau of economics of the U. S. department of agriculture.

The bureau in a review of the current situation said that while there are enough rationed foods on hand, together with expected production to maintain present eating levels for the remainder of 1943, the outlook for 1944 may not be so favorable.

The review stated that vegetable production is running about 13 per cent below last year; that early freezes have cut crops of apricots, cherries, peaches, plums and prunes materially below 1942. Supplies of eggs next fall and winter "will be considerably below current levels," the review added, while livestock may be adversely affected.

DRIVING BAN:
For All U. S.?

Extension to the entire nation of the pleasure driving ban and other restrictions on motoring in 12 eastern states was predicted by Maj. Jubal R. Parten, transportation director in the petroleum administration.

Specifically, Major Parten said that the petroleum administration had been considering for some time the advisability of halting pleasure driving in Middle Western states and that such action for the entire nation may be looked for soon.

ARGENTINA:
Neutral for Present

The kaleidoscopic revolt in Argentina that had produced two new presidents in almost as many days had not shown the same speedy results with respect to the abolition of Argentina's policy of neutrality toward the Axis.

This latter was evident when the government of President Pedro Ramirez was pledged to an international policy of "neutrality for the present" and "loyal co-operation with nations of the Americas in conformance with existing pacts."

The Ramirez regime succeeded the brief provisional government of Gen. Arturo Rawson, who resigned after ousting isolationist President Ramon S. Castillo in an army-supported revolution.

Scanning the new government's personnel for possible clues as to future international policy, observers noted that President Ramirez's new cabinet included eight military men to only one civilian.

PACIFIC:
U. S. Airmen Strike

Allied airmen continued to strike heavy blows at Jap positions from the Aleutians clear across the Pacific to Central China.

Kiska was again the target of the Aleutians assault, with Allied Liberators and Vega Venturas joining in the battering drive against this ideal enemy outpost in the archipelago. Over in the Solomons, Choiseul island and the Munda air bases were attacked by American planes. In New Guinea, Allied attack planes supporting ground forces in the Mubo area strafed enemy positions on strategic Green's Hill.

American and Chinese air superiority in the middle Yangtse valley continued to be manifest, as fliers from both forces swept over the Hupeh-Hunan battle area without meeting opposition.

FATHERS:
Work or Fight Mixup

A misunderstanding over the details of the War Manpower commission's "work or fight" edict had been responsible for the induction of some fathers into military service in violation of draft regulations, WMC Chairman Paul V. McNutt revealed.

Mr. McNutt pointed out that the "work or fight" order had directed that fathers and others of draft age with dependents be inducted if they were employed in any of the 70 "nondeferable" occupations listed by the War Manpower commission. Selective service regulations prohibit the drafting of fathers not in deferable jobs.

PLEDGE:
'Exploitation's End'

A world freed from international exploitation was listed by President Roosevelt as one of the postwar objectives of the United Nations.

The President declared that better use of human and natural resources must be assured in the postwar world if living standards are raised, continuing, "and I may add—the better use of these resources without exploitation by any nation."

Speaking to delegates from the recent United Nations Food conference, Mr. Roosevelt summed up "our ultimate objective" in this manner:

"It is to build for ourselves—meaning all men, everywhere—a world in which each individual human being shall have the opportunity to live out his life in peace; to work productively, earning at least enough for his actual needs and those of his family; to associate with the friends of his choice; to think and worship freely; and to die secure in the knowledge that his children, and their children shall have the same opportunities."

SLAUGHTER:
Nazis Massacre Dutch

Out of tightly censored Holland came news of fresh Nazi atrocities. These latest reports concerned the killing of thousands of Dutch citizens in mass executions following a general strike that had halted all activity for nearly a week. They were made public by the Office of War Information.

Allied sources learned that the strike had started when Nazi authorities announced that all members of the former Dutch army paroled in 1940 would be sent to Germany to work in Nazi war factories. Within half an hour, reports said, factories, shops, public offices and even courts stopped. Within a few hours public services and transportation ceased to function.

Ruthless executions then were undertaken by the Germans. Bodies of the slain Dutch patriots were left where they fell in public squares and outside cities. Work resumption was eventually ordered by "Good Patriots" in order to avoid further slaughter.

AIR FREIGHT:
Plans for Future

Prophetic of the future, the civil aeronautics board received a request for a charter for a vast network of aerial freight lines serving the United States and many foreign countries.

The petitioner, the Keoshin Air Freight company, asked authority to serve 200 major cities in this country as well as many points in foreign countries through an exchange of freight at 18 "gateways."

Fear of cooling off in the "cooler" fills the face of eight-year-old Eddie Conlan as he looks up into the imposing figure of the law. A temperature of 85 in New York prompted Eddie to cool off in the East river, but alas, the law put an end to that cooling thought.

CHATTERER FINDS A HOME

When your plans are upset and all scattered about
Just make up your mind that you'll find a way out.

PETER RABBIT went straight over to the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard lipperty, lipperty, lip, so fast that it didn't take him long to get there. But Chatterer the Red Squirrel never feels really safe on the ground unless there is something to climb close at hand, so he went a long way round by way of the rail fences. He always did like to run along a rail fence, and he wouldn't have minded it a bit this morning if he hadn't been in such a hurry. It seemed to him that he never would get there. But, of course, he did. You know you always get somewhere if you keep on going long enough.

When he did get there he found Peter Rabbit sitting on Johnny Chuck's doorstep staring down Johnny Chuck's long hall. "They're asleep," said he, as Chatterer came up all out of breath.

Peter shook his head in a puzzled way and continued to stare down the long, empty hall. Of course he was talking about Johnny and Polly Chuck, who had gone to sleep for the winter. That sleeping business always puzzles Peter. It seems to him like a terrible waste of time. But Chatterer had too much on his mind to waste time wondering how other people could sleep all winter. He couldn't himself, and now that he had been driven away from his own home in the Green Forest by fear of Shadow the Weasel he couldn't waste a minute. He must find a new home and then spend every minute of day time laying up a new store of food for the days when everything would be covered with snow. He shivered at the thought.

"Have you found a new home yet?" asked Peter.

Up and down the length of the stone wall he scampered looking for a place to make a home, but nothing suited him. You know he likes best to make his home in a tree. He isn't like Striped Chipmunk, who lives in the ground. Poor Chatterer! He just couldn't see how he was going to live in the old stone wall. He sat on top of a big stone to rest and think it over. He was discouraged. Life didn't seem worth living just then. He felt as if his heart had gone way down to his toes. Just then his eyes saw something that made his heart come up again with a great bound right where it ought to be. Just then Peter Rabbit came hopping along.

"Have you found a new home yet?" asked Peter.

"Yes," replied Chatterer, "I think I have."

"That's good," replied Peter. "I was sure you would find one over here. Where is it?"

Chatterer opened his mouth to tell Peter, and then closed it with a snap. He remembered just in time how hard it is for Peter to keep a secret. If he should tell Peter it would be just like Peter to tell some one else without meaning to, and then it might get back to Shadow the Weasel.

"I'm not going to tell you now, Peter Rabbit," said he. "You see I don't want anybody to know where it is until I am sure that it will do. But I'll tell you this much," he added, as he saw how disappointed Peter looked. "I'm going to live right here."

Peter brightened up right away. You see he thought that, of course, Chatterer meant that he had found a hole in the old stone wall, and he felt very sure that he could find it by keeping watch. "That's good," he said again. "I'll see you often. But watch out for Black Pussy. Her claws are very sharp. Now I think I'll be going back to the Old Brier Patch."

"Don't tell where I am," called Chatterer.

"I won't," replied Peter, and, as usual, he meant just what he said.

U. S. Army Air Forces Stab at Aleutian Isles

Making life as miserable as possible for the Jap invaders of the Aleutians at their Kiska and Attu island bases is the continuing task of the Eleventh United States Air Force. Working from the Andreanof islands, under weather conditions literally the worst in the world, hazardous missions over Arctic seas and desolate islands are the routine of these fliers. These pictures show how one of these missions is undertaken.

CHICAGO ATTORNEY BUYS RUPERT PLACE

Property Developed By L. S. Rupart to Be Year-Around Home

Sale of Rupert Place, summer home of Mrs. L. S. Rupert and the late Mr. Rupert, to Robert L. Taylor of Chicago has been announced.

Mr. Taylor, who is retiring after 49 years as attorney for the board of election commissioners of the city of Chicago, will make his year-around home here.

First coming to Charlevoix in 1898 from Bloomington, Ill., the Ruports spent summers at the Belvedere Club until the Rupert Place was built in 1912. Originally a cornfield, the grounds were landscaped into a beautiful residential property, largely with trees from the nearby woods. Stone for fireplace and foundations came from Lake Michigan's shore. Hedges which surround the 5-acre property contain more than 3000 cedar trees, and several virgin white pines stand to the west of the house on two lots which were bought to preserve the old trees.

Mrs. Rupert will continue to spend summers in Charlevoix, following the sale of her residence.

Earl A. Young, local realtor, was in charge of the transaction.

SHOT AT RANDOM

able stocks have been exhausted and you can't get any more. So unless Nature is kind to us the rest of the summer, efforts of hundreds to assure summer and winter vegetables against threatening shortage are going to come to naught.

With Don Carey accepted in the U. S. navy, the Leo Creys, like the Joe Fosters, have four sons in Uncle Sam's service, all in the navy, too. There's "Chuck," Keith, Tom and Don in the order of their ages. Something to be mighty proud of, I'd remark.

And speaking about soldiers reminds me how disappointed I was last week to get only two letters from the boys. Thought perhaps they all might have been shipped for foreign duty at once, but am so glad to remark that we're back "on the beam" again this week. The Courier and its readers alike, highly appreciate these communications from the boys in service.

Several irate parents suggested taking a pot-shot at somebody this week for the delay in preparing the Lake Michigan bathing beach playground facilities for use, but note the job is now under way. Will agree the weather has been no inducement for such activity, but you know as well as I do that kiddies don't wait for time or tide.

For fear the gas rationing board might be more interested than the general public, I'm soft peddling fishin' news. The thought did occur to me, though while reading about prize winning fish in the annual Field and Stream national contest, that the stuff we get around here isn't so much to brag about. For instance, the top brook weighed 0 lbs. 0 oz., brown trout 10 lbs. 12 oz., rainbow 13 lbs. 0 oz., lake trout 42 lbs. 8 oz., small-mouth bass 8 lbs. 8 oz., large-mouth 10 lbs. 0 oz. These monstors came from such places as Canada, Montana, New York state, Massachusetts, some of which we'd stop to think twice before calling them fishing localities. All but three of the prize winners were taken on artificial bait, too.

Why not let the government take everything and send us a check for living expenses?

E. E. CROSS TAKEN BY DEATH TUESDAY

Pere Marquette Station Agent Here Eight Years

Edward E. Cross, 74, resident of Charlevoix for 25 years, died early Tuesday at his home on Petoskey avenue. In failing health during the winter, he had been ill for about a month with a heart condition.

Born November 15, 1868, in Prairieville, Mich., Mr. Cross came to Alanson at the age of 17 to take up telegraphy as an employee of the old G. R. and I. Railroad. In 1902 he was appointed G. R. and I. station agent at Petoskey, and in 1908 became agent for the Pere Marquette Railway depot at Petoskey. After a year in Grand Rapids as Pere Marquette passenger agent at the Morton Hotel, Mr. Cross was transferred to Charlevoix and was agent here until 1920. Following his retirement from the railway company's service, he opened a gasoline station on Petoskey avenue which he operated until a few weeks ago.

He was married to Minnie Miller, of Alanson, on October 1, 1888 and they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in 1038.

Member of the Congregational church and Masonic lodge, he also served on the county board of supervisors for several years, and held the position of chairman of the county welfare commission for some time.

Surviving are the wife, two daughters, Mrs. Angus L. Fochtman and Mrs. Clair S. Webster, both of this city; two sisters, Mrs. S. W. House of Petoskey and Mrs. R. W. Pettijohn, of Plainwell; eight grandchildren and one great-

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Donald R. Evans at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon from the Seo Funeral Home. Burial will be at Groenwood cemetery, Petoskey.

BLACKOUT NOT TO DELAY RED CROSS

Workers Still Needed As Quota Production Is Slow

Thursday night's blackout will not halt production of Red Cross surgical dressings at the city hall workroom, it was announced this week.

The room will be open Monday and Tuesday evenings, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon and evening, until completion of the June quotn. As the period of total darkness will be only about 15 minutes, and inside lights may be kept on before and after that time, it was decided not to let the blackout halt production of the badly-needed drassings for longer than the quarter-hour during which all lights must be out.

Although production of drassings has speeded up slightly the past week, workers are still badly needed. Only requirements are a clean dress — it is not necessary to change from street clothes at the room—head covering, and no nail polish.

Use of wool felt has saved approximately 500,000 pounds of rubber in six months in the manufacture of washers, gaskets, and similar items.

APPLY NOW FOR NEXT "A" BOOK

MUST BE RENEWED BY MAIL BEFORE JULY 21

Renewal Application Forms Are Obtainable At Most Service Stations In County

Renewal of Charlevoix county motorists' "A" gasoline ration books was begun Tuesday by the local war price and rationing board under the streamlined renewal plan recently announced by the OPA, which provides for handling the applications by mail.

Car owners are requested to file their applications as soon as possible so that the board may process them and mail out all new books before the present "A" rations expire July 21.

The mail renewal plan, which also includes renewals on the basic "D" motorcycle rations, eliminates the school-house registration that was necessary when basic rations were issued last autumn. To get his new "A" or "D" book a car or motorcycle owner needs take only the following simple steps:

1. Pick up application form R-570 at any service station in Charlevoix, East Jordan or Boyne City. Stations at Boyne Falls, and other small communities will be provided with renewal forms if a sufficient supply is granted the rationing board. Motorists are cautioned to obtain the right form, not to get that which is for renewal of "B" and "C" supplemental books.

2. Fill out the form and mail it to the war price and rationing board in Charlevoix with (a) the back cover of the present "A" or "D" book, properly filled out, and (b) the current tire inspection record showing that proper inspections have been made, with tire serial numbers accurately written in.

The board will begin processing applications as soon as they are received, and every effort will be made to have new books in the hands of all car and motorcycle owners by July 21. However, this can be assured only if motorists and motorcycle owners cooperate by getting their application forms as soon as possible and filing them promptly.

If the applicant has acquired a new tire since the last inspection, this fact should be noted, giving the new tire number and attaching a note of explanation. Any motorists who have not had at least one tire inspection by a qualified inspector will be denied a renewal.

EDWIN MADILL IN U. S. TREASURER'S OFFICE

First Personnel Director For Federal Bureau

From September 26, 1778, when the office of the Treasurer of the United States was created by an act of Congress, until January, 1943, this particular bureau of the treasury department was without a bonafide personnel director. By civil service action and departmental recommendation in January of this year, the position of personnel officer was approved and Edwin J. Madill, formerly of Charlevoix, has the distinction of being the first director of personnel for the treasurer's office.

Mr. Madill is in charge of personnel administration for the treasurer's office in Washington, D. C., and in Chicago, where a branch office is in operation. He has under his supervision a staff of trained technicians, but is personally responsible for accomplishing the more important and difficult technical and executive work connected with the institution.

IRONTON CHILD DROWNING VICTIM

CLARE ORVIS FELL FROM DOCK NEAR HOME

Was In Water Only Short Time; Efforts To Revive Lad Not Successful

Clare Orvis, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Orvis of Ironton, was drowned in the south arm of Lake Charlevoix last Thursday night about 8 o'clock, when he slipped off the deck from which he had been fishing in front of his home.

He was thought to have been in the water not more than 15 minuts before he was missed and a search was instigated. The body was recovered near the dock by his older brother, Ashford, 18, who with Mr. Orvis went out in a rowboat to look for the boy. An hour's effort to revive him by artificial respiration administered by Dr. J. VanDellen, of East Jordan, and Mrs. Pete Bennett and Tom Neilsen, proved ineffectual, as did injections of a medical stimulant given by the doctor.

It was believed the lad might have become panicky and could make no effort to call for help or save himself when he fell into the shallow water from the slippery dock, almost under water because of this year's exceptionally high lake levels. There was no evidence that he might have struck his head and become unconscious.

Born at Ironton, May 6, 1935, the youth was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Orvis. Besides his parents, he is survived by three brothers, William, of Lansing, Ashford and Sam, at home; four sisters, Mrs. Richard Russell, of Lansing, Mrs. A. G. Schanick, of Flint, Betty and Mary, at home. Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the See Funeral Home, Rev. W. D. Wood, officiating, with burial at Brookside cemetery.

Barge M. H. Stuart Sold

The steam barge M. H. Stuart, of Cheboygan, once familiar in Charlevoix harbor, has been sold by Captain E. J. Laway and will be made over into a gasoline tug by its new owners. It will be used for salvaging marine scrap iron.

The Comforts of Home Under the Sea

The USS Cuttlefish, a modern submarine, was built to provide comfortable quarters for its crew as well as to raise havoc with the enemy. Its facilities include a reception room, shower, and radios used solely for amusement. At left, a yeoman keeps records in the sub's office. Those records show that the Cuttlefish has sunk one Jap warship and three Jap merchant ships although it was launched very recently. At center is the crew's quarters, and at right, the cook smiles as he prepares turkey for dinner. The spacious engine room and other compartments of this sub belie the visions of cramped living conditions so often associated with submarines. The Cuttlefish is powered with Diesel engines and has the latest safety developments in its escape hatch.

BLACKOUT THURSDAY HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

Fine Cooperation Of Local Citizens In First Wartime Test

The first test blackout in Charlevoix was 100 per cent successful, according to reports from Clifford McKibbin Jr., Commander of the Citizens' Defense Corps. Reports by troopers and officers of the state police in this area indicated the various county organizations worked to near perfection.

Only a few isolated instances were found in which lights were burning in violation of the blackout. One attic light and one basement light were left on by homeowners who were out of town, and one porch light was also burning.

Street lights were turned on by error before end of the second "blue" period, but were quickly extinguished. Bright moonlight made it almost unnecessary for air raid wardens to show lights during their patrols, although the moon's illumination would have been a material aid to enemy pilots in case of an actual bombing.

Appreciation for the fine cooperation of all local citizens, air raid wardens and emergency police is extended by Mr. McKibbin and the senior wardens, who are P. R. Ross, R. L. Lewis, A. C. Belding, Ray Kipke and Kenneth Anderson.

NORWOOD WAS HIT BY WIND STORM MONDAY

Hail Damaged Farm Crops in Area South of Charlevoix

A localized tornado, followed by a severe hailstorm, inflicted heavy damage in and around the community of Norwood late Monday afternoon.

Strong winds, spiraling clouds into the peculiar funnel-shaped cone characteristic of a tornado, blew down a barn belonging to James Feres, which was being prepared for moving to another location, also barns on the farms of William Parsons and of John Veenstra, to the east of Norwood. Roof of the unoccupied residence of Sol Bilow was snatched off by the wind, and numerous Norwood homes had many windowpanes blown in.

Hailstones reported to be as large as quarter-dollars cut garden and field crops off at ground level around Norwood and some distance toward East Jordan. Trees were blown down, and power lines were out of commission in the vicinity.

STORY OF ACTION AT GUADALCANAL

BOB ASHDON TOOK PART IN ISLAND'S OCCUPATION

Coast Guardsmen Were Cited For Long Tour of Duty in South Pacific War Theater

Home for the first time since October, 1941, Bob Ashdon, boatswain's mate first class with the United States coast guard, has an enthralling story to tell of his experiences in fourteen months of action in the south Pacific.

Serving on convoy duty in the north Atlantic during the winter and spring of 1942, Bob went to the southern Pacific theater of war to serve aboard a troop transport of the American navy. On August 8, 1942, he participated in the first landing on Jap-held Guadalcanal. Duties of the coast guards on his ship were to land men and tanks on the island's shore in the face of Jap fire from the air and land.

Swiftness of the American landing is indicated by the fact that within 50 minutes of the beginning of their action, 4,000 marines and 16 tanks were landed with but few casualties. Only four of the 20 boats which comprised one landing party made shore — the others were sunk by Jap planes and guns on the island, but their crews and passengers were largely saved.

Two days after the initial landing on Guadalcanal, Bob took a Rising Sun flag from a dead Jap soldier. Contrary to American traditions of flag usage, the Japs write on their flag, using it apparently as a sort of autograph album. The flag is now on display in the Campbell shoe shop window, as is a pair of Jap soldier's shoes which Bob got on Guadalcanal on October 10. Foot trouble was the bane of troops in that lengthy occupation of the island. Often they could not take their shoes off for days at a time, and developed a type of athlete's foot. Bob exchanged his own heavy duty regulation marines' shoes for a pair he found on a dead Jap soldier a short distance from the beach where his boat was unloading.

Two-Day Meeting Was Climaxed By Dinner at The Argonne

A training meeting was held at the Perry Hotel in Petoskey on Monday and Tuesday of this week for northern Michigan representatives of the United States Employment Service, a division of the War Manpower Commission. An enjoyable feature of the meeting was a dinner served Monday evening at The Argonne in this city.

Officials of the United States Employment Service offices in Detroit and Cleveland in attendance at the meeting and dinner were: John L. Craig, director for Michigan; Richard Shaw, regional representative of the War Manpower Commission; Colonel Engstrom, regional representative of the selective service system; Frank Carpenter, regional chief of training bureau; Carl Wheaton, district chief of division of training for Michigan; Dirk VanRee, representing the apprentice training service; George Fern, director of vocational training for war production workers; and Russell Holmes, director of veterans employment service for Michigan.

The meeting was held to discuss the developments in the new regional stabilization plan, to plan a program to assist employers in solving their selective service problems and to develop a program for training of war workers.

Frank and Ed Gengle are both with the 253rd quartermaster remount squadron at Fort Reno, Okla., and both entered the army in April of this year. William Gengle, who entered the navy in April, is at the Great Lakes naval training station.

All the boys attended Charlevoix schools.

ALL WATCHES MUST BE FILLED IMMEDIATELY

Tower Vacant Saturday When Plane Went Over City

Two watches are not yet filled in the schedule of the Charlevoix post of the Aircraft Warning Service, which appears on page 8 of this issue.

It is very important that these watches be filled immediately. The tower was vacant last Saturday from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m., and a plane passed over the city about 10:43 a.m. when no watcher was on duty. Unless someone is on duty at all times of the day and night, this station is of no value in the Aircraft Warning Service, whose purpose is to check the movements of all planes, civilian, military, and possible enemy craft, in this area. This cannot be done unless every station reports every plane that passes.

The 9 to 12 a.m. Saturday watch was later filled, but the 6 to 9 a.m. and 12 noon to 3 p.m. watches remain vacant. Volunteers are asked to call 75 to register for duty.

CLARIFY AUTO INSURANCE LAW

NEW STATUTE EFFECTIVE JULY 30

Financial Responsibility Must Be Established By Persons Involved In Accidents

The auto insurance committee of the state bar of Michigan, asserting that financially irresponsible drivers injure an average of 30,000 persons a year in Michigan, is seeking to better inform the public on features of the new state motor vehicle law which becomes effective July 30.

The new statute requires that persons involved in accidents causing personal injury or death must establish financial ability to meet accident claims.

Report of a personal injury accident, under the law, must be filed with the secretary of state's office within 10 days on blanks which can be obtained at all police and sheriff's offices. Failure to report is punishable by fine and suspension of the driver's operating license and registration certificate.

An accident from which any personal injury might possibly develop, regardless of whether the injury was apparent at the time of the accident, should be reported also, as it sometimes happens that weeks after an accident injuries will become apparent which resulted from that accident.

Drivers who lack insurance are not, in every case, committed to deposit $10,000 or a bond of the same amount, as indicated by the law. In some instances, the deposit will be an amount which in the discretion of the secretary of state's office will compensate the injured party if liability is later established. Although an uninsured driver or owner may clearly be not at fault, bond still must be posted because legal liability will be determined by the courts

FRIDAY OPENING DAY FOR FISHING

INLAND LAKE SEASON TO BEGIN JUNE 25

Laws of 1942 Apply to License Requirements, Limits and Sizes for Catch

The general fishing season in Michigan opens on Friday, June 25. It is then all of our inland lakes will invite fishermen to "come and get 'em," meaning, of course, any species of fish that will grab their lures with the exception of grayling and sturgeon, protected species.

Opening of the season takes on a new meaning to local fishermen this year for it will afford them the one chance to get fish food for their tables, combined with the sport of catching them, over waters near their homes without expending much gas or rubber to reach the fishing waters.

If you are familiar with the fishing laws of 1942 that's about all you need to know this year for the past Legislature let them stand as they were. The size limits of the various species are seven inches for stream trout and white bass; six inches for calico bass, rock bass, crappies, yellow perch, bluegills and sunfish; 10 inches for large and smallmouth black bass; 14 inches for northern pike and walleyes; 30 inches for muskellunge and any length for lake trout, whitefish and all other food fishes.

The daily limit and number in possession are the same with 15 or not more than 10 pounds and one fish for stream trout; 25 in the aggregate of bluegills, sunfish, calico bass, crappies and perch but of this number no more than 15 can be bluegills; a combined total of five black bass, walleyes or northern pike except over the Great Lakes and their connecting waters where the limit is 10 but not more than five black bass or pike except walleyes that may total 10 alone.

The resident fishing license fee remains at $1 for all over 17 years of age except the wife who can fish free under a special permit obtained by her husband at the time he purchases his license. The annual non-resident fee is $2 with 50 cents extra for the wife. No license is needed to fish the Great Lakes and their connecting waters except for non-residents for taking game fish only.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Wild strawberries are ripe and home-grown berries put in their appearance on the market Monday. Guess we're going to have summer after all.

I suppose you heard about the three little pigs that left home. Their father was an awful bore.

Quite a few of the fellows were out after steelhead Sunday but from what I've been able to find out, there was very little catching. Hear George Whitley and Frank Harris both took the limit of brooks, which is more than I can claim. Friday's opening of the inland lake fishing season should take a lot of pressure off the trout streams, thus leaving the old die-hards pretty much to themselves. With the season all of two weeks late, bass should be on the spawning beds and early fishing excellent.

Mrs. R. C. Molet called up one day last week to tell about having to chase a deer out of her garden. The Molets live out at the Four Corners, intersection of U. S. 31 and Barnard road, you know.

Speaking of strange incidents, "Fritz" Bergmann has a new variety of potatoes. Digging into his garden to find out why the plants didn't come up, he found small potatoes (the potatoes, carrots and peas kind) growing underground. Well, this is a strange season and strange things are liable to happen, I guess.

The familiar faces of many of our old-time summer residents may be seen on the streets daily now. Not so many big cars and quite a scarcity of pleasure craft, though.

Who Said Sacrifice?

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I thought I'd better write and give you my new address so that I would be sure to get the paper. Believe me, I surely appreciate getting it and wish to thank you and the CSO for sending it to me.

I graduated from Midland radio school on June 5th, and shipped that afternoon for Camp Forrest, Tenn., where we were supposed to join the 114th but as they were out somewhere in the countains on maneuvers, it was uncertain when we would make contact with them. In fact, it took us all one day chasing them around the back rouds of Tennessee before we did catch them.

It is almost a week now that I have been out here in the hills and as there is only a short time, four days, to go, I am going to be cut short on actual field experience. I suppose some of the fellows in the army would be glad they didn't have to go through the entire maneuvers, but as we are not a tactical unit, my work is the same in the field as it would be in garrison or in a town, for that matter. This is quite an outfit, Ken, and I am very lucky to get into it. From the little I have done so far, I can see that we are to play an important part in the war. It gives me a sort of pride to think that I can be a part of such an important outfit. Some day I'll tell you all about it and I think you will agree with me. I can say that all the tactical situations and actions are governed by our findings, and as all of the work is done by radio, the operators are the king-pins of the whole team and they all treat us like kings. I only hope I can do my work like it should be done and keep up the standard of the company.

Must close and go to chow, as that is one thing I don't miss and mail call is the other. I'd appreciate it very much if you would send the paper to me in care of the following address:

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS
By B. C. Mellencamp

Canning Yields Vary By Product

Many an amateur will be involved in home canning in Michigan kitchens this summer, according to estimates of the home economics extension service at Michigan State College.

For the benefit of newcomers to this home war industry of feeding war workers on farm and in the city, some typical yields of fruits and vegetables commonly canned are presented by B. C. Mellencamp, agricultural agent for Charlevoix County.

Lima beans, for instance, weigh 28 pounds to the bushel and yield 6 to 8 quarts, or a housewife can figure 4 to 5 pounds of lima beans to fill one quart can.

Similarly, snap beans, 24 pounds to a bushel, can 16 quarts. A bushel of beets weighs 60 pounds and fills 24 quarts. Carrots weigh 50 pounds to the bushel and fill 20 quart jars. Sweet corn, 72 pounds to the bushel, yields 8 to 9 quarts of whole kernels.

Greens, a bushel weighing 12 pounds, fill 5 to 7 quart cans. Peas weigh 32 pounds to a bushel and a bushel cans 12 to 16 pints. Forty pounds of squash yield 20 quarts. Tomatoes weigh 56 lbs. to the bushel and a bushel yields 15 quarts.

Fruits commonly canned include strawberries which yield 12 quarts from a 24 quart case. Other berries, 24 quarts to the crate, yield 18 quarts. Cherries weigh 56 pounds to the bushel and yield 25 quarts.

Grapes weigh 48 pounds to the bushel, yield 20 quarts. Peaches by the bushel weigh 50 pounds and fill 20 quarts. Pears weigh 58 pounds to the bushel and yield 24 quarts. A bushel of plums weighs 57 pounds and fills 26 quarts.

Office supplies of any description may be obtained quickly through the Charlevoix Courier.—Adv. 23

For Freedom's Sake

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Mornin', Judge... meetin' someone?"

"No, Sam, I'm just going up the line aways on business. Wasn't that a troop train that just pulled out?"

"Sure was, Judge... stopped over here for ten minutes and what a swell bunch of fellows they were."

"That's true all over, Sam. Our present Army is the best trained, best disciplined, best behaved in American history. That's why I get my hair up when I hear of some people trying to dry up the areas around Army camps. Why, in a recent report made by the government, it said the Army usually prefers its camps to be located in wet instead of dry communities. And there's a sound reason. In a wet community the Army can control drinking. In dry communities where bootleggers run wild it's almost impossible. We know that from our nearly 14 years of experience with national prohibition.

LANSING LETTER

For more than a generation there has been wailing about the future of small town and rural America.

Michigan has had its share of tear-shedders.

Last Saturday we attended a war conference of the National Editorial Association at Cincinnati, and we heard a remarkable talk about the American Main Street — those thousands of small towns of less than 10,000 population scattered from coast to coast, from Canada to the Gulf — and their surrounding farm regions.

The speaker was the publisher of a small town newspaper, L. A. Rossman, publisher of the Herald-Review at Grand Rapids, Minnesota, presents facts about Main Street which are worth repeating —and we know of no better theme for this week's Michigan Mirror than the small towns and rural sections of Michigan which are bearing the brunt of the 1943 food burden and making a significant contribution to Victory without benefit of "E" awards or publicity ballyhoo.

"Fifty-two percent, over half, of the people of the United States live in rural areas or in villages and cities of less than 10,000 population," said Country Editor Rossman.

"This fact, of vital importance to the case to be presented, is readily established from the census of 1940.

Distribution of Population

In 92 cities of more than 100,000 population 27,987,988, 29%.

In 985 cities of from 10,000 to 100,000, 24,727,948, 19%.

In 15,475 villages and cities of less than 10,000, 21,050,482; In unincorporated areas 47,902,896, 68,953,378, 52%.

"Such figures need no explanation. They are eloquent."

"It has been charged that the automobile and motor vehicle is destroying the smaller communities and building the larger cities.

"Such predictions ought not to be discussed on the basis of sentiment, though that element is involved, generalities or ill founded opinion. There is a better basis, that of fact and thoughtful observation.

"Available to every citizen is the census of 1940 and its comparisons with previous years. Therein population is divided into two classifications, the rural which includes all villages and cities up to 2500 people, and the urban which includes those communities of more than 2500. Here is a table showing the comparative increase in urban and rural population by decades:

Decade Ending	Urban	Rural
1910	39.3%	9.0%
1920	29.0	3.2
1930	27.3	4.4
1940	7.9	0.4

"These facts show the general trend of population from rural to urban over a period of 40 years.

"That general change came from certain obvious causes. The primary reason was the great development of industry which thrives upon cities and tends to build great centers of employment and population. At the same time that industry was passing through its great mechanical changes, agriculture was also becoming mechanized. The great farming frontiers were nearing development.

"One of the greatest developments in the economy of the nation is the change of trend in population from country to city and a condition of obvious stability in the balance of these two great parts of the nation's population.

"In truth, it is interesting to hear the dire predictions of today that the large cities are to lose in population and prestige. The cities are disturbed because so many of their people are moving into outlying areas. This condition has its particular effects upon the cost of government and the value of property in metropolitan communities.

"In the last census period six out of twenty of the largest cities of the nation lost in population, 6 had but insignificant gains and the whole group had a population increase but approximately half that of the rest of the nation.

"In the decade ending in 1940 the population of the whole nation increased by 7.2 per cent, the population of the rural areas increased by 6.4 per cent and the population of the twenty largest cities increased by 4.7 per cent.

"The assumption that the automotive age was to adversely affect rural and small town America has never been reasonable or warranted.

"People in smaller communities or rural areas depend more upon transportation than those of large centers of population. To improve, to revolutionize, transportation facilities cannot help but aid those people and those communities dependent upon them.

"It is true that the automobile sometimes takes people from a smaller community to trade in a larger center. But at the same time it brings the whole countryside in closer contact with local centers of trade. The farmer who was once perhaps hours from the nearest village now finds himself but a few minutes distant from town.

"There is still another factor. The smaller community of a generation ago had its livery stable, a noisome and interesting institution. Today the sale and servicing of automotive equipment is the largest commercial enterprise in town. There is a gasoline filling station on every other corner. It requires more people, spread throughout America, to sell and service automotive vehicles than are needed to manufacture them in the large centers of industry.

"Again, look at the facts. The trend in population, from rural to urban, in the last generation was largest in the first decade of the century at a time when the automobile was just being developed. It was less in the next decade. That trend was less apparent in the years from 1920 to 1930 despite the great activity in industrial centers. In the last decade, when the number of motor vehicles was greater than ever before the highway system of the nation most adequate, the trend from country to city had practically disappeared."

Yes, times have changed, and the Michigan small town today has many advantages which formerly were in the exclusive possession of large cities.

City and country know of no general distinctions in merchandise. The silver screen reflects the same Hollywood films. The same radio program comes into the homes.

And, as every politician knows, control of government in America rests with rural small town and small city America. Proof: In 28 states of the union the rural population exceeds the urban.

When you start to bemoan the fate of small towns, think twice. The facts tell an entirely different story.

FOREST FIRE DANGER MINIMUM THIS YEAR

Spring Rain, Gas Rationing Are Factors In Decrease

However much the average sportsman may complain about the wide-spread spring rains and gas rationing preventing his enjoying his customary spring fishing, he should be gratified to learn from conservation department officials that these two factors are keeping Michigan forests freer from the scourge of forest fires than they have been in several years.

The rains, which have kept normal hazards low late into the season, and the gasoline rationing, which has kept careless tourists and transients out of the forest areas, have reduced forest fires this season to a remarkably low minimum.

The total number of fires for this year so far, 270, is in sharp contrast to the total number for last year at this time, which was 473; and the figure for 1941 at this date, which was 501, is almost twice as large. So far this year, only 3,918 acres of timber area have been burned, compared with 9,502 acres by the first week in June last year.

Especially unusual for this season in the year is the record set in the last week in May and the first week in June. No fires were reported at all in the whole state for the week ending May 31, and only two fires — both in the Upper Peninsula — which together burned only one acre of timber land, were sighted by conservation department tuwermen during the week ending June 6.

AAA FARM PROGRAM IN CHARLEVOIX COUNTY

Through recent W.P.B. Priorities Regulations, farmers may now purchase many miscellaneous farm supplies without obtaining priority ratings or farm machinery purchase certificates. Under the new plan, the farmer will sign a statement for the dealer, certifying that he is a farmer and that the supplies covered by his order are needed now and will be used for the operation of his farm. Such certification will enable the farmer to buy up to $25.00 worth of any of the items covered by this ruling. He may buy more than that if his certificate is approved by his local County Farm Rationing Committee. 144 items have been included under this order, among which are batteries, pipe, copper wire, insulated up to 75 ft., and motors, fractional under 1 H.P. For further information, consult your AAA office, or your dealer.

County quotas for the rationing of pressure cookers have recently been released. Charlevoix county has received an allocation of 381 pressure cookers. Those wishing to purchase a pressure cooker may obtain an application by either writing or calling at the AAA office, Boyne City. Where possible, the pooling of cookers by several families should be arranged.

Movement of an armored division and its vehicles by railroad requires 75 trains of from 28 to 45 cars each.

ANNUAL REPORT TB ASSOCIATION MADE

X-Ray Clinic Services Reached 75 Counties In State

The annual report of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, presented to the board of trustees on June 23, announced that the Christmas seal clinics have X-rayed 9772 persons and recommended 231 for sanatorium treatment.

The X-ray clinic services reached 75 counties in the state usually in cooperation with the county health department. In ten counties having no health director, social workers from the MTA called on all persons known to have been exposed to tuberculosis and offered them tuberculin tests. They tuberculin tested 14,000 persons in this ten county area.

Due to a change in the fiscal year, this MTA report covers the 19-month period ending March 31, 1943. The report will be printed and ready for distribution by the end of June according to Theo. J. Werle, executive secretary of the organization. Copies are available on request.

Other services shown in the report included tuberculosis movies which were seen by 97,427 persons. Princess Watassa, who dramatizes health teachings in Indian legend form, had addressed 147,796 persons from 1666 schools.

To teach that tuberculosis is spread by germs, can be prevented and cured, the organization distributed 200,000 pieces of literature.

This work is supported solely by the annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals.

Iron and scrap collections in Rhode Island average about 3,000 tons a week, or more than 9 lbs. per capita.

AT THE MOVIES

"Slightly Dangerous"

"Slightly Dangerous," a gay, sparkling, modern comedy, brings Lana Turner and Robert Young together for the first time and comes to the Palace Theatre this Saturday and Sunday.

Produced by Pandro S. Berman, who handled the production assignment for "Henky Tonk," it was directed by Wesley Ruggles.

The story is an original for the screen by Ian McLellan Hunter and Aileen Hamilton, and tells the adventures which befall a girl who feigns amnesia. Miss Turner plays the girl.

Miss Turner and Young head a cast which includes Walter Brennan, Eugene Pallette, Howard Freeman, Dame May Whitty, Millard Mitchell, Ward Bond, Pamela Blake, Ray Collins, Florence Bates and Alan Mewbray.

"Whistling In Dixie"

A slam-bang battle which lasted eight days and produced the longest fight in pictures, in point of time in filming, and the lengthiest ever on the screen, was one of the features of production of M-G-M's "Whistling in Dixie," which comes Friday and Saturday to the Palace Theatre.

Participants in the knock-down-and-drag-out melee were the star, Red Skelton, vs. Rags Ragland and Peter Whitney. Assisting Red when the going got especially rugged was Ann Rutherford.

Skelton again portrays the role of "The Fox," radio detective, the character he originated in "Whistling in the Dark," his first starring production. He finds himself in Georgia, involved in the solution of a mysterious murder. The epic-free-for-all occurs when the trail gets hot.

In featured supporting roles are Guy Kibbee, George Bancroft, Lucien Littlefield, Diana Lewis and Hobart Cavanaugh.

LAST CHANCE
—for a long while

"DEAREST MOM," he wrote from a camp in California, "it looks like we'll be moving out soon. Can't tell where we're headed, of course. But I've got a 24-hour leave next Saturday, and I'll be visiting your friends, the Wrights, in Pasadena. You can call me there, on long distance, about 7 o'clock, your time. Gee, Mom, I've been homesick to hear your voice, and maybe this is the last chance for a long while. . . ."

His mother cried a little as she went to the telephone at 7 o'clock, but her voice was steady when she asked for the Pasadena number.

"I'm sorry," said the long distance operator, "all our lines are busy now. I'll call you as soon as there's a circuit open."

So she waited, thinking of the things she wanted to tell her boy. An hour — two hours — three. And when at last the call got through it was too late. The young soldier's leave was up. He had gone back to camp.

Bees Get Priority

Bees are vital war workers and essential not only in honey production but in fruit and field crop pollination, according to R. H. Kelty, Michigan State College extension beekeeper.

Farmers are urged to maintain colonies and even observe certain practices that will give aid and protection to wild bees. The latter can be protected if burning or clearing out fence rows is curbed. Even a rail fence protects wild bee colonies. Insecticides, fires, plowing up acreage not needed, or poor weather are factors that tend to curb bee populations useful to legume crops and fruit.

and not by the secretary of state's office.

Reports must be made by all drivers and owners involved in personal injury accidents, no matter how slight the injury, and this includes the owner of a car which may be parked and unoccupied. Michigan residents who are owners or drivers of cars involved in personal injury accidents outside of the state must file reports; as must residents of other states involved in such accidents in Michigan. Drivers or owners too severely injured to file reports within 10 days may file delayed reports without penalty.

Uninsured drivers or owners who fail to settle accidents within 30 days or deposit necessary bond will have their operating license and car registrations suspended by the secretary of state. Deposits made by uninsured drivers will be returned within six months unless a judgment is entered against the depositors.

Purpose of the law, according to spokesman of the bar committee, is to see that the injured party is compensated or that the financially irresponsible driver is eliminated from the highways.

Fertilizer for Grains

Michigan's seedings of grains this fall can get their share of commercial chemical nitrogen fertilizer, the federal War Food Administration has announced.

Use of such chemical fertilizer on the grain crops was prohibited in 1942 when the supply situation indicated need for conservation. Now the supply of such chemicals has improved, the announcement indicates.

Farmers can obtain about 15 per cent more chemical nitrogen than they used in 1941 when usage set a new record in the United States.

Illness and industrial accidents account for over 50 per cent of absences from war work.

ARMY LETTERS

Hello Ken,

We got through school early tonight, so thought I would drop you a line.

They transferred me down here last Saturday for a three-month course on tanks and airplane motors, it's a good school, in fact they told us the course would cost a person $6,000 if you had to pay for it, so it should be very good. They get us up every other morning at 7:00 and we work until 8:00 that night. The rest of the time we have mornings off, our classes start then at noon and we're through at 8:00 at night, so I guess we can't kick on that.

Ken, I want to thank you for the paper, it sure helps out a lot in letting a fellow know what is going on back home, I guess home is one of the most important things to a fellow in the army and the more he hears from there the better it makes him feel.

I'll have to close for this time, thanking you once again for the paper.

As ever,
Cpl. Harry L. Oldham
7th Co., 1st Stud. Regt.
Armored Force School
Fort Knox, Ky.

Dear Ken,

Today being Memorial Day, I've been thinking of home more than usual. I always liked it in the spring back there. I can picture it now, the lilac bush beside our house in all its glory — the lilacs are in bloom, aren't they? And the smell of the cherry, and apple blossoms — the new grass with its fresh aroma, innocent as a new born babe, and untouched by the bloody hand of war. The leaves are budding now in the woods, aren't they Ken? And the pine, after shedding their winter needles, are sprouting new ones. I always got quite a thrill out of walking in the woods in the spring, hunting mushrooms, and watching the vegetation come to life, after a long winter's sleep, underneath a blanket of snow.

I still like it here (or at least I'll say I do, for the benefit of the censor), but the woods this side of the equator lack the beauty of those back home — too much disturbance, I guess.

I miss the fishing too — perch, mackinaw and steelhead, but it's a swell feeling to be over here, knowing I'm fighting for all of that, and that some day I'll be able to come back and live, once again, the life I love.

The Courier, and especially your Shot at Random column, is allowing me to relive those happy yesterdays, and speaking for all the lads—we're mighty grateful.

Till we meet again—
Bob Heise
Australia

Dear Ken,

First I want to thank you for the Courier, I get more kick out of it now than ever before and of course "Shot at Random" is always a highlight.

I guess Charlevoix gets more advertising out of this Company than anyone — they call me Charlevoix here and when you have to explain on the average of twenty times a day, just why, you have a pretty good chance of making the place quite prominent. You would laugh to hear the way some of these Southerners pronounce it.

Although my transfer to Company "E" from Company Hdqs., has been made for some time, I still get the paper, but always a few days late, so I will appreciate it if you will correct my Company Address.

I am working in the office now, and it seems good to get back to that kind of routine — you know what habit does to you and after working in one line of work for nearly 16 years and in the same office at that, you sort of form a habit. So many of the forms and office routines here are similar to that of the county so it has become sort of a second nature again.

The basic here is real strenuous, especially on the old codgers (there is only one older than myself in the Company.) I used to think I was perpetual youth but a few weeks of this taught me different. I have been under medical observation, but with this lighter routine I am feeling better again.

The weather here is like our hottest days in August at home and what wonders a city like Charlevoix on three lakes could do for this climate.

Greetings to all my friends and especially to you Ken, and your lovely family.

Dear Ken,

I have wanted to write to you for some time to thank you for sending the Courier. But due to the type of work we do, there is very little I can write about. However, I have a new address which gives me an excuse to write.

I am enclosing a card to show you the limitations placed on our writings. On top of this we are given a lecture once a month on the dangers of giving out information we possess, plus the penalties that can be inflicted on us if we do. So we think twice before we write.

Would again like to express my appreciation for the Courier and say hello to all my friends in Charlevoix.

Yours truly,
Cpl. Harry Goldstick

Dear Ken,

I'm sorry I haven't written sooner to thank you for sending me the home paper, but I haven't had enough time to write my own mother as often as I should.

I want you to know I'm very happy to get it, as it's nice to read about what's going on at home and to know by the letters from the boys which you put in the paper, where they are and what they are doing.

As you can see by the time I have written at the top of the page (11:30 p. m.) it's getting late. I mean late for soldiers.

I'm writing this note by the use of the porch light, so if you will excuse me for tonight, I'll be saying so long and good luck.

Leo Powers, now somewhere in France, says it will be necessary for him to look at a map to locate himself. He says the place he is looks a lot like Miami; gasoline is sold for ninety cents a gallon; because of scarcity of lumber, stone walls and hedges are used in place of wire fences, and telephone poles are made of concrete.

Forrest Weed, also writing from France, says the soldiers in his company have a fine river to swim and wash their clothes in.

Milton Block, who for several years has conducted a meat market in the rear of the B. W. Miller store, has moved into the south half of the Ayers block.

Joe Sanford returned last week from Notre Dame University. He has accepted a position with the Pere Marquette Railway, as agent at the Belvedere depot.

George E. Fry, chess expert from Grand Rapids, played 12 members of the Charlevoix Chess club last Thursday at the Hotel Charlevoix. He managed to checkmate or eliminate all of his opponents except Si Powers, who checkmated the master player.

Miss Margie Swinton is the new assistant at the Fessenden soda fountain . . . Miss Elizabeth Higman has accepted a position with the Sanitary Engineering Co. as bookkeeper. . . Miss Edith Struthers, of Hayes township, is the new bookkeeper at Martin Block's grocery.

Charles A. Hamlin has been named as agent for the Jewett auto in this territory. The Jewett is a nifty looking car, and should be a good seller.

Davenport's new Overland has been said to have hit the 50 mark. Anyone doubting it and wishing to take a little jaunt partly through the air, and occasionally on the road, may do so and have it proven to them, Dean says.

Wonder why the young fellows who leave Charlevoix in the fall always return in the spring. Is it the town, the job, or what?

Recognizing the important part aeroplanes are playing in the transportation of resorters from the city to their homes at summer resorts, Charlevoix is providing a marked landing field on the school property south of Garfield avenue and west of May street. The name "Charlevoix" is being painted on the Northern Auto Co.'s garage roof to identify the city to aviators, with an arrow pointing in the direction of the airport.

Miss Helen Mason, formerly of this city, and Joseph B. Privett, of Sarasota, Fla., were married recently at Bradenton, Fla.

ARMY LETTERS

Hi Ken,

Just a few lines to say hello to all, and that the paper is the best reading material I can get hold of.

At the present time we are located across the border of Louisiana into Texas, and the weather is so uncertain that a fellow has to carry his raincoat all the time or get wet. These Texas showers come up awfully sudden.

Our maneuvers have ended, and we are going to California for our next period of training, in the desert.

The best of luck to all the boys on all fronts.

Cpl. O. W. Shanaquet

P. S.—Have any luck in fishing yet? Please mail the next paper to California. I'll be seeing you soon, I hope.

Dear Ken,

Boy, this is sure a hot spot I'm in right now. About seven miles southwest of Little Rock, Ark. It is about 90 now and July and August are yet to come.

I left all the Charlevoix fellows at Camp Custer. If you have a list of the fellows in service printed somewhere, I'd like to have a copy so I could write them. If there is none printed, just send me Don Pearl's and Dick Fochtman's addresses. Also I'm ready to find out what is new in Charlevoix through the Courier.

I'm in the best camp in the country and the food is tops. I happened to land in the medical corps.

Best regards to all and I hope to see you in the fall.

Dear Ken,

I realize only too well that this word from me is rather tardy. I wish to express my appreciation for receiving the Courier each week. Although being nearly 3,000 miles from Charlevoix, sending the Courier shortens this distance considerably, bringing me closer to the things I like so well.

I have spent a year and a half in the coast artillery and a year of this time I was stationed on duty in San Diego, Calif. Just recently I transferred into the air corps and it's in this branch that you now find me.

I have also had a change of address which I would like to bring to your attention. My present address is:

A/S O. F. Bergeon
315 C. T. D., Flight T
Tempe, Ariz.

I believe that is all of the news for now.

Yours for Victory,
Orm Bergeon.

Hundreds Offer Home to Soldier's Waifs

Their father is in the army and their mother is ill in the South, so the four bright-eyed brothers pictured at top were waiting at the Children's Aid society in New York for someone to give them a home until their parents can come back. Hundreds responded to their plea expressed via a newspaper. Among them was William G. Hells, millionaire oil man shown at bottom. Hells is a Greek-American who has contributed over $1,000,000 to Greek war relief.

Even Mules Fight Axis

Despite mechanization, the army needs the lowly mule. These three have been picked from a mule market in St. Louis, Mo., to be transported to a branch of the armed service. The demands of military forces have caused prices on mules to soar and there is a brisk rush of trading each day for this cross between a jackass and a mare.

Quints ——— aunching

Eighty thousand spectators packed the huge Butler shipyards at Superior, Wis., to witness the floating of five brand-new Allied vessels—and also the Dionne Quints' first appearance on American soil. The Quints, who acted as sponsors, are shown before a U. S. immigration officer.

Let Everybody Know You're Investing 10 Percent of Your Income in War Bonds

The attractive red, white and blue window sticker, pictured above, is the new yardstick of patriotism in the War Bond drive throughout the nation. With the slogan, "Everybody every pay day, ten percent," sweeping the country, patriotic Americans on the home front are rallying to their Government's appeal for funds with which to help finance the war. The home which displays the "ten percent" sticker is doing its share toward Victory for America and the United Nations. The stickers are being distributed through local War Savings Chairmen. *U. S. What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Many of the women of the Women's Auxiliary Army Corps are already overseas serving in various capacities to help win the war. The WAACS go through a strenuous training to fit them for the arduous duties they must perform.

A uniform for a WAAC, complete, costs approximately $170.00. The quartermaster's department must provide thousands of them. Your purchase of War Bonds helps pay for these uniforms. Invest at least ten percent of your income in War Bonds every payday through a Payroll Savings plan at your office or factory. U. S. Treasury Department

IGNORANCE OF THE LAW NO EXCUSE
—GET THE FACTS!

THE MICHIGAN LEGISLATURE has passed a new law affecting the use of automobiles. This law goes into effect July 30th, and it has real teeth in it.

You will lose your driving or car-owning privilege, under this law, the first time you have an automobile accident involving any bodily injury or death:

UNLESS, you can satisfy the Secretary of State that the liability resulting from such accident is insured, or

IF NOT so insured, unless you can furnish an affidavit certifying that all personal injury or death claims resulting from such accident have been settled or unless you can give security for payment of such claims.

The Law Also Applies

IF YOU fail to pay, within 30 days, any final judgment for bodily injury or death, or for property damage of more than $50.00 or

IF YOU are convicted of violation of certain provisions of the Motor Vehicle law.

Ignorance of the Law No Excuse

Can you prove your financial responsibility?

The minimum amount of financial responsibility required is $5000 for injury to, or death of, one person in one accident; $10,000 for injury to, or death of, two or more persons in one accident, and $1000 for damage to the property of others.

The best, safest, and most economical way for you to prove that you are financially responsible is to carry the right kind of Automobile insurance in an insurance company licensed to do business in Michigan.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Mediterranean Victories Prepare Way For New Allied Campaign Against Axis; Essential Production to Be Increased By Simplification of Consumer Items

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Under the watchful eyes of U. S. guards, Axis prisoners march in internment camp in Camp Atterbury, Ind. Since fighting in North Africa, many of these camps have sprung up throughout the country, the average concentration holding 2,000 prisoners and 500 American troops. Prisoners of war are treated under rules of an international convention.

MEDITERRANEAN:
Eyes Turn to Sicily

With Allied shipping reported massed in the Sicilian straits, all Italy awaited invasion.

Preparatory to the expected blow at the "underbelly of Europe," Allied airmen ranged over the Italian islands of Sardinia and Sicily, the Axis' remaining bastions in the Mediterranean following the fall of Pantelleria, Lampedusa, Lampione and Linosa.

Airfields at Catania and Gerbini in Sicily were attacked. At Catania, enemy fighters rose in force to challenge the Allied assault.

Although Allied headquarters remained silent on their military movements in the Mediterranean, the Nazis reported that their airmen were engaging in running fights with large convoys off North Africa. The Axis also stated that the Allies had massed invasion barges at Bizerte.

Meanwhile, the Allies kept the Axis guessing about their next move. Strong aerial formations attacked Axis shipping in the Aegean sea, where the Nazis have fortified the islands leading to the Grecian mainland.

SIMPLIFY GOODS:
From Cradle to Grave

In an effort to increase production of necessary essentials, the government has ordered the simplification of more than 1,000 manufactured items. Elimination of frills and variety of sizes is expected to result in enough conservation of material to add to production.

The simplification order will affect Americans from the cradle-to-the-grave. Metal will be restricted in baby's cribs, and the length, width and depth of coffins will be limited. Cast iron kitchen utensils will be confined to 12 items, and 40 styles of enamelware have been eliminated.

Wood furniture will be reduced to 24 basic patterns. Whereas 1,150 types of tools formerly were made, only 357 now will be permitted. Production of electric bulbs will be cut from 3,500 types to 1,700. Feminine apparel will be simplified along with children's sportswear and rayon dresses.

AIR OFFENSIVE:
Cities in Flames

Bremen's big Atlas shipyards were rocked by a dozen bomb hits as American airmen continued their joint attacks with the RAF over German industrial centers. Results of the U. S. raid on the submarine base of Kiel were unobserved, as swarms of Nazi fighter planes arose to the defense.

While the Americans hammered the Atlas works, strong British units, bolstered by huge four-engined bombers, ripped Duesseldorf and Bochum in the Ruhr.

Blockbusters caused heavy damage in both cities, sweeping fires adding to the havoc. Mass evacuations were reported, and the German radio asked people in other districts to make room for the refugees.

Size of the raiding fleets can be gleaned from the Nazi claim of having shot down 46 planes, 29 of which were supposed to be the four-engined machines. German aerial activity meanwhile was limited to a short, sharp sally over a London suburb, where bombs were dropped.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS:
World Cooperation

American participation in the establishment and maintenance of post-war peace was unanimously recommended by the house foreign affairs committee.

In a simple, 35-word resolution which it recommended to the house and senate for approval, the committee declared: ". . . Congress hereby express itself as favoring the creation of appropriate international machinery with power adequate to establish and to maintain a just and lasting peace, and as favoring participation by the United States therein."

Introduced by Representative J. W. Fulbright (Ark.), the resolution was passed after being stripped of the phrase calling for the organization of an international body to prevent future aggression, and to maintain law, order and lasting peace. Since this section touched on the highly controversial subject of an international police force, it was eliminated.

FOOD CZAR:
Wanted by Congress

Shortly after a bi-partisan group of legislators conferred with President Roosevelt and suggested that he appoint a single czar to handle the food situation, the War Food administration prepared issuance of a report dealing with unfavorable crop and meat prospects.

Led by Senator Walter George, the five senators and four representatives urged that a single authority be delegated to co-ordinate production, distribution, preservation, rationing and pricing agricultural commodities.

It was reported the President suggested an appropriation from 1½ to 2 billion dollars for subsidies to be used in "rolling back" the prices of foods. Many legislators oppose the subsidies, contending the money used only will have to be repaid in taxes.

In commenting on crop prospects, the War Food administration declared floods in the Midwest and dry weather over the great plains have caused considerable damage. Meat slaughter and dairy production have failed to approach expectations.

DRAFT:
Fathers Due for Call

"Fathers will be placed in uniform at least by the last quarter of this year."

With this statement the War Manpower commission, headed by Paul V. McNutt, announced the Selective Service board's new draft policy in informing employers to prepare for replacement of married men with children in industry after October 1.

In addressing 5,500 employers who have filed replacement lists with state draft directors, the WMC said that after July 1 the employers also should plan to release the childless married men within six months.

Although the WMC's remarks were directed to the 5,500 employers, it indicated that its new policy would be broadly applied throughout all industry. Speaking before a house appropriations subcommittee, Draft Director Hershey said 10,900,000 men will be in uniform by December 31. During the first six months of 1944, 115,000 men will be inducted monthly, Hershey declared.

RUSSIA:
Action in the Center

Official announcements pertaining to the Russian front continued to be as confusing as the fighting.

While the Reds claimed to have thrown back German counterattacks in the Orel region in the center of the line, the Nazis reported the continuation of the strong Russian offensive in the Caucasus.

In neither sector, however, did either side claim any major advance. In relation to renewed Russian activity in the center, the Nazis said the Reds were massing huge forces there, apparently to press the initial attacks of a week ago when big holes were punched in the German line.

Bolstered by the addition of American planes arriving under lend-lease, Russian airmen continued sweeping attacks over the German rear. Military installations and transport were bombed.

OIL:
'Situation Worse'

"We are rapidly passing from an exporting to an importing nation in oil."

With these words Petroleum Administrator Harold Ickes forecast an increasing shortage of crude oil. Such a shortage, Ickes said, would not develop because of a lack of natural resources but rather because of a scarcity of labor, transportation and other factors.

While stating that imports of oil would have to be increased from Venezuela, the Caribbean and Mexico, he declared that California will not be producing sufficient crude by the end of the year to take care of the Pacific war theater and her own needs.

Ickes also blasted the Office of Price Administration for its handling of the gasoline rationing, declaring the OPA was too lenient in its allotments. He said home owners could expect fuel oil rationing next winter.

CORN:
Plan Call on Loans

Aiming at loosening the tight situation in corn for processors and feeders, it was reported Commodity Credit corporation planned to call its loans on 57 million bushels of 1942 corn.

Under the proposal, farmers would be allowed 30 days to liquidate their loans. The call would not interfere with the agency's previous move to redeem 35 million bushels of corn on the 1938-'41 crops, effective July 1.

Decision to call the 1942 loans was reported reached after the War Food administration, headed by Chester Davis, turned down proposals for requisitioning the corn. The WFA said requisitioning only would incense farmers and leave the government with the problem of shelling, grading and hauling the corn off the premises.

MEAT PRICES:
Down 10%

Answering to President Roosevelt's "hold-the-line" order, retail prices of meat have been "rolled back" 10 per cent, a move that will save housewives an average of three cents per pound.

The "roll-back" will be accomplished by government payment of subsidies to meat slaughterers to cover their costs of livestock.

Although the action will reduce meat prices, consumers will be compelled to eat even less beef. The War Food administration announced that federally inspected slaughterers had been ordered to reserve 45 per cent of their steer and heifer production for the army.

Flat price ceilings on meat have been drawn by the OPA for four classes of stores, starting with the small independent doing less than $50,000 worth of business a year, and ending with the large operator with an annual volume over $250,000.

NAZI SPY:
Intrigue in Hawaii

In November, 1941, Bernard Julius Otto Kuehn offered his services as a spy to the Japanese vice-consul at Honolulu. In a confession to the FBI, he said he volunteered to supply the enemy with information about the national defense of the U. S.

Shortly after, Kuehn worked out a system of signals to transmit intelligence of American fleet positions to the Japs. According to testimony, the signals were developed through a window light in the dormer of Kuehn's home near Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Kuehn played a prominent role in the intrigue, according to the FBI. In 1939, her daughter operated a beauty parlor designed to attract "navy business," and in 1940 Mrs. Kuehn visited Japan, returning with geographical literature describing American and British islands in the Pacific. Kuehn, first sentenced to death, was later committed to 50 years at hard labor.

SUPREME COURT:
Bans Compulsory Salute

Reversing a previous decision by a 6 to 3 vote, the U. S. Supreme court ruled that the nation's public schools cannot require pupils to salute the flag.

Said the majority: "Compulsory unification of opinion achieves only the unanimity of the graveyard . . . No official . . . can prescribe what shall be orthodox in politics, religion, nationalism or other matters of opinion . . ."

MICHIGAN WAR WEEK

SUMMER VACATION RELEASES YOUTHS FOR DEFENSE WORK

With the release of hundreds of thousands of children from school, Capt. Donald S. Leonard, Director of Civilian Defense, is hopeful they will spend their summer vacations as junior volunteers in civilian defense activities, and he expects to announce soon a plan for formally recognizing the efforts they put forth to help win the war.

Such activities, he points out, will serve the double purpose of assisting civilian war programs, and keeping the children occupied at a time when home supervision is often at a minimum because both mothers and fathers are employed.

Most families are now enjoying generous incomes and many children do not have "the economic incentive to find part-time jobs, such as mowing lawns, to obtain spending money," Captain Leonard said. "It is here that civilian defense finds an opportunity to utilize their energies and promote the war program."

"The most important field at the moment is agriculture," the director stated. "There are, in addition, scores of jobs closely associated with civilian defense — the collection of scrap metals, rags, and household fats; messenger assignments; raising Victory Gardens, and the like.

"We will soon announce a plan under which the work of these volunteers in civilian defense will be recognized formally. Such recognition, long past due will stimulate their interest and increase their participation in the home front program."

Blackouts Are Successful

The recent practice blackouts in 55 counties in the western, east-central and northern portions of the Lower Peninsula were marked with the same success which has attended previous exercises under the new air-raid warning signal system, reports of official observers to Capt. Donald S. Leonard, Director of Civilian Defense, indicate.

The tests also served to confirm previous judgment that the extinguishing of street lights during the Blue periods is the most effective way to reduce sky-glow.

"Local civilian defense officials were enthusiastic about the new system after these first tests, and judging from the high degree of participation, they were well received by the public, too," Capt. Leonard said.

The Upper Peninsula will have a practice blackout June 25, completing a series covering the entire state.

Scrap Rubber Drive Ends

Just a year from the time when the President's scrap rubber drive started, Kenneth M. Burns, Chairman of the State Salvage Committee of the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense, has announced that a sufficient supply of scrap rubber has been accumulated and salvage efforts may be suspended.

He has advised county and local salvage committees to call this to the attention of all persons who have been saving rubber.

"Sufficient scrap rubber was obtained in the last year's drive and since then to keep reclaiming plants operating at full capacity for at least a year and a half," Mr. Burns said. "The thousands of volunteers who participated in the scrap rubber program have demonstrated that when the need is called to their attntion and they are left to do a job under their own initiative and responsibility, their government can always count on them to solve the problem."

Patents seized by the Alien Property Custodian and made available to public inspection occupy 75 feet of shelf space.

Experts estimate that 83 per cent of all our impressions are received through our eyes, 13 per cent through hearing, and four per cent through the other senses, according to the Better Vision Institute.

Soma authorities believe that a child does not see very clearly until several weeks after birth, because the optic nerve is not fully developed during that period, says the Better Vision Institute.

A combat soldier's daily food weighs about 5½ pounds, while a civilian's averages 3 pounds.

Tuberculosis patients who have been released from sanatoriums with the doctor's approval as "arrested cases" cannot give the disease to anyone else, according to Michigan Tuberculosis Association.

Have it done by your Oldsmobile mechanics, who are factory-trained and equipped to perform every service that may be necessary, on all makes of cars.

Drive in this week. Let us give your car a tune-up that covers all possible causes of over-heating trouble. Let us clean the cooling system, flush the radiator, check the operation of the thermostat, and install the correct summer-grade lubricants. Let us make sure your brakes aren't dragging and that your wheels are properly aligned. It's the safe thing to do, it's the saving thing to do, now!

HERE'S WHAT OLDSMOBILE ENGINEERS RECOMMEND:

1. CHANGE OIL
2. INSPECT THERMOSTAT
3. FLUSH RADIATOR
4. TUNE ENGINE
5. LUBRICATE
6. WASH AND POLISH

Soon will the sun beside the bay
Tan many human pelts:
The bathing season will be on
But very little else.

And that little rhyme reminds me that thero were quite a few on the beaches Saturday and Sunday, and ut the eame time makes me wonder when the hay crop is going to be cut at the Ferry avenue bathing beach. I don't suppose city officials should be kidded for such shortcomings when one considers the shortage of labor, but the thought which occurs to me is that summer is here; what is summer without bathing beaches; nnd what good are bathing henches without attractive surroundings and useful facilities.

I know a girl who says both the mllkman and the butcher have asked her to marry them. Sha don't know whether to marry for butter or for wurst.

Just as if farmers hadn't had their share of trouble because of a cold, late spring and over-abundent rainfall, along comes a miniature cyclone and hail stones as big as goose eggs to flatten those crops which had managed to get above the ground. That'e what happened Monday afternoon to a large area in the southern portion of Charlevoix and the north portion of Antrim county. Looks like the 1943 hay crop will be a bumper one with no help to harvest it.

Well, folks, must cut it short this week, 'cause there's about 25 government forms (WPB, OPA, AAA, XYZ, BVD, etc.) to fill out, before the week's out in order to escape $10,000 penalty for failure to file each and every one.

New Zealand was where the American coast guards went when on liberty, nnd here Bob found the English-speaking residents pleasant, friendly and hospitahle. Wellington, the island's capitol, is a modern and beautiful city. New Zealand's climate compares with our spring and fall nnd is not tropical, as is attested by the fact that a penguin was captured by some of Bob's shipmates on the shore near Wellington.

Bob brought back souvenirs both beautiful and gruesome from the Pacific islands, including live Jap bullets, a piece of aluminium from u Zero plane, shrapnel from a Jap bomb which exploded near their boat, killed one of his shipmntes and hlew Bob and the engineer out of their landing boat nenr the Guadalcanal shore. A tapa cloth from Samoa, mude of palm tree bark and painted with symmetric designs of brnwn and cream to be worn in tribal dances, exotic necklaces of coral and shells and dried berries, pieces of Japanese paper money printed in English in preparation for invasion of Australia, Japanese cigarettes which nccording to Bob taste like rope, are among some of the items in Bob's interesting collection. Ilis "dog tag" is attached to a bracelet made of metal from a Jap transport.

Nerves and emotions of the men were on the rngged edge nfter months of warfare and close confinement nn their ship. The only break in nervous tension, says Bob, is in the excitement and violent action of hnttle. Bob, who manned a gun on the transport when not engaged in landing oquipment on the isiund, said it was strange to see the men laughing and shouting amid a hail of bullets and the din of anti-nircraft fire.

The coast guards who particlpated in American seizure of Guadelcanal island made their last trip to the island in April, and on May 26 landed in Alameda, Calif. Here they were given citations in ceremoniee May 29 at the coast guard trainng baee, for —to quote the citation—"14 months of duty in the south Pacific, the longest tour of duty of any coast guardsmen thus far in the war." As the United States local defense force at Guadalcanal, they underwent 50 sheilings and over 112 air-rald alerts, mora than 60 of which were actual bombings by Jap'e fast, hard-hitting planes.

Bob expects to report at coast guard headquarters in Chicago within two weeks for assignment to further duty, but does not anticipate that he will again be sent on active duty until he hae fully recovered from an attack of malaria which is so prevalent in the tropics.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 48 NUMBER 26 EIGHT PAGES — THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER, WEDNESDAY, JUNE 30, 1943 — PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

SET NEW CEILING PRICES FOR AREA

OPA ANNOUNCES LIMITS IN THIRTEEN COUNTIES

Stores Grauped In Faur Classes According To Their Volume Of Yearly Retail Sales

Top prices which retail food stores in the northwest section of the lower peninsula may charge, beginning June 28, for almost all of the food items that go into the housewife's market basket were announced Saturday by the Grand Rapids district OPA office.

Prices effective in thirteen counties, including Osceola, Lake, Mason, Manistee, Wexford, Missaukee, Kalkaska, Grand Traverse, Benzie, Leelanau, Antrim, Charlevoix and Emmet, were computed after confersnce with food retailers from many points in this area. Top prices are specified in the new list for each brand, grade, aizu or container of canned and dried foods, cereals, baby foods, flour, shortening, cheese, also bread, condensed and fluid milk, fish and paultry. No merchant can retail these food items at more than the maximum on the latest list, which has been distributed to all food retailers in this area. Foods already under specified dollar and cents maximum prices, are park, beef, veal, lamb, sausage and mutton, also soap.

The faod retailer is required to display prominently a sign designating the class in which he operates, according to annual gross volume of sales and not to a grade of merchandise. Classifications are: Group 1, independent stores doing less than $50,000 business n year; Group 2, independents doing between $50,000 and $250,000; Group 3, chains doing less than $250,000; Group 4, all stores doing over $250,000. The farmer is bound by Group 1 prices on farm products including poultry, eggs, butter and milk which he may sell at retail.

A few products, such as bread, have ben under the gensral maximum price regulation which established each store's maximum selling price at the highest price charged in March, 1942. In listing the flat community-wide top prices for these products, the district office took the most generally prevailing prices.

Merchants who have not received the price lists may obtain one at the local war price and rationing board office.

USO REPRESENTATIVE WAS IN CITY MONDAY

Impressed By Facilities Local Service Men's Center

W. J. McLaughlin, of Chicago, representative of the United Service Organizations, visited the Charlevoix USO service men's center Monday while making a tour of centers in this region.

He was accompanied by Glenn Loomis, superintendent of Traverse City schools and USO committeeman for that city. Mr. McLnughlin was much impressed by the local service men's center, stating that although it is small, it offers the same type of recreation that is found in Chicago's huge centar.

CHARLES M. ZEIGLER WAS IN CITY MONDAY

City Must Begin Plans far Post-War Airport and Roads

State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Zeigler, of Lansing, was in the city Monday to confer with members of the Charlevoix county road commission.

Mr. Zeigler informed the commission that non-war road projects will be sidetracked for the present. He met informally with the county board of supervisors, to stress the importunce of this county appointing a committee to work with the State of Michigan on post-war projects, specifically, roads and airports.

Cities which will get first consideration in granting of appropriations for roads and airports, Mr. Zeigler stated, are those which have already begun to lay ground plans for these construction projects. Charlevoix's need for adequate airport facilities has long been apparent, und steps to secure construction of an airport must be taken immediately, he emphasized.

New Gun Is Sturdy, Accurate and Light

An Allied weapon which is causing all sorts of trouble for the enemy is this sub-machine gun which is small enough to be carried in a briefcase yet so sturdy that 40,000 rounds of test firing improved rather than decreased its accuracy. Corp. Lloyd W. Rickells is shown in two poses with the gun which is a .45-caliber weapon, weighing less than nine pounds, and has been named the M-3. It is capable of firing 450 rounde per minute and costs less than $20 to produce. Amphibious troops have found that rain, salt, spray, or even complete immersion in sea water has little effect on the reliability of the M-3.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX SEASON IS BEGUN

"CHIEF" L. C. REIMANN LISTS RECORD ENROLLMENT

Seventeenth Year of Operation Started Wednesday; Staff Includes New Members

(By J. C. Wynn)

With a record enrollment of 128 campers and staff members Camp Charlevoix opened its seventeenth season Wednesday, June 30. It was nearly seven o'clock in the evening when two large Greyhound Busses, chartered for the occasion, pulled into the camp grounds; in them were excited groups of boys, many of them returning to Camp Charluvoix for another season and some of them viewing the site for the first time. The camp truck had been hauling baggage from the local express office for days; and most of the campers' belongings had been sent ahead, and was now in readiness for them in their cabins. A few had arrived earlier by train or automobile, but the stringent regulations of a government at war had outlawed the extensive motor and rail travel that had once been so common.

INCREASE TOURIST TRAVEL SEEN ON 4TH

State Park Attendance This Year 22 Per Cant of Normal

With state park attendance so far this ysar less than 22 per cent of normal, conservation department park officials are expecting that the long Fourth of July week end may furnish a more adequate yardstick of what to expect in park attendance for the vacation months.

While for the first six weeks of last year, park attendance was totaled at 1,110,000, the same period this year saw only 243,000 campers and picnickers visiting Michigan's 58 state parks.

Although the unusually cold and rainy weather that characterized the early part of the season is considered a contributing factor in the situation, state park officials assign the major share of the blame for the startling drop of 78% in park attendance to gasoline rationing and travel restrictions.

OPERATORS WARNED TURN IN COUPONS

"T" Tickets Expiring June 30 To Be Replaced

Stating that commercial vehicle operators in the Cadillac area, which includes Charlevoix, will be held strictly accountable for all excess "T" mileage coupons, H. L. Frier, district manager for the office of defense transportation, warns operators that under the regulations they are ruquired to turn in these coupons to their nearest ODT office within 5 days after the close of the current quarter.

"T" coupons expire June 30, to be supplanted with a "TT" coupon. Operators who fail to account for their excess "T" coupons will be penalized upon application for quarterly mileage rations, by deducting a number of "TT" coupons equivalent to the number of "T" coupons unaccounted for.

The district ODT office is located at 602½ North Mitchell street, Cadillac.

NEXT COFFEE RATION PERIOD THREE WEEKS

Present Stocks Normal, Imports Arriving Regularly

The office of price administration has increased the coffee ration to one pound for the three-week period beginning July 1, and also for the next three week period ending August 11.

Stamp 21 in ration book one, becoming valid July 1, expires July 21. Stamp 22 will be valid from July 22 to August 11. This is the most liberal coffee allowance since beginning of rationing, and is dictated by the fact that current stocks of green coffee are normal for the first time in a year and imports are arriving more regularly.

NEW RED RATION STAMP DATES ARE ANNOUNCED

Newly announced validity dates of four series of red stamps in war ration book 2, used in purchase of meats, fats, oils and cheese, are: Stamp P — June 27; Stamp Q — July 4; Stump R — July 11; Stamp S — July 18. All four stamps expire July 31.

BELVEDERE HOTEL OPENS THURSDAY

MISS RAE ANN GRAVUER IS NEW MANAGER

Good Season Is Anticipated As Reservations Are Received; Many Improvements Made

Belvedere Hotel will open its 1043 season on Thursday, July 1st, under the management of Miss Rae Ann Gruvner. Miss Gravuer has been associated with the hotel the past eleven years, during which time her sister, Mrs. Henrietta Gravuer, was manager. Mrs. Gravuer is now serving as an assistant director of an American Red Cross fareign service club in Australia.

The main dining room will be operated although the coffee shop will remain closed this season.

Numerous improvements have been made throughout the hotel and many rooms have been redecorated. The former coffee shop has been turned into a game room, with ping pong and other games being available for the enjoyment of guests.

The management reports that reservations far exceed those of the corresponding date last year, and it now appears that Belvedere will have an unusually good season. The Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police will hold their 1943 War Conference at the hotel July 12-14 and expect the largest attendance in the history of their association.

Many interesting events are listed on the social calendar for Belvedere, in keeping with the idea of having guests enjoy their vacations on the hotel grounds rather than taking trips to other places.

BEAVER ISLAND AIRPORT VOTED

SUPERVISORS APPROPRIATE $1,500 FOR PROJECT

Islanders Raise $1,600; State Board of Aeronautics Will Grant $2,500 Fund

An emergency airport for Beaver Island, to provide adequate transportation facilities during the winter months when boat service is not available, was assured Tuesday by action of the Charlevoix county board of supervisors, meeting in their annual June session at the court house here.

While the board is still in session at this writing and a complete report of proceedings is not available, the resolution relative to the airport was made public today.

Estimates made by C. K. Stephens, airport engineer of the State Aeronautics Board and T. J. Reynolds, county engineer, place cost of emergency runways at $5,000. Approval has been received from the State Board of Aeronautics of a sum to equal that expended by Beaver Island and the county of Charlevoix, not to exceed $2,500. Beaver Island has already raised $1,000 to start the project, and at Tuesday's meeting the supervisors voted an appropriation of $1,500 to complete the airport fund.

The state conservation department has offered use of all available equipment and small tools, and free transportation of equipment has been offered by the Beaver Island Transit Co. Citizens of the Island will provide volunteer labor and services.

Such an emergency landing field will provide service to the island for a longer period during the winter than has previously been possible. Last winter, the ice-blocked island was without communication with the mainland for several weks before CPA plane service was secured, and again in the spring when the plane could no longer land on the soft harbor ice but the ice was yet too heavy for boat passage.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

The quickest way to lose this war is to put civilian desire above military need.

A lot af Charlevoixans have been able to go light on meat ration points since opening of the bass season and that fact, between you and I, spells good fishin'. Limit catches since the season opening Friday have been plentiful and the way the smallmouth are coming down in the channel between Round Lake and Lake Charlevoix is really something to brag about for so early a date. Mrs. Frank Harris and Mrs. Glenn Ingalls initiated the season with 9 smallmouth the first morning. Guy Pearl took the limit up the lake, Frank Harris was in by noon with the limit of largemouth from Lake Marion (26 lake.) Frank and "Shorty" Sternberg took 10 from the channel Sunday and others with fine strings included Earl Miller, O. Gatti, George Bergmann, Bonnie Nickerson and yours truly, Bob Withers and Joe Smith (who had a 3-pound German brown along with their bass,) just to mention a few. George Rassieur and Glenroy Ikens enticed a nice limit catch of smallmouth with flies from the Deer Creek pond near East Jordan last Monday. Accounting for this phenominal luck at such an early date is, no doubt, the fact that bass are still spawning and are congregated on the shouls near the channel entrance. Fishing has been good all around this year, though, as attested by Conservation Officer Starbach, of Boyne City, who told this writer he had never seen so many large trout as have been taken this season. He also mentioned an angler who took the limit of bluegills, smallmouth bass and a nice bunch of brook trout on flies from Lake Louise (Thumb lake to us natives) on the opening day of the bass season. I had thought the perch spawning run was over for this year, too, until Sunday when I saw Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hull with a splendid catch taken off the old lumber company dock on Round lake. Well, that's quite a bit of fishin' news, and all good, too.

Dear Ken,

Yesterday I received a letter from the folks and they sent me some of the clippings for service men, out of the Detroit Free Press. They were interesting and contained a lot of news, even if some of it wasn't very good.

I am on my sixteenth month over here and maybe I don't know what the situation in the States is right now but I sure didn't like that news about all of the strikes. On three of the clippings there were mention of eight strikes, and most of the companies were making military material.

I wish that I could have had a few of those strikers over here with me for a few days a couple of months ago. Maybe they would realize then that the equipment they are making is not just another job but something we really need. I have seen times when just one more item would have made things a lot easier for us and a whole lot of other guys too.

They squawk about higher pay and all of that and they never think of what we get over here. My average is $4.66 per day, and that is a day that can be mighty long if an emergency arises. No set hours and no overtime for us. I also might mention that my rate of pay is above the average soldier's in most outfits. Would I like to be back there raking in some of that long green. Or to just be back there would be enough right now.

I wrote some time ago giving my new address but I will repeat it just in case the other letter didn't get through. My present address is APO. Instead of ——. I am doing OK in this outfit, they told us once that there would come a time when they would separate the men from the boys and that has come and gone and I am still in the squadron. From now on it should be smooth sailing for me. I just hope that the rest of the Charlevoix boys in the service have the same luck. I often wonder where some of them are but so far I haven't seen or heard from any of them.

Well, I will drop you a line again some time but right now I have some other things that

Motors Will be There Opening Day

Michigan anglers may have to confine their fishing to lakes near home this year, but they will be able to get gas for their boat motors. With the approach of the opening of the general fishing season on June 26, the state conservation department's fish division is advising fishermen to file the regulation non-highway form with their local rationing board early. An OPA ruling permits owners of outboard motors to apply for 2½ gallons per horsepower with a maximum of 20 gallons for three months, and owners of inboards may get up to two gallons per horsepower with a maximum of 125 gallons for three months. Ito anglers are assured that they will not have to depend entirely on muscle and brawn to reach that favorite hole to drop their bait on opening day.

Cherry Growers Urged to Spray For Cherry Fruit Flies By July 2

We have been informed by Ray Hutson, Entomologist of the Michigan State College that the first spray to control fruit flies should be completed by July 2nd in this county. It is also recommended that the second spray be applied two weeks after the first spray and from then on until the fruit is harvested. For further precaution other fruit trees interplanted or in close proximity to the cherry trees should be sprayed.

Sour canning cherries should receive a spray containing two lbs. lead arsenate in 100 gallons of spray. Whatever the type of spray is used merely add the two pounds of lead arsenate to the solution. These sprays are recommended only for use on cherries that are to be thoroughly washed preliminary to canning or freezing.

Recently we have noted leaf spot beginning to show on sour cherries. In spite of the fact that this will be the off year in cherry production it is just as necessary that leaf spot be controlled as in years of high production. Certainly the leaves must be saved on the trees if the tree is able to develope its food and plans for next year's crop.

Some growers will make the serious mistake in that they do not follow a good spray program. It would pay big returns to continue the good work so that next year's crop will pay good dividends.

By substituting paper-board boxes for those made of critical materials the folding box industry in 1942 saved 215 million pounds of critical metals, 8 million board feet of lumber, 750,000 pounds of glass, 220,000 pounds of cellophane, 36,000 pounds of pliofilm, and 12,000 pounds of rubber.

AT THE MOVIES

"Casablanca"

La Medina, the mysterious vice-infested section of Casablanca, will soon be as familiar to American picture audiences as the Casba, the criminal quarter of Algiers, made famous in the picture, "Algiers."

For La Medina figures importantly in "Casablanca," the new Warner Bros. film, starring Humphrey Bogart, Ingrid Bergman and Paul Henreid, coming to the Palace Theatre Sunday and Monday.

It is the old Moorish part of the city and later became the refuge for underground leaders, political fugitives and escaped French, Czech and Polish army officers.

It is with such refugees that the plot of "Casablanca," concerns itself. A featured supporting cast is headed by Claude Rains, Conrad Veidt, Sydney Greenstreet and Peter Lorre.

"Star-Spangled Rhythm"

Glamour gives itself a terrific ribbing in Paramount's great music-comedy, "Star Spangled Rhythm," which comes Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to the Palace Theatre and the ribbing is done by none other than three of Hollywood's most glamorous glamour girls — Dorothy Lamour, Paulette Goddard and Veronica Lake!

The three lovelies poke fun at their own glamour trade-marks in a number entitled "A Sweater, A Sarong and A Peek-a-boo Bang."

Dotty, Paulette and Veronica share starring honors in this long-heralded allstar Paramount musical comedy, with Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Fred MacMurray, Franchot Tone, Ray Milland, Victor Moore, Vera Zorina, Mary Martin, Dick Powell, Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken, Alan Ladd, Rochester and many others; they all take part in this hilarious story of a Paramount studio gateman's dilemma when his sailor son, believing him to be head of the studio, visits Hollywood on shore leave.

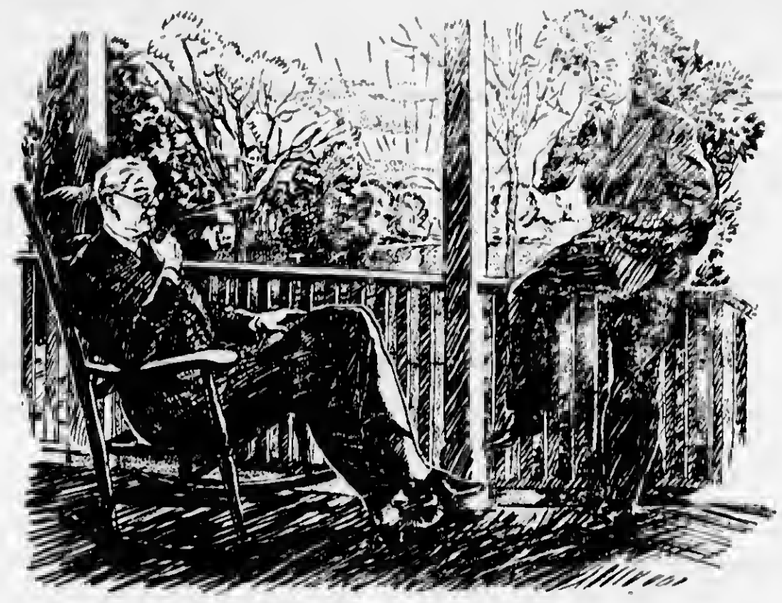
THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...



"The more I read about it, Judge, the more I realize the tactics and requirements of this war are as different from the one I fought in 25 years ago as night is from day."

"Yes, and I can give you an example of how true that is, Fred. In World War I the chief uses of alcohol produced for war purposes were found in smokeless powder, medical supplies and chemical warfare materials. In this war the need for this product is far more vital because it is also used as a fuel to propel torpedoes, to make shatterproof glass for airplane windshields and instrument covers, to make lacquers used in camouflaging equipment and as a base for synthetic rubber needed for tires, gas masks, paratroop equipment and dozens of other things.

"Every time I think of it, Fred, I realize how fortunate we were in having a beverage distilling industry in existence when war broke out... ready and willing to convert 100% to the production of this critically needed war product. I'm mighty sure bootleggers wouldn't have."

LANSING LETTER

"I killed one of those niggers myself last night."

A white man, driver of u Checker taxl cab in Detroit, said this to me in bitter hatred but ns casually as if he had just brushed off a fly. It was an amazing aftermath of the Detroit race riots, the like of which this nation has not seen in 20 or more years.

I had left the state capitol for Detroit to meet Philip T. Rich, publisher of the Midland Daily News, and accompany him to Cleveland for a conference with officials of the War Manpower Commission. While waiting for a cab in front of the BookCadillac hotel, I heard a cheery voice and turned to greet a friend from a state office at Lansing. He resided many years in Detroit.

Our conversation began and ended on the topic of the previous evening's battling right in the heart of Detroit — the city hall, Grand Circus Park, Woodward Avenue, and the bus terminal on Washington boulevard, just to mention a few.

The state executive gave an explanation of the race riots which I have substantiated since from two army officers. Here it is.

"Since the war began, hundreds of thousands of southern whites and Negroes have come to Detroit. In their home states — Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama, Georgia, Arkansas — the Negroes were accustomed to segregation and other restrictions. The whites did not regard the Negroes as their social equals, and in fact they have been re-fighting the civil war ever since on that one point alone.

"Up here in Detroit the Negroes have found a new freedom. They work with Whites in war plants on a basis of equality of wages. The Negroes' earnings are fantastically high in contrast to some they received in the South. Some Negroes, — but only a few — have become bumptious, swaggering and offensive. The old Negroes, those who have lived in the North for many years, are not troublesome. They are good citizens.

"Put southern whites and southern negroes together in a northern war boom city, where negroes and whites have freedom of the city's facilities of schools and parks, and you get a dangerous combination. Basically, that is the core of Detroit's festering boil."

But let's return to the taxi driver's startling confession of homicide.

Because of the 10 p.m. curfew in Detroit, we had decided to leave early for the boat docks. The steamer, City of Detroit III, was to depart at 11:30 o'clock. A Checker cab hove in sight, and we flagged it to the curb.

Cab drivers are proverbial sources of much information and gossip, and this driver — a husky white chap of about 45 years — was no exception. I started off with reference to my friend's remark about "hoodlums" who had taken over control of the city before federal troops arrived at 11 p.m. the night before.

"I'd like to have that guy say 'hoodlums' to me" he retorted quickly, turning about to give me a belligerent onceover as the cab left the curb. "Don't believe that brother. I was in that mob last night, and I killed one of those niggers myself! I've got the iron bar right with me, too. A lot of good American citizens were in there fighting, mister."

I will not quote all the things this cab driver told me, but he did blame recent mayors of Detroit for "catering" to Negro voters and for permitting them to "over-run" Belle Isle.

"This thing will never be solved until all the niggers have been put under," he declared vehemently." "I'm going to try and get a gun, and the first nigger that comes toward my cab is going to get it, foil-blast." Those were his exact words.

Now for a cab driver to talk like a murderer to a stranger is proof supreme that a dangerous mob attitude prevails among some elements of Detroit's teeming war workers and their sons and daughters. We were too shocked to argue.

From army officers we learned that Sunday, June 20, had been a hot and sweltering day in Detroit. Belle Isle was swarming with Negroes — about 70,000 or more were there — trying to get respite from the heat.

Why do they go to Belle Isle? "Paradise Valley," the Negro section along Hastings Avenue, is filled with old houses, shabby business buildings, and crowded apartments. The Negroes have no parks of their own; their dwellings are congested and stuffy; the day was hot; so they went to the river front. It was just as simple as that. Would you, in their position, have done likewise?

In many Detroit public schools the white boys and girls mingle with Negro boys and girls. Teenage white youngsters formed a goodly proportion of the hoodlums. They were zoot-suiters in reverse.

Negroes retaliated by smashing and looting "white" stores up and down Paradise Valley. The words, "Negro Owned," were enough to spare a store from the fury of the mob.

Yes, and all this in Michigan!

When you try to analyze the Detroit race riots — and in our opinion, they will flare up again inevitably when the troops depart —you can't help but wonder about our so-called civilization and whether it is more than skin-deep; about the freedoms for which our Michigan boys are fighting on the deserts of Africa and the tropical isle of the Pacific, while we would deny the same freedom to fellow Americans back home.

It all contributes to a confusing, irrational and illogical situation where emotions put rational reasoning into hurried eclipse. The solution is not easy. Here are the ingredients which won't mix: Thousands of whites who have been transplanted from a Jim Crow South into a prosperous, tolerant North; thousands of Negroes who have gone from the shadow of social restrictions into the sunlight of social equality.

In the meanwhile, this amazing fact exists. Detroit, an arsenal of democracy, producing arms for the battle of freedoms, is being guarded by U. S. troops to maintain peace among the makers of death-producing weapons.

We still remember the hatred of the taxi driver when he said: "I killed one of those niggers myself." The words were not only savage, cruel and brutal. They evoked a frightening spectre of Fascism, the spirit of intolerance which has scourged Germany and Italy. Yes, they present a challenge to America, and strangely enough, right on the home front of democracy itself.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley
11th District, Michigan

During the past week in San Francisco, our investigating committee heard some very interesting testimony from those various individuals — from industry, labor and Government — who are charged with the emergency construction of about 56% of our Maritime Commission shipbuilding program. To view a typical example of the miracles that have been accomplished by men from other fields of industry in America who prior to Pearl Harbor were entirely foreign to the shipbuilding industry, we may well review the contribution to our war effort made by the Marinship Corporation of California. The information given below was given to our Committee by Mr. K. K. Bechtel, President of the Marinship Corporation:

On March 2, 1942, the Maritime Commission sent an unsolicited request to the W. A. Bechtel Company — which was one of the famous "Six Companies" that pooled their resources to build the famous Boulder Dam — to submit a proposal to build and operate a new Liberty shipyard in a West Coast port, with a view to securing completed ships in 1942. The Company, which was already very busy with defense undertakings, responded patriotically and on March 8th presented a proposal to the Commission to build a new yard at Sausalito, California. It submitted a cost estimate of $10,250,000 for a six-way yard which was planned to deliver three Liberty ships by the end of 1942 and 31 additional ships in 1943. On March 12th, the Company was awarded a contract to build 34 ships by the end of 1943. Construction of the Yard—which meant leveling a hill and filling in tide lands—began on March 28th. Much of the work was subcontracted so as to spread the work and get the benefit of other firms' management, equipment and material sources and in that way increase speed and efficiency. The Raymond Concrete Pile Company; J. H. Pomeroy Company; MacDonald & Kahn and Morrison-Knudsen Company were invited by the Bechtel Company to participate in this Project. These were others of the "Six Companies."

On May 20th construction of the first way began and the first keel was laid on June 27th, 107 days after facilities contract was awarded. 90% of the people who went to work in that Yard were inexperienced in ship work or the craft work. Consequently they had to be trained before going on the job.

Recognizing our Country's dire need of ships, Marinship Corporation in July advised the Maritime Commission that if it wished to increase the size of the facilities, they believed the Yard capable of building betwen 60 to 70 Liberty ships by the end of 1943 instead of the 34 contracted. On July 9th, the Commission authorized an increase in the investment on facilities to $16,400,000 and the Corporation agreed to a 50% reduction in the shipbuilding fee, made possible because of the greater output.

To speed up shipbuilding operations, the first few ships were fabricated at Calship (at Los Angeles), under the same sponsorship as Marinship, because that Yard had an existing plate shop enabling faster and cheaper fabrication of steel.

On July 27, 1942 — just 137 days after award of the facilities contract — Admiral Vickery of the Maritime Commission visited the Yard and announced to the Corporation his decision to build tankers in that Yard; so preliminary planning for tanker construction began.

Marinship launched its first ship Sept. 26, 1942, 92 days after the keel was laid. At that time it had 11,800 men on its payroll. This was the fastest record of any Yard now building Liberty ships. The first ship was delivered on October 31st, 51 days ahead of contract. By that time 16,400 men were on the Corporation's payroll. By the end of 1942, with 10,500 men on its payroll, Marinship had delivered not three but five ships. By March 17, 1943 — one year after ground breaking — this Yard had delivered 12 ships, 403 ship days ahead of contract. By the middle of this June, Marinship has laid 15 keels, launched 14 and delivered 13 ships. In the first year from ground breaking, Marinship delivered two ships per way, and did a great deal of work on other ships, including tankers. Its first ship took 126 days to build from keel laying to delivery; its 15th ship will take about 50 days, so between the 1st and 15th ship, time of construction has been reduced by 60% and manhour cost by 50%. Marinship's payroll is now back to around 16,000 men, indicating its manhour efficiency has been raised at least one-third. At about the time Marinship started there were five other six-way Liberty shipyards getting started. Two of these yards had delivered ships by the end of February 1043. One of these yards took 266 days to build its first ship, compared to Marinship's 126 days on the first ship.

Conversion of the Marinship Yard from Liberties to tankers meant that during a considerable period of time they were building both Liberties and tankers. Its first Tanker keel was laid on Dec. 7, 1942, and to date they have launched five tankers and five are now on the ways under construction.

Marinship's labor turnover is now 8½%; its absentees run at the rate of 0¼%. Marinship was conceived, designed, built and has been operated primarily by men formerly in the construction industry; although some of their best supervisors were available at Calship and some have come to them from other Yards. Marinship was awarded its first "M" flag on January 27, 1943, for making the fastest record of any of the sixway shipyards. Its second "M" was awarded on March 29th. Mr. Bechtel, President of the Marinship Corporation, his staff and all his personnel must be congratulated on the remarkable contribution they have made to our war effort.

WATCHERS OF THE SKY

Night and day, at lonely outposts in northern Michigan, thousands of air spotters voluntarily undergo hardship and loss of sleep to protect our industrial areas from bombing raids.

They rarely get into the headlines. Often they watch patiently through the hours without seeing or hearing a plane. But the duty they so faithfully perform is vital. In case of air attack it will be their trained eyes and ears that detect the approach of Axis bombers.

A telephone stands ready in every spotter's post. With the words "Army Flash" the spotter gets an immediate connection with the nearest army information center. And if the aircraft he reports cannot be identified as friendly, fighter planes roar into the air at once to intercept the enemy. At the same time all Civilian Defense centers in the threatened area are warned by telephone to prepare for a raid.

Citizens of Michigan who sleep soundly in their beds at home owe a debt of gratitude to the Aircraft Warning Service.

Let's help our farmer neighbors with their hauling problems

AMERICA'S farmers have the tremendous responsibility of raising more food this Summer than ever before in the nation's history.

Farm manpower is scarce. Every hour of every farmer's time is vital to victory. Let's help conserve it.

Don't keep any farmer waiting

Owners of stores, operators of markets, warehouses, elevators, terminals and processing plants, can aid substantially in the success of the "Food for Victory" program by expediting the loading and unloading of farm products.

Every farmer is an essential home front soldier. Don't keep him waiting. He has a long way to go and no time to waste.

Studebaker dealers are co-operating

Studebaker dealers go out of their way to help obtain parts for all makes of trucks.

They co-operate further by handling special repair jobs for farmers as fast as possible.

Many Studebaker dealers have special facilities for locating used trucks, that have been idle or in part-time use, for sale to farmers.

Keep your car and truck up to par

All trucks and cars must be kept in good shape to safeguard the nation's vital transportation life lines. And that's especially important this Summer.

Drop in for regular inspections. Studebaker dealers' mechanics are Essential Transportation Workers who can spot and correct truck or car trouble before it becomes serious.

Ask for free copy of Studebaker's valuable, new, 48-page book, "Care and Maintenance of the Farm Truck"—or write Studebaker Truck Division, Dept. N, South Bend, Indiana.

should be done and I had better get to doing them. Give my worst to the U.S.O. Commandos and I will be seeing them as soon as I get a chance.

Robert C. Fochtman
(Somewhere in the South Pacific)

Dear Friends;

I have finally found out just what it was I asked for. Not a blade of grass nor a tree in sight, but plenty of sand and every type of fly or bug that anyone could want, really would be a nice place for anyone who would like to start a bug collection.

We are living in barracks built of stone. It's impossible to keep up with the dust, but we are told that after you live in it, and eat and breathe it, that you get used to it. The bath-house is down the line a ways, so we have to wade through sand to and from. There is quite a variety of housecoats and shorts in that parade, although we have rumors that the shorts were going to have to be stopped as they were stopping traffic. If that's the case, I don't know what these people would do if they lived in Charlevoix and saw a few bathing suits going down the street.

We have all endeavored to make our barracks more homelike by building rocks and board walks from the door to the road, and naming our barracks, ours being "Iran Inn." Also placing signs such as, "Keep off the grass," "Don't pick the flowers," also "P. G. S. C.," which means "People Going Slowly Crazy," and such. There was quite a bit of competition between barracks for a few days.

There was a caravan of camels out in back of the barracks the other evening. I understand there are a number of those around here but it just happens that those were the first we had seen.

I didn't accomplish one thing, and that was to see David, although at one time I was within 1200 miles of him. I am now many more miles away and am positive I won't see him until we get back there.

Our mail service is slightly irregular and not very often, but that sure is a big day around here.

Very Sincerely,
Lt. Lorita Mitchett, A.N.C.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

J. C. Wynn, Camp Scribe

Camp Director L. C. Reimann and Mrs. Reimann, the camp mother greeted the enthusiastic travelers and escorted them immediately to a waiting dinner in the Club House. It was appropriate that this should be their first experience at camp for campers love to eat. Before them lay eight weeks of fun, and friendship, and education. The season would not end until August 24, and this crowd gave every appearance of getting the most out of their camping days before that date would arrive. They had 170 acres of camp grounds set in among tall northern pines on Oyster Bay; and they were not going to miss a thing. The boys ran about on exploration trips, escorted by older campers who were eager to show the totem pole, the horse stables, the sail boats, and the chapel-in-the-woods. Later they assembled in the Club House for an evening's entertainment the highlight of which was a series of pillow fights in which two boys were teamed off at a time, balanced on a pole and directed to try and joust the other off onto the well-mattressed floor which awaited the loser with an easy fall. Ralph Deal, head counselor of the Intermediate Section and high school teacher from Elmhurst, Illinois, led in a series of camp songs which were loud, if not melodious. "Chief" Reimann made a short welcome talk to the campers; several of the counselors told stories; and a number of campers offered impromptu entertainment in the way of songs and jokes. It was a tired group of lads who relaxed in their bunks when taps was sounded.

A pioneer squad of counselors and staff members had been working away for a week previous to the opening of the official camp season in order to prepare the equipment for another summer's use. During this time they had also taken a leadership training course under the directorship of "Chief" Reimann who is beginning his twenty-seventh year of camp management this month. In his lectures he had emphasized the purpose of a boy-centered camp in which character building is the chief goal. In round table discussions the staff had discussed the program for the ensuing summer and mapped out events for the months to come. They had established plans for trips, for classes, for safety measures; and they had studied methods by which they might be able to help the boys who were to be placed in their care. Contests had been scheduled, suggestions made, and programs had been scheduled. The leaders had boned up on adventure stories, and worked out plans for council fires and evening games. Meanwhile they had made ready the cabins which had accumulated 10 months of dust. They had built the dock, varnished the boats, set up a rifle range, shod horses, put a pottery kiln into operation, hauled gravel and sand for the roads and paths, cleaned up the craft shop and boat house, and had begun to bring in the important necessities for camping; food, medical supplies, sport equipment.

There have been a number of new features introduced at Camp Charlevoix this summer. One of these is a work program for which many requests had come from parents. Campers will learn to hoe potatoes, and weed out the carrots in the Camp's new Victory Garden. Older campers will get a taste of the farmer's life when they go out to help pick cherries, and harvest crops as their part of patriotic duty in face of the vast manpower shortage. Another innovation at Camp is the building of a log house Finnish Bath, already begun by Counselor S. J. Walli, whose life in the northern peninsula had so accustomed him to these baths that he wanted the Camp to have one too. The handicraft department is offering a number of new skills for the learning. Among these is ceramics in which campers will be taught by Albert Armstrong to make vases and dishes, and ash trays for their homes; another is in plastics, and there are still others in weaving mats, linoleum block cutting, and charcoal sketching. There will also be a camp newspaper this summer, under the advisorship of Jack Maguire, editor of the St. Louis University paper; the campers will serve as reporters and editors and will publish their own weekly. Russell Teague member of the faculty at Roosevelt Military Academy will instruct the campers in drill, and military marching so that they will know some of the work that their brothers and fathers are doing in the United States armed forces.

Perhaps the newest of new things, however, are the colts recently born to "Jet" and "Aurora," two of the Camp's mares. These tiny foals, both barely over three weeks old, received much attention from the Junior campers who could stand and gaze at them all day. Thursday night the Junior section counselors took their cabin groups to the corral to see the colts, and were almost unable to bring the youngsters back in time for showers and bed. Billy Wagner wanted to ride one of them at once. And Dick Taber and Jimmy Millis each expressed a desire to take the baby horses home with them. But the great problem at present is to find suitable names for the colts. To this the whole camp has turned its attention.

Committees of staff members have been formed to steer through different phases of the summer's program according to their various abilities. Bill Angell, recently graduated from Culver Military Academy's swimming instructor's course, will be in charge of the waterfront. He will be assisted by Coach Robert Hodges of Lake Linden High School. Maurice Dixon, coach at Boyne City High School, and Charles Sutor a student at Northwestern University will be in charge of sailing and canoeing. J. C. Wynn, senior at Yale University's Divinity School, and Sherwood Dally, a junior from Chicago Theological Seminary are in charge of the weekly chapel and vesper services at camp. Roman Catholic boys are taken into Charlevoix each Sunday for mass. Wilbur Christopher, an experienced counselor at this camp, is in charge of the Junior section's program. Robert Livermore, teacher at Ontonagon High School is head counselor of the Senior section; and Ralph Deal, teacher of social sciences in Elmhurst Illinois High School is head counselor of the Intermediate section. The orchestra and chorus work is under the baton of Frederick Krueger; nature study is guided by Lester Pengelly; local geography will be studied on hikes and trips under the leadership of S. J. Walli and Harry Bingham. All of these men are public school teachers, and experienced in their fields.

The campers are anxiously awaiting the arrival of Coach Charlie Buchman from Michigan State College who will coach them in football. In the meantime they will be playing tennis, softball, volleyball, basketball, water games; and they will be brushing up their football tactics to have a head start on the others. With three coaches on the staff already, this should prove a cinch.

Were a map drawn of the total section of this country from which campers have come to Camp Charlevoix this summer, it would include half the United States. Andre Savard of New London, Connecticut holds the farthest east record; Kenneth Hanger comes from the most westerly point, Ames, Iowa; and Daniel Bellinger from Tampa, Florida, hails from the deepest point in the South. The Detroit area again represents the largest number of campers here. From Detroit come David Ball, Harold Caldwell, Geo. Dowley, John Davis, William Fitzpatrick, Thomas Keenan, Lynn Klein, Robert Murphy, Kenneth Nyquist, Hartwell Stoll, Robert Stoll, William Thompson, Alva Tomlinson. James Naylor and John Surbis have come from Dearborn. Gilbert Clarke of Highland Park, Jamison Hawley of Wayne, Peter Mann of Royal Oak also swell the ranks of those from the greater Detroit area. Ann Arbor continues to be well represented. From that city have come Robert Angell, Bill Angell, Mrs. William F. Angell (camp secretary,) John Barker, Robert Eberhart, Bart Grimes, William Hall, William Jacobs, Loring Kampe, and Ronald Mercier.

When the Greyhound came through Lansing on its trip north a large group of boys were waiting in that city for a ride to Camp Charlevoix. From Lansing came Cary Bachman, Geno Davenport, Brian Kelly, Harry Kelly, Lynwood Homayer; Mervin Coats and John Snyder are from East Lansing. Pontiac is represented by Jerry Burke, John Church, Robert House, Jimmy Millis, and Richard Tabor. Grosse Pointe saw a number of its sons leave for Charlevoix: Harold Boyer, Howard Kay, Buddy Loranger, Michael Foster, and David Harding who is from Grosse Pointe Park. Albion will be receiving mail from Charlevoix when Barry Ewbank, Frank Smith, and Paul Smith get around to writing home. David Baker, James Baker, William Farley, Walter Gage, and Charles Graan are from Battle Creek; more will be heard of them in a few weeks. Robert Daniels and Georga Palmer of Chelsea, and Manson Warner of Farmington, Cornelius Franklin of Grand Rapids, John Waissinger of Okemos have all arrived safe in camp and are enthusiastically entering into the Charlevoix program. Several towns are represented by single campers: David Dykhouse of Charlotte, Barnay Frazar of Ballvue, Frederick McGregor of St. Clair, DeVille Hubbard of Marshall, Eugene Chapman of Monroe fall into this group, as do Richard Conners of Cleveland Heights, Ohio, Frederic Shapiro of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and Richard Noel of Champaign, Illinois. Two campers from Northfield, Minnesota are Alex and Burnie Burnstan; Paul Dickson, Ernie Evans, John MacDonell have come from Lima, O.; Louis, Robert and William Scher have come to Camp from Toledo, Ohio. Campers from Kalamazoo are Robert King, William Stone, Harold Upjohn, and Paul Winans; from Bloomfield Hills are James Hubbard and Jay Willson. Frederic Pryor and Millard Pryor are here from the nation's capitol. Kenneth Helms of Elmhurst, Ill., and John Lereh, Robert Lerch, Tommy Thompson, and William Thompson of Kokomo, Indiana, are some more out-of-staters camping at Charlevoix this season. But Michigan's sons are present in George Buskirk and Carson Dillon of Albion.

Coming events of note have already begun to cast their shadow. Plans have been set by cowboy Loy Clingman for a great rodeo. A trip to Mackinac Island is in the offing for the Juniors, sports competition with nearby camps, and exchange days with them will occur at a later date. A minstrel show, a "gyp night," and dramatic productions are also in the mind of Lew Stoerker who is Cabin Seven's counselor and the camp's dramatics instructor. Overnight hikes, canoe trips, trips on horseback, sailing, tournaments all loom up on the horizon. From all indications this will be a great summer.

CONSERVATION FILMS SHOWN TO SOLDIERS

In Big Demand for Entertainment In Army Camps

The conservation department's film loan service is helping men of the country's armed forces to remember the triumph of reeling in the big one and the thrill of flushing a covey of partridges.

The officers and enlisted men at various army posts and air bases in and near Michigan, who have foregone their outdoor sports for the duration, are becoming one of the department's most enthusiastic audiences for its wide library of wildlife films. Commanding officers report that the outdoor movies, as well as providing entertainment for the soldiers and fliers, are serving a valuable instructive and educational purpose.

SUPPLY OF GRADE 3 TIRES IS LIMITED

Quota Allotted County Is Third Of Present Local Demand.

Since the Charlevoix county quota for Grade 3 tires — used or re-capped — is inadequate to meet the present demand for such tires, it is necessary for the local war price and rationing board to restrict eligibility to those persons whose activities are most essential.

The county quota for June was 85, and the July quota, not yet announced, will be comparable to this figure. Over 100 applications for these tires are on file at present. National stocks of Grade 3 tires are temporarily insufficient and those eligibility restrictions are being applied by all rationing boards.

The April War Loan goal of $13,000,000,000 was exceeded by 40%! Banks were called upon to help in the drive and voluntarily, 97,852 bank men and women (1 of every 3) gave their time, with no added compensation . . . America's 16,000 banks can be proud of this record of unselfish patriotism.

FBI Agent Warns of New Sabotage Danger in Plants

Germany has recently completed the training of 35 saboteurs for special assignment in the United States and some of them may already be here, if information sources usually found reliable are correct, John S. Buges, in charge of the Detroit office of the FBI, warned in an address given at the District Industrial Protection Conference held at the Rackham Memoriel building in Detroit.

The FBI special agent said that constant vigilence was essential for the protection of American war plants.

"Everything that seems suspicious, no matter how apparently triviel, should be reported to our field agents," Bugas stated. "We'll find out whether it is true and worthwhile or not."

The FBI, Bugas added, is proceeding on the assumption that the enemy egents ere now in this country.

The conference was sponsored by the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense and the Detroit OCD. New problems and developments in plent protection egainst enemy action were discussed by experts, and subjects covered included the reletionshlp between the Army end the OCD in the protection of plants over which the Army exercises sole authority, and plants for which OCD is responsible. Talks also were given on many other plant defense topics, and protective equipment was displayed.

The program wes brought to a close with a control panel demonstration by Capt. Donald S. Leonard, Director of Civilian Defense, and staff.

Additional district meetings for plant protection workers will be urranged later by Henry Lohr, State Plant Protection Officer, and general chairman.

Fat Collection Record

Three Michigan counties exceeded their quotes in the collection of household fats during May. They were Clinton, with a record of 109 per cent; Isabella, 104.2, und Mason, 101.1. Percentages for other counties ranged from 96.9 in Washtenaw down to only 1.6 in Osceola. The 15 counties of the Upper Peninsulan were reported ns a group, with an everage of 25.2 per cent.

Totnl collections in the State amounted to 424,858 pounds, or 52.9 per cent of the quota af 802,869 pounds.

The hitherto untried area test of air rsid signal reactions under conditions of twilight and darkness wns conducted during the first blackout of the entire Upper Peninsula, June 25, with good results, according to reports submitted to Capt. Donald S. Leonard, Director of Civilian Defense.

All previous blackouts were set to coincide with the period immediately following dusk in order to meke certain important tests, such as observation of the reduction of sky-glow, which could be carrled on successfully only in complete darkness. These problems were solved satisfactorily, permitting the timing of the U. P. blackout to show how nn area reacts to an alert which begins during natural light und progresses into darkness.

The blackout wes the lnst of a series of stnte-wide tests of the new nir raid signal system msde effective May 1. The tests showed that sky-glow could be more effectively reduced by extinguishing street lights instead of house lights during the "Blue" periods nnd this will be the practice in future blackouts.

Few People realiza the great distences covered in travel by aur home paper. One of our subscribers, who travels for a moving pictura supply house, has hed the Courier forwarded to him in Celifornia, New Mexico, Puerto Rico and Yahamato, South America, and is at present receiving it in Aleska. (This week's Courier is going to Australia, New Guinea, India, Alaska, England, North Africa, Persia, Panama, Newfoundland, Hawaii, as well as almost every section of the United States. How's that for getting around the globe?

Good road enthusiasts and automobile owners are planning to hold a road bee Thursday, July 11, to put the road north from Greensky hill to Bay Shore in a passable condition. It is the worst piece of road on the Dixie highway north of the Antrim county line. (Who said time changes all things? It's still the same old road, 25 years later.)

Miss Caroline Ross has resumed her position at the Western Union.

Sugar sales to private consumers have been cut from five pounds to two pounds, effectivo at once. Fermers' allowences are cut from ten to five pounds. For canning purchases, the housewife may purchese 25 pounds by signing a sugar card obtained from her grocer, certifying she will use it only for canning. Applicatlon for a second 25 pounds must be made to the county food administrator, and for still another 25, to the state food administrator.

A new city ordinance relative to the control of traffic will go into effect the end of next week. It provides that all cars travelling east on Park, Clinton, Mason and Antrim streets shall come to a full stop at a certain distance from the intersection of these streets with Bridge street, before entering that street. Stop signs will be erected at the proper points and two men will be stationed at the busiest intersections to see that the order is complied with.

In anticipation of the new common battery telephone system, now being installed in the Charlevoix exchange, which will change methods of switchboard operation, five local operators have taken special training in nearby towns. Reta Hebert and Hazel Mascho visited the Cheboygan exchange, while Anna McCann, Irene Halverson and Lottie Ager went to Cadillac last week.

Others assisting at the Fessenden drug store this summer are Mrs. Meta Burns, in charge of the kitchen, Miss Thelma Crandall and Miss Jean Swinton, at the soda fountain.

What You Buy With* WAR BONDS

Wigwag

Frequently the Navy, the Coast Guard and the Signal Corps finds it expedient to relay messages without benefit of telephone, telegraph or radio. That is when the semaphore system is employed.

Like a single flag in the "Wigwag" system, the purchase of a War Savings Stamp or Bond, in itself has an infinitesimal effect upon the entire war effort, but when 130 million determined people set their minds to make our War Bond drives successful, the result is anything but infinitesimal. — *U. TRUCE:
In Coal Mines

Under an agreement reached by Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes and John L. Lewis, the nation's 500,000 coal miners returned to the pits to work under a new truce expiring October 31. According to the announcement, production will be resumed under the terms of the old contract, which presumably include concessions granted by the War Labor board amounting to 23 cents a day.

The agreement followed Lewis' contention that the miners would return to work for the government only, which took over the supervision of the pits as a result of the first strike threat. Under arrangements, however, the government named the operators to run the mines and receive the profits.

Termination of the latest strike left the "portal-to-portal" pay issue up in the air. Lewis has argued for such pay, which represents compensation to the miners for time spent traveling to and from their working stations. The WLB declared it had no authority to pass on the question, suggesting court action or decision by the fair labor standards bureau of the government.

Possibility that Lewis might follow some such course was hinted in the miners' statement announcing their return to work.

PAY-AS-YOU-GO:
New Experience

July 1, 1943, will long be remembered in the United States. For, history will show that on that date, millions of American taxpayers will have begun paying their income taxes as they go instead of waiting till March 15 of the following year to settle their accounts with Uncle Sam.

Under the new pay-as-you-go system, employers will deduct 20 per cent from employees' wages or salaries. Farmers and others who obtain income from sources other than wages or salaries must estimate their yearly earnings and then make quarterly payments. In all cases, payments will be made after legal exemptions.

The pay-as-you-go law forgives all taxes for 1942 or 1943, whichever is lower, up to $50, and 75-per cent of all taxes above that figure. Although a person may not have to pay an income tax, the 3 per cent victory tax will be deducted from his check.

GERMANY:
Industries Hit

Eight hundred RAF bombers clouded the sky in a heavy raid on the German industrial center of Krefeld even as British bombers returned from an assault on Friedrichshafen farther to the south.

First used at Krefeld last fall, block-busters again were poured on the German city, center of special steel and parachute textile production. Site of hard coal mining, Krefeld also is known for its sulphur output. The British admitted the loss of 44 planes.

In attacking Friedrichshafen, the RAF blasted the former Zeppelin works housing a factory producing radio location equipment similar to the U. S. "radar." Hits were observed on all main buildings, including a huge hangar.

MEDITERRANEAN:
Warn Italy of Bombings

As Lieut.-Gen. Carl A. Spaatz stated that the Allies now could obtain air supremacy in the Mediterranean by concentrating their superior forces in any given locale, the Italian people were warned that their industrial centers would continue to be pounded as long as they produced goods for the Axis.

Commander of the North African air forces, General Spaatz said that any barrier before Allied troops could be reduced by the proper use of full air power.

Urging Italian workers to move with their families from factory areas, Allied radio broadcasts declared "Our airmen will bomb your war industries and communications as relentlessly as they have bombed your ports and ships during the African campaign."

Continuing their aerial assault, Allied planes, paced by British Wellingtons, plastered Sicily. Block busters were dropped on Messina, the terminal point for the ferry from Italy, and Sicilian airdromes. Meanwhile, the Italians were reported evacuating the civilian population from both Sicily and Sardinia.

RUSSIA:
Second Anniversary

On the eve of the second anniversary of the German invasion of Russia, the Reds called on the Allies to open up a second front in the west and claimed that 6,400,000 Nazis had fallen in action against them.

Declaring that delay in opening up a second front would only protract the war, the Reds said this would mean "a colossal increase in victims." The Reds also stated that they had reinforced their war economy with the erection of hundreds of new factories behind the lines.

In addition to Nazi losses in personnel, the Reds claimed they had knocked out 42,400 tanks; 43,000 planes, and 56,500 guns. They placed their own losses at 30,000 tanks; 23,000 planes, and 35,000 guns.

In discussing international relations, the Reds praised their coalition with Britain and the United States, adding "The Hitlerites' aim to split this coalition failed."

CORN:
Seek Stocks

In an effort to get corn moving to processors and manufacturers, Food Administrator Chester Davis named a committee representing all branches of the industry to work with him in breaking up the bottleneck.

Producers, traders and millers were brought together in the committee as Davis determined to attack the problem from all angles instead of considering it piece-meal.

According to reports, the conferees were studying a variety of proposals, chief among which was a plan that would limit the feeding of hogs to certain weights, and put the 1943 corn crop on an allocation basis, assuring processors' and manufacturers' needs first.

Other proposals studied included the cancellation of ceiling prices on corn; subsidizing farmers to release their farm stocks, and the requisition of terminal elevator supplies and allocation of such supplies among hard-pressed milling and mixing firms.

PACIFIC:
Supremacy on Guadalcanal

Braced by the arrival of Lockheed Lightnings and Vought Corsair fighter planes manned by experienced pilots, the Allies have achieved air superiority in the Solomons.

Work has been completed on the big air base of Henderson Field on Guadalcanal, and except for repair facilities, it is said to compare with the largest in the U. S. Meanwhile, the Japs have been bombed out of their forward aerial positions of Munda and Vila, 200 miles to the northwest.

Although the Jap Zero remains a formidable weapon, the Lockheed, with a climb over 30,000 feet, and the Vought, with a maximum efficiency between 20,000 and 30,000 feet, are not only proving better in performance but are also more heavily armored and gunned.

RACE RIOTS:
Spread to Detroit

With its attention to race riots first attracted by the "zoot-suit" uprisings in California, the federal government was forced to step in to quell outbreaks between blacks and whites which threw Detroit into an uproar.

Before 2,300 soldiers arrived in jeeps, trucks and armored cars to restore order, 23 people had died and 600 had been injured. Hundreds had been arrested and confined in the city's jails.

The trouble started after an altercation between whites and Negroes at the Belle Isle beach, then was fanned into flames with the spread of the erroneous rumor through the colored district that a Negro woman and child had been killed. Racial groups gathered quickly, stoning private cars and public trams and then beating the occupants.

When Detroit police could no longer control the situation, Gov. Harry Kelly of Michigan appealed to President Roosevelt for federal intervention. The President ordered the dispatch of the troops.

FREE FRENCH:
Agreement Reached

American and British insistence on settlement of the Free French wrangle resulted in the establishment of Gen. Henri Giraud as commander-in-chief of all French forces in North and West Africa. Gen. Charles DeGaulle was named leader of the forces in other French possessions in Syria and East Africa.

The appointment represented a victory for the Giraud faction, since the territories put under his wing are among the richest and most strategic of French possessions and contain the bulk of the French army. Furthermore, Giraud's leadership in the territory allows him a free hand in the disposition of many military commanders to whom DeGaulle was hostile.

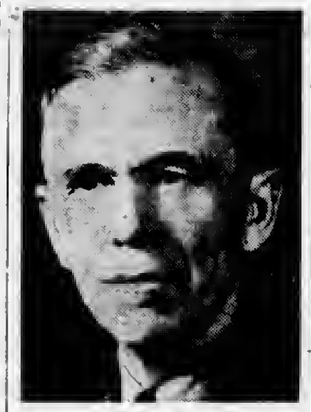
At the time it announced the dual arrangement, the French national committee also revealed it had set up a military delegation composed of both Giraud and DeGaulle and their chiefs-of-staff to work out an eventual unification of both commands.

GOVERNORS' PARLEY:
Marshall Sees Victory

Addressing the 35th annual governors' conference, Gen. George C. Marshall, U. S. chief of staff, predicted certain victory, but not without great effort and heavy losses.

"What we need now is a stoic determination to do everything in our power to overwhelm the enemy, cost what it may, to reduce him to a supplicant under the impact of aroused and determined democracies," General Marshall said.

Although Tunisia gave the Allies an invaluable pattern for future operations, General Marshall said, the coming battle of Europe will not be a setup. Water-borne movements always produce complications, he declared, and they are merely a prelude to the heavy fighting remaining once the land has been reached.



GEN. GEORGE C. MARSHALL
We need stoic determination.

JAP CURFEW:
Upheld by Supreme Court

In unanimous decision, the Supreme court affirmed the right of a military commander in imposing a curfew on Japanese residents of the Pacific coast in March, 1942.

Two American citizens of Japanese ancestry contested the army's action as applying against them as well as aliens. Of the 110,000 Japanese effected, 70,000 were citizens.

The court ruled the army had no time to make distinctions.

Warning!

"You guys better get out of here while the getting's good." That's what the characters on this imitation leaf told the Japs on Kiska island. The leaves were dropped by U. S. aviators to enemy forces who are supposed to have an aversion for the leaves, supposedly from a Japanese Kin tree.

Zip Off Zoots

Servicemen and zoot suit wearers fought a small war of their own in Los Angeles, sending many youths like the one above to jails and hospitals. The servicemen were stripping the "zooters" in revenge for previous assaults.

On His Last Leg

Apparently Axis troops are using one-legged men. An American soldier is shown examining an artificial leg which was left on a Tunisian battlefield by some German or Italian soldier who is literally on his last leg. Artificial limbs are a rarity on a battlefront where men are assumed to be in perfect condition.

PETER RABBIT LISTENS TO THE WRONG VOICE

PETER RABBIT didn't play fair. No, sir, Peter didn't play fair. People who have too much curiosity about other people's affairs seldom do play fair. He didn't mean to be unfair. Oh my, no! Peter didn't mean to be unfair. When he left Chatterer the Red Squirrel sitting on the old stone wall on the edge of Farmer Brown's Old Orchard he intended to go straight home to the dear Old Briar Patch. He was a little disappointed, was Peter, that Chatterer hadn't told him just where his new house was. Not that it really mattered; he just wanted to know, that was all. With every jump away from the old stone wall that desire to know just where Chatterer's new house was seemed to grow.

Peter sat down and began to pull his whiskers in a way he has when he is trying to decide something. It seemed as if two little voices were quarreling inside him. "Go along home like the good fellow you are, and mind your own business," said one. "Steal back to the old wall and watch Chatterer and so find out just where his new house is; he'll never know anything about it, and there'll be no harm done," said the other little voice. It was louder than the first voice and Peter liked the sound of it.

"I believe I will," said he, and without waiting to hear what the first little voice would say to that he turned about and very carefully and softly tiptoed back to the old stone wall. Right near it was a thick little bush. It seemed to Peter that it must have grown there just to give him a hiding place. He crawled under it and lay very flat. He could see along the old stone wall in both directions. Chatterer was sitting just where he had left him. He was looking in the direction that Peter had gone when he had said good-by. Peter chuckled to himself. "He's waiting to make sure I have gone before he goes to that new house of his," thought Peter. "This is the time I'll fool him."

"You ought to be ashamed of yourself, Peter Rabbit: this is none of your business," said that little small voice down inside.

"You're not doing a bit of harm. Chatterer has no business to try to keep his new house a secret anyway," said the other little voice inside. And because of his dreadful curiosity Peter liked the sound of that little voice best and listened to it, and after a while the first little voice grew discouraged and stopped.

Chatterer sat right where he was for what seemed to Peter a very long time. But by and by he gave a sudden funny little flirt of his tail and ran swiftly along the old wall a little way. Then with a hasty look around he disappeared in a hole. A minute later he popped his head out for a hasty look around and then disappeared again. He did this two or three times as if he was anxious. Peter chuckled to himself. "That's his new house right there," said he to himself, "and now that I know where it is I think I'll hurry along home to the dear old Briar Patch." He was just getting ready to start when Chatterer popped out of his hole and sat upon a big stone. He was talking out loud and Peter listened. Then his long ears began to burn, for this is what he heard:

"I'm glad that Peter's not a spy,
For spies are hateful as can be.
It's dreadful how some people try
Affairs of other folks to see."

Chatterer whisked out of sight and Peter hurried to get away. His ears still burned, and somehow he didn't feel so tickled over the thought that he had discovered Chatterer's secret as he had thought he would be. And over in the hole in the old stone wall, Chatterer the Red Squirrel was laughing as if there was some great joke. There was, and the joke was on Peter Rabbit. You see, he hadn't discovered Chatterer's new house at all.

Irving N. Klein, well known local eummer resideot, will feel more "homesick" than his letter indicates after reading the above. Mr. Klein writee, in part, as follows: "I continue to read the Courier with great interest and, believe me, with each issue I become more 'homesick' because of my inability to have been in Charlevoix ao far this season. I get a thrill out of the eoldier letters because I remember most of the boys first as caddies and then ae young men. So in my absence try and catch a few fish in my name, but I hope your luck will be better than mine on my more recent visite." Mallon, like the newspnpers, gets the weekly batch of hooey Davie passee out to be printed for public digestion. Mallon says: "No self-respecting newspaper would print any of it," and I agree with him heurtily. No doubt these releases are issued for some specific minor purpose, but it is a waete of time for newspapermen generally to read them, much lese publish them. That, gentle readers, is the WIB, our government source of war information. As I have said before, if they'd toke all the paper the innumerable government bureaus wuste writiog boloney that ie no good for any purpose I can figure out, they could forget impending paper shortage.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 48 NUMBER 27 EIGHT PAGES — THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER, WEDNESDAY, JULY 7, 1943 — PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

SUPERVISORS MET IN JUNE SESSION

PROPERTY VALUATION WAS CUT BY BOARD

State Highway Commissioner Was Speaker at Meeting; Urged Post-War Planning

Charlevoix county supervisors adjourned last Wednesday afternoon at the conclusion of their annual June session at the court house in this city.

The county's equalized valuation was set at $8,949,500, a decrease of $13,025 from last year's valuation of $8,902,525. Charlevoix's valuation of $2,800,640 was practically the same as last year's $2,804,865. Boyne City's valuation was slightly decreased, from $908,360 to $902,255. East Jordan's fell from $785,560 to $757,870.

An appropriation of $1,500 was voted to complete the fund for an emergency landing field on Beaver Island. Estimated to cost $5,000, half this sum has been offered by the State Board of Aeronautics with the remainder to be raised by the county. Beaver Island has raised $1,000 toward the amount, which will be added to the supervisors' appropriation.

Repairs and painting on the jail and sheriff's residence were authorized. The sum of $100 was appropriated to protect agriculture interests from crop losses caused by heavy infestation of grasshoppers, the money to be used only if necessary.

Since the county fair and Fourth of July celebration have both been cancelled this year, the board's appropriation of $150 for the annual county picnic on Labor Day will assure an opportunity for agricultural exhibits and a county social day.

A memorial resolution to the family of E. E. Cross was extended, in recognition of his services as supervisor and welfare commissioner. H. A. Craig was appointed welfare commissioner, and $6,000 was voted to the welfare department for the balance of the year.

A highlight of the meeting was appearance of State Highway Commissioner Charles M. Zeigler, of Lansing, who came before the board to discuss matters pertaining to the state highway department and county, and stressed importance of the county appointing a committee to consider post-war road and airport projects as outlined by the State Planning Commission. It was suggested that the board contact the Civil Aeronautics Authority in regard to a county airport to be constructed at some future date.

MICHIGAN IS FIFTH TO ADOPT NEW LAW

Financial Responsibility Act Is In Effect July 30

When the new amendment to the Automobile Financial Responsibility law goes into effect July 30, in Michigan, the state will become the fifth in the nation to have an automobile law of this type in force. A somewhat similar law went into effect in Indiana July 1. Prior to that time, laws have been adopted by New Hampshire, Maine and New York, in that order. Michigan is the second largest state in point of population to adopt such a provision, New York being the largest.

Everyone who owns or drives a car in Michigan will be affected by the new law. There are now more than 1,700,000 cars in operation in the state and it is estimated, according to The Travelers Insurance Companies, that before the law has been in effect many months approximately three out of four cars will carry insurance. This estimate is based on results in other states which have adopted similar laws.

Term of One Member to Expire; Qualifications of School Electors Reviewed

Attention is called to the annual meeting of Charlevoix school district No. 1, city and township, to be held in the high school session room at 8 o'clock Monday evening, July 12.

Purpose of the meeting is election or re-election of school officers and transacting such business as may properly come forward. Term of one member, C. B. Meggison, expires this year. Reports of the secretary and treasurer for 1942-43 will be given.

Undivided profits showed a slight decline from last year, due to the large transfer to the surplus account.

ARMY POTATO NEEDS SPUR COUNTY FARMS

If Growers Meet Goal, Extra Crop Feed 14,388 Soldiers

If Charlevoix County's growers meet their 1943 potato production goal, the increase over last year's crop would be enough to provide 14,388 soldiers with a year's ration of this staple food, a leading distributor of Michigan-grown fresh fruits and vegetables estimated today.

"Shortages of labor and seed plus adverse weather conditions are making the goals of the state's growers difficult to attain this year," said Frank C. Kniesner, of Detroit, Central-Western Division manager for A & P Tea Company's produce-buying affiliate. "However, the growers' old bugaboo of oversupply isn't present this season. Besides the huge supplies of potatoes needed by the armed forces and lend lease agencies, large civilian buyers also are arranging for heavy purchases this year. Our company, for instance, stands ready at least to repeat its orders of last year when we purchased the equivalent of 2,690 carlots of Michigan potatoes for $1,405,525."

Charlevoix county produced 149,880 bushels of potatoes in 1942 and now is aiming at a 148 per cent goal for this year. The average soldier eats about five bushels of potatoes a year.

MOTORISTS URGED TO GET HALF-YEAR TABS

First Half Expires On August 31; Others On Sale July 19

Full year auto license tabs and stickers for 1943 will go on sale at half price on July 19 at the secretary of state's branch office in the court house. Car owners who have already obtained the first-half license can get full year tabs after that date.

Every motorist who needs full-year tabs is urged to get them as soon as possible after July 19, to avoid the rush when the first half-year licenses expire on August 31.

Tabs are to be furnished for passenger cars and trailers, stickers for commercial vehicles. Passenger car owners must present titles, and the last registration slip showing weight for commercial vehicles and trailers must be presented.

Accepted for the army were: James E. Foster, James Amos John, Floyd E. Harwood, William A. McGinnis, of Charlevoix; James Bugai, Wilber V. Craft, Ernest G. Stallard, William C. Walden, William L. Saxton, Frank S. Archer, of East Jordan; Robert J. Nulph, Lawrence Snyder, Thomas M. Junack, Carl F. Snyder, Calvin C. Coblentz, Edward F. Barkley, of Boyne City; Fred Massey Jr., of Boyne Falls. NAVY, MARINES SEEK RECRUITS

17-YEAR-OLDS MAY ENLIST IN EITHER SERVICE

Recruiting Stations At Traverse City Prepared To Receive Enlistment Applicants

Youths of 17 are being urged to enlist in the United States navy, and also in the marine corps, which is again accepting men of that age.

As 17-year-olds, they have the privilege of enlisting. Upon reaching the age of 18, they must register for the selective service draft and await induction.

Requirements for enlistment in both marine corps and navy are that the applicant pass physical examinations for these services, have the consent of his parents or legal guardian, and be of good moral character. The advantage of enlisting before reaching draft age is apparent, in view of the fact that the applicant has a choice of which service he will enter. When drafted, those who would like to enter the navy or marine corps instead of the army often find quotas closed at the time they are inducted.

Men interested in joining the navy may write or visit the naval recruiting station, Room No. 6, Post Office Building Traverse City. The recruiter will furnish any information desired about the navy and make out all necessary application papers prior to final examination at Detroit. All transportation and travel expenses necessary for enlistment are supplied by the navy.

Applications for enlistment in the marine corps are accepted in the recruiting office in the Hotel Traverse, Front and Union Sts., Traverse City. Recruiting sergeants on duty here are authorized to take immediate action on all applications. Men enlisted in the current drive for 17-year-olds will be trained at the marine corps base at San Diego, Calif.

HARBOR VISITORS ARE EQUAL TO LAST YEAR

Harbormaster Joseph Howard reports that the number of boats entering Charlevoix harbor this year is almost equal to that of the same date a year ago. Only one less boat is registered this year than at this time last July.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Yes, things have changed since rationing came along. Now a pooch doesn't even have to go to Mother Hubbard's cupboard to find there is no bone. He just has to look into what used to be a meat market door.

Thought I wasn't going to have any good fishin' news this week until H. C. Heckler came along and saved the day. Seems he and his wife and Gordon Clement and the Missus found where the big bass hang out in Lake Charlevoix, for Tuesday night they took, among a string of 12, bass weighing 5, 3½s and 2 pounds. The 5-pounder, by the way, is the biggest I've heard of this year. They made the catch after 8 p.m.

If the absence of vacation travel over the 4th of July week-end can be taken as an indication, government efforts to curtail pleasure driving have succeeded. It was the leanest holiday weekend I've experienced in my lifetime in Charlevoix.

When striking coal miners get into Uncle Sam's armed forces they at least should be valuable as trench diggers.

While anchored off the east side of Loob Point Sunday with a fishing party, a deer whistled at us from the wooded shore. The animals saw us first, I guess, for we didn't get a glimpse of it.

Time was when we used to send our old clothes to the missions. Now we wear them.

Newest addition to Charlevoix's sailboat fleet is the sloop "Rogue," owned by Mayor Bob Bridge. "Pat" Hawley, Cliff McKibbin and "Doc" Saltonstall, Cliff, "Pat" and their wives, Bob and Jerry Scudder sailed the boat up from Traverse City last Sunday and Monday (4 p.m. Sunday to 7:30 a.m. Monday) and were they to write a book about this experience of being fog-bound it no doubt would be entitled "A Night Adrift."

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

Have ben receiving the Courier steadily and so very glad to get it. I don't believe I could get any more of a sunburn than I have now. The sun in the summertime in this part of the country gets mighty hot.

I met Lee Scott at the service men's center here, and we 'aure were happy to see each other. I will be at this base until early in August and then our real test comes along. We will land marines from huge transports to shore at ———, Calif., and they tell ma it's really big sea off that part of the coast.

I am getting a 10 to 15 day leave in the latter part of September or early October and I will try and make it up to Charlevoix and see my old friends again. That would really be a treat.

We see many convoys out on the Pacific horizon, so if anyone thinks the navy isn't on the job they're badly mistaken.

Well, I'll close for now. I want to take the opportunity to wish each and everyone from Charlevoix fighting overseas all the luck in the world and God bless them. Also best of luck and regards to all my friends in and around Charlevoix.

Sincerely,
Jimmy

Dear Ken,

I've received a couple of Couriers already, so I thought I'd better write and thank you for them. It sure is swell to get them every week.

So far I think the navy is swell, but I'll be glad when this boot training is over. I've met a bunch of swell fellows since I've been here and we have a pretty good time. The majority of our company is from Michigan and Kentucky and the rest are from all over the east.

I'm in the same company with Don Carey, Howard Fales and Fitch Tooley, so I don't get lonesome for home and my friends except one.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

J. C. Wynn, Camp Scribe

One of the more difficult tasks that each boy faced at the opening of ramp was that of shoosing the first activity in which he could enroll. An orientation day had been set aside so that each boy could make an intelligent choice. The array of activities from which each boy could choose was so confusing that only one way seemed right — they must try them all. This is exactly what they did. Before the campers signed up for any course they visited each and every activity offered and heurd the instructor describe the activity. In fifteen minute intervals each instructor gave a sample of his uctivity. The campers visited these activities in section groups. They had to choose from riflery, sailing, boating and canoeing, riding, tennis instruction, athletics, swimming and life saving instruction, handicraft, ceramics, photography, or boxing and wrestling. If it was difficult to chose from such an nrray, the camper need enroll for only a week and then change to another choice, and he could also use his hobby afternoons to try out the activities which he wns not regularly attending.

To get a large camp under way is n big job for boys and staff alike. Before the campers have been permitted the use of boats nnd equipment, they must have passed certain tests at the waterfront. They have had to nceustom themselves to the new program of activities and hobbies. They nave undergone another series of health examinations here at the camp hy the physician, Dr. Richard Friedmnn. They have learned to work together with their cabin mates in keeping the cabins neat and clean.

Waterfront directors, Sherwood Daily and Bill Angell, conducted the 100 yard swimming tests ench day for the first few days of camp. Those who dld not pass were required to attend regular swimming classes until they could fulfill this requirement. Those who did pass were allowed to swim out to the floating dnck during swimming periods and were permitted the use of sail boats and canoes. The campers who swam their 100 yards nre: Louis Scher, Bob Daniels, Harold Upjohn, John Barber, Kenneth Hanger, Paul Wlnans, Jim Naylor, Dick Noel, Pnul Dickson, Barry Ewbanks, Peter Mann, Brian Kelly, Tom Tomlinson, Harry Kelly, Ted Green, Buddy Loranger, Hal Cnldwell, Ernie Evans, Bill Knmpe, Bill Scher, Bart Grimes, John MncDonell, Bob Lerch, George Dowley, Carson Dillon, Eugene Chnpman, Boh King, Tom Thompson, David Hnrding, Millard Pryor, Bob Baker, Ken Helms, Loring Knmpe, John Church, John Snyder, Fred McGregor, Buddy Gage, Bill Thompson, Hownrd Kny, David Baker, John Lerch, Frank Smith, Paul Smith, Fred Pryor, David Ball, Bob House, Dnn Bellinger, John Davis, Andre Savard, Cary Bachmnn, Jim Hubbard, Bill Fitzpatrick, Jerry Burke and Hartwell Stoll.

For the safety of the swimmers, eight life guards chosen from the counsellors are on duty for ench swimming period. Swimmers are permitted to go into the water only when they have buddies. The buddy systeta is used at Camp Clnrlevoix because it is a practical method of providing for water safety ns well as making swimming fun for the boys. Each swimmer is accompanied by another who bns approximately the same swimming ability. These buddies stay within fifteen feet of each other all the time, and when signalled raise their hands together for the life guards' check up. In addition to this, each swimmer has a tag which he shifts on tha waterfront bulletin board to indicate whether hs is in the swim that particular period. Thus the water safety directors know exactly who is in the water at a givsn time.

Undoubtedly the most popular wuter sport, other than swimming, is sailing. When the boats skim over Lake Charlevoix waters with full sails, they make a pretty sight. Maurice Dixon's class composed, of Hul Culdwell, Loring Kampe, Walter Gage, and Paul Winans are specializing in this sport. Besides learning to sail, they learn how to calk and paint and take care of their boats. Two fellows who had their own boats brought here this sunmer are Hal Caldwell and Al Birdsall.

Here in the northern Michigan woods we are not always aware that there is a war going on in the world. But there are occasional reminders; the trading post has had no chocolate eundy thus far, the new feature of military drill under (Rus Teague') direction of, Missouri Military Academy is now proceding smoothly, work in the victory garden has become a regular chore. Chief Reimnnn had ordered food for this season's camping period last February so that the food shortsges have been noticed but little here.

Flag raising and retreat have become impresaive ceremonies as each day the campers line up in a hollow square about the flag polo and salute the nation's colors. Each morning they pledge their allegiance to the flag. Peter Mann and Hal Caldwell with their bugles and Dick Canners beating his drum assist Counsellor Krueger in supplying music and cadence for the flag ceremonies. The color guard is changed each day. Personnl inspection by the counsellors und camp physician follow the roll call at tha flag pole. The campers then turn and march into the dining room.

In addition to the flag ceremony and its military fluvor, the new physical fitness program which has become a part of the curriculum of nearly every school in the nation hns not been missed at Camp Charlevoix. On regular occasions the campers tnke group calesthenics before a dip in the lnke. Health and strength nre great assets in the nation's youth.

That a nation nt wnr demands the active work of everyone of its citizens wherever they nre has impressed campers this year. Many have sawed or chopped fire wood and helped to bring it into the fireplaces. Manson Warner, Juck Surbis, Ernie Evans hnve performed this type of service. Others have hoed the rows of the victory garden. In this duty Geao Chapman, George Dowley, Ken Helms, Tom Keenan, John MacDoaell, Hal Caldwell, Bart Grimes, Bob Lerch, and Robert Stoll have been especially active. Cabin cleanup has become an importnnt busiaess as Les Pengelly's stringent inspection committee carefully examines the bunks and floors of every cabin every day. Three cnbins have alrendy been rated "excellent" at least twice. They are cabin No. 1 composed of Freddie Pryor, Dave Ball, Jny Willson, Jack Surbis, Jimmy Millis, Johnny Weissinger, Billy Fitzpatrick, and J. C. Wynn, counselor; cabin No. 9; Bob Baker, Paul Smith, Dick Conners, Mervin Contes, Carson Dillon, Franklin Cornelius, Brian Kelly nnd Rus Teague the counsellor; cabin No. 11 where David Baker, Wnlter Gage, Paul Smith, and Robert Stoll live. Other cabins have had honor ratings; but all are gaining valuable experience and training in this clean up activity. Often this becomes one of the carry-over values of camping and boys continue to make their own beds and clean their own rooms when they return to their homes.

Loy Clingman, a junior in Business Administration at the University of Arizona is the camp cowboy and thus in charge of the most popular activity, riding. Here he is known as "Arizona"; and now one of the naw colts has been named after his home state. This colt, the offspring of Jet is now christened just "Zona." The other colt, recently born to Aurora is to be named Flicku after the well known novel and recent movie "My Friend Flicka." Jim Naylor, senior camper of cabin 17, brought two horses with him to Camp Charlevoix this year to be used by the campers.

Independence Day which fell on Sunday was a gala day at Camp Charlevoix. That morning cabins were cleaned spic and span, Sunday folds were put in the bunks (the clean sheets are turned down at the top), floors are mopped. The campers and staff dressed in their usual Sunday whites and attended services, the Roman Catholic boys driving to Charlevoix to St. Mary's Church, and the Protestant boys attending the camp's chapel services. Chapel was held on the porch of the Club House; the outdoor chapel because of the recent heavy rains is not yet in use. Paul Dickson read the call to worship and led the service. Gene Davenport read the Scripture, and Bob House prayed the Cadet Prayer. A male quartet composed of counsellors sang an offertory anthem "Beneath The Cross of Jesus" and assistant counsellor Phil Steding sang a solo "I Would Be True," David Ball and Jay Willson served as ushers. Chief Reimann delivered the chapel address in which he reviewed the history of crises which this nation has faced and how it has met them. He then reminded the campers that this wus also a period of crisis, perhaps the greatest that this nation has seen; and that this presents a challenge to the youth of America. Chief outlined some ways in which boys could serve their country and do their patriotic duty on the home front.

Before Sunday dinner each camper wrote n letter to his parents nnd this served ns a meal ticket as he entered the dining room door. Sundny dinner featured pecan ice cream nnd chocolate cake which gave the campers cause for a unanimous "Chinese toast" to the cooks. After rest period, there was a Fourth of July exhibition of marksmanship by the camp's riflery teachers, S. J. Wulli, nnd Russ Teague. They demonstrated a United States Army 1903 Springfield rifle while shooting at n 50 ynrd target. After the riflery exhibitian the campers gnthered on the dock and watched Bill Angell, Red Cross Life Saving Instructor and waterfrnnt director at Camp Chnrlevoix, execute some carries in life saving, some canoe strokes and handling.

There were afternoon games. Then nt vespers held for all the camp in the Club House in the evening of the Fourth, Fred Krueger led group siaging. A story session followed, the highlight of which was n cbnin story; it concerned a hunter surrounded in the north woods by a grizzly bear, a mad moose, and a wildcat. He was soon disarmed by this formidable trio and found himself in an extremely critical position. At this juncture the story was passed on to Bob Livermore who rescued the hunter by having him jump for the lowest limb of a pine tree which he missed but fortunately caught on the way down; the story wus passed down the line to "Wally", to Les Pengelly whose bicycle experience had taught him to "handle bars" so that he could dispose of one animal, and so on. Cary Bnchman and Gene Davenport continued the chain along with several counsellors. This session was followed by a fireworks display in the lower field. John Barker had prepared the display from his chemistry set; Skippy Scher, DeVille Hubbard, and Hal Upjohn assisted in the display. Tnps sounded on the Fourth for a tired group of campers.

Much interest has been shown in ceramica this summer. This new department is under the instructorship of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Armstrong who has taught this subject for some years in Detroit's public schools. Many campers are making bowls, pitchers, or modeling animals out of clay. David Harding bas been making an ash tray.

Three campers have already qualified as marksmen in the popular riflery class. These are Hul Boyer, Mike Foster, and Howard Kay. Riflery has proved to be so popular an activity that there are not guns enough to supply the immediate demand.

Braiding lanyards for whistle cords or bracelets has become an interesting hobby for many campers; ping pong, box hockey, and horseshoes are becoming increasingly used as between-events pastimes. Menagerie collecting has for some juniors come to be a great art. On Sunday last Bill Fitzpatrick, Jack Surbis, Jimmy Millis, Johnny Weissinger, found a small sandpiper with a broken wing. They constructed a bird cage for it out of an orange crate, inserted a natural perch, and gathered some insects for food. The next day this same group along with Freddie Pryor, Richard Tabor, David Ball und Jay Willson collected some mianows, pollywogs, and a frog which they kept in the water bucket of cabin No. 1.

Monday is the traditional wash day and the boys sent their clothes to the laundry that day. Cubin group activities have recently included challenges in ball games, trips to Charlevoix for senior cabins 15 and 17, chartering the cruiser of John Clothier for a night's lake ride, playing volleyball, riding horseback, sailing, shooting, and boating. Cabin 13 of which Ralph Deal is counsellor is planning a deep lake fishing trip on Lake Michigan for Thursday, July 8; on this expedition will go Gene Chapman, a noted spinner of yarns, George Dowley, Ernie Evans, Tom Keenah, Ken Helms, John MacDonnell, und assistant counsellor John Craig.

The exaggerated Paul Bunyan saga has become a subject for a series of stories at the junior council ring where a large wooden statue to this giant lumberman stands over all camp fires. Many of the usual camp tricks have begun to be played on the uninitiated; campers are sent for left-handed monkey wrenches, shore line, or striped paint. Numerous cabins have taken exploratory hikes in the nearby woods and eaten their own outdoor cooking. The junior section hiked off to Strawberry Point where they stoned some driftwood which they declared to be a Japanese fleet taking shore barrage. Bobby Murphy, Millie Pryor, Gilbert Clarke showed devastating marksmanship on this occasion.

Dr. Olthouse of the Michigan State Department of Health has inspected the camp's stables, kitchens, sanitary and water supply, the infirmary and its staff, and has rendered a report that everything is in fine shape. Dr. Friedman and Mrs. Fitzpatrick, the camp nurse have been taking care of the usual cuts and bruises, none of which have been serious. Only one camper, George Buskirk who has a boil on his leg, has been confined to the infirmary; and his stay has been short, his visitors many.

Saturday night is always dramatics night at Camp Charlevoix. Lew Stoerker who heads up this department arranged an all-counsellor's show for the first night. Bob Mulligan and Phil Steding sang solos. Jack Maguire and Charles Sutor acted out a farcical skit. The "bloomer girls" dance team performed; Chief Reimann, Bob Hodges, Bob Livermore, S. J. Walli, and Maurice Dixon taking part. Wilbur Christopher played the accordian, a male chorus sang some old favorites, Ralph Deal soloed on the piano, and Camp Mother Reimann gave a little talk to the boys, Russ Teague gave a reading; the Four Ducks sang a ditty; and Cowboy Clingman sang several western ballads to the strumming of his guitar.

Tutoring classes have begun for those boys who need special work in school subjects. The Finnish Bath, henceforth according to Wally to be known as the 'sauna', is under construction. The camp is looking forward to the arrival of Couch Charlie Bachman from Michigan State who will coach football, counael, and talk at the boys' camp fires. Orchestra and chorus work under Fred Krueger, Mother Reimann, and Chris is now orgaalzed. The sunshine for which all camp has been waiting is now here; and the place is booming with activity.

Bury Rotten Potatoes

Culled and partly rotten potatoes taken out of storage should not be permitted to sprout and spread late blight in the 1943 growing crop, warn members of the plant pathology staff at Michigan State College.

Culls can be fed to livestock or destroyed by burning. The fewer the sources of the blight spores, the less chance of blight losses. The college specialists suggest adequate spraying programs to give protection from the blight, which spreads from plant to plant and from field to field unless kept under control.

Your Car's Life Can Be

STRETCHED FIFTY PERCENT

The engineers who build America's automobiles say proper care can stretch car life fifty percent. Yes, ten simple rules will do the job. And high on their list is the choice of suitable winter motor oils and greases. Proper lubrication, these experts explain, reduces friction, avoids unnecessary engine wear, makes cars start and run easier. Knowing this, millions of motorists prefer high-quality Mobilail, the world's largest-selling motor oil.

Mobiloil Arctic gives exceptional lubrication; guarding every vital engine surface with a tough, protective film at all times -- even during cold starts and fast warm-ups. Mobilail is refined for extra purity, too, and thus resists dangerous carbon and sludge formation. Such impurities can gum up your engine, make it harder to start and run -- and even do a lot of damage. So, for the safe, dependable winter lubrication you need to make your car last, ask for Mobilail Arctic.

At a ceremony performed at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, July 4, at the home of Dr. and Mrs. F. F. McMillan, their daughter, Mrs. Freda Shupik, was united in marriage to Harry Stewart, of Jackson.

Rev. L. H. Hagle performed the ceremony before the fireplace in the living room of the McMillan home, which was decorated with bouquets of mixed flowers. Vases of pink and white roses were on the mantel, and on either side of the fireplace stood baskets of canterbury bells.

Attendants were Mrs. Joseph Arvilla, sister of the bride, and Charles Dagwell of Indianapolis, Ind., uncle of the bride.

The bride wore a pale rose silk suit embroidered in pastel colors, with matching accessories and a corsage of deep pink roses, sweet peas and blue bachelor-buttons. Her sister wore a flowered white silk jersey gown, with white accessories and corsage of white and pink carnations.

Dinner for 18 guests was served at the Beach hotel, where the table was decorated with bouquets of canterbury bells and roses, and centered with the tiered wedding cake.

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart left Sunday afternoon for Jackson, where they will make their home in Napoleon, a suburb of the city.

The bride is a graduate of the University of Michigan, and has taught in local schools both as a regular and substitute teacher for several years. Mr. Stewart was with the U. S. forestry service at Norris, Tenn., for 15 years before going to Jackson to be employed in a war production plant.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were Dr. and Mrs. Lyle McMillan, of Mackinaw City; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dagwell and Mrs. Pearl Cluff, of Cheboygan; Harry Dagwell, of Indian River; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dagwall, of Indianapolis, Ind.

They've taken in so many new recruits here that they have had to cut down the training of most of the other companies. Some that were not supposed to leave for a week or two have already gone. When we came were supposed to be here [illegible] but now they've cut it down to 7 so I'll be seeing you and Charlevoix about the 6th or 7th of August.

Very truly yours,
Johnny Hissell

Hello Ken!

Just a line or two to let you know I'm out here in the California desert. We arrived here this noon from Kansas. We have the wide open spaces and plenty of mountains. We are at the southern end of Death Valley and it's not so cold, as you might know. The tempereture ranges around 115 in the shade here. Thanks for the Courier again.

So long
Pfc. Bennie Walker

Dear Ken,

I am sorry I haven't written you before to thank you for sending me the most wonderful paper that we boys in the service can get, the home town paper.

I am very glad to get the paper and to find out what goes on at home, also to find out what the rest of the boys are doing.

Thanks again for sending the paper.

So long and good luck,
Pvt. James McMillan

Dear Ken,

I guess it's time I let you know I am still in the war. I haven't forgotten you, but have been so darn busy I just haven't had time. You should know how much work there is to your own boat, well, figure the work on one something like our truck. The days go by awful fast and I hope they do for all the fellows.

I want to say hello to everyone, especially Melvin Plum, Bob Kelly, Fred Hardy, Ken Staley.

I sure would like to make it home to slosh around in a couple of the creeks. Though I am where our "silver-sided dynamite" comes from, I can't find time to get out to get at them either. This is the country you would like to live in next to Michigan. I may go over to see John Woods on some liberty, one of his cousins is aboard with me. I haven't seen anyone from home since I was there quite some time ago.

Well, till I can dunk my fishline in the lake again,

As ever,
Bergie

Robert O. Bergmann S 1/c
U. S. Navy

Dear Ken,

Here's a few lines from a veteran of a few days in this man's army to let you know what my address is. Please have the CSO send the paper as soon as possible, as I appreciate the home town news a great deal.

Say Ken, if it ever gets too warm up there for you, just think of the weather down here and you'll start to shiver. The coolest it's been here is 110 degrees.

This is no small field where I'm stationed. There's between 70 and 80,000 soldiers and approximately 150 WAAC's.

If there's any Charlevoix fellows stationed near here, send me their address. I'd like to see them and compare notes.

There goes chow call so I'll beat it for now.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Farm Helpers Urgently Needed Now

Many farmers are greatly handicapped at this time of the year in not being able to hire sufficient labor to harvest their hay. By one system or another farmers have gotten their usual acreage of crops in the ground but now grave problems exist in locating help to put up the large acreags of hay.

During the last two or three weeks Donald P. Watkins, Emergency Farm Labor Assistont, has placed all of the uvailnble men that could he located on farms and right now in spite of farmers pleas for help we do not have a single man on file that will help farmers. We earnestly esk that anyone who finds it possible to help for the next few weeks to get in touch with the county agent's office in Boyne City. The need is great and the problem of food supplies will be of great concern to everyone as time goes by.

Every effort is being made to furnish farm help but the shortage of manpower is being keenly felt at this time. Letters are going out this week to the growers of contract crops to determine the labor needs in harvesting this large acreage of string beans, cucumber, beets, carrots and sweet corn. We are most hopeful that the youth in the county will come forward and help in harvesting these crops. In any ense if you know of anyone that we can socure to help please let us know.

Pasture Fattens Healthy Lambs

One way to save grains and reduce purchases of war-scarce concentrate feeds offers extra profits to Michigan flockmastors.

Proper management, including adequate control of internal parasites, indicates that sheep flocks can be will nourished und lambs marketed with u minimum of grain by Charlevoix county farmers.

Midsummer is the height of the parasite season, according to C. L. Cole of the Michigan State Colloga animal husbandry department. Lambs should ba watched carefully and treated regularly if they are to be kept free of parasites.

Infested lombs become thio and fail to grow. Such lambs usually scourge their wool becomas harsh and their skin and eyelids pala in color. Regular treatment will prevent such conditions from developing. If lambs are in good condition and make maximum growth, according to the recommendations, the lamb crop can go to market directly off posture, at desirable markot weights and in good finish.

Directions for parasite control can be obtained from the County Agricultursl Agent's office at Boyne City. The treatment is described in the Michigan State College Extension Folder "F-52, Controlling Sheep Porasitea."

MSC Work Worth Medal

Highest annual distinction for research in dairy technology was awarded recently to Dr. Lano Moore, former research assistant at Michigan State College and now associate professor in dairy husbandry at the University of Maryland. He received the Borden award, $1,000 in cash and a gold medal at the annual meeting of the American Dairy Science association. His studies involved vitamin A deficiency in dairy animals while he was obtaining muster of science and Ph D degrees at MSC.

Traffic Perils Livestock

Faster trains and heavily loaded trucks, coupled with the farmer's investment and the war needs for livestock, lead to a warning from the Michigan State College animal husbandry department. Livestock including poultry should bo proteeted from traffic perils on the highway, to reduce money und food losses, it is recommended.

AT THE MOVIES

"Tha Moon Is Down"

It would seem that Dorris Bowdon is destined to forsaks glamor for the sake of her motion picture career.

Miss Bowdon makes her return to the screen in 20th Century-Fox's vivid adaptation of John Steinbeck's stirring story, "The Moon Is Down," which comes Sunday and Monday to the Palace Theatre. She was last seen as Rosasharn in the film version of another Steinbeck best-seller, "The Grapes of Wrath."

In addition to Miss Bowdon the cast of the picture includes Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Henry Travers, Lee J. Cobb and Margaret Wychorly.

Irving Pichel directed.

"Hello, Frisco, Hello"

When it comes to putting over songs, Alice Faye is tops! The lovely blonde star adds to her laurels by singing in her incomparable style a number of ballads, old and new, in 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor musical, "Hello, Frisco, Hello," which opens Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Palace Theatre.

"Hello, Frisco, Hello," is a lavish, colorful musical set to the gay tempo of life of old San Francisco's riotous Barbary Coast. Starred with Alice Faye are John Payne, Jack Oakie and Lynn Bari. June Havoc and Laird Cregar are featured in important roles.

"Assignment in Brittany"

In the course of filming M-G-M's "Assignment in Brittany," coming Friday and Saturday to the Palace Theatre, director Jack Conway broke no less than six of Hollywood's long standing film records. Conway, noted for his meticulous direction, scored a personal triumph when he filmed ten pages of dialogue in one day.

Another record was set when 137 different sets were used in the picture. Since the scope of the picture ranges from Africa through England and France, the large number of backgrounds were necessary. Pierre Aumont, new French star, was filmed in all of the 71 scenes in "Assignment in Brittany." Aumont also plays a triple role, for the first time in screen history.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Senate, House Conference Committee Stops Roll-Back of Retail Food Costs; Revised Bill Approves Funds for FSA; Heavy Aerial Action Marks Pacific War

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

To test navy rubber life rafts and accessories, six men were cast adriff off Cape Fear, N. C., in the Atlantic. The men were equipped with a new lightweight life preserver which also holds rations and other essentials, solution for purifying salt water for drinking and oars out of which a mast and boom can be erected by linking them together in a right angle.

PRICE 'ROLL-BACK':
Doomed by Committee

Drastic revision of the administration's subsidy program was indicated by action of a senate and house conference committee, which prohibited use of funds for the "roll-back" of retail food prices. The committee's move would kill the present "roll-back" of butter and meat, only permitting payments to processors for commitments to June 15.

However, the committee did authorize the payment of 150 million dollars in subsidies to offset increased transportation costs, and stimulate the production of scarce metals and essential food products. Congressional approval, however, would be required for expenditures over 150 million dollars.

The conference committee's action ignored an appeal by the War Labor board for the adoption of the administration's "roll-back" program. Citing its policy of limiting wage increases to 15 per cent over the January 1941 level, the WLB declared that the cost of living has spiralled up 6 per cent since last October, with food alone rising 12.0 per cent.

The conference committee increased the Commodity Credit corporation lending authority 750 million dollars to an aggregate of 3 billion 400 million dollars. Under the terms of the bill which also extended the life of the CCC for two years, the war food administrator would be allowed to buy food from farmers and resell it at a loss to stimulate production.

CHEERS ALLIES:
Major Blow

Invasion talk quickened with the statement of Malcolm MacDonald, British high commissioner to Canada, that the Allies would soon assault Hitler's European fortress.

In predicting the invasion, MacDonald said a series of small forays could be expected to feel out the enemy before a major blow would be struck.

MacDonald saw further cheer in the Allies' operations against U-boats in the North Atlantic. Even as he revealed that one submarine had been sunk each day during the preceding two weeks, Goering's Essener National Zeitung confessed that the Allies had surprised the Nazi U-boat force by the use of aircraft carriers in convoys.

As invasion talk increased, Allied bombers continued to pound Germany.

TREASON:
New Trials in Chicago

Basing part of its decision on a recent Supreme court ruling, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals voided the conviction of six defendants for treason in Chicago and ordered the case rebeard.

It was pointed out that the Supreme court had held arraignment before a magistrate necessary before a suspect could be questioned. In the treason case, statements had been taken before such arraignment, although the government claimed the suspects had waived the right of appearance before a judicial officer.

The appeals court also held that the individuals were entitled to separate trials which the court denied, and Judge William J. Campbell had erroneously instructed the jury.

FARM:
Approve FSA Funds

Final congressional action on the 875 million dollar farm bill was further delayed with the senate's return of the bill to a conference committee for adoption of provisions for crop insurance and incentive payments.

Before returning the bill, the senate approved conference recommendations for the farm security program. Twenty million dollars was appropriated for the administration of the agency and it was authorized to borrow 80 millions for rehabilitation loans. Transfer of the FSA functions to the War Food administration also was approved.

In sending the bill back to the committee, the senate insisted on acceptance of its provisions for continuing wheat and crop insurance, and on removal of restrictions against use of 400 million dollars of soil conservation payments for incentive awards to producers.

The conference version had recommended an appropriation of 30 million dollars for loans to tenants for farm purchase. It also permitted the FSA to use as much of its funds as necessary during the first four months of the fiscal year before passage of legislation in congress over the future of the FSA. The senate approved both sections.

CABINET RIFT:
Wallace vs. Jones

Differences in the presidential cabinet flared into the open when Vice President Henry A. Wallace accused Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones of hamstringing operations of the Board of Economic Warfare.

As chairman of the BEW, Wallace directs the agency's program for the purchase of material and development of strategic natural resources in foreign countries. As chairman of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, Jones is responsible for furnishing the funds for the BEW operations.

Wallace claimed that the RFC was lax in building up a stockpile of strategic material before Pearl Harbor, although expressly authorized to do so. Jones countered with the assertion that of 1½ billion dollars of precious material bought by this country, the BEW initiated only 5 per cent of the purcheses.

PACIFIC:
Action in Air

While American aviators bombed Kiska seven times in one day in the North Pacific, the deliverance of heavy blows at Japan in the Southwest Pacific was promised by Maj. Gen. Claire Chennault upon his return to China from conferences at Washington.

As the soupy Aleutian weather cleared enough to warrant operations, medium bombers hammered at Kiska, blowing up anti-aircraft emplacements and runways. The raids brought to 16 the number staged by American airmen in three days.

In predicting an offensive against the Japs in the southwest, General Chennault said conferences in Washington had convinced him that the U. S. was concentrating most of its naval action in the Pacific and that Allied leaders were making a most judicious use of resources for global warfare.

CHESTER DAVIS:
Resigns Food Job

As support grew in congress for his appointment as Food Czar, Chester Davis resigned from his position as War Food administrator. Lack of sufficient authority and opposition to the government's subsidy program were the reasons Davis gave for his action.

President Roosevelt accepted the resignation and immediately named Marvin Jones, a former Texas congressman and chairman of the United Nations' recent food conference, as his successor. Mr. Roosevelt also relieved Davis of responsibility for plotting the 1944 food program, saying it would not be proper to tie another administrator to somebody else's policies.

In his letter of resignation, Davis declared that subsidies would not tend to halt inflation in this country unless accompanied by current tax and savings programs. Mr. Roosevelt replied with the statement that congress had failed to enact the added tax legislation he had asked.

In answer to Davis' assertion that authority over broad food policy and the day-to-day decisions were being exercised elsewhere, Mr. Roosevelt said he had named a War Mobilization director for the purpose of co-ordinating all functions of the war agencies.

MEDITERRANEAN:
Blast Axis From Air

While the Axis continued to report Allied concentrations in North Africa, U. S. airmen struck at Nazi aerial installations in Greece, further diverting attention to the Balkans.

Strong formations of Liberator bombers raided Axis airdromes near the ancient Greek capital of Athens. Although enemy planes arose in number to the defense, hits were reported on hangars, fuel dumps and aircraft spread over the fields.

In announcing the raids, the ninth U. S. air force also revealed that the Axis continued their novel attacks on our planes by attempting to drop bombs on them from fighters overhead.

British Wellington bombers dropped incendiaries and block busters on Naples as direct attacks were continued on Italy. Docks and industrial installations were reported struck and the Italians admitted damage.

COAL PRODUCTION:
U. S. Names Director

While 156,000 miners stayed out of the pits, Carl Elbridge Newton, 45-year-old president of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, was appointed to direct the operations of the nation's mines now under government control. The selection of Newton was announced as Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes told a congressional committee that there was no hope for an early return of the properties to the owners.

Although many locals voted to resume work, thousands of soft and hard coal miners insisted they would not go back without a new contract. Pits of several steel companies in Pennsylvania were affected, but in Illinois where the union and operators had come to an agreement before the War Labor board refused to recognize the concession, all of the 25,000 miners were on the job.

Formerly an assistant United States attorney in New York and special assistant state attorney general in New York, Newton was named president of the Chesapeake and Ohio last December 15. However, he had been connected with railroad matters since 1938. In his capacity, Newton is answerable only to Ickes, although he will have the services in Ickes' office.

U. S. BACKS GIRAUD:
F.D.R. Shows Support

President Roosevelt's approval of General Eisenhower's support of Gen. Henri Giroud's French command in North Africa was seen in an invitation extended to Giraud to visit the U. S. Although Giraud accepted, he is not expected to make the trip until cessation of hostilities.

General Eisenhower came to Giraud's side during the recent conferences of the French National committee at Algiers. Gen. Charles DeGaulle had boldly sought to subordinate Giraud to a military commission and replace certain of his officers. General Eisenhower then stepped in and insisted on the retention of Giraud's command.

Back of the maze of political complication, one could see General Eisenhower's firm respect for the honor so strongly cast in military men. It was General Eisenhower who negotiated with Admiral Jean Darlan for French North Africa's collaboration with the Allies at the time of the U. S. landings in 1942. When Darlan was assassinated, General Giraud inherited his position as high commissioner and, with it, Darlan's organization.

NAZI SPY:

Trial for espionage with death or prison facing him if convicted loomed before 57-year-old Ernest Lehmitz, Staten Island, N. Y., air raid warden, following his confession to the FBI that he had informed the German government of American troop movements, convoys and arms production.

Lehmitz had communicated with the Nazi intelligence by using invisible ink to write between the lines of apparently harmless letters to acquaintances in Germany.

HOW CHATTERER HAD FOOLED PETER RABBIT

CHATTERER the Red Squirrel is a scamp himself, and not to be trusted. Nobody in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadow trusts him. And people who cannot be trusted themselves never trust anyone else. Chatterer never does. He is always suspicious. So when Peter Rabbit had said good-by and started for the dear Old Briar Patch without knowing where Chatterer's new house was Chatterer had made up his mind right away that Peter would never be satisfied until he knew, or thought he knew, where that new house was.

He watched Peter out of sight, then he slipped down out of sight between the stones of the old wall. "I know what Peter will do," said he to himself. "Peter will come sneaking back and hide where he can watch me and so find out where my new house is. I'll just stay here long enough to give him a chance to hide and then I'll fool him."

You see, Chatterer knew that if he had been in Peter's place he would have done just that thing. So he waited a little while and then went back to the place where Peter had left him. There he sat and pretended to be looking in the direction in which Peter had gone as if to make sure that Peter was really on his way home. But all the time Chatterer was watching out of the corners of his eyes to see if Peter was hiding anywhere near. He didn't see Peter, but he didn't have the least doubt that Peter was somewhere about.

And so it was that he saw Peter crawl out from under the little bush where he had been hiding.

After a while he ran over to a hole between the stones of the old wall and pretended to be very busy there just as if it really were the new house he had found. He kept popping in and out and looking around as if afraid that someone was watching him. He even got some dry leaves and took them inside as if to make a bed. All the time, although he hadn't seen a sign of Peter, he didn't have the least doubt in the world that Peter was watching him. When he grew tired a new idea popped into his shrewd little head. He popped out of the hole and sat up on the wall. Then he said aloud that verse which had made Peter's ears burn so. He had meant to make Peter's ears burn. He said that verse just as if he really did believe that Peter was not spying on him and was glad of it.

When he had finished, he whisked out of sight again to give Peter a chance to get away. But this time Chatterer did some peeking himself. He hid where Peter couldn't see him, but where he himself could see both ways along the old stone wall, and so it was that he saw Peter crawl out from under the little bush where he had been hiding and sneak away in the direction of the dear Old Brier Patch. And he knew that this time Peter really had gone for good.

Then Chatterer laughed and laughed to think how he had fooled Peter Rabbit, and wished that he could pat himself on the back for being so smart. He didn't once think of how dishonest and mean it was of Peter to spy on him because, you see, he would have done the same thing himself, and he was judging Peter by himself. "One has to have one's wits very sharp these days to keep a secret," chuckled Chatterer.

But over in the Old Briar Patch that afternoon Peter Rabbit sat very thoughtful and very much ashamed. The thought that he had found out where Chatterer's new house was didn't give him the pleasure that he had thought it would. His ears still burned, for he thought that Chatterer thought he was honest when he wasn't.

"I believe I'll go over tomorrow and tell Chatterer all about it and how mean I have been," said he at last. And when he had made up his mind to do this he felt better."

DENVER.—Governmental streamlining is a success in Colorado.

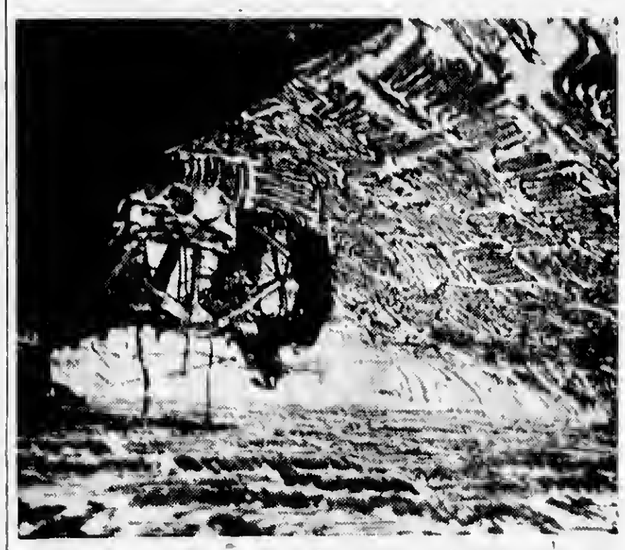
Urging that other states follow suit to save the taxpayers' money, Gov. Ralph L. Carr has issued a statement lauding the reorganized governmental system that went into effect in the mile-high state on July 1.

The governor said the law consolidating tax-collecting agencies and revamping of the 63-year-old governmental system, has boosted tax collections 10.7 per cent in the first three months of its operations.

Undercover Men Fix Planes Beneath Their Enemies' Nose

Even under constant enemy bombardment, United States soldiers must rescue, salvage, repair, and restore wrecked airplanes. At the Greenville, South Carolina, Service Group Training Center, members of the U. S. Army Air Forces are taught how to do this dangerous work under ingenious camouflage. In picture at top a medical unit rescues an injured pilot from a crash simulated for training purposes.

Cues add a realistic touch to the camouflage installations in the country scene at left. In the background is a parachute drying tent which appears as a silo from the air. Right: A doughboy in a sniper suit, camouflaged to blend into sylvan surroundings. In forest country this warrior would be totally invisible at a distance.



Does this crazy quilt pattern hurt your eyes? It does the same to an enemy bombardier. This pattern screen covers a damaged bomber so that repairs can be made without disclosing it to the enemy. Almost every device known to camouflagers has been employed at the training center.

In top photo a repair shop building is disguised to appear as a haystack. Note wires at right leading into roof. Bottom: The plane is covered by a screen. The farmhouse and silo in background actually are engineering installations. Tanks, jeeps and seagoing vessels also are camouflaged to confuse the enemy. Even war plants have been camouflaged.

This bus is camouflaged. All glass has been removed from the windows.

SHOT AT RANDOM

That the army is not without its humor is attested by the following ditty entitled "Dirty Gertie," taken from "The Checker Board," publication of the 09th Infantry Division, Camp Van Dorn, Miss.:

Dirty Gertie from Bizerte,
Hid a mouse-trap in her skirt,
Tied it to her knee-cap purty,
Baited it with Fleur-de-Flirte,
Made her boy friends' fingers
hurty,
Made her boy friends most nlerty,
She was voted in Bizerte,
"Miss Latrine for Nineteen-thirty."

Mr. Green: "My wife is scared to death someone will steal her clothes."

Mr. Jones: "Doesn't she have them insured?"

Mr. Green: "She has a better idea. She has some guy stay in the closet and watch them. I found him there last night."

Haven't had a furnace fire since a week ago last Sunday. Maybe summer is here after all.

Did you notice the complete lack of fire crackers and fireworks of all sorts over the 4th? Maybe that's why it seemed such a quiet week-end.

Editor's Lament—
I wish I were away from town,
As far as I could get,
With all the hills I've got to meet,
Met.

I would I were out on a farm,
A-hasking in the sun,
With all the work I've got to do,
Done.

I wish I were beside the sea,
Or sailing in a boat,
With all the things I've got to write,
Wrote.

MICHIGAN WAR WEEK

Nurse Recruiting Campaign Will Be Undertaken Soon

County and local Councils of Defense in Michigan will soon be mobilizing their Neighborhood War Clubs, Victory Speakers and other organizations in a campaign through which it is hoped to obtain the State's quota of 2,015 recruits for the Federal government's new student nurse education program.

In all, it is hoped to enroll 65,000 student nurses throughout the country this year under the terms of a bill recently approved by President Roosevelt and appropriating $65,000,000 to defray training costs.

The war has created a severe shortage of nurses which can be made up only through an intensified appeal for student recruits. Although 65,000 are sought, another forty thousand are needed, but training facilities are not adequate to accommodate the additional number.

The Michigan recruiting plan under which the local and county Councils of Defense will cooperate with local War Nursing Councils has been set up by the Volunteer Activities Section of the MOCD and will be activated in the near future.

Women taking nurse training in this State must be between 17½ and 35 years of age, have at least high school education with some science credits, and be in good health. The training period is from 24 to 32 months, and students will be paid, the amount increasing as their service lengthens.

In addition to releasing registered nurses for war duty, the students are expected to help relieve the growing problem of providing trained care for civilians.

Card of Thanks

We are sincerely grateful to friends and neighbors for their many kind acts of sympathy during our sad bereavement. These expressions have been deeply appreciated. Mrs. T. L. Pearl, and family. Mrs. Eva Pearl.—Adv. 27t1.

BOARD OF COMMERCE GIVES SAFETY RULES

Cyclists Asked To Observe Code For Safe Riders

Following organization of the boys' and girls' bicycle club for the second summer, the Board of Commerce suggests that for the safety of both cyclists and pedestrians, the following rules be observed.

1. Obey all traffic signs and rules. The bicycle rider has the responsibility to obey them, as has the automobile driver.

2. Always signal before making turns, to slow down or stop. Ride close to the right side of the road.

3. Look carefully for cross-traffic at every intersection before riding on. Walk across busy intersections.

4. Ride single file — don't weave, wobble or zig-zag. Automobile drivers cannot know what you mean to do.

5. Watch carefully at railroad crossings, approach them slowly.

6. Keep out of ruts, you are likely to take a spill when you try to get out.

7. Never "stunt" or race in traffic.

8. Avoid "hitching" to any moving vehicle. It causes the death or serious injury of many bicycle riders every year.

9. Never carry passengers, and never drag children behind you on roller skates, or in a small wagon or other vehicle.

10. Carry parcels in racks or carriers, not in one hand.

11. Use extra caution on all sidewalks, get off and walk if necessary to avoid pedestrians.

12. If you want to talk with friends, or make repairs to your bike, get off the roadway. Always dismount at the extreme right-hand side of the road.

13. Wear light-colored clothing at night so motorists can see you better. Have a suitable light on the front of your bicycle, and on the rear a tail-light or reflector.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Lawrence Korth was honored at a stork shower given last Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Ella Korth, assisted by Mrs. Russell Curtis. Bunco was the evening's entertainment, with prizes going to Mrs. Dan Dalton, of Farmington, and Mrs. Carlton Ikens. Refreshments were served to the 25 guests, who presented the honored guest with many beautiful gifts.

Bond Sales for Week

CSO war bond and stamp sales last week were: Masonic lodge, at the outdoor booth, $48.00; Central Drug store, $31.50; St. Mary's recreation center, $6.75.

Contribute to CSO

The CSO acknowledges a contribution from Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mumm of Wichita, Kansas.

ROCK ELM

Haying is now under way and there is still plenty of work for cultivators and hoes to keep weeds from smothering the crops. These are busy days on the farm.

Elaine Gunthor of East Jordan and one of her girl friends visited Elaine's aunt Mrs. Lawrence Jensen last week Tuesday and Wednesday.

There was a light frost here last Tuesday night, but no damage was done, it was reported.

Kenneth Slough and Jesse Lawton made a business trip to Petoskey Saturday night.

The members of Rock Elm Grange and their families and friends had a 4th of July picnic with potluck dinner at East Jordan tourist park Sunday afternoon. About eighty were present.

LANSING LETTER

We don't believe it is revealing any military secret to observe that the Michigan home front is having tough going this summer.

Here are the signs:

The farmer is seriously concerned, and rightfully so, about the prospect of a dwindling supply of foodstuffs and meats next winter because of the incessant wet spring which delayed planting of grains, sugar beets and beans. Acreage yields will be cut sharply. The farmer opposes the OPA price subsidy.

The industrial worker is restless over the spiraling rise in the cost of living. He is wondering what may be the ultimate outcome of Washington's inability to "hold the line." Food prices have been climbing steadily.

Draining of manpower to essential war industries, where fantastically high wages are being paid, is beginning to cripple civilian economy.

We re-affirmed many of these conclusions after glancing through a recent issue of the Congressional Record, the printed proceedings of the House and Senate at Washington.

Here are some quotations from remarks made by Michigan congressmen:

Rep. George A. Dondero, Royal Oak—"This morning I received a telegram from two farmers' organizations in my district, the Oxford Cooperative Elevator Co. and the Oakland county farm bureau, both saying this:

" 'Farmers and farm leaders are emphatically opposed to any rollback in farm prices. So much unfavorable publicity from Washington. Absence of guaranty of stabilized profitable returns to agriculture when labor and industry are taken care of is interfering with crop production. Office of Price Administration regimentation is resented.' "

Dondero concluded: "If the people of this country, when wage scales and national income are the highest in the history of the Nation, are unable to pay for butter, coffee, meat and for food at decent prices to the producer, when will they be able to pay for it?"

Rep. Earl C. Michener, Adrian—"The great mass of farmers do nothing to create or support a black market. All the farmers want is a fair price in the market place. While most labor in war industry is receiving unheard of compensation and is abundantly able to pay for its food at a much higher price, yet we are all mindful of the school teachers, the clerks, and the white-collar employees who have had no increase in wages but who must buy their food in the same market with the high-salaried war worker."

Rep. Jesse P. Woolcott, Port Huron—"In order to crystallize the issue as to whether the American people today might not be in a better position to pay their food bill than ever before in the history of this country, I want to read one sentence from the last report of the Bureau of Agricultural Economics of the United States Department of Agriculture in which, in summarizing their findings, it is said:

"The total cost to consumers of fixed quantities of food making up a typical consumer's food basket was smaller in relation to average consumer income in recent months than at any other time on record."

"That is not amazing because we know that consumer purchasing power has been increasing by leaps and bounds . . . The only way we can siphon off this purchasing power so that there will not continue to be this constant threat to inflation, is, first, by taxation, and second, by the sale of bonds to individuals who will hold these bonds."

Rep. Fred L. Crawford, Saginaw—"When consumers' goods, both durable and nondurable, are disappearing from the market, due to the dollar flow which is increasing tremendously, the stream widening all of the time, and also to decreased production, and there is a disposition on the part of many and for economic reasons, to want to decrease the buying power, I cannot understand why people who claim to be intelligent will advocate a subsidy and the so-called rollback theory and have the Federal Treasury actually pay a large percentage of the grocery bill of those who are receiving the benefits of the increased dollar flow, incident to war financing.

"I know what wages are being paid on Army and Navy construction jobs and in these industries where armament, munitions, machine guns, and tanks, and planes are being built. The beginning wage rate in my town for war workers is around 89 cents an hour. I have about 26,000 organized workers in my area, and I am not going to stand here and advocate that the people of this country subsidize their grocery bills. Let them pay their own grocery bills out of the wages that the United States Treasury is paying them for the war work they perform."

Rep. Clare Hoffman, Allegan:

"Perhaps some day one of the four freedoms — freedom from fear — will be restored to the American workingman and he will be permitted to accept and work at a job without being required to buy a work permit of a political ally of the administration." (He referred to a statement by the National Labor Relations Board charging that certain unions had "perverted" the war production program by compelling hundreds of thousands of workers to pay initiation fees for the privilege of working for the United States government. The NLRB called this practice a "most lucrative labor racket.")

Rep. Albert J. Engel, Muskegon, informed members of Congress that unskilled workers were receiving fantastically high wages in war plants. He told of an 18-year-old girl, coming from behind the counter of a dime store, who was making $65 a week after two weeks' training. This girl's annual pay was $3,380, while the base pay of a major in the army is $3,000.

Engels said that machine gun assemblers were receiving $4,700 to $8,740 a year, while Lt. General Somervell, chief of the army service of supply, was paid only $8,000.

Judging from the one issue of the Congressional Record, Michigan congressmen are well posted on the state of affairs on the Michigan home front. Their expressions are significant in reflecting the workings of a democracy in war-time.

In snappy sharp cadence a unit of women marines (at top) march smartly to their classes at Camp Lejeune, New River, N. C. The lady leatherneeks are wearing their raincoats. At lower left two women marines check the water and oil of a jeep. As part of their course, women marines must take lessons in sailing. A group is shown at right in sailboats. One of the most pleasing experiences for the girls at Camp Lejeune is being served by male waiters in the mess halls.

VETERAN CYCLIST WAS VISITOR HERE MONDAY

Stopped After 78-Mile Ride From Mackinac Island

A visitor at the Board of Commerce information bureau Monday was a pioncer cycling enthusiast, William J. Rodgers, of St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Rodgers was on his wny from Mackinnc Island to Torch Lake and stopped overnight in Charlevoix after a 78-milo ride that day.

Past 73 yeers of age, he is a member of the St. Louis Cycling Club, which this year celebrated its 56th anniversary. When the club was organized in 1887, members rode the high wheel then in vogue. He himself started to ride a bicycle in 1889, and finds this one of the best forms of exercise for fitness. Moderate cycling, he contends, would aid most people in postponing old age indefinitely.

After 56 years of service with railroads af the southwest, he rotired March 1st of this year. At his retirement he was chnirman of the Southwestern Passenger Association, with headquarters in St. Louis. He is at present the guest of William G. Brown af Central Lake, recently retired passenger traffic mannger of the Baltimore and Ohio Rnilroad.

COSTUME MODELS DISPLAYED IN STORE

Figures Made By Mrs. Nettleton Show Past Century's Styles

On display in windows of the Polly-Kny shop are a group of costume models created hy Mrs. Rosa Nettleton, depicting authentic styles of the past century.

Mrs. Nettleton, with great care and skill, built the figures from wire and cotton batting, modeling the faces of powdered plastic wood and making wigs of real hair. Designs for one set of figures were taken from Godey's Lady's Book, famous fashion magazine of many years ago. This group Mrs. Nettleton has pictured in a painting hanging in the same window. The other pair of figures are dressed in Gay Nineties styles pictured in the Delineator of 1896.

LIBRARY RECEIVES CHECK FROM STATE

Represents Bonus In Recognition Local Tax Support

The Charlevoix Public Library received a check today for $106.28 from the Michigan State Board for Libraries, Miss Minnie E. Payton, local librarian, announces.

This amount represents the library's 1943 grant from the State Aid to Libraries Fund.

Coming with practically no strings attached, once a library has qualified, the state aid grants may be used for books, salaries, supplies, and equipment, or to keep the library open more hours.

The grants, in fact, represent a bonus given to the library because the local tax support is being maintained. If the local tax support drops, the library will not qualify for a future grant from this fund. These grants also assist the library in meeting the standards set by the State Board of Libraries.

URGE RENEWAL OF "A" RATIONS

The forms must be filled out and sent to the rationing board in order to get new "A" and "D" coupon books to take the place of present ones which expire an July 21. To save the public time and trouble, arrangements have been completed to handle the renewals by mail, the bonrd asks that they be mailed not later than July 16.

Mail renewals were planned to make the task of getting new coupon books as easy as possible. There will be no schoolhouse registration this time, and car and motorcycle owners will not be required to come to the ration board to get their ration books. The books will be mailed back.

The application form is a simple one that can be readily filled out largely from information on the car owner's registration card and present tire inspection record. Tire serial numbers must also be written in.

This form, when filled out, is to be mailed to the board together with the back cover of the owner's present "A" book (properly filled out), and the current tire inspection record showing that proper inspections have been made.

Special care in making out these applications will prevent undue delay in issuing the new ration books.

MANY ATTENDED SCHOOL MEETING

LARGE NUMBER ELECTORS AT ANNUAL SESSION

Clerence B. Meggison Re-Elected Director; Additional Two Mills Tax Voted

With 143 school electors present, Monday night's annual meeting of Charlevoix school district No. 1, city and township, had an attendance close to last year's record.

Clarence B. Meggison, whose term as director expired with this meeting, was re-elected over Karl Erber for the ensuing three years.

An increase of two mills in the school tax rate, necessitated by rising operating costs and repairs to maintain school buildings, carried by a vote of 117 to 18. This year's tax rate, including the extra two mills, will be 8.7 mills.

The treasurer's report revealed total receipts, including balance on hand July 1, 1942, of $55,775.55 and disbursements of $54,194.79, leaving a balance on hand June 30, 1943, of $1,580.76. Expenditures this year were somewhat greater than last year's $48,947.81, but were offset by a corresponding increase in receipts.

Last year's operations were reviewed in the secretary's report, which also summarized plans for the coming year. During the past year, bus transportation was extended to Phelps and Hayyard schools, and arrangements have been completed to include Marian school district next year. All teachers needed for the coming year, on the basis of the present enrollment, have been hired with the exception of a commercial teacher. Report on the milk and hot lunch program disclosed that during the 1942-43 school term, milk was served to an average af 230 children daily, at a cost to the child of 1 cent per half pint, the balance being paid hy a special government fund augmented by the Lenore Goldman Meyer memorial fund. Hot lunches were served to an average of 80 pupils per day, at a nominal sum to those able to pay, and at no cost to those who could not. It is hoped to continue both these programs next year.

The secretary's and treasurer's reports, together with a statement of receipts and expenditures, will appear in these columns in the near future.

Visitors from Detroit tell us the recent race riot was far more serious, cost more lives and resulted in more property destruction than the newspapers revealed. An official of the Michigan State Police on duty in Detroit throughout the disturbance, told this writer Monday at the Belvedere Hotel that newspapers and one national magazine, in particular, grossly over-played the magnitude of the riot. Someone's trying to kid someone else, I guess, or else law enforcement officials have had instruction to suppress the incident for a definite reason.

The conservation department's game division reports that 6,910 fewer hunters in the fall of 1942 killed 4,226 more buck deer than nimrods did in 1941, which should be proof of something or other. Maybe the prospect of meat rationing improved their shooting eye. A slight drop in the bag of rabbits and pheasants was revealed. The report shows 45.5 of the hunters invading the upper peninsula brought home bucks, While those stalking their game below the Straits, only 23 per cent filled their license. What the 1943 season will bring is anyone's guess.

Short Course Scholarships Announced by Michigan State College

The W. K. Kellogg Foundation has appropriated the sum of $43,200 for scholarships to young men and young women on Michigan farms. The program has been greatly expanded and now the entire state is included. Charlevoix County has been granted four scholarships which means a scholarship expenditure of about $480.

The eligibility requirements are that applicants must be those who are planning to make farming their vocation. Candidates selected will be those who apply themselves to the fullest extent both in gaining and in using the training provided. The ages included are those from 17 to 21 years of age. Applicants must have completed at least the eighth grade, must be in good health and all boys must live on farms. Girls may be from small towns or villages but must be definitely interested in rural life and the preference will be given to boys and girls who have not made definite plans to attend college but who want to train themselves to be greater assets in their community.

The successful applicants will attend the spring term from March 6 to April 28th. The young men will be housed in private homes in East Lansing. Girls will be housed in a dormitory on the campus. Plans call for all scholarship students to eat their meals together in their regular dining room. The instruction will be in charge of the regular college staff.

On Wednesday, July 28th all applicants for scholarships will be called together and interviewed by a committee to be selected. The four selected by this committee will be the ones approved to receive these four scholarships. Therefore any boy or girl in the county interested in making application for this scholarship should immediately get in touch with the County Agent at Boyne City. A descriptive booklet will then be mailed to the applicant which includes an application blank to be filled out and sent in to the Extension Office. This looks like a wonderful opportunity for young folks to receive this 8 weeks course of instruction which will develop economic efficiency, personal improvement and community responsibility.

Stubble-Mulch Demonstration Being Developed

Plans for a stubble-mulch demonstration were perfected this week on a two acre raspberry planting owned by Mrs. Len Swafford, East Jordan. A new stubble-mulch machine will be used which by the way is one of two being made in this state to determine if this type of equipment will be of advantage.

It is a well known fact that it is highly desirable to incorporate a cover crop between the raspberry rows in order to harden the canes and to return organic matter to the soil. The old practice is to disc the cover crop the following spring. This new type of farm equipment has blades which cut off the cover crop below the surface and allow the crop to drop on the surface where it will remain. This demonstration is supervised jointly by the Soil Conservation Service and the Extension Department of Michigan State College.

It is thought that there will be several advantages in the use of the stubble-mulch equipment. First it will make a better cover on the soil and prevent losses of soil fertility. Next it will prevent soil erosion and thirdly it is planned to try out this equipment on other fruits and berries. This new type of equipment is under construction and is being constructed according to specifications. It will be highly interesting to see what may be accomplished by this new type of equipment; if successful it may revolutionize our handling of cover crops by all fruit men.

IDLE LAND NEEDS SPECIAL HANDLING

More than a million acres of Michigan crop land probably will lie idle or in fallow this summer. It is not unusual to have six or eight hundred thousand acres of idle or fallow land in Michigan but usually most of this is a second or third class land. Some of it is fallowed to control quack grass or other perennial weeds.

This year, however, there will be several hundred thousand acres of good southern Michigan land not producing crops because a cold April, an exceptionally wet May, and a shortage of experienced farm labor made it impossible to get the land planted.

A very substantial acreage of this fallow land will undoubtedly be planted to wheat this fall. This is a desirable procedure, according to H. C. Rather, head of the Michigan State College farm crops department, for it will distribute both labor and crop hazards. Furthermore the soft wheats grown in Michigan are special purpose wheats needed for crackers, breakfast foods, pastries, and home baking as well as for feed and export.

Another very important use for fallow land, Rather points out, is to cover it with summer seedings of alfalfa or sweet clover. Seedings of those legumes may be made with safety up to August 15, although late July dates are preferable. Alfalfa seedings made without grain are nearly always more certain than when sown with a grain crop although seedings with grain are more economical when successful.

Since no grain will be harvested from these fallow lands in 1943, the question of economy of seeding is not involved and seeding the legumes without a companion crop becomes highly appropriate.

Additional advice from Rather suggests that summer seedings of alfalfa or sweet clover should be made on clean, firm seedbeds with the seed planted at a shallow depth or sown on the surface and covered with a cultipacker. There is no more effective use for commercial fertilizer than to apply it in liberal quantities for a legume seeding. Many thousands of acres of Michigan alfalfa are now being seeded with bromegrass and the combination makes exceptionally good hay and pasture.

Sweet clover to be used for green manure will stand the winter better and be more effective in preventing erosion if 10 to 15 pounds per acre of common ryegrass is added to the standard quantity of 10 to 12 pounds of sweet colver seed per acre.

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

J. C. Wynn, Camp Scribe

With Camp Charlevoix's program in full swing, the varied activities of nearly one hundred boys present a picture of busy and happy life. At the beginning of the second full week in camp, each boy again made his choice of a morning activity for the week. Most of them switched from one choice to another for the new period, and thus got for themselves a more varied experience. Those who had taken riding changed to riflery, or sailing, or ceramics, and so forth.

Coach Charlie Bachman of Michigan State College has arrived in camp for a two weeks stay. He has been coaching the older boys in football; on several occasions he has shown his football movies of the last seasons' games. "Charlie" will speak at next Sunday's service in The-Chapel-In-The-Woods. His son, Cary Bachman, senior member of Cabin 15 was recently elected president of the Camp Council, a representative body of boys elected by their cabin mates to this policy forming organization.

This week saw the laying of the corner stone for the new sauna. Walli, who is steering his pet project to an early completion, stood on the stone and described the benefits of the Finnish Bath as his forefathers had devised it. Doctor Friedman spoke on the values of sanitation from classical antiquity to the present; Charlie Bachman told of the relations of cleanliness to sports; then Mrs. Reimann poured Lake Charlevoix water on the stone and dedicated the sauna to the campers who build it, and those of the future who will use it.

Chief Reimann arose after supper one night last week and announced that Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong the popular ceramics teachers were celebrating their forty-fifth wedding anniversary that evening. The campers loudly cheered, and offered the well-known "Chinese Toast." The ceramics department has already had two firings in the kiln, a number of beautiful products in pottery and modeling being finished. Jack Surbis of Dearborn has been cited for his talent in ceramics where his modeling is declared to be outstanding. Handicraft groups have lately been turning to making leather belts, and doing wood carving.

The local sports parade of baseball, sailing, swimming, fishing, tennis, riflery, is moving fast. Tuesday afternoon's game with Camp Pinyfair in softball was the first inter-camp sports event of the season. In the starting line-up, Cary Bachman was catcher, Bart Grimes, pitcher, Jim Naylor, first base, John Snyder on second base, Ken Hanger, third, Ken Nyquist, short stop, John Barker, right field, Paul Winans, center field, Andre Savard, left field, Jim Hawley, right field. On the substitute list were Bob Lerch, Bob House, Manson Warner, Dick Noel, Bob Baker, Bud Gage. In the first sailing race held last Saturday Hal Upjohn was skipper of the winning boat; Hal Caldwell and Paul Winans also sailed as skippers. Tennis coach Jack Maguire has had two classes of tennis players: the beginners in this sport are Bud Lerch, Bob Stoll, Fred Shapira; Bill Thompson, Ken Nyquist, Fred McGregor and John Snyder are in the advanced class which will soon be taking part in the tournament. Bill Angell, Red Cross Life Saving Instructor, is holding classes for preparation for life saving tests; among those in the class are Dick Noel, Ernie Evans, John MacDonell, Bob Baker, Buck Dillon, Bill G. Thompson.

Waterfront director Sherwood Daily has announced that 10 more campers have passed their 100 yards swimming test; they are Jim Hubbard, Billy Fitzpatrick, Hardwell Stoll, Bob Angell, Frank Cornelius, Fred Shapiro, John Bachman, Barney Frazier, Deville Hubbard, Jim Hawley. With such a list of sports the three regular camp coaches, Maurice Divon, Bob Hodges, Bob Livermore are having a busy time.

With traditional Indian ceremony, the opening council fire for all the camp was held Wednesday night. Each counsellor addressed the Chief and spoke of the values of his particular activity, and showed how it would help the braves who excelled in it; several warriors championed the rights of the new campers to remain in the camp. The Chief refused to grant this privilege until it was urged that the youngsters might prove themselves if given a chance to learn and grow. The spirit of the Charlevoix tribe was described; newcomers were initiated and the Indians returned to their own tepee after singing the alma mater.

A number of riflemen have qualified in the marksmanship contests now being held on the rifle range. Howard Kay and George Dowley have both won the rank of Sharpshooter, Bar One according to National Rifle Association standards. Ken Helms has qualified for a Sharpshooter; and Loring Kampe, Tammy Thompsan, Hay Boyer, Mike Foster have had outstanding targets with high scores. These campers began practice with a sighting bar, and then practiced triangulation before shooting these targets. Kay and Dowley challenged Kampe and Helms to a match recently, and lost in a 164 to 156 shooting. Instructors Teague and Walli have been pleased with the progress of the riflery class.

Saturday night in camp is always dramatics night. The latest program featured a play called "Dokey Huntus", the characters of which were Bill Scher, Buck Dillon, Bob Kay, Manson Warner, Bud Loranger, John Weissinger, Jimmy Millis, Brian Kelly, David Baker, Paul Smith, Dick Conners, Deville Hubbard, Bill Farley, Jim Naylor, Jerry Burke, John Davis, Paul Dickson. Charlie Bachmann exhibited some color movies of the Michigan-Great Lakes game, and supplied running comment. One skit, "The King With A Terrible Temper" used the entire audience as cast.

Sunday night's educational program was in the guise of a radio show. First the Quiz Kids (Hal Caldwell, Skip Scher, Jim Hawley, John Barker, Jay Willson, Gene Davenport, Bob Lerch, Tom Thompson, Pete Mann, Tom Keenan, Bob House) were interrogated by Uncle Russ Teague. Gene Davenport answered the most questions correctly, though all the scores were very close. Then the "experts" answered the queries of "Clifton" Reimann in Charlevoix's Information Please, Team One composed of counsellors Livermore, Hodges, Dixon, and Krueger decisively defeated Team Two's counsellors Pengelly, Stoerker, Teague, and Walli with a score of 11 to 10 2/3. Bob Lerch supplied a musical interlude on the piano.

Sunday's chicken dinner was followed by a music appreciation period; Bob Mulligan sang Schubert's "Ave Maria" and Ralph Deal played "Traumerei" and "Moonlight Sonata" first movement. That afternoon each section of camp amused themselves as they wished, some boating, some playing ball, others swimming. The Juniors frolicked in Junior Bay, swimming, building sand edifices, sunning themselves, and boating. Fishing has become a popular activity now that Isaac Walton Deal has organized fishermen for a number of trips. Several nice catches have been made, perch, sunfish and bass being the common type of fish in this lake. Bobby Murphy, Pete Buskirk, John Bachman, Billy Hull, Dave Ball, Johnny Weissinger, Jimmy Millis, Billy Stone are among the more or less successful fishers.

Sunday's chapel service was led by counsellor Sherwood Daily. George Dowley read the Scripture, Ernie Evans led in prayer, J. C. Wynn spoke on "The Point of No Return," comparing this imaginary point in the ocean far airplane pilots to a point in the life of every boy as he forms his habits. Special music was supplied by the camp chorus. This group has been doing splendid work. Directed by Counsellors Deal and Krueger the singers in this chorus are first tenor: Pete Mann, George Palmer, Gene Davenport, Bill Thompson, Ken Nyquist, Phil Steding; second tenor: Andre Savard, Skip Scher, Manson Warner, Al Birdsall, Loy Clingman, Bart Grimes, Hal Caldwell; baritone: Cary Bachman, Bob Daniels, Phil Hubbard, John Davis, Jim Naylor; bass: Hal Upjohn, Paul Winans, Ken Hunger, John Craig, Chris Christopher. Bob Lerch is accompanist for the choral group.

Those cabins which have excelled in their cabin cleanliness according to the inspector's report are Cabin 1, mentioned last week, Cabin 2 composed of Bill Stone, Millie Pryor, Billy Fitzpatrick, Bob Eberhart, Barney Frazier, Bill Jacobs, Dick Tabor, and Bob Mulligan the counsellor; Cabin 9 has again kept its standard high; Cabin 12, with Loring Kampe, Howard Kay, Fred McGregor, Ken Nyquist, John Snyder, Bob Stoll, Les Pengelly counsellor; Cabin 13 Gene Chapman, George Dowley, Ernie Evans, Ken Helms, Tom Keenan, John MacDonell, Ralph Deal counsellor; Cabin 15 Cary Bachman, Jim Hawley, Pete Mann, Dick Noel, Andre Savard, Fred Krueger counsellor.

Garden products of radishes and onions from the camp's victory garden have already graced the dining tables. Several cabins have worked in the garden. Others have done shore duty in cleaning up drift wood; still others have worked in the chapel or stables. Tuesday night is work night; and campers have learned the thrill of a job well done as well as the satisfaction of teamwork.

Wednesday evening is the regular cook-out. Camp cooks take the evening off while the campers eat a picnic supper on the campus. Last Wednesday they sat on the grass trying to balance hot dogs, grape punch, potato salad, and ice cream on their laps. Later they played touch football, or had free play.

The entire camp has been divided into two teams, The Green and The Grey which are destined to battle out various sports for the coming five weeks. The first event was a track meet with the Greys the victors; the second was a round of Capture the Flag which the Greens won. Being already tied, the two teams are primed for their next contest which Chris Christopher will plan. For a camp whose age range is from 6 to 16 these sports events must be laid out on the broadest scale so that every single boy can participate. The Junior program for the youngest campers differs slightly from that of the Intermediates and Seniors. Their taps at 8:15 is one hour earlier; their sports are less strenuous, and planned for them with their inexperience and needs in mind. One of their favorite pastimes is playing Pirate on the old, beached sail boat that is now on blocks in Junior Bay. They also delight in clambering over the comical "Tango", the camp donkey. This patient beast is peculiarly marked with a black stripe running down the middle of her back, and four other stripes running off this and down each leg.

Among the visitors to camp this past week were Dr. and Mrs. Lemoyne Snyder and their daughter Katherine. Dr. Snyder is staff physician for the state police and is a leader at their conference in Charlevoix this week; he is the father of John Snyder, an intermediate at camp. It is expected that Governor Kelly will also attend this convention and visit Camp where his twin sons, Brian and Harry are spending the summer. Mr. and Mrs. W. Stone, parents of Billy Stone, and Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Upjohn of Kalamazoo and parents of Hal Upjohn visited their sons in camp this past week end. Mrs. Les Pengelly and daughter Mary Lou, the Reverend E. P. Linnell, Mrs. Linnell and their daughter Rachel also visited Camp Sunday.

Overnight trips by horseback, hay wagon, canoes, and foot are beginning to take place now. Sunny weather has displaced the rain, and camping days are bright at Charlevoix.

Present collections of waste kitchen fats are about 85 million pounds annually.

"IN 2 HOURS YOUR FACTORY WILL BE FLOODED!"

It had been raining for a week, back in the hills. A farmer, hunting for a strayed cow along the creek, looked up and saw water pouring through a widening crack in the reservoir dam. He ran half a mile to the nearest telephone and made a long distance call to the munitions plant down the valley where his son worked.

"You've got about two hours before your factory is flooded," he told them. Because that call got through in time, scores of workers and tons of vital war material were moved to safety before the crest of roaring water could reach the plant.

Long Distance lines are crowded with calls as never before. Many are war calls which must go through promptly. Others are civilian calls, some vitally urgent, some less urgent. You and you alone can judge whether your call is really necessary.

Please make only the most essential long distance calls.

If you must call by long distance, do all you can to be brief.

"It is nice to hear from you after such a long period of time but it is unpleasant to learn of your changed condition of living which I can readily understand from the change of my own conditions.

S. army 6th Service Command, Detroit; Capt. C. J. Scavarda, Michigan State Police; W. C. Patterson, vice president of the Michigan Bell Telephone company, Detroit.

State Police Commissioner Oscar G. Olander presented the secretary's report at the closing session this afternoon. Election of officers was also scheduled for this afternoon, as were committee reports.

The entertainment program included golf, fishing, swimming, shuffleboard, with the unparalleled recreational facilities offered in this locality. The American Legion Auxiliary will have a business meeting at the Legion hall next Monday evening, July 18.

It is too bad to have your choice of food limited. I have experienced this too, except that there is no choice here. So I understand.

It is too bad that Willie has such little time for amusement. I am deprived of amusement too. So I understand.

It is too bad that you have to wait in the rain for transportation. I have to wait in the rain on post and my transportation and destination is uncertain, too. So I understand.

It is too bad that you are being paid so little for working so hard. I only get a fraction of your pay. So I understand.

Winning this war is hard on all of us. You work long hours and so do I. So I understand. But during those hours I get shot at. Do you understand ? ? ?

Your loving son,

J. B. John, president of the company, says a channel costing $50,000 will be dredged in from Lake Michigan to the factory so the finished product may be loaded directly to the boats.

AT THE MOVIES

"Action in North Atlantic"

There's action a'plenty in "Action in the North Atlantic," with Humphrey Bogart, Raymond Massey, Alan Hale and Julie Bishop, which plays at the Palace Theatre, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. The picture takes for its theme the grand and heroic job being done by the men of the United States Merchant Marine in "delivering the goods" to our fighting fronts.

"The Gorilla Man"

After a year and a half in Hollywood, Richard Fraser has gotten out of the air force, cinematically speaking, for the role of a British Commando lieutenant in Warner Bros.' adventure film, "The Gorilla Man," opening Friday and Saturday at the Palace Theatre.

"Street of Chance"

How would you like to get a good hefty crack over the head—and wake up to find yourself charged with a murder that you can't remember anything about?

That's the hot spot in which Burgess Meredith finds himself in Paramount's fast-moving murder mystery, "Street of Chance," due on Friday and Saturday at the Palace Theatre with Burgess and beautiful Claire Trevor as the stars.

NEWS OF THE FLEET

The Bissell tug Joeanne is back in operation after being held in port for two weeks undergoing engine repairs.

Willis Cross has purchased a Diesel-powered steel tug out of Grand Haven, and will be an addition to the fleet as soon as a few minor repairs are made.

The tug Swallow of Ludington, owned by Raymond Cross, is now operating out of the local harbor, and will enlarge the weekly pay roll of the local fishing industry by ten men.

The Brodin tug Gypsy, and Hendrickson tug, Lucille, have received new paint jobs.

The various improvements and new and varied paint jobs of the local fleet have given an improved and prosperous appearance to the fishing fleet and certainly adds to making Charlevoix beautiful.

The fact that the buildings and net reels are also going to receive a new coat of paint, will help in making Round Lake Harbor a place of beauty.

ROCK ELM

Hay certainly is a bumper crop this year and help to secure is scarce and to add to the troubles of farmers around Ellsworth some resorters have come in and are hiring men away from the farms to act as guides on their fishing trips at wages much higher than farmers can possibly pay. Is such competition either right or fair in view of he present food production situation?

Julius Metcalf is again home on a ten-day furlough. He has been in service two years.

Tuesday, Porters men gave his cherry orchard its final spray before picking.

Lawrence Jensen sowed the cover crop in his orchard last week, and reported his Early Richmonds ready for picking.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

Mr. and Mrs. George Belyusar arrived last Thursday from Chicago for a visit with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Taylor. Mr. Belyusar returned Sunday to his duties with the coast guard in Chicago, while Mrs. Belyusar remained with her parents for a few weeks.

Chief of Police Earl Willard and Mrs. Willard, of Alma, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Mary Pierce, also of Alma, are guests this week of Mrs. Pierce's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Usher. Chief Willard came to attend the convention of Michigan Chiefs of Police at the Belvedere Hotel.

Mrs. Zavitz and child came with her and will remain here indefinitely, while Ensign Zavitz, who received his commission recently, also came Monday to spend two weeks before reporting at Fort Schuyler, N. Y., for assignment to his station.

Demaray, commander of the Marquette state police post, and Mrs. Demaray; Chief of Police Donald McCormick and Mrs. McCormick, and Tim Hurley, retired chief of police, also of Marquette. BLUEBERRIES ALMOST READY FOR HARVEST

Favored by ideal weather conditions, northern Michigan's famed blueberry crop will be ready for the pickers within a few days, according to reports given conservation department authorities in this area. A few pickers are now on the plains, but the height of the season will not come for about two weeks, and probably later north of the Straits of Mackinac.

Troops End Detroit Race Riots

Thirty-one persons were killed and 700 were injured during race rioting in Detroit culminated only by the presence of army troops. These soldiers are shown marching through the trouble zone. Detroit war plant schedules were seriously disrupted and industrial leaders feared that deliveries of planes, tanks, guns, and other war materials would be drastically reduced because of absenteeism. Arrests during the riots totalled 1,300 persons. The entire Detroit police department was engaged in questioning them to fix responsibility for crimes. Representative Martin Dies, chairman of the committee on un-American activities, announced a congressional inquiry of the rioting.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON
From Your Congressman
Fred Bradley

While on the West Coast recently, several members of our Committee, in between investigations, took the opportunity to visit Alcatraz, located in San Francisco Bay.

This Federal Penitentiary, generally known as the "Rock," has been under the supervision of Warden James A. Johnston since 1934, when the Department of Justice took over the site from the Army. This Rock had been an Army Fort during Civil War days, was later used as an Army hospital and following that as an army prison camp into which many famous Indian War prisoners had found their way.

A ferry boat took us from San Francisco to the Island, a distance of 1½ miles. On our arrival we were driven in what we would call a "Black Maria" to the top of the Rock. From that point one gets a beautiful view of San Francisco Harbor and other surrounding mainland and islands and notices especially the severe currents sweeping around the Rock. These currents at times whip into whirlpools sufficiently mighty to capsize a small boat or turn a 30-foot piling up on end. Around the buildings proper, growing in soil transported from the mainland, can be seen flowers and shrubbery.

At strategic points around the Island are located towers in which sentries keep their watch day and night. Anyone who would by chance escape from Alcatraz would be confronted by deadly fire from these towers. I was told that of the few who have attempted escape, an accounting has been made of all but two and it is assumed they were drowned while attempting to swim the whirling waters. Records prove that about 90 per cent of those dangerous criminals who have ever served out their time in Alcatraz (and there are but few because most are "lifers") have never failed to return into the clutches of the law within a relatively short time. There are at present 248 prisoners on the Rock. They have learned that "they prosper as they toil" and so all are working at various trades in splendidly equipped quarters.

For instance, we were shown through a huge, modern laundry in which is done not only their own but tons of laundry from Army and Navy establishments in the Bay Area. We viewed their "model shop" in which are made all sorts of wooden articles and at the time of our visit, the men were concentrating on wooden filing trays for the Navy and Army. They also have a rope working department where thousands of rope cargo nets have been made for our merchant ships.

Even though "enemies of society" since Pearl Harbor, Alcatraz prisoners have been very busy and enthusiastic about their war work. Men start out earning $8 a month and may eventually reach $30 which, upon careful checkage, they can allocate as they wish outside to bona fide needy relatives. Warden Johnston pointed out that today most of the funds sent by prisoners are going to relatives or savings in the form of war bonds.

We were also shown through a modern blacksmith and machine shop; a modern manufacturing tailor and tailor repair shop, where, in the latter, various kinds of clothing for the armed forces is being made and repaired.

Surrounding the "factory buildings" is a double high woven wire fence, surmounted by called barbed wire, making climbing impossible. "Supervisors" are in each department but carry no guns. Men are allowed to talk freely with each other in normal tones but are not allowed to circulate without reason between departments. In a yard outside, we saw men cleaning, repairing and repainting hundreds of buoys used in the harbor defenses of San Francisco Bay. These men as well as those in the "factory" are always under the watchful eyes of the tower sentries, who walk not along walls (for Alcatraz is not walled) but along overhead metal runways joining the several towers.

Prisoners work 7½ hours per day. At noon they return to their cells for a brief rest, washup and food, which is served in a pleasant restaurant, cafeteria style, from a spotless kitchen. Aside from rationed meats, the men are allowed to take as much of any kind of food as they wish but they must clean their plate or they miss the next meal.

The cell block proper has three "floors" all inside a solid wall with light coming down from skyways above. Cells are opened individually or in unison by remote control. When returning from shops to the cells men must walk through narrow walls, in which are magnetic fields which register on a clever seeing-eye device whether anyone has any metal, and how much, on his person. I saw a veritable arsenal on the Rock containing about every high-powered weapon needed to withstand a conceivable siege, but they were in a huge vault, the combination and locking to which is controlled by an officer safely seated behind several inches of bullet proof glass.

It was interesting to see Alcatraz, but believe me I was glad to start back to the mainland and the outside world.

One battle won does not win a war. We've got tougher times ahead.

For Freedom's Sake

LANSING LETTER

If Detroit's chickens are just coming home to roost, they sure took their sweet time.

Just 110 years ago, this very month, a company of federal troops was dispatched from Fort Gratiot (Port Huron) to Detroit for the express purpose of suppressing an insurrection of Negroes.

Good citizens of Detroit, like those of San Francisco after the "big fire," were inclined to minimize the disturbance by calling it "The Negro riot." But it was a rip-roaring, lusty affair in which the Negroes stormed the jail, paraded the streets, shot the sheriff and otherwise had the white people in a dither of panic.

And like the 1943 rumors that whites had killed three Negroes on Belle Isle, the exaggerated reports in 1833 grew until "business was at a standstill. Women dared not venture out of doors. Merchants put up their shutters, shoved the bolts into place, and stood, gun in hand, in their darkened shops, guarding their goods."

Who said history doesn't repeat itself? It did in Detroit!

In those pre-civilized days, Detroit was the capital of the Territory of Michigan. The frontier peninsula had not yet attained the stature of statehood which came in 1837.

When Congress enacted the Ordinance of 1787, creating the Northwest Territory out of the region between Ohio and Mississippi rivers and the Great Lakes, the federal law-makers inserted this significant provision:

"There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the said territory, otherwise than in the punishment of crime, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted."

General Lewis Cass was appointed governor of the Territory of Michigan following the War of 1812, and when the Negro insurrection took place, he had been elevated to secretary of war at Washington.

Lewis Cass knew his Michigan and his Detroit, and so when Mayor Chapin of the French community "on the straits" (which is the origin for the French designation of "de Trait", the prefix being pronounced "day"), made an appeal on July 25 for a detachment of the United States troops, Cass acted with dispatch.

The 1833 outbreak was caused by Negro protests against the arrest of a Negro slave named Blackburn who had escaped from Kentucky with his wife and had sought refuge in Detroit while waiting a chance to slip into Canada.

Acting on legal precedence set by Judge Woodward in 1807, the sheriff at Detroit put the Kentucky slaves in jail.

When the Negroes stormed the jail, the worried sheriff decided to elude the mob and take his prisoners to a steamboat. The plan was discovered, and the Negro mob seized Blackburn and transported him jubilantly by canoe to the Canadian shore. Incidentally, the sheriff recovered from his wounds.

During the early frontier days in Michigan the practice of slavery was fairly common, and even Stephen T. Mason, Michigan's first governor, is said to have brought Negro slaves with him from Virginia, his native state. However, the anti-slavery sentiment grew, and by 1850 the southern part of Michigan had many "stations" of an "underground railroad" by which Negro slaves were encouraged to escape through Michigan to Detroit, the border terminal. From Detroit it was easy for them to cross the river into Canada.

Michigan was settled by sturdy New Englanders. Their Puritan zeal embraced a fanatical hatred of slavery. Many July Fourth orations, a century ago, dwelt on the sentimental theme of the downtrodden Negroes, human chattels in the South.

Erastus Hussey, a Quaker leader at Battle Creek, was one of the evangels in this crusade to free the slaves. In fact, the Negro housing project in Detroit (which was so protested by whites a year or so ago that Governor Van Wagoner sent state troops to Detroit to protect Negro families as they moved in), was named in honor of Sojourner Truth, the famous ex-slave who made her home in Battle Creek.

In the village of Marshall, a Kentucky plantation owner, accompanied by a deputy sheriff, sought to seize a family of Negroes. A Paul Revere of Marshall, riding a horse through the village, awakened the inhabitants with a bell. A force of 200 "determined men" held the Kentuckians at bay. The Negro family was spirited hurriedly to Detroit and thence into Canada, and the slave-hunters returned to Kentucky as heroes and martyrs. The Michigan people were denounced as barbarians and traitors.

And, of course, the birth of the Republican party itself at Jackson on July 0, 1854, was a part of this anti-slavery sentiment in Michigan which invited Negroes of the South to seek a haven here.

Whenever industry is confronted with a shortage of workers, the historic solution has been to import cheap labor from elsewhere. The Southern plantation owners imported the Negroes from Africa. When the first World War created a labor shortage in Michigan, industrialists encouraged a notable migration of Negroes from the south into Detroit and other factory centers. Today, the Mexicans and Jamaicans are "summering" in Michigan for the same economic reason.

Where the Negro population in Michigan was only 17,115 in 1910 and more than one-third of those were in Wayne county, it had grown by the first year of the World War to about 23,000 in Detroit alone, and by 1920 it had reached 60,000. In 1930 it was 169,000. Today the Negro population is estimated to be close to a quarter of a million and it is still mounting.

Perhaps it is a bit trite, after reviewing a century's history of how Negroes have been encouraged to migrate to Michigan, to make a simple observation that the "chickens are coming home to roost."

The Negroes are here because, historically at least, we invited them to come. Putting blame on mythical Axis agents or Klu-Klux Klanners won't change this collective social responsibility of ours one iota.

It's our job; not theirs, to find the solution.

Campaigns Against Loose-Talk

Lansing and Detroit are among 42 communities selected in the United States by the War Department for test speaking campaigns which, it is hoped, will show a way to stem the rising tide of irresponsible talk that is endangering military operations. If results are effective it is planned to broaden the program.

Victory Speakers of the civilian defense organization are conducting the Lansing and Detroit campaigns, with supplementary campaigns being carried on in several other communities of the State.

Army authorities are emphasizing that idle talk by war plant workers, families of soldiers and others is supplying the Axis with information it is piecing together to form accurate patterns of ship and troop movements and details regarding equipment.

For many centuries it was popularly believed that rubbing the eye and the lids with a gold ring would cure them of disorders, and some persons still think such treatment will clear up styes, says the Hettor Vision Institute.

Strong Allied Drive in South Pacific Threatens Main Jap Base in Solomons; Nazis Make New Bid to Cripple Russia Through Attack on Orel-Belgorod Line

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysts and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Taking oath as colonel, Oveta Culp Hobby assumes command of the new Women's Army corps, which replaces the WAAC. Pictured with Colonel Hobby from left to right are Brig. Gen. H. B. Lewis, acting adjutant-general of the army, Gen. George C. Marshall, and Lieut. Gen. Brehon Somervell.

NAVY STRIKES:
Jap Fleet Hit

The battle in the Southwest Pacific grew in intensity, with the Japs throwing the full weight of their air and sea power against the advancing Allied forces.

Drawn out by the U. S. navy's shelling of the Jap anchorage of Bairoko, through which supplies have been carried to the big enemy air base of Munda on New Georgia island, formations of the Japanese fleet engaged the American ships in the Kula gulf, coming off a poor second best.

According to a communique from General MacArthur's headquarters, no less than six enemy vessels probably were sunk and four damaged. We lost one cruiser, which with a destroyer sunk in the Bairoko bombardment and a transport knocked out in the earlier landings, brought our own known losses to three.

All along the 700 mile front the Japs hurled their aircraft at American positions. Enemy fighters and bombers flew over newly occupied Rendova, struck at General MacArthur's beachhead below Salamaua in New Guinea, and attacked Darwin in northwestern Australia in force. At Salamaua, Allied forces had worked their way through jungle to the northwest, so that with General MacArthur's position, that Jap base was now ringed from three sides.

JAPAN:
Parcels Out Territory

In development of the "great east Asia co-prosperity sphere," Japan ceded four Malay and two Burmese states to the kingdom of Thailand. North of Malaya and east of Burma, Thailand, by its alliance with Japan at the start of the war, provided the Nipponese with a backdoor into these British possessions.

The cession of the Malay states gave Thailand rich rice, tin and rubber producing territories. The population includes more than a million natives. The two Burmese states constitute 24,000 square miles.

The cession was made on occasion of Premier Hideki Tojo's visit to the Thai capital of Bangkok. Tojo later went to Shanghai where Chandra Bose, exiled Hindu nationalist leader, called for the organization of all rebels for the defeat of the British in India.

WAR PRODUCTION:
Up and Down

Declaring that we are on the verge of one of the greatest trials of our national history, War Production Chairman Donald Nelson revealed that the nation's arms output for May had gained for aircraft and naval vessels, but fallen in other lines.

On a weight basis, airplane production jumped 10 per cent in May, Nelson said, with bomber deliveries up but fighter manufacture unsteady. A total of 204,000 tons of naval vessels were completed.

In other lines, ground ordnance, such as tanks, artillery, etc., was down 3 per cent; merchant vessels were down 4 per cent, and miscellaneous munitions were down 7 per cent.

For the first half of the year, Nelson said the estimated output fell below the goals marked out. Merchant shipping was 44 per cent of the year's objective; army ordnance and naval vessels, 40 per cent, and aircraft 35 per cent.

SUBSIDIES:
Would Limit Expenditures

If President Roosevelt's subsidy program to "roll-back" the price of retail food was to become the administration's bulwark in its anti-inflationary program, congress indicated that it would retain a voice in such a policy by limiting the government's expenditure of money in its operation.

In considering a new Commodity Credit corporation bill which would allow subsidies, the senate banking and currency committee heard Sen. Robert Taft propose an appropriation of 525 million dollars to "roll-back" prices in January 1, 1944. Unless such a limitation were made, Taft said, the government could borrow any amount from the Reconstruction Finance corporation.

President Roosevelt declared it was necessary to "roll-back" food prices to equalize the stabilization of wages. Subsidy opponents contend that such payments will only increase the public debt, and wages generally have risen to a level at which consumers can well afford to buy food at present prices.

RUSSIA:
Nazis Gain

Big guns thundered — airplanes whined in endless swoops — huge tanks rumbled over barren plains; action had come again on the Russian front.

While the Nazis insisted the action was of a local, minor character in segments of the Ukrainian and Kursk provinces in Russian hands, the Reds claimed the Germans had launched a major offensive. Although announcing that they had stopped the advance generally along the 165 mile front, the Reds admitted the Nazis had breached their defenses in the Belgorod sector.

Red reports indicated the Nazis had massed large armored formations in the battle zone. The 1,271 tanks the Russians said they knocked out would be sufficient to outfit four Nazi panzer divisions. In two days the Reds claimed they shot 314 planes out of the sky.

For their part, the Nazis said their infantry had initiated a local attack, and then fighting had flared all along the front.

CANNED GOODS:
Increase Prices

To absorb higher labor and material costs, canners of vegetables and processors of frozen berries were authorized to increase prices of the 1943 pack by the Office of Price Administration.

Prices of canned tomatoes, corn, snap beans and peas, however, will remain at the 1942 level. Seeking to stabilize the prices of these essential commodities, the government will pay subsidies to canners to make up for increased costs.

The OPA also acted to place specific increases on spinach, asparagus, mustard and turnip greens. To reflect wage boosts, canners of spinach were allowed a 4½ per cent boost. Price of the No. 2 can of asparagus was raised 4 cents and mustard and turnip greens were increased 1½ cents.

Increases ranging up to 3 cents a pound were allowed to processors of blueberries, cranberries, currants, dewberries, elderberries, huckleberries, Johnson berries and Olympic berries.

CONSTRUCTION: All building materials and construction facilities have been placed under the control of the War Production board, "in order to eliminate all non-essential construction."

GRAIN: Oats sold at the highest in 23 years on the Chicago market at 73½ cents a bushel, while rye reached $1.12½ recently.

SUGAR: About one-third less acreage was planted in sugar beets this year than last. Leaders of the industry blame shortage of labor, and competition of other crops more favored by government aid.

BANKS: The Chase National Bank of New York, the world's largest, reports total assets of $4,482,606,435 in its latest statement.

DADS:
O. K. Draft Delay

By a vote of 11 to 5, the senate military affairs committee voted to delay the induction of fathers until after January 1, 1944. Congressional action on the bill will not be taken until sessions are resumed in September, however, one month before the drafting of fathers is scheduled.

Introduced by Senator Burton Wheeler, the bill provides that any man married before Pearl Harbor, who has maintained bona fide family relationships since that date and has children under 18 years of age, would be exempt from induction until the first of next year.

As the Wheeler bill was being approved by the committee, the War Manpower commission announced that an additional 3,600,000 persons will have to be placed in the services and munitions industries within the next 12 months. Of the total, 2,000,000 men and women will be needed in uniform, 1,500,000 by December 31.

Materialization of the WMC plans will mean that half of the population will either be fighting or working. 11,300,000 will be in the services; 11,600,000 in war industries; 12,000,000 in agriculture, and 30,000,000 in other non-farm work.

POST-WAR WORLD:
What Labor Thinks

How one great union feels about the post-war world was ably expressed by the United Automobile Workers, CIO, in a seven-point program for peace time.

Among other things, the UAW called for government ownership and operation of industries whose monopoly gives them dictation in their fields; the 30-hour week, and a vast public works program, calling for construction of schools, highways and power projects.

Of private industry, the UAW said: "Our industries can no longer be operated to serve private interests where those private interests conflict with the public need. Initiative can find its most useful outlet, greatest recognition and highest reward when exerted in the public service."

The UAW also proposed each soldier be given a $2,500 bonus upon his discharge from the service.

CABINET FEUD:
Jones Answers Wallace

Fur continued to fly in the heated cabinet feud between Vice President Henry Wallace and Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones over Wallace's charges that Jones had throttled activities of the Board of Economic Warfare, and failed to build up an adequate stockpile of tin, rubber, quinine, etc., before Pearl Harbor as directed by congress.

Repeating his previous statement that the Reconstruction Finance corporation which he heads has committed itself to purchase 3½ billion dollars of foreign material, Jones said the BEW initiated only 10 per cent of this business. Then he declared that the RFC cannot sign blank checks for the use of any government agency, and charged Wallace with amending President Roosevelt's original order setting up the BEW to permit approval of BEW transactions without inspection.

In the matter of stockpiles, Jones said our supply of quinine was ample and BEW's program for obtaining the drug in South America failed to take account of that continent's unfamiliarity with producing the bark. REW accused Jones of overestimating our inventory by 50 per cent, and delaying the BEW's production program.

MEDITERRANEAN:
Adolf Comes to Rescue

Increasing opposition to Allied air raids on Italy and her neighboring islands by swarms of Axis planes, many of them German, indicate that the Nazi air force is being employed in strength in the critical Mediterranean area.

Despite the stiffening resistance, however, Allied planes broke through to pound Palermo to such an extent that the Italian radio admitted that Sicilian air and naval base was of no further use. Allied reconnaissance also disclosed that the Italians had destroyed shipping installations at the harbor of Trapani.

According to American fliers, the Axis met the strong Allied formations with new tactics. Approaching the rear echelons of the Allied squads, the enemy planes flew in a single line, dropping incendiaries that burst into strings of small explosives.

Official Axis circles awaited an attack on Sicily or Sardinia or Corsica. Capture of Sicily would be necessary for an attack on the Italian mainland or projecting Allied convoys bound for the Balkans, they said, while occupation of Corsica and Sardinia would be necessary for an invasion of the French coast.

POLES:
Russian Status Unchanged

The tragic death of Gen. Wladislaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government-in-exile, has not altered that government's attitude toward Soviet Russia, its officials declared. Poland's attitude will continue to be one of friendliness, with insistence on Polish territorial rights, which have been contested by Russia's claim to portions of the former Polish republic.

With the Axis cleaned out of North Africa, refugees like the ones shown above can move back into their homes. These people are returning to Bizerte aboard their carriage which is fitted out with springs, rubber tires, and a wheel assembly from a Rolls Royce automobile.

PETER RABBIT TRIES TO DO THE RIGHT THING

PETER RABBIT learned a long time ago that when he had done a mean or unkind thing he never could feel right in his own mind until he had admitted the wrong and said he was sorry. It was hard to do this sometimes, but afterward he always felt so much better that he often wondered why everybody didn't do the same way. You see Peter is alone a great deal, particularly when he is at home in the dear Old Briar Patch, and when he is alone somehow that little small voice down inside that seems always trying to have him do right will keep talking in spite of all he can do if he has been getting into mischief.

Ever since he had spied on Chatterer the Red Squirrel to find out where Chatterer's new house was that small voice had given Peter no rest at all.

"The sooner it's over the better," thought Peter as he ate a hasty breakfast. Then he started as fast as he could go, lippety, lippety, lip, for the old stone wall on the edge of the Old Orchard where Chatterer had found a new home. As he drew near he heard voices. Peter stopped to listen. While it isn't at all polite or nice to listen to what other people are saying when they don't know that you are around it is very, very necessary for the little people of the Green Forest and Green Meadows to know who is about, so whenever they hear voices they always stop to listen and make sure who the voices belong to. So Peter stopped and listened.

"Guess I'll hurry and find out what it is so I can laugh, too," thought Peter.

They were the voices of Chatterer and Tommy Tit the Chickadee. Peter smiled and hurried on. There was nothing to be feared from either, and he wanted to get his unpleasant errand finished. As he drew nearer he heard Chatterer laughing fit to kill himself.

"Ha, ha, ha! Ho, ho, ho!" shouted Chatterer.

"He, he, dee, dee, dee!" laughed Tommy Tit.

"Must be a great joke; guess I'll hurry and find out what it is, so I can laugh, too," thought Peter, but just that very minute he heard something that made him stop short. It was his own name.

"And doesn't Peter know now?" asked Tommy Tit between chuckles.

"No," replied Chatterer, wiping tears of laughter from his eyes, "he hasn't any more idea where my new house is than the man in the moon. He thinks he knows, but bless his heart he hasn't any more idea than you have where it is."

"But I have more than an idea—I know where it is," replied Tommy Tit.

Chatterer stopped laughing. "What's that?" he cried sharply.

"I said that I know," replied Tommy Tit, and laughed harder than ever. "Dee, dee, dee! You can't fool me, Chatterer! I'm not Peter Rabbit and you can't fool me! Dee, dee, dee, chickadee!"

"How do you know?" demanded Chatterer.

"Because I peeped in and saw you in bed before you were awake this morning," replied Tommy Tit. "Of course, I wouldn't have peeped in if I had known that you had decided to make your home there, and now that I do know I won't be so impolite again."

Chatterer edged a little nearer to Tommy. "Say," he begged, "promise me that you won't give my secret away. Be a good fellow and promise not to tell any one where my new house is."

"Of course I'll promise," replied Tommy promptly. "I never meddle in other people's affairs." With that and a farewell "dee, dee," Tommy flew over to the middle of the Old Orchard.

Peter Rabbit sat right where he was. He had come up there to try to do the right thing, and now he didn't know just what to do.

U. S. Stepping Stone to Tokyo; That's Amchitka, a Navy Base

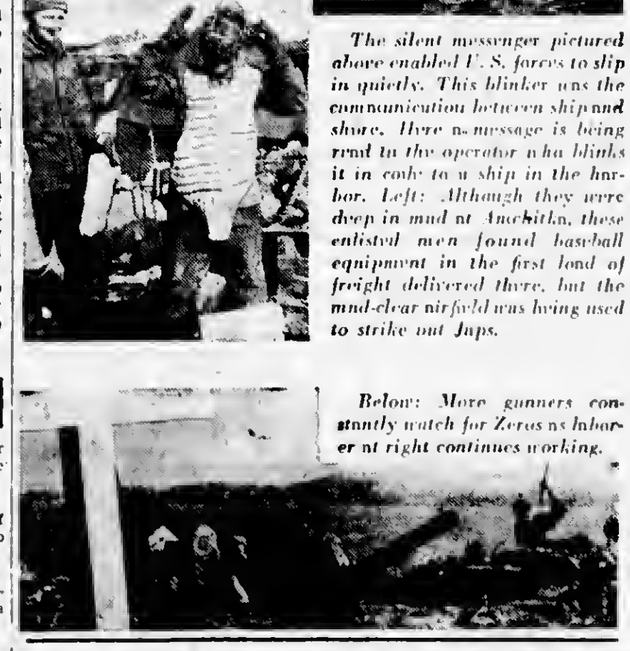
Victory Parade

Navy forces on their way to Tokyo have landed forces on the Aleutian island of Amchitka, about 70 miles from the Japanese-held island of Kiska. Jap Zero planes vainly sought to dislodge our forces. During one foray U. S. navy gunners knocked all attacking Jap planes out of the sky. All attempts to bomb or strafe the navy landing party ceased shortly afterward, and since completion of a landing strip for U. S. fighter planes, Jap aircraft are rarely seen.

Photo at top shows a typical navy gunner, his features highlighted by the bright Alaskan sunlight. The hood is a protection against the sharp wintry blasts for which the Alaskan territory is famous. Left: A pilot pushes his way through the drifting snow towards his tent. He has just returned from a bombing patrol flight despite the weather. Their success in ridding the area of Japanese planes has not dimmed the constant care and watchfulness exercised by the navy men in their efforts to catch and destroy the enemy.

A machine gun crewman is silhouetted against the sun as he watches for Zeros. Note tents in background at right, which were set up on arrival.

The silent messenger pictured above enabled U. S. forces to slip in quietly. This blinker uses the communication between ship and shore. Here a message is being read by the operator who blinks it in code to a ship in the harbor. Left: Although they were deep in mud at Amchitka, these enlisted men found baseball equipment in the first load of freight delivered there, but the mud-clear airfield was being used to strike out Japs.



Below: More gunners constantly watch for Zeros as laborer at right continues working.

watch out! It is also true that you can raise a good part of what you eat on your farm, but even to raise potntoes or corn you have to know quite a hit about gardening, and when it comes to raising and breeding livestock, you have to be n doctor, nurse and toreador. The real trouble, on a farm, though, comes from lack of cash. You'd be amazed how often you need things on the farm that can be obtained in only one wny—by cash. I'm not thinking of cow medicine, or garden tools, tractors, or chicken feed. I'm thinking of spectacles, false teeth, corsets, shoes, soap, toothbrushes, medicine, dental and medical cure, gasoline, oil, tires, and pnint. It's wicked how mnny of your nice fresh eggs you have to yield up for a gallon of gas. I remember when a farmer got $5 for a dandy calf, and after he'd parked twenty sheep all summer he sold them in the fall for exactly what he had paid for them in the spring.

"I've often been compared to Clark Gable."

"Who made the comparison."

"My wife. She seems to prefer Gable."

A leading commander of the Americun Legion suggests that "when this war is over, there will be more freak isms, more utopian crackpots, social politicians, and long-haired reformers, prophets, and demogogues who will trot out schemes for bringing on the millenium." Perhaps, howaver, there will be a return to sanity nnd horse sense after the initial exuberance. Too many crackpots can disgust the voters.

And that reminds me that if some of the crackpot ideas governing wartime food control aren't relaxed before the farmers get too mad, Roosevelt's going to go the way of Brown and Van Wagoner at the next presidential election. The fellows who feed the boys at war and the home front are getting uwful hot under the collnr.

If anyone tries to tell you summer isn't here (86 in the shade after dark) they're crazy with this heat.

George LaBlance Jr., picnicing with his family at Bell's Bay last Sunday, discovered a note enclosed in a bottle buried in the beach sand. Expecting to find a message from some shipwrecked sailor, it turned out instead to be a memento of u picnic held nlmost three years ago. Dated September 3, 1940, the noto read "We were on a picnic toduy," and was signed by Harry F. Hooker, Cappy Hooker, and other members of the party.

After seeing better than a hundred Michigan police chiefs roaming our city for tho last three days, I've come to the conclusion they are first rate good fellows.

JOE LAFRENIERE WRITES FROM NORTH AFRICA

St. James Man With American Troops In Advance Through Tunis to Bizerta

Following is a letter written by Cpl. Joseph LaFreniere, with an American anti-aircraft unit in North Africa, to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nels LaFreniere of St. James. The letter presents a graphic picture of conditions under which our troops lived and fought during the winning of Tunisia.

Dear Folks:

Don't faint when you start to read this, it is the truth. We can tell where we have been the last three and a half months. Now that we can, there are so many things that I want to write about I don't know where to start.

I guess I had better start right from when we landed at Oran. You have seen the pictures in Life, so you have some idea what that is like. We were in the field there for about a week waiting for our equipment. From there we moved to a big air base just outside of Oran and stayed there a week, I think it rained every day that we were there, that is where I wrote from and told you that all the men had underground huts. They worked on them for four or five days, and just had them finished when we got march order. The mud was up to our knees, and when we took a step the mud stuck to our shoes. I know sometimes we had 25 pounds of mud on each foot.

It was hell trying to work there. It seemed we couldn't keep our telephones in, I mean the lines. We worked day and night in the rain, and the night before we were to leave there we worked all night loading the trucks and most of them got stuck then. We had to unload them on to another truck and get them out, and then load them again. It was very cold at that time and we didn't have any place to go to get warm or dry our clothes. Every piece of clothes we had was wet, it is a wonder we weren't all dead. We left on time right to the minute, and we were all glad to get out of there.

PHONOGRAPH RECORDS GATHERED BY LEGION

Disks No Longer Usable Are Made Over For Service Men

Phonograph records are again being collected by Leslie T. Shapton Post No. 226, American Legion, in cooperation with the national Legion organization, for service men.

A container has been placed on the corner of Bridge and Clinton streets near the state liquor store, into which may be put any old records. Old broken records, scratched and chipped, are melted down and re-processed into new recordings for use in army and navy camps and bases, and for fighters overseas.

Charlevoix residents are asked to make a thorough search of their homes for phonograph records no longer usable, which they could contribute to the collection.

Dance at St. Mary's Recreation Center every Friday night. All are welcome.—Adv. 11tf.

PRIORITIES PLACED ON NEW TELEPHONES

Essential Public Services Get First Consideration

New telephone service installations will be subject to priorities, many probably for the duration, under a plan approved by the Michigan Public Service Commission and announced today.

The Commission approved a request by the Michigan Bell Telephone Company for authority to set up priorities on new installations for those whose service applications are not within the preferred categories previously established by the War Production Board.

C. L. Johnson, manager for the company, said the No. 1 priority goes to the business user moving to a new address in the same community, No. 2 to the residence user moving to a new address, No. 3, to applicants for new business service, and No. 4 to those applying for new residence service.

He emphasized, however, that, even under the new plan, applications for service essential to the prosecution of the war and to the public health or security get first call on new installations.

LOCAL CITIZENS GET AWS AWARDS

CAPT. DUNHAM PRESENTED "WINGS" THURSDAY

Plane Spotters Serving Fifty Hours or More Qualified For Recognition

Charlevoix people who had earned their "wings" as ground observers for the Aircraft Warning Service were presented awards at a program in the court house Thursday night.

While more than 110 local citizens had qualified for the awards by serving 50 or more hours in the local observation post, about 50 were present to receive the pins. Capt. I. L. Dunham, army air corps, ground observer officer for the Central Air Defense regional command at Fort Brady, made the presentations. He also spoke on the importance of the local post, and stressed the fact that observers must remain constantly on the alert while on watch. Reading and other recreations are discouraged by authorities of the Aircraft Warning Service.

Sgt. Sherrie, of the Fort Brady post, showed moving pictures which illustrated operation of the Aircraft warning Service, and acted as commentator for the pictures. Sgt. E. Stahl, of the Gaylord state police post, area supervisor, was also at the meeting.

While the post has been in operation for several weeks, all watches are not as yet regularly filled. Attention is drawn to the watch tower schedule on the back page of this issue, showing watches as they were filled the past week.

LETTER FROM "PETE" SUTTON, AUSTRALIA

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. McGhen received a letter recently from Sgt. Orin "Pete" Sutton, of Jap-slaying fame, who is now in Australia. Pete said he had received the McGhan's Christmas package, mailed in November, on June 17, and that he is getting the Courier regularly. He was recently promoted to the rank of sergeant.

Broken Jaws Can Now Chew Steak While Healing

Skeletal fixation of fractures of the mandible—that is the medical phrase for a new technique of setting broken jaws so that they can be used while healing. These pictures illustrating the method were made at a naval dental clinic. 1. After the X-ray shows the line of fracture a surgeon paints a line to indicate the position of the break. 2. A stout needle is screwed into the face. Three such pins are set in on both sides of the fracture line. 3. The pins are bridged by a strong steel rod which holds them tightly keeping the two parts of the jawbone together. 4. The patient, practically scarless, returns to his normal activities.

Bomber Drive Under Way

CPL. FRANK WINNICK AWARDED AIR MEDAL

Aerial Action Over Bismarck Sea Wins Merit Citation

Cpl. Frank Winnick, of this city, serving with the American air force in the South Pacific, has been decorated with the Air Medal, according to word received here by his brother, Peter Winnick.

He was cited for meritorious achievement while participating in combat over the Bismarck Sea, in which he was a member of the crew of a B-17 type bomber engaged in an attack on an enemy convoy. Despite intense anti-aircraft fire and interception by enemy fighters, successful bombing runs were made and two direct hits were scored on a large cargo vessel, which was seen to rise out of the water and then sink. In the ensuing battle with enemy fighters, two of the Zeros were destroyed.

News of the citation came in a letter from Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commanding the air force with which Cpl. Winnick is fighting. Cpl. Winnick was promoted from private first class last week.

OLD DOCK PILING IS REMOVED NEAR DEPOT

North Bank of Lower Channel Is Being Reinforced

Piling of the old Pere Marquette transfer dock on Lake Charlevoix near the depot was removed last week, and re-driven in the upper channel to strengthen piers of the railroad bridge.

The work was done by the Frank Soara dredging outfit, with the tug "Charles Frank" towing equipment barges. Piling and sheeting is being driven along the north bank of the lower channel east of the highway bridge, to prevent caving of the embankment and preparatory to landscaping that bank of the channel.

YOUNG SON OF CAPT. JOHN ROEN DROWNED

Tragedy Occurred At Sturgeon Bay, Wis., On Monday

John Roen, Jr., 7-year-old son of Capt. and Mrs. John Roen of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., was accidentally drowned Monday while playing near the docks of the steamship company owned by Capt. Roen. Word of the tragedy was received here by Mrs. Henry Isaksen, Capt. Roen's sister.

Capt. Roen was for many years a Charlevoix resident. The lad is survived by his parents and a younger sister. Funeral services were held Wednesday at Sturgeon Bay.

GIRL SCOUTS MAKE HIGH SALES RECORD

Sell Most War Bonds and Stamps At Downtown Booth

War bond and stamp sales totaling $1,066.20 were made last week by local Girl Scouts at the CSO booth on the Central Drug store corner.

This is the best sales record to be made so far this year by any of the various groups to staff the booth, it is reported. Other sales during the week were: Central Drug store, $10.25; St. Mary's recreation center, $15.40.

CHARLEVOIX WILL ATTEMPT $300,000 PLANE GOAL

Resorters, Business, Professional People Are Organized To Canvass Community

Who would not give his all just to see the sparkle in the eyes of a local lad, on some foreign soil, should they perchance to see a beautiful heavy bomber named "City of Charlevoix?"

The City of Charlevoix Bomber Campaign Committee, under the auspices of the United States Treasury War Finance Committee of Michigan, has set a $300,000.00 heavy bomber as its War Bond goal for the period of July 26th through August 26th.

Julius Gilbert, Associate Deputy State Administrator, and Robert Bridge, City Chairman of the War Finance Committee, have appointed the following district chairmen to handle the campaign; Clarence Coleman and Scott Greenfield, for the Beach Hotel; Charles Pike, for the Belvedere Club; James Reis, for the north side; Mrs. Edwin Rosenthal, for Park avenue; Joseph M. Foster, for the business district and the south side residential.

Although the campaign does not officially get under way until next Monday, definite commitments have already been received to furnish encouragement to the workers and impetus to the drive.

From information available, it appears that this is the first time a community of the size of Charlevoix has attempted a task of this magnitude. If it is successful, and try to tell any of the workers that it will fail, the state and national recognition which we are bound to receive will be of everlasting benefit to the city and should furnish untold encouragement to the boys who are doing our battling for us. The slogan of the committee for this campaign is — "The MOST you can invest in U. S. War Bonds is the LEAST you can do."

Our boys are Berlin-bound! Let them know that Charlevoix is backing them up with a heavy bomber. It will take just $300,000.00 worth of War Bonds to put that bomber into the show and there will be just four weeks in which to accomplish the task.

A 'thermometer' is to be erected in East Park to record the progress of the drive. Throw your fighting dollars into the pool and watch the temperature rise — in the vernacular, "put the heat on the Axis."

PRIZES FOR WINNERS POPULARITY CONTEST

Louis McKenzie was awarded first prize of $10, and Charles Schwab received second prize of $5 in the servicemen's popularity contest recently concluded at St. Mary's recreation center. Another contest starts Wednesday night of this week, to run for five weeks. These winners will be eliminated from the list of contestants.

MARION TOWNSHIP LAD DOES CANNING

Invalid Mother Directs Work Of 11-Year-Old Son

Everett Skeel, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Skeel of Marion township, successfully kept his family in canned goods last year and is determined to do the same thing this year.

Everett put up 530 quarts of fruit last year when his mother was bedridden by illness, his sister got a war job, his oldest brother joined the army, and his father and other brothers did the work on their 80-acre farm. He is determined to beat that achievement by 200 quarts when this year's crops are harvested.

He was first shown how to operate a pressure cooker and then a mirror was placed on the kitchen wall in such a position that his mother, from her bed, in the adjoining room, can advise him when he gets into difficulties. Mrs. Skeel is unable to rise from her bed, and places much reliance on Everett's ability to do the kitchen work.

This County's accredited schools, all of which will benefit from the plan, are: Boyne City High School; Boyne Valley Township Unit School; Boyne Falls; Charlevoix High School; East Jordan High School.

The first students to enter with the new scholarships will enroll in the University's fall term, October 25. Applications for the scholarships and for admission to the University will be available from the principals of all accredited high schools and preparatory schools in Michigan.

MAILING RATION BOOK 3 DELAYED

SHOULD BE COMPLETED BY AUGUST 1st

Detroit Mailing Center Makes An Appeal for Volunteer Help In Sending Out Books.

Distribution of war ration book No. 3, which provides new stamps to replace those running out in existing books will not be completed in the Western Michigan area by July 24, as was originally announced.

In a communication received from the Detroit mailing center, the Grand Rapids district OPA office has learned that the mailing center has again publicized its need for additional volunteers to aid in the processing of book 3 applications. It is hoped the mailing will be completed by August 1.

Persons who have not received book 3 are instructed not to go to their local rationing boards to make out new applications until the district OPA office announces the time for such action. This announcement should be made some time prior to August 1. Ration boards do not and will not have copies of war ration book 3. These are distributed entirely from the Detroit mailing center.

It is expected that the stamps in book 3 will become effective some time in September, the dates to be announced by OPA's Washington headquarters.

TWILIGHT BOAT RIDES ON LAKE CHARLEVOIX

Cruisers Leave Clothier Dock Three Nights a Week

Twilight boat cruises into Lake Charlevoix have been inaugurated by Capt. Don Clothier, and are proving popular with both local and summer residents.

Cruisers leave the Clothier trolling camp dock on Belvedere avenue at 7:30 each Monday, Wednesday and Friday evening for a two-hour trip up the south arm of the lake, past Ironton. Minimum load required for each trip is eight passengers.

MILKWEED FLOSS HARVEST BEGINS

PROCESSING STARTED AT PETOSKEY FACTORY

Five Million Pounds of Pods Are Needed to Fill Orders of Army and Navy

Harvesting and processing of Milkweed for 1943 and 1944 was assured for Northern Michigan farmers, and other interested parties with the announcement received by the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce from L. J. Lyon, Vice President and Treasurer of the Milkweed Products Development Corporation.

In making this announcement Mr. Lyon said, "Our program for 1943-44 is going forward on a much larger basis than last year. We shall need about 5,000,000 lbs. of pods in order to meet the Army and Navy floss requirements for 1944. This appears to be a large order, but the amount represents a small portion of the pods now growing wild in the Northern Michigan area. Governmental survey figures show the amount gathered last year, represented only 10 per cent of the wild growth, in the area."

Rain which fell during the harvesting season last year hindered the collection program somewhat, while the lateness of the maturing season was also mentioned. It was the opinion of those in charge that the predominating factor was the newness of the program and convincing people that milkweed, heretofore looked upon as a farm pest, was actually being used commercially.

Milkweed floss has found its place in commerce and agriculture and has ceased to be just an experiment. The quality of the material shipped to the Navy Department exceeds the standard set by that Department.

The marketing of pods is receiving considerable attention based on the experience of the corporation handling last year's crop. The system of green buying stations, established late last season, will be a part of the program again this year with additional locations set up throughout the entire area. The aid of school children not only in the rural but in the city districts will again be solicited. With the program now of known quantity, plans for harvesting can go forward without delay.

VALIDITY DATES OF RED RATION STAMPS

Present Stamps Will Expire On Saturday, July 31

The Office of Price Administration today announced the validity date of four new series of red ration stamps in War Ration Book II, to be used for the purchase of meat, fats, oil and dairy products.

Stamps T, U, V, and W become valid July 25, August 1, August 8 and August 15, respectively. The expiration date for all is August 31.

The OPA also reminded housewives that red stamps P, Q, R and S expire Saturday, July 31, and urged that these stamps be used well before the expiration date in order to prevent last minute rushes at retail food stores.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

Uncle Josh in his "Well, by Heck" column in the Boyne Citizen, says: "Two weeks ago the news headline said, 'OPA will roll back food prices 10%;' last week it said, 'Food prices will be rolled back 5%.' This week the quotation was, 'Food prices will be rolled back.' Probably by next week they'll be just 'let 'em roll'."

Well, with sweet cherries at $5 a crate, huckleberries at twice that much, peaches and plums at 30c per pound and vegetables right in the same price range, we'll just have to let them roll, I guess.

Ike: "Haven't I seen your face somewhere else before?"

Mike: "No, it's always been right where it is now."

I realize I'm sticking my neck right out to say anyone's victory garden is any better than the other fellows, because everybody thinks their garden is the best just like they think their dog is the smartest, but between you and I, there aren't any better gardens than the one Sheriff Floyd Ikens has got out on the Fred Dobbs place. Floyd told me sometime ago about eating peas, beans, young carrots and the like, but when he told me Monday about having new cabbage I thought I'd better check up on the fellow and keep him honest, if necessary. Well, everything he said was true, I found. His wife's got 22 quarts of peas canned, among other things, and I'm told it takes a bushel to get seven quarts. He's got tomatoes and green peppers as big as your fist, cucumbers big enough to pickle, just to mention a few things, and if you can find a weed in the darned garden it's hidden under some growing things. Floyd'a done a right smart job according to my way of looking at things, and while on the subject of gardens I think there should be a medal of some kind or other awarded to Mrs. Glenn Ellis for unusual accomplishment, too. Up in her breezy bower, the Hotel Alhambra near the bridge, she's

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

First of all I would like to say thanks a million for your grand paper, the Charlevoix Courier; though I don't live in Charlevoix any more I still take a great deal of interest and pleasure in reading the news of Charlevoix. I always look forward to reading the letters from the boys in service; most of them I know, and a good per cent of them I used to caddie with. It's really a swell column that tells you where your friends and buddies are.

I enlisted in the army air corps for cadet training in October of 1942, however, I was not called for active duty until January 27, 1943. My first temporary base was Miami, Fla. After I had received 18 days of basic training which consisted of the duties of an infantryman (including K. P.) I was shipped to my present station, Hiram College in eastern Ohio, only 35 miles from Cleveland. The town of Hiram is just another small town (population 300), but the college is very modern. The hospitality is something to rave about. When we first arrived we were given one subject a month, five days a week, eight hours a day. They ran as follows: English, history, geography, math and physics. On top of our class work we have to take calisthenics which usually consists of a five to seven mile run. We do however get to play softball twice a week.

I usually go to Cleveland on Saturday and Sunday for our week ends are free. This is a six months course, and on the sixth month they give you ten hours flying time. I'm in my sixth month now, and already have seven hours flying time in. Today while I was taking my check flight, the motor "conked" at 100 feet, and I had to make a forced landing, or rather the instructor did. Luckily there was a rather large field ahead of us, and we just managed to glide in. The field was pretty rough, but on the landing no one was hurt. The tail assembly and wheel were the only things that were badly damaged. In this flying business I expect to have more than one narrow escape; still

Two days later we arrived in Maison Caree, I sent some postcards from there. We stayed there about ten days, that is where I spent Christmas and had dinner with that Spanish family. We had it pretty nice there while it lasted. We took over half of a school house. We were in one part, and they were using the other part for school. Everyone was nice to us. There was one family that used to call me in to their home (the man could take a little English), and they would take out their wine bottle and we would sit there and talk about America. He had been to the State a couple of times on French warships. I would tell him something in English, then he told the rest of the family in French. I sure had a good time there.

Our guns were in Algiers at that time and Lesher was about ten miles from me, he used to come in to the Command Post every couple of days and I would get to talk to him for a few minutes. Christmas night we saw our first action. I guess the jerries thought they would catch us sleeping but they didn't. I went to Mass Christmas day with the French family. It sure was beautiful. The church was way up on a hill.

New Year's eve we moved into Algiers, or Hussen-Doy, and we stayed there till a couple of days after Joe left. We had an old market right in town that we used for the C. P. and kitchen. It was an old cement building and it used to get quite cold and damp and we never did have any heat. When we wanted to get warm we went to bed, that is if we weren't on duty. We had passes there and could go into Algiers and we did quite often. We sure had a nice setup there, and made a lot of friends in that area. Every other building was a tavern. I didn't drink so much when I was there. I bought those desk sets in Hussen-Dey and the rings in Algiers.

We moved out of Algiers at dawn one morning and a couple of days later we were on the front lines, protecting the field artillery from dive bombers and we have been doing that since, till yesterday. We did get away from there for a week or so, then we were at an advanced air base. But the rest of the time we were with the field artillery. Maybe you remember when the Americans took hill 609. We watched them shell that hill for three or four days, and you know shells were also coming back, but the C. P. was almost out of range of those guns. They tried to knock out our field guns by dive bombing, but that is where our boys came in and they sent them home with two less planes. We think some of them were shot up so bad that they thought it was costing them too much, so they quit sending them over.

We were also on hand to have ringside seats when Fanduke Pass was taken. That was a hard battle for the Americans and it cost them a lot of men. Some got their orders mixed up and the time, and they didn't take it as they planned, but they called in some English and French and tried it again. That time they went through with flying colors and went on to the holy city, Kairouna. We were there to see the Eighth Army go by. The city was off bounds so we didn't get to go in, but it sure looked nice from outside. Every building is white and most of them are churches. We were guarding a road leading there, as there are four or five roads leading into the city which all of the English equipment and some of our own had to pass over. We put out some telephone lines and we cut across a big field and after we had it in, an Englishman told us that that field was mined, but I guess someone had us by the hand, because we got through it alright. So all's well that ends well. We have been all over this front. Some of our battalion was even down in the El Guett sector.

Here are some of the places we have been and there are a lot more that are not on the maps that you see: Tebessa, Kasserine Pass, Sheitla, Shiba, Pichon, Kairouan, Maktar, Souk el Arba, Tabarka (on the coast). We saw the sea for the first time in almost three months. From there on to Dj Abiod, on to Mateur, and last but not least, Ferryville on Lake Bizerte. We went in swimming there a couple of days, but now we are on the long trip back or will start tomorrow, and this letter won't be mailed till after we get to our next position. We are all hoping that we get off a few days, we will sure paint the town red when we do.

There is a lot more that I could write about but will wait for the next letter, and give you some more dope on it. Lesher and I were about ten miles apart sometimes, and maybe the next move we would make we would only be a couple hundred feet. It changed so often that we couldn't keep up with ourselves. The last time he went up with his gun section he came over to where I was and gave me $400 to keep till he come back. I told him I was going up with them to string some wire but I knew that I wasn't going as far as he, so I kept it for him.

Hope this explains why you haven't received so many letters from me. Sure hope you understand.

Bye for now, love to all

RAW OR COOKED, VEGETABLES WIN

Whether raw or cooked, those vegetables in the Victory Garden build health as they help win the war by conserving other foods essential to industry and the armed forces, according to members of the Michigan State College home economics extension service.

Relishes form the simplest style of serving certain vegetables. Spring onions or young turnips or carrots cut in long thin slices go well with a little salt.

Then there are the salad combinations. Sliced cabbage and shredded raw carruts can be topped with a few grated nuts or a touch of salad dressing. Another simple dish consists of shredded carrots and a cottage cheese ball. Diced raw turnips, chopped green pepper and cold cooked potato form another combination. Some like raw vegetables as a sandwich filler.

For the hot vegetable dishes, the problem consists of making the most of the minerals, vitamins and flavor. For most vegetables the college specialists recommended starting the vegetables in boiling salt water, one teaspoon of salt to a quart of water. Only enough water is used to prevent the food from sticking to the cooking dish. If the vegetables are young and fresh. For older and tougher vegetables enough water must be used to cover the vegetables.

Cooking water contains the vitamins and minerals dissolved during the cooking. Such liquid should be used, either in a creamed sauce in which the vegetable is served, or put on the table in the gravy or soup or served as a vegetable cocktail.

At any rate, according to the MSC staff, it's healthy and patriotic to eat some raw, some cooked and either can or preserve or put in storage some of the produce for fall and winter use.

TOMATOES OFFER WINTER VITAMINS

Vitamin C can't be stored up in the human body, but a supply of properly canned tomatoes can be put away for next winter's use, it is pointed out by home economics extension specialists at Michigan State College.

Experienced home canners need only the suggestion, but brides and older housewives who have relied on fresh produce or the can opener may have to follow the book to get tomatoes processed properly.

Clean equipment, rapid handling and the use of fresh, sound fruit are recommended to prevent spoilage of juice or canned whole tomatoes. One bushel of tomatoes should yield 15 to 20 quarts when canned. Eight to 10 tomatoes, about three pounds, should yield a quart.

A boiling water bath canner is recommended by the MSC specialists. Any clean vessel will do, if it has a good lid and is large enough to hold a convenient number of jars and deep enough to cover jar tops with at least two inches of water. A wooden or wire rack is required, to keep jars off the bottom of the canner.

Pressure canners are not recommended for tomatoes. The high temperature attained under pressure robs the tomatoes of flavor and color.

Jars should be filled to within a half inch with tomatoes or juice brought to a boil after sorting, coring and peeling. One teaspoon of salt to each quart is added, just before sealing and processing. After processing jars should be tightened, but the seal should not be broken any time after processing until the tomatoes are to be used.

LET GARDEN SPUD ATTAIN MATURITY

Southern states are turning out a crop of new potatoes sufficient to create a surplus surprising in view of the shortage a month ago, according to the Great Lakes regional office of the War Food Administration.

Two new problems have come with the surplus, the food distribution division of the federal agency points out. The new crop from the south is not of the type that stores well. The new crop ought to be eaten.

But not so, those potatoes now growing in northern victory gardens, including those in Michigan. Victory gardeners are urged not to dig their new crop until it is mature. Small new potatoes from the backyard or farm garden will multiply in size if left in the ground. For war food purposes the logical and efficient use of the southern and the northern potato crops make a patriotic and economical program with direct bearing on the war and prevention of waste.

"WE'VE LEARNED TO SAY A LOT IN A FEW WORDS!"

"'Squadron, peel off and follow me down. Give 'em the works!' That's about the extent of the skipper's conversation when Navy dive bombers go into their act. But it's enough. No matter how important a message is, it can generally be put in a few words.

"So when I'm on shore leave in the States and have to make a long distance call, I keep it brief. I know the lines are crowded with war calls now, and on top of that more civilian calls are being made than ever. That's why I've made it a rule not to use long distance at all unless my message is mighty urgent."

Arrived in San Diego on Saturday, June 26, at about 7 p.m. After getting well fixed up as to clothes, blankets, cots and other marine equipment we started in drilling. I've enjoyed it all and am having a real experience now. Would you please send me the Courier, as I enjoy reading of life about home.

Dear Ken,

Just finished reading the June 9 issue of the paper and got to thinking it is about time I wrote to thank you and the CSO for making it possible for me to receive such a swell paper.

This is really great country up here in this part of Alaska. It is covered with snow-capped mountains and dotted with many small lakes and streams. The salmon are running up-stream and are being caught with hook and line, along with Dolly Varden trout and many other kinds of fish. There are all sorts of game here to hunt, rabbits and on up, including deer.

I don't believe I will be giving away any military secrets to say that after the war they are planning on turning this into a summer resort, and have asked those who would like, to stay here and help build it up.

I can't give out much about the weather, but it is a lot better than I had expected to find here. It doesn't rain every day.

I haven't been in swimming as yet, but there are some who have, and I am looking forward to at least one swim before winter sets in again up here.

Thanks again for the paper, It is really a big help to fill the space between here and back there.

As ever,

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

J. C. Wynn, Camp Scribe

Governor Harry Kelly has revisited Camp Charlevoix. One afternoon last week, he and Mrs. Kelly, and their two younger sons Larry and Roger spent several hours with the campers. The Kelly twins, Brian and Harry, are enrolled as intermediates in camp. The governor's family witnessed a sail boat race and watched the workers at the new log cabin sauna.

The varsity ball team has won its first two games. Played against Camp Playfair here last week, the first game was an 8-0 shut out. Bart Grimes of Ann Arbor pitched for the Camp.

In a return game played at Camp Playfair the varsity won by a score of 8-4. Pitcher Grimes making the only home run. Feeling confident, they then challenged the camp counsellors to a Sunday afternoon game. Grimes and Lerch made up the battery for the campers, Dixon and Maguire for the counsellors. The counsellors won the game 18 to 1.

The exciting and always closely contested Gren and Grey track meet was held Saturday afternoon. In the Senior event, Hubbard won first place for his standing broad jump, Daniels and Hanger coming in second and third. The Senior running broad jump was won by Cary Bachman; Hawley and Skip Scher came in second and third. Their high jump was also won by Bachman, and second place was tied between Hawley and Winans. Bachman also won the basketball throw; Barker won the second place. House won the Senior's fifty yard dash; Grimes and Davenport came in second and third. Naylor won the 100-yard dash, Grimes and Davis coming in second and third.

The Intermediate standing broad jump was won by Helms, Snyder and Dickson in the first places. Their running broad jump was won by Nyquist, Helms and J. Bachman, second and third. Lerch, Smith and Keenan won the high jump, all being tied for first place. Snyder threw the basketball farthest, Nyquist second farthest, Baker finished first, Nyquist second, and B. Kelly third in the 50 yard dash. Snyder, Dickson and F. Smith finished in the 75-yard dash in that order. Nyquist and Snyder finished first and second in the relay race.

The Junior standing broad jump was taken by Weissinger, Frazer, and Stone. Their running broad jump was won by Fitzpatrick, Buskirk and Church also placing. Junior high jump found Ball and Surbis tied for first place. Fitzpatrick and Surbis threw the basketball the farthest. There were team tog-o'-wars in addition to the above events. The Greys won the Junior track meet, but the Greens won in the Intermediate and Senior sections.

Skipper Hal Caldwell's crew of Paul Dickson and Hartwell Stall won last week's sailing races; Skipper Birdsall and Dan Bellinger came in second, Skipper Farr's boat with Bill Scher and Bud Gage as crew came in third. Cabin 7 took an overnight sailing trip last week to Young State Park near Boyne City; the boat skippers were Al Birdsall, Bill Kampe and Jack Farr.

Three more swimmers have qualified for water activities after passing their 100-yard free style test; these are Jack Surbis, Richard Tabor, and Dick Helgeson. The Intermediates tried a new kind of baseball recently. They played a game out in Junior Bay, swimming and splashing around the bases. Isaak Walton Deal took an expedition of Junior fishermen to Oyster Bay Monday morning. These lucky ones returned with 28 fish, a beautiful catch. With I. W. Deal went Hal Boyer, Bill Fitzpatrick, Dave Ball, Millie Pr-Fitzpatrick, Dave Ball, Millie Pry-and Jack Surbis.

Wednesday night's scavenger hunt was won by cabins 2, 13 and 14. They were required to bring in such items as a live pollywog, 5 live mosquitoes, a black horse hair. That same night the entire camp had a cook out with steak sandwiches, cantaloupe, and grape punch.

The first cabin stunt night last Saturday saw a variety of dramatic talent ranging from melodrama to ham. Cabin 17 presented "The Bum Army," Cabin 8, "Julius Cnesar", as Shakespeare never wrote it, Cabin 7 waxed serious to stage a skit depicting the dying words of a criminal, Cabin 15 parodied their own cabin, mimicking their counsellor in the bargain. Cabin 12 played a "bawl game;" "Arizona" Clingman sang a number of western ballads, Cabin 9 staged a stunt, the theme of which seemed to be "Blow your nose." And cabin eleven's cut-ups performed a major operation on one of their members.

Cabin 15 took an overnight trip in canoes to Whiting Park last week; Cabin 13 took a horseback trip to Mount McSauby. As the camp season goes on, more and more cabins will be taking overnight trips to different local points. Besides going by horse and canoe, some will sail, hike, or travel by hay wagon. Harry Bingham and Fred Kreoger are counsellors in charge of trip arrangements.

Jerry Burke has turned out to be a song writer, having recently composed the words to "Old Camp Charlevoix." The song had its first hearing at Saturday night's stunt program. Now the whole camp is singing Jerry's lyrics.

Dad's Day and Rodeo Day will again be combined this year for the gala entertainment of camper's parents. Cowboy Loy Clingman is already planning the events that will make this rodeo another thriller. It will be held the last week end of camp, August 21. Chief Reimann and the staff earnestly hope that many dads and families of the campers will find it possible to attend this rodeo despite the war conditions which have tied so many men to their jobs and made it difficult to travel any distances.

A new display case has been built for the ceramics department's products. The kiln is now being fired almost daily, and the boys' products are now being glazed in the beautiful colors that make their pottery and models very attractive. Handicraft classes are now turning to making leather belts, and decorating them with glass jewelry and leather braid.

Coach Bachman's movies have now been seen by all the campers. His interesting comments on the football plays as he shows them add a great deal to the shows. Charlie will be missed when he returns to East Lansing.

More campers have now earned honors on the rifle range. Howard Kny, Bill Kampe, Ken Helms, and George Dowley have all earned their Sharpshooter Bar One, Skippy Scher, Paul Dickson, Hal Boyer, Hal Caldwell, Hartwell Stoll, and Michael Foster have qualified as Marksmen, and Chas. Green has earned his Pro-Marksman classification. Bob Angell, Tommy Thompson are Marksmen of the First Class. These campers will receive awards for their riflery work in the near future.

Fruit Pulp To Overcome Scarcity of Blood Plasma

How the peel of oranges, grapefruit and lemons may soon bolster the deposits in our hard pressed blood bank, due to pectin in the citrus rind which has properties as a shock preventer and a substitute for the diminished reserves of human blood needed for our American soldiers, will be told in The American Weekly with this Sunday's (July 25) issue of The Detroit Sunday Times.

VOLUNTEERS AID IN FLAT PRICE PROGRAM

Retail Stores Visited By Price Panel Assistants

In carrying out the OPA's community flat pricing program, price panel assistants have been appointed in every city in the nation.

By visiting retail grocery stores to check prices set on price-controlled merchandise, and to answer questions and offer assistance in cooperating with the government's effort to keep food costs down, these volunteer workers are playing a vital part in the price program. They have no authority to enforce the program, however, and can check store prices only when the merchant so desires.

In this city, Mrs. Louis O'Neill has been appointed price panel assistant for the local war price and rationing board. Success of the pricing program depends entirely on the willing cooperation of retailers with these volunteer workers throughout the country.

To Our Customers

The Treasury Department has now issued its regulations covering the manner in which withheld income tax payments may be made through the banks.

The procedure is simple. The employer merely deposits with the bank, in cash or by check payable to the bank, the amount of any withheld taxes payable by the employer and receives an original receipt from the bank at the time of deposit.

This bank has taken the necessary steps to qualify as depository for withheld taxes. We welcome the opportunity of extending to you simple and prompt withheld tax service as soon as the necessary supplies are in our hands.

LANSING LETTER

Of course, 1943 is cockeyed.

Listen to these questions and answers:

Q. Who are these people working in the (war) factories?

A. They are farmer boys, gas station attendants, grocery store clerks, dry goods store clerks, former automobile salesmen, etc.

Q. Do you cash their checks in your bank?

A. Yes.

Q. How much do they make?

A. Anywhere from $120 to $220 every two weeks.

Q. Do they have any special skill?

A. H——l, no. They were hauling manure last fall, digging potatoes, husking corn, pumping gas, selling groceries, dry goods, etc. Farmer boys making more money in the factory in one year than the farm is worth upon which their father has been trying to pay a mortgage for a lifetime.

The above questions were asked by Representative Albert J. Engel of Muskegon. The answers, in substance, were given by cashiers of small-town banks in towns of 1,000 people or more, surrounding industrial war centers. Both questions and answers were a part of findings presented this summer to Congress by the Michigan congressman who recently completed a 44-day inspection tour of 17 war plants.

Representative Engel reported, "I spent two weeks in General Motors, Chrysler and Ford's." For all purposes, as any half-awake citizen of Michigan could readily substantiate, the above answers could have been given, (and they probably were) right in the good state of Michigan — center of mass production technology, world automotive capital, now glorified as the nation's leading arsenal of democracy.

"No one who has studied the problems, as I have tried to study them," Representative Engel told members of Congress," can spend 44 days going through plants and seeing the wheels of production roll without coming to the conclusion:

"First, that on the whole we are doing a magnificent job of production;

"Second, that labor, as a whole, has worked faithfully and well and that labor is entitled to a full share of the credit for such production;

"Third, that the conversion of peacetime plants into war production plants has been the most amazing chapter in the industrial history of the world and both to management and labor, from the head of the production plants on down to the lowest paid worker, must go great credit."

"I believe in decent wages. I believe in skilled labor being paid and paid well. You have in war industries many skilled men, toolmakers, diemakers and others. I was fascinated as I watched these men work. It takes years to make an expert diemaker.

"Should the worker who operates a simple machine that he can learn to operate in two or three weeks be paid as much, or more, than the skilled craftsmen who built the die which makes it possible for the workman to turn out his work?"

The Michigan congressman might have added that these high wages are being paid, not by the big bad manufacturers who dwell in mansions of gold, but by a lot of little people all over the United States and the future generations and generations yet unborn. War contracts are financed by crisp currency of the United States government which belongs to all of us.

To complete the Alice-in-Wonderland contrasts, the Muskegon congressman pointed out "the government pays $55.80 a week in pay and per diem to girls while they learn how to mend shoes. The same government pays $50 a month to the young men in the service who are wearing these shoes."

Yes, big pay with little training —that is the 1943 style prosperity which is helping to inflate the cost of living.

Why is it necessary to pay a tank welder, after four weeks of training, $67 a week . . or "girls in still another plant, after two or three weeks of training . . . as much as $260.72 a month" when the base pay of a lieutenant colonel is $3,500 and a colonel gets $4,000 a year?

What will the host of Michigan soldiers, sailors and marines (not to say anything about our Wacs, Waves and Spars) say when THEY come back and start paying high income taxes on our dizzy national debt? Will the ex-war workers condemn the boys from Sicily and Tunisia and Guadalcanal and Attu for lack of "patriotism" if the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars suggest another bonus to "equalize" the $50-per-month war compensation?

We don't know the answers, of course, but we can make two and two add up to four.

The arithmetic of high wages in today's war industries points to the following post-war developments, as we see it:

1. A reaction against both management and labor IF the evidence bears out reports of excessive net profits — the sums left over after Uncle Sam has collected his taxes. Remember, both management and labor were in the national doghouse after the last war because of the sins committed by greedy minorities.

2. Federal regulations of labor unions as well as stockholders' corporations.

Call it what you may, some kind of extended compensation to service men and women who are making the real sacrifice — and for some of them it will be the SUPREME sacrifice: life itself.

We might add a fourth as we contemplate what the farmer is going to think when he makes another payment on the farm mortgage: Parity prices for foodstuffs.

There, we've done it again.

So we say in return: All right, add 'em up yourself. Your guess is as good as ours. What do YOU foresee for post-war America as a result of today's war labor boom.

MICHIGAN WAR WEEK

Governor Appeals For Harvest Help; OPA Promises Gas

Granting of supplemental gasoline allowances to harvest workers is expected to help clear the way to save Michigan's fruit and vegetable crops.

An appeal that workers promptly respond in force in the farm areas dependent on itinerant labor has now been made by Governor Harry F. Kelly, who announced that the district OPA offices in the State will approve extra gasoline rations needed for transportation.

Agreement of the OPA followed consultation with the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense, the United State Employment Service and the Extension Service of Michigan State College, Governor Kelly said. Facilities of the Office of Civilian Defense have also been offered in the labor recruiting program.

"We are confronting an emergency that must be met without delay," Governor Kelly emphasized. "All of us realize that every ounce of food that is produced must be used . . . I appeal to those persons who can make themselves available for the harvests to do so at once. Bringing in the crops is a patriotic duty and those who take this employment are soldiers in the farm army."

Most pressing emergency at this time is the 15,000,000-pound cherry crop in the Grand Traverse region, where 7,000 to 10,000 pickers have been employed in past years. The cherries are ripe and must be harvested now. To get assistance, farmers are paying higher wages. Other crops which will require thousands of migrant helpers are peaches, apples, grapes, string beans, cucumbers and onions.

Harvest workers should report to the United States Employment Services or the county agent's office in their home area for job assignments or to show they have jobs waiting for them. They will then be certified for gasoline for the round trip. Not less than two must travel in a car. Additional gasoline will be allowed for essential use while in the farm area.

Recently OPA also authorized supplemental gasoline for emergency farm workers employed near their homes.

Share Canning Equipment

Because of approaching food emergencies and the scarcity of canning equipment, Marie Dye, Dean of Home Economics at Michigan State College and Chairman of the Nutrition Committee of the Michigan Office of Civilian Defense, urges that persons who do not wish to make outright loans of pressure cookers and boiling hot water bath containers enter into arrangements with friends and neighbors to work together in canning, and share use of the equipment.

"This is a time when there must be cooperation," Dean Dye said. "Unless all foods not consumed fresh are preserved for use next winter there will be a shortage, and health of those families not having the proper diets will be seriously affected. Persons who let others use their canning equipment, either jointly or on loan, will be performing a fine patriotic service and do much to alleviate hardship in the coming months. Cooperative canning is also much easier."

Dean Dye offered a suggestion on how to "manufacture" one piece of canning equipment. Water-tight tin cans 12 to 14 inches high and large enough to hold three to five jars can easily be converted for use as a boiling water bath. A wooden rack should be made to keep jars off the bottom of the can and prevent breakage, or an old pie tin with holes punched in the bottom and turned upside down may be used.

Dean Dye reminded that food also should be preserved by drying, salting, and storing in a pit, barrels, boxes or in the basement.

"With war demands for food increasing, the housewife cannot afford to overlook the present fruit and vegetable season as an opportunity to stock up on home preserved supplies for next winter," she said.

Ives, George Sands, Grant Alexander, George M. Miller, John C. Adams, Cuy Sneathen, Lee S. Pierce, Ray S. Hamilton, Edmund Lusk, Charles M. Howard, Daniel Wasegesic, George M. Hammond, Roscoe M. Dice, George H. Swails, Harry Cebeau. They leave for service July 24.

Miss Elva Jeffries spent the week end in Petoskey visiting friends.

R. W. Kane, a resident of this city since 1882 and city attorney for many years, died in Pontiac at the home of his son.

Ed Krulik leaves next week for Cadillac, where he has accepted a position with the Adams Express Co.

(Last week's statement that the old Capt. Berdan house on the south terrace above Round lake was the present C. M. Bice residence was corrected by R. L. Lewis, who gives the information that the Berdan house was on the site of the present John Knight house. It would seem that our column title — at least for the 25 years ago section — should be "Do You Remember? I Don't.")

Because of alleged unwholesome food and lodging, the stewards, oilers, engineers, firemen and lookoutmen of the steamship Manitou threatened to desert the boat at the local docks early Sunday afternoon. After an hour's negotiation with the captain, the crew returned to their duties.

A membership drive will be conducted among the residents of this city to build an addition to Charlevoix Hospital, to cost in the neighborhood of $10,000.

The local sugar beet crop promises to be one of the best ever known here. Two nice settings near town are those of Louis Shupton, 10 acres, and Will Straw, 5 acres. The Mexican laborers imported for work in the fields are giving excellent satisfaction.

Michigan's three per cent sales tax on retail goods went into effect on July 1, but merchants throughout the state are generally in ignorance as to the workings of the law, and unanimously dislike it for having multiplied their bookkeeping troubles. (They had to wait ten years for rationing to find out what headaches really are.)

A program of improvements designed to make Charlevoix's airport one of the best in northern Michigan is under way this week. A new approach is being constructed opposite the Rodger farm on the Marion Center road, fences and other obstructions are being removed and the field leveled. Three-way runways will intersect the landing circle. Cost of improvements is estimated at $755.

Miss Mary Simons has returned from Chicago, where she attended the Century of Progress exposition.

The Charlevoix city band, directed by Robert B. Magor, will lead the parade Friday at the National Cherry Festival in Traverse City.

OF INTEREST TO FARMERS

Two Potato Meetings Announced For Tuesday, July 27th

Potato growers, both certified and table stock, will be interested in the announcement that a series of two potato field meetings will be held on Tuesday, July 27th. The first meeting will be held at the home of Donovan Fox, two miles north of Horton Bay, at 10:00 a.m. where a large acreage of certified seed will be available for inspection and observation. The second meeting will be held at the home of William Shepard, East Jordan, ½-mile north of East Jordan, at 2:00 p.m.

Both meetings will be attended by specialists from the Michigan State College who will discuss potato diseases that can be readily identified and which can be controlled for maximum results.

Information emphasizing spraying, harvesting, storing of potatoes will be of general interest. Of all potato diseases late blight has perhaps caused more losses than all others combined during the last five years. Particular attention will be given to blight control.

Producing Sugar Beet Seed Being Demonstrated This Year

Cooperating with the Michigan Sugar Beet Growers Association through their agent, Pere A. Reeve, and the extension agent, two acres of sugar beets were seeded last Friday on the farm of Rowley Williams, Charlevoix. Last year four small plots of seed were developed and showed sufficient results to justify a larger acreage.

Up to this time the sugar beet companies have had to purchase their seed from outside the state. It is felt that seed could be produced in Michigan just as well and develop a new crop that would be profitable for farmers to produce. The big problem was to obtain the effect of our winters but experiments have demonstrated that it will survive our winters and make seed the following summer.

One of the objects of the experiment is to show the influence of boron as a fertilizer. In every case where a small percent of boron was added to the fertilizer mixture much better results were observed. A 3-12-12 fertilizer at the rate of 200 pounds to the acre was placed in bands along side of the rows. To this was added 10% boron. Next spring it is anticipated that a nitrogen fertilizer will be used to hasten the development of the crop.

Mr. Reeve believes that Mr. Williams should obtain a yield of from 700 to 1200 pounds of seed per acre which would make a very nice cash crop. Certainly with our certified seed potatoes, certified cereals, farmers will be interested in this new crop if it works out successfully.

Wood Lot and Tree Planting Projects Making Fine Development

W. Ira Bull, forestry specialist, is spending Thursday, July 22nd in this county, visiting several tree planting plots and messing a woodlot owned by Henry Korthase, Boyne City. A large number of trees in this wood lot were marked and recorded ten years ago. At that time an area was selected to show the rate of growth. Careful measurements were taken of each tree with the thought in mind that every five years they would be measured again. This plot was first measured in 1933, remeasured in 1938 and will now receive another measurement.

The rate of growth depends upon the thickness of the stand, the species of tree and type of soil. These results are then compared with a check area which has had no particular wood lot management. It is a beautiful stand of maple and has now arrived at a point where it's of real commercial value to Mr. Korthase.

In addition to this wood lot visits will be made to several school plantings and others where young pine seedlings have been set out. Each year close to 100,000 young seedlings are being set out by individuals. Not alone this but many wind breakplantings are now in evidence and which are preventing the accumulation of snow on many of our public roads.

PLEASURE RIDING ON TRUCKS BANNED

Cadillac ODT Checking Up On Violations In District

Reports have come to the Cadillac district office of the Office of Defense Transportation that some owners and operators of trucks and other commercial vehicles in this area are using those vehicles for pleasure driving and other purposes personal to the operator and not authorized by their Certificate of War Necessity.

Harold L. Frier, Manager, warns that such practices are in direct violation of ODT regulations. Unlike holders of "A", "B" and "C" gasoline rations, persons to whom "T" rations are issued are entitled to no pleasure or other personal use of those rations. Gasoline is allotted to commercial vehicle owners through their Certificates of War Necessity only for the purpose of carrying on essential transportation in connection with their business or occupation.

According to Mr. Frier, investigations are now being conducted in several cases of alleged violations in this area. In those instances where disobedience of the pleasure driving ban is established, gasoline allotments will be reduced in proportion to the extent of the unnecessary driving in each individual case, in cases of particularly flagrant violations, the rations may be revoked and recalled in their entirety.

Soil Conservation Demonstration Farms Being Developed In County

Leonard J. Brumm, soil conservationist from Michigan State College, and Lee N. Rosencrans, district soil conservationist, are spending Friday, July 23rd, making plans for demonstration farms. The Gettleson farm, formerly known as the Paddock farm, will be the first in the county to be developed as a demonstration.

In the course of two or three years it is planned to change the boundaries of fields if desirable and to adopt new practices that will prevent fertility losses and soil erosion. Contour farming operations will be carried on to save the soil.

It is hopeful that two or three additional farms may be selected in other communities to serve as a guide to local farmers as to the proper practices to carry out in soil conservation. It is more and more important that we keep our steep hillsides in a sod condition if we want to save the soil. Also strip cropping should be practiced on more farms in the county.

Anything that can be done to save our rainfall will reflect in better results as usually rainfall is our limiting factor in crop production.

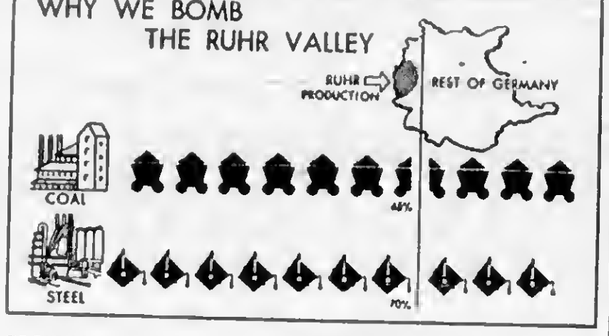
WHY WE BOMB THE RUHR VALLEY



SICILY:
Allies Advance

As a great bridge of 3,000 ships poured troops onto conquered beachheads of Sicily, American forces drove 20 miles inland to join up with the British at Ragusa, an important communication junction dominating high ground in the area.

Along the eastern coast of the island, the British captured the naval base of Augusta and then made landings to the south of the great port of Catania. The movements placed Gen. Bernard Montgomery's forces within 55 miles of Messina, terminal of the ferry route from the toe of the Italian boot.

Only around the American beachhead of Gela did heavy early fighting develop. Here, the celebrated Goering division teamed with an Italian force to counter-attack, and though the enemy drove through to the sandy shore, Gen. George Patton's troops sealed the breach.

Against the 144,000 Axis troops defending Sicily, the Allies were reputed to have put up at least 10 divisions of 150,000 men in the early stages of the campaign. With airdromes established in the island's picturesque olive groves of the southeast, Allied airmen assaulted enemy landing fields, shot up motorized convoys and roads, and bombed shipping to the north.

PACIFIC:
Win Another Round

Hovering in the approaches of the Kula gulf, American naval units took another broadside at Japanese warships seeking to supply enemy troops penned at the Munda airfield on New Georgia island. In the exchange of salvos, four and probably six Jap cruisers and destroyers were sunk. No American losses were announced.

Near Munda, American troops, picking their way through the thick jungle, encountered stiffening resistance from the entrapped enemy. Earlier, U. S. forces had wiped out a Japanese stronghold on an inlet to the northeast of the island.

Collaborating with the sea and ground forces, American airmen continued hammering at Japanese installations throughout the 700-mile arc of offensive. The enemy air base at Vila above New Georgia island and another in the Shortland islands to the northwest were raided.

In New Guinea, the Allies were making use of the supply route from the beach where General MacArthur had established a base early in the offensive, to Mubo, about 15 miles inland and just below the Japanese stronghold of Salamaua.

WAR BUREAUS:
Get $2,911,697,224

After paring the OPA's request for funds by 22 million dollars and the Office of War Information's by 10 million dollars, congress appropriated $2,911,697,224 for the government's war agencies in bills approved by President Roosevelt.

A total of 848 million dollars was appropriated for the department of agriculture. The department of the interior received 105 million dollars, including 22 million dollars for the irrigation of food producing lands. Other bills provide for 100 million dollars for new war housing and 15 million dollars for food relief.

Also signed by the President was legislation for authorizing the use of government held silver for industrial purposes; for establishing a pharmacy corps in the army; for providing for emergency flood control work, and for settling boundary lines between Iowa and Nebraska.

CROPS:
Prospects Down

Overall crop production for 1943 is expected to be about 10 per cent below last year, according to estimates of the department of agriculture. With a tight situation in corn already existent, it was predicted current acreage would yield 2 billion, 706½ million bushels, 15 per cent below the 1942 harvest.

Wheat production is expected to approximate 790,823,000 bushels, 200 millions below 1942. Oats were expected to be down 8.6 per cent at 1 billion 242½ million bushels; barley down 17.4 per cent at 350 million bushels, and rye down 41 per cent at 33,562,000 bushels.

Generally good yields were expected from the 15,434,000 acres of soybeans seeded. Approximately 39 per cent less sugar beet acreage was planted than in 1942. However, higher acreage for dry beans, peas, peanuts, flaxseed, rice and potatoes spelled higher production. Truck crops were expected to drop 11 per cent.

In signing the $848,000,000 agricultural supply bill, President Roosevelt deprecated the elimination of crop insurance from the measure. Congress had provided over $3,000,000 for liquidation of the service.

RUSSIA:
Reds Counter-Attack

Bitter fighting on the Russian front spread, with Russian units counter-attacking fiercely above Orel, northernmost pivot of the 160-mile front bending southward to Belgorod.

Announcement of the counter-attack was made by the Nazis after the Russians had claimed that they had checked the Germans in the Orel-Belgorod region after initial break-throughs.

In the battle of the giants, London said, the Nazis had thrust wedges of 20 miles into Russian lines above Belgorod, but that the Reds had temporarily slowed the drives and were now throwing their tanks and artillery at the German flanks in an effort to pinch them off from the main forces.

Besides claiming successes around Belgorod, the Nazis asserted they had progressed at the northern anchor of Orel. Some extent of the fighting may be gleaned from Nazi and Russian claims, which put total tank losses at 3,000.

FOOD:
Less Dairy Products

The 46.3 pounds of butter, cheese canned and dried milk consumed by Americans in 1942 will be cut to 31.3 pounds in the next 12 months following the War Food administration's allocation of supplies among civilians, the military and lend-lease.

Of the four products, only butter production will drop for the period, from 2 billion 170 million pounds to 1 billion 670 million pounds. Under the allocation, every person will receive 13.5 pounds of butter for the 12 months compared with 16.5 pounds in 1942.

Cheese output is expected to soar to 915 million pounds, but civilian quotas will approximate 4.1 pounds per person against 6.7 pounds last year. Despite record production of canned and dried milk, every consumer will get 8.4 pounds less of canned milk for a total of 12.1 pounds and 1 pound less of dried milk or 1.0 pounds in all.

WFA pointed out that these quotas are subject to change, depending upon the rate of production throughout the next 12 months. Therefore, they may go up, or again, they may go down.

U. S. WARPLANES:
Criticize Production

Pulling no punches, the Truman defense investigating committee delved into America's record aircraft production and came up with strong criticism of certain phases of the industry.

The committee attacked the Curtiss-Wright aeronautical company for improper inspection of engines; expressed disappointment with Ford's slowness in coming into bomber production; declared certain makes of fighters and bombers had proven unsatisfactory in action, and, in turn, praised the development of new models, like the Grumman Hellcat and Mustang 51.

Summed up, the committee's report reflected the growing pains experienced by the American aircraft industry in its gigantic expansion in the last few years. Whereas one plant was assailed for sacrificing quality for production, several others were criticized for their slowness in putting out superior models.

MARTINIQUE:
Helps Allies

The aircraft carrier Bearn, the light cruisers Emile Bertin and Barfleur, a half dozen tankers and several merchant ships were put into the service of the Allied cause with the French National committee's assumption of authority over the Caribbean island of Martiniqua, previously in the Vichy camp.

With Martiniqus also went control of a cache of 300 million dollars in gold, taken there upon the fall of France.

In its adherence to Vichy, Martiniqua had been considered a danger-spot to U. S. defenses in the Caribbean, on the outskirts of the Atlantic ocean and midway between North and South America. High Commissioner Georges Robert's political position had resulted in a falling out with Washington, and all U. S. food shipments to the island were shut off. With hunger rampant, Robert threw in the sponge.

Sicily Rugged Island

Sticking out like a great, big rock at the toe of the Italian boot, Sicily is an island about the size of Maryland, with a normal population of 4 million. Flanking the straits that separate it from North Africa, it has been a frequent battleground throughout world history, for whoever holds it threatens the western passage of the Mediterranean.

Sicily is peculiar in topography. From its sandy, coastal plains, the land gradually rises to a plateau of 1,600 feet. Then from the midst of this plateau springs a mountain chain, which effectively divides the southern half of the island from the north. Chief peak of this mountainous backbone is Mt. Etna, 10,739 feet.

Because of its ruggedness, Sicily has never been rich. Fruits, olives, figs and wheat are the principal food products. Sulphur and asphalt deposits have been well developed.

GUNDAR HAGG:
Good-Will Envoy

Seemingly, athletes are the best of the European ambassadors. Paavo Nurmi, the famous Finnish long-distance runner, set the fashion years ago, and now the latest of the good-will ambassadors is the equally celebrated Swedish track marvel, Gundar Hagg.

Chief virtue of these athletes is their outstanding ability and success in living up to their headlines. Hagg is a brilliant example. In one of his early performances here, Gundar broke the American record for two miles in 8:53.9.

Like most Europeans, Hagg has come to the American cinder path determined to win not for the sake of winning, but to uphold Swedish prestige. He goes about his training as naturally as you'd take a walk. When he works out in his native Sweden, he does so by romping over the picturesque countryside like any boy on a lark. No fancy or artificial hi-jinks for him.

DADS:
Draft Delay Sought

In an effort to forestall the induction of fathers, the War Manpower commission was reported to be studying plans for reducing list of essential occupations for childless married men. At the present time, there are 35 such occupations, with thousands of specific jobs in those activities.

According to the same reports, the WMC was urging the army to reduce its demands to the minimum. Recently, the agency said the services were planning the call of 3 million men within the next year, exclusive of replacements. Insistence on drafting men for replacements, the WMC said, would result in the induction of fathers.

FARM MACHINERY:
Increase Output

By increasing allocations of carbon steel to the farm machine industry, production of sorely needed agricultural implements should attain a volume 20 per cent of the 1941 output.

According to advices, most of the production will be centered in the smaller shops. Normally an 85 million dollar business annually, half of farm machinery output is concentrated in Illinois.

HOG PARASITES REDUCE THRIFT

Dipping Effective Against Lice and Mange.

By CLIFFORD J. FAWCETT
(Extension Animal Husbandman, Massachusetts State College.)

Probably hogs are more affected by parasites, particularly the external type, than any other class of livestock. Infestation with either internal or external parasites results in lack of thrift, and the poor development of young pigs. Moreover, feed is too costly to give to parasites.

Hog lice and mange are the two principal external parasites affecting hogs.

Hogs suffering from lice or mange, or both, can be suspected by their persistent and vigorous rubbing against any convenient object. They may even rub off some of the hair and make the skin raw. Lice can be detected with the naked eye, but one needs a magnifying glass to see the common mange mite.

The common methods of eradication for both lice and mange are: 1—dipping, 2—spraying, 3—wallows, 4—oilers, and 5—hand applications. Dipping is the most effective method and should be used whenever possible.

When a dipping vat is not available, careful hand application of the chosen remedy may be practiced. Application may be made with a sprayer, brush, mop, or a piece of cloth. Many good pork producers have secured excellent results with oilers. Special care should be taken in distributing the remedy in a thin coat over the body surface; be sure to include the inside of the ears, the flanks, and between the thighs. The following remedies, when applied by hand, are effective for lice and mange control: 1—undiluted crude petroleum oil; 2—waste crankcase oil; 3—kerosene and lard mixed in the proportion of one-half pint of kerosene to one pound of lard.

Hogs that have been oiled should not be exposed to extreme cold or to bright sunshine too soon after treatment.

Summer Range Shelters Improve Poultry Flock

Summer range shelters will pay as much on the investment as any other expenditure the poultryman can make, according to T. T. Brown, extension poultryman of North Carolina State college.

Where more than 100 birds are kept, the shelter results in feed economy and healthier, more thrifty pullets. This assures the producer of a more economical egg production and a lower pullet mortality.

The shelter should be placed on clean land where ample tender green feed and shade are available.

The shelter that Extension Service poultrymen have found to be the most economical and satisfactory is A-shaped with the eaves about two feet from the ground and the peak of the roof about 5 feet 10 inches. The shelter is 9 by 10 feet in size and will accommodate 100 pullets.

"The use of the summer range shelter helps to eliminate disease and intestinal parasites, puts vigor into the pullets, and makes for better egg size and production by properly developing the birds," Brown said.

Livestock Endangered By Poisonous Plants

Part of the annual loss of livestock from poisonous plants can be prevented by avoiding overgrazing and by furnishing plenty of supplemental feed during periods of scarce pasture, according to L. V. Sherwood, assistant chief of crop production at the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

These poisonous plants are in fence corners, in pastures and in the hay fields, often unrecognized until after they have poisoned the animals. Human beings, as well as animals, may die from the effect of the plants.

Other poisonous plants are bull nettle, buttercup, wild cherry, cocklebur, corn cockle, tall crowfoot, Dutchman's breeches, water hemlock, common horsetail, Indian turnip, Jack-in-the-pulpit, jimson weed, Johnson grass, dwarf larkspur, black locust, whorled milkweed, black nightshade, oak, poke berry and staggerweed.

Vast Phosphate Supply

The United States has phosphate supplies sufficient to last 5,000 or 6,000 years, practically unlimited sources of nitrogen and potash reserves ample for generations to come. "Yet," says a statement of the Middle West Soil Improvement Committee, "this country uses only a fraction as much fertilizer for improving the soil of its farms and promoting crop production as do the nations of Europe—and they have far more limited supplies.

Money spent here—stays here.

The Axes Against the Axis; Here's Toughest Home Front Job

To meet a goal of 200,000,000 feet of airplane spruce this year for bombers, Canadian lumberjacks are rushing an all-out effort. More than a thousand years old, eight-feet thick, and towering 250 feet straight up, the 100-ton spruce colossi crash to earth under the hammering blows of the lumbermen's axes. So arduous is the lumberjack's work that they "burn out" in three months, are sent home to recuperate.

Above: Jack Crosse (left) and Ollie Bruckees are a two-man team that's been battering down these giant spruce for ten years. They're notching a tree with their razor-sharp axes. Right: Tony Varga, 242-pound Hungarian, is typical of the woodsmen engaged in the spruce logging project. Ex-wrestlers, boxers, seamen, and longshoremen are enlisted in this giant lumbering program.

A huge 12-foot wide spruce is felled—crashing to earth with the force of its 100 tons of weight. Pound for pound, these spruce are stronger than steel and getting them down is considered the most gruelling job on the home front.

A spruce log train rolls toward the river where the logs will be floated to a mill. Soon this wood will be part of a Canadian-built mosquito bomber. Once again the spruce will proudly rise high into the air. This time to help bomb the Axis.

These fuselages are nearly ready for the final assembly line—where the final transformation of great spruces to speedy mosquito bombers will take place.

The finished product. A mosquito bomber soars over the clouds. The result of the labors of the hard-working lumberjacks.

I'd often wondered what had happened to young Don Tillotson, and after brousing around to find out, discovered that he's instructing airplane mechanics for the U. S. nevy out in Le Mars, Iowa. Don's been gone from home quite a spell, you know, and since leaving has acquired federal licenses as airplane mechanic, pilot, repairman, and a lot of other things, and when the war started, the government nabbed him as an instructor. It's the largest training school of its type in the country, I understand.

Noting from the Boyne Citizen that our neighboring city's recent school meeting was "marked by the large attendance of six voters besides the board members themselves, secretary and superintendent of schools," we might give them the advice that the way to get a record turn-out at school meetin's is to start a rip-roaring fight.

A man will sometimes devote all his life to the development of one part of bis body — the wishbone.

You might not know it, but what was left of the old Pere Marquette transfer dock on Lake Charlevoix off the depot has been razed. The railroad had the piling pulled and re-driven in the upper channel to strengthen the bridge piers. Frank Sears' outfit did the work there and is also driving piling and sheeting up the bank on the north side of the lower channel east of the highway bridge in preparation for landscaping those grounds. I remember as a kid when the old steamers City of Boyne and Hum used to make regular daily stops at the railway transfer deck and the quickest way to get to the depot was by boat.

Congratulations to the Girl Scouts, who sold over a thousand dollars' worth of war bonds and stamps last week at the CSO booth down on the Central Drug store corner, best sales record made by any organization to take charge of the booth yet this summer. The V. F. W. has the booth this week, and will have to hustle to better the mark set by the girls.

Scanning a bound volume of "Petersen's Magazine," published in Philadelphia in 1859, we found directions for remitting subscription money which sound strange to this day and age. Instructing subscribers to enclose gold coins wrapped in paper within the letter, the publisher warned emphatically: "Tell no one your letter contains money. Do not register it." We kid the boys a lot about throwing the packages that are marked "fragile," but evidently a hundred years ago there was a definite mistrust for the safety of articles put into the United States mails. Times have changed in that respect.

In closing there's the old saying: "By staying on the level you'll probably have a better chance to reach the top oven if you started at the bottom."

CHIEFS EXPRESSED APPROVAL OF CITY

Ballad Benders Entertained At Closing Banquet

Hearty approval of Charlevoix as a convention city was expressed by delegates at the 1943 War Time Conference of the Michigan Association of Chiefs of Police, who concluded their three-day meeting here last Wednesday night.

Governor Harry F. Kelly, speaking at the banquet that evening at the Belvedere Hotel, summarized Michigen's accomplishments during the present war, and outlined plans for the state's future in peacetime. As an integral factor in good government of our country in future years, he promised that the state should have the best juvenile guidance program in the whole United States.

Entertainers at the closing banquet were the Ballad Benders quartette, whose barber shop harmony was received with enthusiasm by the guests. Fred Gleason and Jack Freethy, of Traverse City, also entertained.

The association elected Chief Ted A. Rico, of Owosso, as president succeeding Chief Den E. L. Patch, of Ypsilanti. Chief Michael Ettenhofer, of Escanaba, was advanced to first vice-president, and Chief Lawrence Know, of Wayne, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Convention arrangements made by Chief Clarence Heise and Miss Rae Ann Grsvaer, Belvedere Hotel manager, provided a pleasant stay for the delegates.

WORKERS WANTED FOR SURGICAL DRESSINGS

Large Quota Received Recently By Local Red Cross

Workers are needed at the Red Cross work room in the city hall to aid in making up the huge quota of surgical dressings recently received.

KIWANIS MEETING WELL ATTENDED

Coach Charles Bachman Was The Principal Speaker

The American physical fitness program as developed through competitive sports in high schools and colleges where strategy, team play and the ability to think quickly gives the athletic soldier an advantage on the field of battle was stressed in an interesting talk by the Michigan State College football coach, Charles Bachman, at the weekly meeting of the local Kiwanis Club on Tuesday evening.

Secretary Dean Davenport gave a report on the gradual increase in membership in Kiwanis International and stated that the local club membership had grown proportionately. Higher club membership attendance is reported even though wartime duties have affected many individuals active participation.

Joseph Foster spoke on the Charlevoix Bomber Campaign, which opens next Monday, and received enough volunteers to enlarge his committee membership to 20 workers.

CHARLEVOIX COURIER

VOLUME 48 NUMBER 30 EIGHT PAGES — THE CHARLEVOIX COURIER, WEDNESDAY, JULY 28, 1943 — PRICE $2.00 PER YEAR

SERVICE HONOR ROLL IS BUILT

CITY CONSTRUCTS BOARD IN EAST PARK

List of Names Published In This Issue; Public Asked to Add Any Which Are Omitted

On page 3 of this week's issue of the Courier is published a list of names of service men and women from Charlevoix and rural routes, which will appear on the honor roll now being constructed by the city of Charlevoix in East Park.

Purpose of publishing the list is to submit it for public scrutiny, to determine whether any names have unintentionally been omitted which should be place on the honor roll. Also, there is a possibility that some service men now on the list have been discharged from service, and these names should be removed.

Readers are asked to study the list carefully, and to communicate at once with the Courier office if they discover any omissions, or any names which should not be on the roll. It is desired to have the honor roll as complete and accurate as possible, and the fullest cooperation will be required to do so. As there is no existing master list of service men, the names to go on the roll were compiled from various sources.

Persons submitting additional names should state the following facts: whether the service man or woman was born in Charlevoix, attended city or rural schools here, approximately how many years resided here, what relatives of his now reside here, and whether the person considers Charlevoix or the immediate vicinity to be his home.

Placing of names on the honor roll depends on any of these considerations, or a combination of them. A person who, though born here, left several years ago and has not maintained ties with this city, is not as worthy of a place on the roll as one who came here from some other place and chose this city as his home.

The honor roll, made in two sections which form a V-shaped sign rather than the flat board originally placed in Memorial park, has space for 700 names. The list at present contains about 400, and additions will be made as necessary.

AWARD GIVEN COUNTY ON RED CROSS DRIVE

Distinguished Achievement 1943 War Fund Campaign

The Charlevoix County chapter of the American Red Cross has received an award certificate from national Red Cross headquarters for distinguished achievement in the 1943 emergency war fund campaign.

This county was given a quota of $4,400 for the fund, and with the hearty cooperation of all county residents, succeeded in raising a total of $7,800. Of this amount, about $5,000 was remitted to the national Red Cross organization for war relief, services to our men and women fighting here and abroad, and for civilian disaster relief in America.

The record made by Charlevoix county in the war fund campaign is one of which every person may be proud.

FOURTH STAR IN ECCLESTON FLAG

BECOME FOURTH FAMILY TO GAIN RECOGNITION

Robert, Joseph, Charles Schwab, William Eccleston Are All In Nation's Service

Fourth Charlevoix family to show four stars on their service flag is that of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Eccleston, who added another star this week when Dr. Robert Schwab left Petoskey to enter training at Carlisle Barracks, Pa.

Commissioned a first lieutenant in the army medical corps a year ago, Dr. Schwab will be at Carlisle Barracks for six weeks and will then be stationed at Nashville, Tenn., air base. He is a graduate of Petoskey high school and the University of Kansas medical school, has been practicing for some time in Minneapolis, Minn. For the past three weeks he and Mrs. Schwab have been in Petoskey with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Myles O'Donnell.

Bob's younger brother, Master Sgt. Joseph M. Schwab, has not been home since his enlistment in the army air corps in June, 1939. He has been in Panama for most of his enlistment. At present he is radio operator on the Flying Fortress "Swoose," made famous as the leading character of the recently published book, "Queens Die Proudly," by William L. White. The "Swoose," is the only Fortress to go through the entire eastern engagement from Clark field in the Philippines, through Java fighting and an Australian campaign, to come to rest finally on a San Francisco airfield.

Training Cooks for the World's Best Fed Army

America prides itself on producing the best fed, best clothed, best equipped army in the world. Helping to maintain this standard are the schools for bakers and cooks. Left: At the Fort Sam Houston school students are learning to prepare coffee with a tripod and a Dixie Boiler. The men kneeling are heating dehydrated foods in their mess kits over the fire. Center: A student baker is adding shortening to other ingredients in the dough mixer. Bakers learn to operate movable and immovable equipment. Right: A typical doughboy samples the result of the school's training. Ninety per cent of the students who become expert cooks and bakers were not able to fry potatoes properly before entering training school.

CHAMPION SWIMMER BEACH HOTEL GUEST

Open Ocean Swim Record Holder Planning Next Attempt

Paul Chotteau, world's champion long-distance swimmer, is at the Beech Hotel as guest of Peter J. Bolger, of the Crude Oil Co. of Grand Rapids.

A native of France, Mr. Chotteau holds his title because of an all-time record for an open ocean swim established Aug. 1936, when he was 45 years old, swimming 114½ miles from South Bimini island, in the Bahama group, to a point off the coast of Florida. Fighting sharks and bucking tides all the way, Mr. Chotteau failed to gain the Florida shore, but intends to go back and make another and successful attempt at the swim.

He served more than three years in the French army during the first World War, and came to this country in 1029. He now holds a civilian job at the Miami army air base, and is planning his next try at the Bahama-to-Florida swim after the war. In addition to his record as a swimmer, Mr. Chotteau is also an accomplished violinist.

FEWER FISHERMEN ARE LICENSED THIS YEAR

Conservation Department Reports Decline of 20.05 Per Cent

Bearing out pre-season calculations, which predicted a 25% drop in the number of fishermen in Michigan during the 1943 season, figures announced by the state conservation department revealed a decline of just 20.05% in the number of fishing licenses sold through June — only slightly less than the estimate on which the department's budget for the 1943 season was based.

A total of 223,910 fish licenses were sold by the department during 1043 so far, as compared with 280,226 for the same period last year.

YOUTH FACING MURDER COUNT

LESTER McCLANAGHAN HELD PENDING SANITY TEST

Body of Howard Dale Dodd Found Last Wednesday; Drowning Result of Quarrel

Lester McClannghan, 18, of Marion township, waived examination in justice court Saturday night on a charge of murder. Arrested in connection with the drowning of Howard Dale Dodd, 14, son of Emanuel Dodd, he was bound over to circuit court.

McClanaghan was charged with the murder in a warrant issued earlier Saturday by Prosecutor C. M. Bice.

The slender, red-haired youth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry McClinneghan, confessed without emotion, officers said, how on Saturday, July 17, he held young Dodd under water until he stopped struggling following a quarrel, while the two youths were swimming on the west shore of Lake Charlevoix near the old beet sugar factory.

Dodd's death was not discovered until July 21. Although absent from home for five days, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emmanuel Dodd, Ferry avenue, had believed him visiting relatives in Mancelona and were not aware of the tragedy until the youth's body, clad in swimming trunks, was discovered floating off Hemingway point, five miles from the bathing beach.

Recounting events of the previous Saturday, Dodd's parents said a younger sister had been sent to the lake to find him when he failed to return for supper. She met McClanaghan, who was known to have been with Howard, and he offered to go after him. Having already committed the crime, he went back to the shore and made

FOSTER BOATS SEEN AT TWO NAVAL BASES

Local Firm's Product In Pacific And Caribbean Stations

Two letters coming recently from local men in service tell of seeing navy craft made by the Foster Boat Co. in two widely separated sections of the continent.

Richard J. Hull, seaman first class stationed at a Caribbean submarine base, wrote his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Emerson Hull; "We have a landing barge that the Foster Boat Co. made and it sure looks nice. We have had it two weeks and my buddy says it sure handles good. I haven't had a chance to try it out yet."

James Annis, member of the amphibious force landing craft unit, wrote the local firm recently, said that at one of the huge piers of the San Diego destroyer base, he saw a plane rearming boat with "Made by Foster Boat Co., Charlevoix, Michigan," on the bow panel, with the date "January" also. The coxswain, he wrote, said it was a fine, seaworthy and sturdy boat.

BUTTER RATION PRICE RAISED TO 10 POINTS

Demand Running Ahead of Supply Allotted Ration Purchasers

The ration price of butter was boosted Tuesday to 10 points a pound, effective Sunday, by the office of price administration. Red stamp cost of ments was left substantially unchanged.

Partially compensating for the two-point rise in stamp value of butter, the OPA lowered the value of shortening, lard, salad and cooking oils by one point. Margarine will remain unchanged at four points. Ration demand for butter has been running about 5 per cent ahead of the amount allocated for civilian use, so the rise was necessary to make the supply last until the end of September.

MOTOR VEHICLE LAW EFFECTIVE FRIDAY

Greater Highway Safety Is Aim of Financial Responsibility Act

Friday, July 30, one of Michigan's most far-reaching moves toward greater highway safety and better public protection takes effect when the recently amended Motor Vehicle Financial Responsibility Act becomes a law at midnight.

Thereafter, every motorist in an accident where anyone is injured or killed must make a written report to the Secretary of State within 10 days. He must also pay all damange claims within 30 days, or show proof of financial responsibility either in the form of an accepted liability insurance policy, or by deposit of cash or a bond up to $11,000 in order to continue to drive in Michigan.

All enforcement provisions of the act are mandatory upon Herman H. Dignan, secretary of state, and must be executed without discretion or option and independent of police or court action.

PROBLEM OF FARM LABOR IS SOLVED

RESORTERS, COUNTY YOUTH WORK IN FIELDS

Many More Volunteers Needed To Pick Beans and Cucumbers, Harvest Potato Crop

Farm crops in Charlevoix county will be cultivated and harvested this year in spite of the serious manpower shortage which confronts farmers. Summer people in this area, and year-around residents have "pitched in" to help produce the food so vitally needed.

To a group of Charlevoix summer residents, headed by Miss Lois Shaeffer of Chicago, can be given credit for helping the emergency farm labor program. Miss Shaeffer better known as "Saucy," has taken this matter seriously. Instead of spending the summer days in vacation pastimes, she has successfully completed the weeding of a 2½ acre beet field, and has organized a group of ten other resorters to assist with cherry picking, transporting them to the orchards in her station wagon "Leeky I."

Mrs. Clarence Feltenbarger, of Charlevoix, with her own children and those of a neighboring family, weeded a 5½ acre beet field which had got entirely out of control of a farmer with more work on his farm than he could possibly do.

Camp Charlevoix has inaugurated a farm program as one of their summer projects, organized by "Chief" Reimann and supervised by counsellors. The campers are now harvesting part of the county's cherry crop.

BOMBER CAMPAIGN OPENED SATURDAY

FIRST BOND IS PURCHASED BY O. GATTI

Local, Summer Residents Working To Put "City of Charlevoix" Bomber In Action

Opening gun in the City of Charlevoix Bomber campaign was fired Saturday night, when O. Gatti, of the Colonial Club, purchased a $1,000 war bond from Miss Peggy Ware, Belvedere Club resident.

At their meeting Monday night, the city council voted purchase of a $5,000 U. S. Treasury certificate of indebtedness. By noon Wednesday, pledges of $75,000 in bonds had been received by the committee, headed by Julius Gilbert, deputy state administrator for the war finance committee, and Robert Bridge, city chairman. Progress of the drive is being recorded on a giant thermometer on the north wall of the Central Drug store, erected and donated by Leo W. Powers.

In this issue of the Courier are advertisements sponsored by local banks and merchants, who are backing the drive to the fullest extent. Committee members are thoroughly canvassing the business, residential and resort districts.

The Belvedere Club and Hotel are in charge of Charles S. Pike, Belvedere Club member, who is making an active campaign there. Park avenue, the north side and Colonial Club are the territory of Mrs. Mary Lou Rosenthal and a committee consisting of Mesdames Eleanore Seadenberg, Marie Meyer, Clara Mock, Olie Pfaelzer, Barbara Marcuse, Alice Zemon, Ruth Davis, Adele Loeb, and Miss Peggy Ware.

On J. M. Foster's business district committee are Charles Martini, Pat Moran, Wilma See, Lucille Byers, Isabel M. Sloan, Dallas Henry, Ada Golden, Gladys Gibson, Bert Staley, Fay Davis, Floyd A. Supp, Dan Geneit, Hurley Ochs, Clifford McKibbin Jr., O. P. North, Fred Bancroft, Lou Comfort, Dean Davenport, R. L. Lewis, Robert F. Sloan, Fenton R. Bulow, Doris Solomon.

FOSTER BOAT COMPANY OFFERS CANVAS STOCK

Limited Civilian Needs May Be Supplied By Firm

As a courtesy to merchants and residents of this community, the Foster Boat Company has opened its canvas fabrication facilities to civilian needs on a limited basis.

Military requirements of necessity will take precedence. However, where repair work or new fabrication of non critical material can be facilitated without interference with war work, orders will be accepted.

The canvas division of the Foster Boat Company has a limited amount of material in prints, drill, duck, also tarpaulin stock, which can be converted to civilian use such as awnings, curtain drops, and truck and boat covers.

This stock is limited, and when sold, from all indications, no additional stock purchases will be possible for the duration for civilian use.

SHOT AT RANDOM

By KEN USHER

No trouble to tell which sex is the most modest, these warm days.

Perhaps you, like myself, noticed a lot of people hobbling around sort of lame-like Monday morning. Well, if you want to know the truth, what ailed them was huckleberry rheumatism. About every other person I talked to that day had been over somewhere on the eastern plains the day before, all got some berries, mosquito bites and lame joints. This war and high prices has really done wonders for people though.

When the striking miners were given the choice of going back to the mines or into the army, they went back to the mines just as most of us expected they would.

All you have to do in order to find out whether or not people read the paper is make a mistake. That item about the Berdan place stirred up an awful ruckus and you know, had anyone taken the time to ask me about it the first place, I'd have put them right and we'd saved a whale of a lot of telephone calls, paper and postage stamps. Well, we're mighty glad to find out so many people read the paper, anyway.

The New Deal has made the American farmer the world's prize guinea pig.

When a man prefers peanut butter rather than peanuts, vegetable soup rather than salads, and stewed fruit rather than melons or pears — it's a sign of middle age. Furthermore, why isn't a well-cooked meat stew as tasty as steak?

Ike: "A box of quackers."

LETTERS from the ARMY CAMPS

Dear Ken,

I received the paper last week, was I glad to get it. I read it over two or three times, found something new every time.

I saw James Annis Wednesday night, and was out with Ken Staley Saturday night this week. Ken and I will be together Saturday and Sunday.

While I was working yesterday out on the docks, I thought up a little something about the marines. Here it is: You can have your army khaki and your navy blue, for here is another fighter I'll introduce to you. His uniform is different, the finest you've ever seen; the huns call him a devil-dog, his real name is marine. He was trained in San Diego, the land that God forgot, where the sand is fourteen inches deep and the sun is scorching hot. He has washed many a dish and many a dish has dried, it was there he learned to make a bed and a broom he sure can guide. He has peeled a million onions and twice as many spuds, and his spare time he spends in cleaning all his duds. Now girls, here is a little tip I'm passing on to you — get yourself a marine, for there is nothing he can't do. And when he goes to heaven, to St. Peter he will tell: "Another marine reporting, Sir, I've spent my time in Hell." That's what I call "Marine Training."

Tell Art Fagan, the night watchman, I still think about him. Same about Joe Smith, the flatfoot. So long, Ken.

Yours truly,
Ralph.

Dear Ken,

I have been receiving the Charlevoix Courier for some time through a private source. I have long intended writing to let you know I enjoy each issue fully as much as your local boys. Consequently, tonight I am utilizing part of my relaxation period to make my good intentions a reality.

I spent over eleven months at the local coast guard station, which as I look back was the nicest period of my enlistment. During this

CAMP CHARLEVOIX WEEKLY COLUMN

J. C. Wyan, Camp Scribe

In a humorous little ceremony last Sunday night at the supper table, an important lesson was brought home to the campers. Father Time entered the dining hall and demonstrated to the campers the fleetness of his life. Dressed in a white cloak, and carrying his famed scythe, Father Time hobbled up to Chief Reimann and shakily greeted him. In a short conversation each observed that time goes by swiftly. Then as Chief pronounced "Tempus fugit" Father Time turned the wall clock ahead one hour, and the aging fellow slowly moved out. Now "camp time" is identicel with Central War Time, having been changed so that the campers could still claim the best part of each day for their activities, even as the nights are growing noticeably longer.

And time has gone by rapidly; for Camp Charlevoix is beginning the second half of its 1043 season this week. The first month has come and gone. The campers have had many new experiences in the out-of-doors.

One of these experiences was the chance to get acquainted with Coach Charlie Bachman who has returned to Michignn State Colleg only recently. When after a stay of two weeks "Charlie" had to leave his young friends who had studied football with him, there was a long queue of well wishers who shook his hand and wished him well. And with a big send-off "Charlie" went back to East Lansing.

Saturday's Aquacade was a splashing success. Co-directors Angell and Daily staged a full afternoon's schedule of exciting events. It was a sunny day; visitors and spectators lined the bank and cheered for their Green or Grey swimmers who competed. The first event, a 40-yard free style race was won by Cary Bachman; he was followed to the winning tape by Paul Dixon, Bill Thompson, Bart Grimes, and the two Junior participants, Dave Ball and Billy Fitzpatrick. The next race required the swimmers to do forty yards by breast stroke. Bob House came in first, Dick Noel second, Johnny MacDowell third, Gene Chapman fourth, Fred Pryor, fifth, and Fred McGregor sixth.

The forty yard back stroke competition was won by Dick Noel; and he was followed by George Dowley, Brian Kelly, Pete Mann, and the Junior team delegates Dave Ball, and Dave Harding. In the 220 yard free style race Jim Naylor won first place, second went to George Dowley, third Dick Noel, fourth Fred McGregor. The individual medley in which the contestants had to swim a different specified stroke each lap was won by Cary Bachman; and he was followed closely by George Dowley, Dick Noel and Fred McGregor, the same swimmers who had excelled in the other races. The races were followed by a lot of wet foolishness in the way of cabin stunts. Cabin fifteen's stunt was tied with Cabin 17 for first prize; Andre Savard acted the part of a well dressed man who was pushed into the lake by three friends. But he got his revenge by dousing all three of the others. Cabin 17 did a good job of mimicking Izaak Walton Deal on one of his well-known fishing excursions.

As a fitting end to the races and stunts the first Mile Swim of this summer was run off. Sixteen fellows swam the course. Each two swimmers were accompanied by two counsellors in a life boat which went with them all the way to the half mile buoy in the middle of Lake Charlevoix and back. Those who accomplished this feat were George Dowley, Bill Thompson, Barry Ewbank, Tommy Tomlinson, Frank and Paul Smith, Tommy Thompson, John MacDonell, Brian and Harry Kelly, John Lerch, David Harding, Buddy Loranger, Bob King, Bill Scher, Bob Baker. Charles Green swam the half mile. The names of these swimmers will be entered on the wall chart in the Club House where each year's mile swimmers are recorded. The Aquacade's two stars were Dick Noel, who gained the most points for his team, and George Dowley, who won the second most points.

Five more campers have passed their 100-yard swimming tests: Bobby Scher, Billy Jacobs, Tom Keenan, George Palmer, and Bob Stoll. Junior campers are now entering canoe classes to learn how to paddle these craft. Because of choppy waters there was no sailing race last week. But Cabin 14 took a sail boat trip to Horton Bay whence they hiked into Boyne City for a movie. This cabin under the leadership of their counsellor Maurice Dixon ran into rough weather but returned to camp safely and happy from the experience. Next Saturday the Waterfront Committee will present a water carnival with diving competition and other features.

This week saw the welcome of three new campers, Richard Morey of Elmhurst, Illinois, John nKight from Battle Creek, and Dennis Croghan from Birmingham. They will be here for the latter half of the camping season. As the half way mark is reached in the period, each cabin is planning to elect a new camp council representative.

The ceramics teachers now have a large display cabinet in the handicraft shop where the finished glazed articles can be seen. The varied colored objects make a pretty sight, brightly colored pitchers, dishes, and modeled animals.

Sunday afternoon's sports event was a challenge baseball game between the varsity and the assistant counsellors. The varsity which was defeated only a week before by the counsellors, also fell to the assistants in a 10-6 score. In the last inning the varsity had bases loaded, and two outs, thus threatening to tie the score. But they failed in this, and lost.

Visitors to the Camp for the past week were Dr. and Mrs. E. E. Buskirk, Mrs. B. E. Jacobs, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Nyquist, Mrs. Maurice Dixon, Vonnie Dixon, and Jack Dixon, Dr. and Mrs. Richard L. Waggoner who attended the Aquacade, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Tabor, Mrs. M. C. Dykhouse, Mrs. B. W. Bellinger, and Mrs. Mann. Though fewer parents are visiting the Camp this summer, there are still a number who find their way to Charlevoix. It is the hope of Cowboy Loy Clingman who is training the campers for the Rodeo that many dads and mothers will find it possible to attend. The Rodeo and Dad's Day will be held the same time this year — August 21.

The work projects for the campers are accomplishing much. Many of the older boys' cabins have gone to nearby farms to aid in picking the cherry crops. For this they are paid by the lug. In addition to this, DeVillo Hubbard, Bob Daniels and John Barker picked enough cherries for pies to be served to the entire camp dining room. Mrs. Sowers' pies and cakes never fail to evoke a "Chinese toast" from the camp group. The Camp victory garden is producing more and more for the table; this week work projects have included bean picking at the garden from which lettuce, onions, radishes, and peppers have already come. The tall totem pole which was carved by George Bach a few years ago is taking on a new coat of paint from the brush of Sherwood Daily. The assistant counsellors recently built a high watch tower for the waterfront guards to survey the area.

Station WLCR broadcast from the Club House Saturday night. "Paul McNeil" directed and led the radio show. Accordion Chris played a number of familiar tunes and Phil Steding sang popular songs. Russ Teague gave a reading. George Dowley and oJhnny MacDowell gava a comedian sklt. A group of radio players including Bill Fnrioy, Bud Loranger, Bill Scher, David Baker, Charles Groen, and Buck Dillon read a thriller playlet, "Trapped." Sound effects were handled by Hal Caldwell, Bob Angell, Jerry Burke, Bob Mulligan and Lew Stoerker staged the radio show.

In Sunday's Chapel Dick Conners led the service, Jim Naylor read the Scripture, and Bob Baker the prayer. Sherwood Daily spoke on the presence of God in nature; he described the beauties of nature as we have them here at Camp and told of his own faith in their Creator. Buddy Loranger, Bill Farley, Bill Thompson, Howard Kay, Mike Foster sang with Mrs. Reimann in the anthem, "The Lord is My Shepherd." Chapel offerings are being sent to three benevolences which the campers chose: the support of two war orphans, the support of a boy in the University of Michigan Fresh Air Camp, and the buying of recreational equipment for New Haven's Children's Building.

Sunday evening Vespers were held for the Juniors who sang "Day is Dying In The West," and heard a continuation of the God In Nature theme with special emphasis on Joyce Kilmer's "Trees." The older campers' Vespers had a hymn sing, and a description of the chaplains' work in the Army and Navy.

Cabin 13 still leads the camp in points for cabin clean-up; they are closely contested for first place by cabins 12 and 10. The Intermediat cabins held a story contest around the fireplace a few evenings ago. One representative from each cabin told a story. Fred McGregor told the winning tale, a ghost story with a surprise finish. George Dowley, Fred Shapiro, Bill Scher, Jerry Burke, Bob King, Frank Cornelius, and Gene Chapman also offered stories.

Junior cabins are having special baseball lessons from Coach Bob Livermore who has had batting practice, and throwing catching sessions with them. The Juniors are preparing a play for the entertainment of the rest of the camp next Saturday evening. They spent last Friday evening climbing over stolid Tango, the camp donkey. She took them for rides by twos and threes when she felt like it. The Junior section went for a hike, swim, and cook-out at Strawberry Point last Wednesday afternoon. They are learning to box and wrestle, and are enthusiastic campers, all.

The Green and Gray teams are running neck and neck in all their contests, and now after baseball, track, and swimming competition have a score of 11 to 10 with the Greens in the lead for the time being. Wednesday night will be all-camp Gyp night; and the pranks will be many. Tests for distinction in various activities are being held and passed by the campers. They will get recognition for skills learned on their Camp Certificate. First Aid is being taught to the entire older camper section; and Boy Scouts among the campers are training with Les Pengelly for merit badges and rank advancements. Trips on horseback, hay wagon, boat, canoe, and foot are becoming more frequent. As this is being written, two cabins, 17 and 15, are at Beaver Island. Others will go to Mackinac Island in the near future. Mount McSauby is a favorite spot for overnight trips.

Chief Reimann spoke at the Traverse City Kiwanis meeting last Monday. Mrs. Reimann the Camp Mother is planning a series of birthday parties for the campers who have birthday anniversaries during the camp season. Future plans include another Council Fire, basketball, foul shooting contest, an intercamp rifle match.

One morning last week the camp company witnessed an impressive ceremony at flag raising. A new flag was flown from the flag pole, and the old flag was burned while everyone stood at attention and Fritz Krueger played taps. The new colors fly brightly over the shore of Lake Charlevoix.

4-H STATE FAIR AT MSC SEPT. 6

Topnotch samples of the 1043 projects of more than 50,000 boys and girls in 4-H club work in Michigan will be on the Michigan State College campus at East Lansing on Labor Day, Sept. 6, for the 28th annual State 4-H Club Show.

Announcement of the details comes from A. G. Kettunen, state club leader. Many of the features shown to the public in a similar show in 1942 are retained in this year's program which supplants the fair usually given 10 days at the Detroit fairgrounds.

Premiums made available by the State Department of Agriculture total $11,000. The State Board of Agriculture, the college staff and the board of managers of the Michigan State Fair are cooperating.

Exhibits, exhibitors and 4-H club delegates arrive on the campus Saturday, Sept. 4, to participate in preliminary programs Saturday and Sunday. Judging of dairy cattle, sheep, swine, colts and beef animals begins at 8:30 a.m. Monday. Demonstration contests scheduled during the day include those for dairy, general livestock, poultry, crops, vegetables, handicraft, conservation, citizenship, canning, clothing and school lunches.

Monday's program includes an auction sale at 4:30 p.m. for fat steers, rams and boars. In the evening a livestock parade at 7 p.m. will precede the state 4-H dress revue and a citizenship ceremony.

Exhibits set up for public viewing will include live poultry, eggs, corn, potatoes, beans, vegetables, flowers, handicraft, farm conveniences, farm electrification, wood identification, forest rangers, canning, food preparation, baking, school lunches, clothing, girls' room arrangements, and achievement booths.

Club members conclude their program Tuesday with judging contests in dairy cattle, general livestock, crops, vegetables, and home economics subjects of clothing, canning and foods.

SNIPPING EAR TIPS CURBS CORN EARWORM

Eight to ten days after silk appears and usually after the silk becomes brown and starts drying, sweet corn ear tips can be snipped off with a sharp knife or heavy shears to avoid heavy damage from the corn earworm, advises Ray Hutson, head of the Michigan State College entomology department. Market growers get a premium price for corn free from the corn borer's cousin. Victory gardeners get a better product, more pleasant to handle and to eat. The snipping cuts off the earworm eggs that have been laid on the silk tips. Cutting should not occur, however, before the silk has done its part in fertilizing the corn kernels so they will develop.

"P.D.B." USEFUL IN ANT CONTROL

P.D.B. has gone to war, but there are still some supplies available for use in and around homes in ant control and clothes moth treatments. In full, this is a chemical in crystal form, paradichlorobenzene. Two to three teaspoonfuls poured into an ant colony several inches deep will smother the ants or make them so miserable they will leave the vicinity. The gas action of the crystals lasts several days.

Heavy Rains Bring Great Lakes Almost to Record Levels

Water levels on the Great Lakes are higher than they have been in 14 years or more, state conservation department geologists report from a study of data compiled by the United States Lake Survey office.

Lake Huron and Lake Michigan with a level of 581 feet above sea level are higher than at any period since 1929, when a level of 582.3 feet above sea level was recorded. Lake Superior with a level of 603.19 feet above sea level is challenging the modern high for that lake, which was 603.65, recorded in 1916. Lake Ontario with a level of 248.74 is higher now than it has been at any time since 1870, when it reached an all-time high of 250 feet above sea level. Lake Erie with a level of 574.05 is pushing the modern record for that lake of 574.8, which was set in 1929.

Since 1934 when water levels plunged to an all-time low, levels have steadily climbed, until with the heavy rains of the last several years and especially of this spring, they have reached what geologists consider an abnormally high level, except lakes Huron and Michigan, which are now at about a satisfactory normal.

AT THE MOVIES

The role of Robert Forrest, Katharine Hepburn's husband in "Keeper of the Flame," which comes Sunday and Monday to the Palace Theatre, is one of the strangest on record. The central character in the picture, which stars Spencer Tracy and Miss Hepburn, has a complete wardrobe, is photographed, his voice recorded, and appears in a newsreel. But as a character in the picture he is never seen. He is supposed to have been killed before the picture started, and his death motivates

Rehabilitation and enlargement of the beet sugar factory, and securing of enough pledges for sugar beet acreage to insure a profitable and continuous operation of the plant, was the plan launched Thursday by the Association of Commerce. Albert H. Loeb, has generously offered to cooperate in the project, and a committee comprised of President Crene of the association, R. F. Sloan, A. A. Swinton, Harry Nichols, R. C. Hammet and Charles E. See have started work on it.

Miss Iva May Babcock, former Charlevoix girl, is doing her bit to win the war in Tacoma, Wash., by driving a bread wagon. This 18-year-old miss not only drives the truck but can repair the engine and mend tires. All hail the woman truck driver.

The Argo Milling Co. has received permission from the United State Food Administration to resume milling flour for local consumption. No milling was allowed since July 1.

F. S. Bettes left last week for Grand Rapids, where he has accepted a position with the firm of Heath & Monce, electric repairmen of autos.

Gerry Shores, Jess Fuelses, Raymond Nowland and Timothy Shores leave Thursday morning by auto for Gloucester, Mass.

We are just going to put the old Berdan house in its place this week, it has bothered us a lot lately. After Rollie Lewis corrected our error two weeks ago by saying it was not the present C. M. Bice residence, but was on the site of the John Knight house, we duly published said correction. But the matter was not settled, for last Thursday morning both Mr. Lewis's and the Courier's phones rang madly with old residents calling to tell both of us that the present Walker Miles residence is the actual old Berdan house, as ever was. Walker says the original house is still there, and has been added to in recent years. Perhaps the reason the place was mixed up with the John Knight property is that the mother of Henry Wood, who built the original house on the Knight lot, purchased a half-lot from the Berdan property. Anyway, we are just going to keep our big mouth shut about where things are that we don't even remember, and not try to bluff our way through next time. And really appreciate the interest shown by all those who corrected us on this.

Three ships comprising the Isle Royale expedition, hearing scientists, doctors and equipment stopped here this week on the way to Isle Royale in the hope of discovering some trace of prehistoric man and his methods. Marion—The Loeb school had another board meeting. Everything went along nicely, as the school still stands. (That sounds like some of their meetings must have been knock-down and drag-out affairs — what about it?)

'Twas ever thus: Pleas of tourists and other travelers for continuing the new pavement between Charlevoix and Petoskey are heard. The paving from Bay Shore to Petoskey is quite smooth, but that from Charlevoix to Bay Shore is rough in spots. This route is suggested as eligible for attention under the new federal road program. (Are you listenin', Washington? When the roads to Berlin and Tokio are taken care of, don't forget us.)

Warren Shepton spent four days last week at the Interlochen National music camp. He was recently awarded a place in the baritone section of the all-state orchestra at the annual Traverse City cherry festival.

time I made a number of friends with the permanent residents and the summer visitors. I still recognize many of their names and highly enjoy reading of their activities.

Your "Shot at Random" column is of special interest to me. I used to be a hunting and fishing enthusiast, though now my gear is carefully laid away awaiting my return home. The only fishing I did while in Charlevoix was from the pier by the station. As a true disciple of Isaac Walton, the catches I made were of the type we used to use for bait. Some time in the future I want to make a catch that will make a paragraph in your column.

It may seem a bit odd for an outsider to contribute to your paper, but I have wanted to write for a long time to let you know how much I enjoy it.

Dear Ken,

Well Ken, this is California and it sure is hot here — 130 today, water there is none, sun is sure bright here. By what I hear it is cold there and the water is warm. And is cold so you can sleep — it is the same here, too, we sleep good at night.

I like the army very well. The training they give you is not as hard as the training we got in school from Ray Kipka and Stewart Coleman, that was harder. We sit on the hot ground most of the time listening to someone else talk on a great many things, first aid, guns, airplanes, hand grenades, how to put up tents and things like that. The trip that the army gave me was worth having sure saw a lot of new things — Salt Lake, Rocky Mountains with snow, rocks hundreds of feet high.

On the way down we saw a train wreck, no one was hurt but the train was sure smashed up. We crossed the Mississippi and it sure is big. They say there is a lot of fruit here, but haven't seen any yet. And no trees, we crawl under buildings to keep cool. It is so hot here they give us ten minutes break every now and then to cool off.

Would be very much pleased if you would send me the paper.

Yours truly,

LABLANCE-FOCHTMAN WEDDING SATURDAY, CAMP SIBERT, ALA.

The wedding of Miss Mary Clare LaBlance and Cpl. Edward G. Fochtman was solemnized Saturday, July 24, at an evening mass at the post chapel at Camp Sibert, Ala. Fr. George N. Gilligan, M.N., officiated at the double ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George LaBlance Sr., and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus L. Fochtman, all of Charlevoix.

For the ceremony, the chapel was decorated with peach colored glads. Miss Muriel Nelson, of Kalamazoo, was maid of honor, and Pvt. William Higgins, of Louisville, Ky., acted as best man.

A princess style gown of white slipper satin was worn by the bride. Her three-quarter length veil fell from a juliet cap trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of white Killarney roses. Miss Nelson's gown was pale blue figured organdy, with which she wore a white picture hat trimmed with pale blue ribbon. Her bouquet was of pink carnations.

After the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the White Palace, where the table was decorated with white roses and a three-tiered wedding cake.

Both Cpl. and Mrs. Fochtman graduated from Charlevoix high school. Mrs. Fochtman attended Maher's Business College, Kalamazoo, and has been a secretary with the Stanley Home Products firm in that city for three years. Cpl. Fochtman graduated as a chemical engineer from Michigan State College, and entered service April 15 of this year. They will reside in Gadsden, Ala., for the present.

Secretary's Annual Raport — School District No 1., City and Township of Cbarlevoix 1942-43

To the Citizens of the School District:

To date the schuol board has been unable to locate an avnilable auditor and for that reason the annual audit has not yet been completed, but we expect to have this done before the beginning of the new school term.

It will be necessary to request an increase of et lesst two mills in the school tex rete. This is needed for a number of reasons. Salaries of all teachers and janiturs have been incressed. Whilu some building repairs havs been made during the past year, there ere still extensive repairs necessary to maintain the school buildings in a safe and proper condition. Boiler repair alone will requira $600.00 or more.

Expenditures for the past fiscal year were $54,194.79, ns compared with $48,947.81 last year, and approximntely $43,500.00 in 1941. The increase lsst yesr of n little more than $5,000.00 includes $1,000.00 increase in the cost of transportation and $1,200.00 for the Boat School. Thcse two amounts will be refunded almost entirely by the State. Teachers salaries accounted for an increase of less than $700.00, and this is comparatively small considering the trend of wages and living costs. Fuel costs were increased $800.00, and repairs amounted to snother $800.00. $600.00 was spent for new equipment — bus and lights.

On January 19th, 1943, the school bus to Ironton District was snowbound. The school district reimbursed John Bacon and Peter Mitchell for room and board for the persons stranded at their homes.

As previously authorized by the electors of the school district heating equipment from the old Grade building has been sold to the Foster Boat Company for a total of $310.00.

In order to avoid a deficit for the fiscal year wo secured an advence of $2,000.00 from State Aid. Of this amount there is a halance of $1,580.76 remaining.

In the past our insurance has been hased on a valustion which was considerebly below the reel value of the buildings. The appraised valuation is $251,000.00 and we now carry insurance on an 80% co-insurance plan, which means we are insured fully for any fire loss up to 80% of this valuation, nr $201,000.00. This is the usual coverage for public buildings, and really amounts to full protection as it would be virtually impossible to have an 80% fire loss. The increase in premium is only $110.00 for five years, or less than $25.00 per year.

During the past year milk was served to an sverage of 230 children daily, at a cost to the child of 1 cent per half pint, the halance being paid by a speciel government fund. Hot lunches were served to an average of 80 pupils per day. Approximstely 50% of these lunches were served without cost. Those able to pay were charged a nominal amount which helped to defray the actual cost of the food. The Charlevoix Welfare Office paid for the labor necessary in preparing snd serving these lunches. If possible these programs will be continued next year.

Last year bus transportation wns extended to Phelps and Hopyard school districts, and arrangements have been completed to include Marion school district next year.

Because of the expected loss in high school enrollment it should not he necessary to hire as many high school teachers another year. This decreased enrollment will lower the income on High School membership next year, and this will probsbly be true for many following years. However, the grsdes are very crowded and there is no indication of a decrease in grade school sttendsnce. It may therefore be necessary to hire sn additionnl teacher or two for this section. All tcachers needed for the coming year, on the basis of the present enrollment, have been hired, with the exception of a commercial teecher.

The Children's Library is continuing with great succees, especisly the story hour, which has had an average ettendsnce of thirty children.

In October, 1042, the School Board authorized the use of the gym by the Coast Guard boys stetioned st Charlevoix two nights a week from 7 until 10, and at the same time tha U.S.O. was given permission to use the gym for sponsored parties.

During the past yesr the school board has made every effort to coopcrate fully with all phsses of the war effort. Stamps and bonds heve been sold with marked success to the students, and also to the teachors on a payroll deduction plan. The studonts have participated in a physical fitness program, Red Cross sawing, etc. The school board extended leave of absence for the duration to all teachers to join the armed forces of the United States.

Respectfully submitted,
Oscar P. Stroud, Secretary.

LANSING LETTER

Michigan's contribution of manpower to World War II is already more than double the entire record for the first conflict, 25 years ago.

Approximately 850,000 men and women (yes, don't forget the ladies!) heve left Michigan homes in cities and on farms to serve in Uncle Sam's forces all over the globe. That is a bit more than a third of a million people — quite a legion.

World War I records list the following: Army, 152,598; navy, 19,413; marines, 3,318. Total: 175,329. Of the latter number 4,295 became gold stars on the state's service flag — 2.4 per cent of all — and not all of those wors killed in action, as influenza and other diseases took a heavy toll of lives.

In other ways the contrast is sharp. Our part in today's wor has alresdy exceeded the entire time of our particlpation in the first conflict. Instead of fighting one war — and with France, Italy nnd Japan among nur allies — we have two wars nn our hands; our troops are yet to land on the continent of Europe (when this column was written); end only four of our divisions saw action in Tunisia.

We still have a long ways to go before the boys march into Berlin and Tokio.

There appears to be a long, long trail ahead. But victory is certain. Of this we know.

It should be remamberod also that the presnt rate of inductions is high, after a temporary lull last spring, and that fathers nre still subject to call. A total contribution of 400,000 to 500,000 is not improbable in view nf Washington warnings of preparations to carry on thu wsr for six more years.

And yet, surprisingly and happily enough, the Michigen martnlity rate of our modern world-wido engagements is ept to be considerably less than 2.4 per cent. Airplanes and tanks are the front lines of todny's fighting. They requira a comparative small number of men tn operate them. It is a mechsnized war, so goes the new perlez vous version; not a war of mass movements and entrenched lines.

Word from Africa is encouraging with respect to the prica paid for Allies victory. Tunisia wes taken with an unexpected small loss of men and material. The same holds true, so far, for our invasion of Sicily. In fact, cocky, as we always are — and Americans are the world's worst braggerts — Washington is now concerned over our optimism that the war would be over soon. Why look at the way we licked Rommel in Tunisia? And isn't Sicily already an easy push-over?

While the war-makers may worry about our complacency, it is e fnct that the casualty lists have been small to date. And as for the boys who have been wounded — say, there's something else worth crowing about. Approximately 08 per cent of all American wounded men havo recovered to date, leaving a mortality rate of only 2 per cent!

Our boys in the service are disgustedly healthy, too. They receive the best of foud and medical care.

Every doughboy and sailor acquires a fntalistic attitude about his chsnces of returning homa. Sinco only 2 per cent of the wounded die and since today's mechanized war haa reduced the number of fatalities to date as compared with World War I, military service becomea a great adventure to the average young man and young woman.

As you contrast the state's participation in the two wars to date, you recell also how the Michigan State Police was a creation of the first war and that the atate troopers were dispatched to the Upper Peninsula to check I. W.W. agitators attempting to stop iron mine operations. Today, tha state administrative board plans to enlarge tha home guards and maintain a permanent force at Detroit, equipped with jeeps, tummy guns and all elae, ready for emergency duty for the next race riot.

In the last war tha state war board bougbt tractors, seed corn and seed wheat and retailed them at cost to farmers. The voters approved a $5,000,000 hond issun and the legislature creatad a war board of wbich Col. Roy Vandercook, now with the Micbigan Railroads Association, was secretary. Governor Albert E. Sleeper was chairman.

With regards to war costs, the contrast is sharp, Indeed. Modarn war machines are costly; the government has contracted with many firms on a cost-plus basis wherein high wages are merely added to the future national debt, now past the 100 billion mark. Inflation is already here and prices are crazily bigh.

The entire country — and this goes for Michigan, too — is anjoying a prosperity jag.

The war is going to cost us many, many times tha dollars we paid in 1917-18.

But if the price of human life is less and our Michigan boys and girls come marching bome, we will take our medicine and like it.

"Mure of the available supply of household fats is being obtained and more people are saving more fats," Burns said. "This is an encouraging record, but we are still far short of quota, and must strive for greater gsins. We must keep repenting over and over, 'Fats make gunpowder, and gunpowder fights our war'."

Appeal for Pickers

The critical shortage of cherry pickers in the Grand Traverse area hns prompted Capt. Donald S. Leonsrd, Director of Civilian Defense, to appeal to defense councils to redouble their offorts to enlist more orchard workers at once.

"I nm advised by A. B. Love, State Supervisor of the Emergency Farm Lahor Program, that there is danger of losing e substantial portion of the cherry crop unless more pickers can he put to work immediately," Capt. Leonard said. "Thet must not be allowed to hsppen.

"I am appealing to defense councils through the press to increasa their efforts to find volunteers who will go into the orchsrds and work et prevailing wage rates in this emergency. Defensa councils were largely responsible last year for meeting a similar emergency, snd I hope they will do as well this year. I know they can."

Cept. Leonard asked that defensa council officials confer with their county agents, and with tha United State Employment Service in counties whera that agency has offices, before attempting to direct volunteers to the cherry country. Full information on supplamental gasoline rations available to those who offer their services may be obtained from county agents or the USES.

Check Against Ceiling Prices

The Consumer Activities Section of tha Micbigan Office of Civilian Defense is urging housewives to use a "Market Basket Price Book" to check against ceiling prices in grocery stores and meat markets. The books can ba mada at home and models hava bean sent to the Consumer Activities Committee of each defense council. In some communities they may be printed under local aponsorship and distributad to consumers. The books are set up to show the ceiling price of each standard commodity and should be used when shopping to determina if prices charged are legal. Violations of price ceilings should be reported to War Price and Rationing Boards to combat black markets and hold down the cost of living.

VICTORY GARDENS

Michigan Council of Defense

Chief, Victory Garden Section, Mich. Office of Civilian Defense

Vegetables can be stored over winter in several ways. If you are fortunate enough to have a specially constructed, well insulated storage room in your basement, that, of course, is the most convenient way. Unfortunntely, however, most modern basements are not equipped for satisfactory vegetable storage.

If you have a corner in your basement that isn't in use, it can be converted into an excellent storage room at comparatively small cost. Enclose the corner by building a double wall around it. A framework of two by twos or two by fours should be constructed first. Cover the insids of this framework with waterproof building paper and then sheet up both inside and outside with lumber or wall board. Fill the space between the studs with rock wool or redwood bark. Seal tha store room overhead with wall board, then put two or three inches of insulating material into the space between tha floor joists. The door should also be coverad with insulating board.

The room should heve a window for ventilation and a ventilating flue should be built into one side of the window and extend almost to the floor to permit the intake of air and the escape of gases. Another section of the window should be converted into a small door. If there is a third psne of glass in the window, it should be painted over so that the room will be dark at all times. Provision should be mede so that the temperature can be maintained evenly. If the floor is of concrete, sand should he placed on part of the floor to store such things as cerrots, beets and turnips and nlso to increase the humidity in the storage room.

If you don't want to go to the expense of building a special storage room, it is easy to stora in small pits in the garden. Select a well drained, convenient place. Any ona of several methods may be used. One of the most satisfactory provides for the construction of several small pits each large enough to hold a two weeks' supply of assorted vegetables. A pail or butter tub can be used as a form for digging the pits. They should be ebout 18 inches deep and the soil should be built up around the outside about six inches. If a pail is used as a form, it can be allowed to protrude abova the ground about six inchas and the soil packed firmly around it. The form is then removed and the hole is lined with straw or leaves to provide ventilation and insulation.

Place a cabbage plant head down in the center of the hole with the roots extending to tha top. The stem will serve as a vent. Then put in the rest of the vegatables. Cover them over with strew, then with tarpaper or some other material to keep out the rain, then approximatsly six inches of soil. Fill enough of these pits to last your family all winter. Open only one pit at a tima and stora unused vegetables in the basement.

A barrel or large box that bas been divided into compartments can be used in placa of the individual pits. Dividars in the box or barrel will pravent sweating and spoiling of the vegetables that are to remain in the pit after it is first opened.

REPORT BLUEBERRY CROP CONDITIONS

Machanical Pickers Permitted On State-Owned Land

Prompted by a flood of inquiries from ration-conscious housewives about this year's bumper crop of Michigan's famed blueberries, the state conservation department made a state-wide survey of the blueberry crop on stata-owned lands in an attempt to help berry pickers spot the most productiva patches nearest their homes.

In an effort to insure that this year's bumper crop will be completely harvested, the state conservation commission this week issued an emergency ruling, permitting the use of mechanicel pickers on state lands, where many nf the most concentrsted blueberry fields lie.

Capsule summary of the progress of the blueberry crop based on the conservation department's survey is as follows:

Traverse City area—crop reported good.

Boyne City aren—crop reported poor.

Roscommon arca—crop repurted good.

Montmorency county — crop reported falr.

Iosco county — crop reported epotty.

Mio area — crop reported plentiful with peak expected in late July.

The department advised pickers to contact tha district headquarters of tho conservation department or conservation officers in these arens for more definite information about the location of the berry fields.

MAIL REACHING YANK PRISONERS IN JAPAN

Letters of Next of Kin Getting Through to Captivas

The American Red Cross has announced that there is substantial evidence that letters written by the next of kin to American prisoners held in Japanese prison camps hsve baen received by them in considerebla number.

The greatest assurance rests in the fact that relatives within the last week have received letters from prisoners held in Japan acknowledging receipt of mail.

Among these was Mrs. Royal C. Johnson of Washington who received e letter from her son, Lt. Harlan T. Johnson, Navy aviator, held in Zentsuji Prison Camp, Japan. Writing to his wife and his mother he said: "I have received six of your letters. It is impossible to say what letters mean to us here. It is such a grand pleasure that it hurts at first. Then you read, re-read and re-read the letters until you nro again happily at home."

The American Red Cross urges next of kin to continue writing regularly to imprisoned members of their families, even though they may not yat heve had a reply from the Far East. The delegates of the International Red Cross Committee in Japan have notified the American Red Cross that many thuusands of letters have been dellvered to the Americans, as well as other United Nations prisoners held in the Far East.

The mail route has been long and difficult, but a new and faster route has been opened only during the past month. This new route is capablo of handling only a limited cargo of first class mail, sa tha American Red Cross emphssizes the impartance of using the lightest weight paper and envelopes, thus permitting a greater volume of letters to go through. Censorship is expedited if lotters are typewritten or block printed.

Relatives are requested to follow closely directions issued regarding the proper nddressing of mail to prisoners of war. Publications ARC 310, availeble at all local Red Cross chapters, gives full directions.
